57 in the day of thy pride; before thy wickedness was discovered, as at the time of the reproach of the daughters of Syr'i-a, and of all that are round about her, the daughters of the Phi-lis'tines, which do despite 58 unto thee round about. Thou hast borne thy lewd-
59 ness and thine abominations, saith the LORD. For thus saith the Lord GOD: I will even deal with thee as thou hast done, which hast despised the oath in 60 breaking the covenant. Nevertheless I will remember my covenant with thee in the days of thy youth, and I will establish unto thee an everlasting cove-
61 nant. Then shalt thou remember thy ways and be ashamed, when thou shalt receive thy sisters, thine elder sisters and thy younger: and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not by thy covenant.
62 And I will establish my covenant with thee; and 63 thou shalt know that I am the LORD: that thou mayest remember, and be confounded, and never open thy mouth any more, because of thy shame; when I have forgiven thee all that thou hast done, saith the Lord GOD.

17 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, put forth a riddle, and speak a parable
3 unto the house of Is'ra-el; and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD: A great eagle with great wings and long pinions, full of feathers, which had divers colours, came unto Leb'a-non, and took the top of the cedar:
4 he cropped off the topmost of the young twigs thereof, and carried it into [2]a land of traffic; he set it
5 in a city of merchants. He took also of the seed of the land, and planted it in [3]a fruitful soil; he placed it beside [4]many waters; he set it as a willow tree.
6 And it grew, and became a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: so it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and shot forth sprigs.
7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers: and, behold, this vine did bend its roots toward him, and shot forth its branches toward him, from the beds of its plantation, that he
8 might water it. It was planted in a good [5]soil by [4]many waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly
9 vine. Say thou, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Shall it prosper? shall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit thereof, that it may wither: that all its fresh springing leaves may wither; even without great power or much [6]people to pluck it up by the 10 roots thereof? Yea, behold, being planted, shall it prosper? shall it not utterly wither, when the east wind toucheth it? it shall wither in the beds where it grew.

CHAPTER XVIII.

God reproveth the unjust parable of sour grapes.

THE word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,
2 What mean ye, that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Is'ra-el, saying, The [a]fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge?
3 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Is'ra-el.

CHAPTER XIX.

A lamentation for the princes of Israel, and for Jerusalem.

MOREOVER, [a]take thou up a lamentation for the princes of Is'ra-el,

2 And say, What is thy mother? A lioness: she lay down among lions, she nourished her whelps among young lions.

3 And she brought up one of her whelps: [b]it became a young lion, and it learned to catch the prey; it devoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him; he was taken in their pit, and they brought him with chains unto the land of [c]E'gypt.

5 Now when she saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, then she took [d]another of her whelps, and made him a young lion.

6 [e]And he went up and down among the lions, [f]he became a young lion, and learned to catch the prey, and devoured men.

7 And he knew ||their desolate palaces, and he laid waste their cities; and the land was desolate, and the fulness thereof, by the noise of his roaring.

8 [g]Then the nations set against him on every side from the provinces, and spread their net over him: [h]he was taken in their pit.

9 [i]And they put him in ward ||in chains, and brought him to the king of Bab'y-lon: they brought him into holds, that his voice should no more be heard upon [k]the mountains of Is'ra-el.

10 ¶Thy mother is [l]like a vine ||in thy blood, planted by the waters: she was [m]fruitful and full of branches by reason of many waters.

11 And she had strong rods for the sceptres of them that bear rule, and her [n]stature was exalted among the thick branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked up in fury, she was cast down to the ground, and the [o]east wind dried up her fruit: her strong rods were broken and withered; the fire consumed them.

13 And now she is planted in the wilderness, in a dry and thirsty ground.

14 [p]And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath devoured her fruit, so that she hath no strong rod to be a sceptre to rule. [q]This is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

espied for them, flowing with milk and honey, [i]which is the glory of all lands:

7 Then said I unto them, [k]Cast ye away every man [l]the abominations of his eyes, and defile not yourselves with [m]the idols of E'gypt: I am the LORD your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not hearken unto me: they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of E'gypt: then I said, I will [n]pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of E'gypt.

9 [o]But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, in whose sight I made myself known unto them, in bringing them forth out of the land of E'gypt.

10 ¶Wherefore, I [p]caused them to go forth out of the land of E'gypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 [q]And I gave them my statutes, and †shewed them my judgments, [r]which if a man do, he shall even live in them.

12 Moreover also I gave them my [s]sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them.

13 ¶But the house of Is'ra-el [t]rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they [u]despised my judgments, which if a man do he shall even live in them: and my sabbaths they greatly [x]polluted: then I said, I would pour out my fury upon them in the [y]wilderness, to consume them.

14 [z]But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet also [a]I lifted up my hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, [b]which is the glory of all lands;

16 [c]Because they despised my judgments, and walked not in my statutes, but polluted my sabbaths: for [d]their heart went after their idols.

17 [e]Nevertheless mine eye spared them from destroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderness.

18 But I said unto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in the statutes of your fathers, neither observe their judgments, nor defile yourselves with their idols:

19 I am the LORD your God; [f]walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them;

20 [g]And hallow my sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the LORD your God.

21 Notwithstanding, [h]the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, neither kept my judgments to do them, [i]which if a man do, he shall even live in them; they polluted my sabbaths: then I said, [k]I would pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.

22 [l]Nevertheless I withdrew mine hand, and [m]wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted in the sight of the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 I lifted up mine hand unto them also in the wilderness, that [n]I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries;

24 [o]Because they had not executed my judgments, but had despised my statutes, and had polluted my sabbaths, and [p]their eyes were after their fathers' idols.

25 Wherefore [q]I gave them also statutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they should not live;

26 And I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they caused to pass [r]through the fire all that openeth the womb, that I might make them desolate, to the end that they [s]might know that I am the LORD.

27 ¶Therefore, son of man, speak unto the house of Is'ra-el, and say unto them, [t]Thus saith the Lord GOD;

30 Wherefore say unto the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD; are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when ye offer ʸyour gifts, when ye make your sons to pass through the fire, ye pollute yourselves with all your idols, even unto this day: and ᶻshall I be inquired of by you, O house of Is'ra-el? As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will not be inquired of by you.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there ᶜwill I plead with you face to face.

CHAPTER XXI.

Ezekiel prophesieth against Jerusalem with a sign of sighing.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 [a]Son of man, set thy face toward Je-ru'sa-lem, and [b]drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Is'ra-el,

3 And say to the land of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from thee [c]the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of his sheath against all flesh [d]from the south to the north:

5 That all flesh may know that I the LORD have drawn forth my sword out of his sheath: it [e]shall not return any more.

6 [f]Sigh therefore, thou son of man, with the breaking of thy loins; and with bitterness sigh before their eyes.

7 And it shall be, when they say unto thee, Wherefore sighest thou? that thou shalt answer, For the tidings, because it cometh: and every heart shall melt, and [g]all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall faint, and all knees †shall be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be brought to pass, saith the Lord GOD.

8 ¶Again the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the LORD; Say, [h]A sword, a sword is sharpened, and also furbished:

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter; it is furbished that it may glitter: should we then make mirth? ‖it contemneth the rod of my son, as every tree.

11 And he hath given it to be furbished, that it may be handled: this sword is sharpened, and it is furbished, to give it into the hand of [i]the slayer.

12 Cry and howl, son of man: for it shall be upon my people, it shall be upon all the princes of Is'ra-el: ‖terrors by reason of the sword shall be upon my people: [k]smite therefore upon thy thigh.

13 ‖Because it is [l]a trial, and what if the sword contemn even the rod? [m]it shall be no more, saith the Lord GOD.

14 Thou, therefore, son of man, prophesy, and [n]smite thine †hands together, and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the slain: it is the sword of the great men that are slain, which entereth into their [o]privy chambers.

15 I have set the ‖point of the sword against all their gates, that their heart may faint and their ruins be multiplied: ah! [p]it is made bright, it is ‖wrapped up for the slaughter.

16 [q]Go thee one way or other, either on the right hand, †or on the left, whithersoever thy face is set.

17 I will also [r]smite mine hands together, and [s]I will cause my fury to rest: I the LORD have said it.

18 ¶The word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,

19 Also, thou son of man, appoint thee two ways, that the sword of the king of Babylon may come: both twain shall come forth out of one land: and choose thou a place, choose it at the head of the way to the city.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to [t]Rab'bath of the Am'mon-ites, and to Ju'dah in Je-ru'sa-lem the defenced.

21 For the king of Bab'y-lon stood at the †parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination; he made his ‖arrows bright, he consulted with †images, he looked in the liver.

47 and say to the forest of the South, Hear the word of the LORD; Thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall devour every green tree in thee, and every dry tree: the flaming flame shall not be quenched, and all faces from the south
48 to the north shall be burnt thereby. And all flesh shall see that I the LORD have kindled it: it shall 49 not be quenched. Then said I, Ah Lord GOD! they say of me, Is he not a speaker of parables?

21 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, set thy face toward Je-ru'sa-lem, and drop thy word toward the sanctuaries, and prophesy
3 against the land of Is'ra-el; and say to the land of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the LORD: Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of its sheath, and will cut off from thee the righteous and
4 the wicked. Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of its sheath against all flesh
5 from the south to the north: and all flesh shall know that I the LORD have drawn forth my sword out of 6 its sheath; it shall not return any more. Sigh therefore, thou son of man; with the breaking of thy loins and with bitterness shalt thou sigh before their eyes.
7 And it shall be, when they say unto thee, Wherefore sighest thou? that thou shalt say, Because of the tidings, for it cometh: and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall [1]faint, and all knees shall be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and it shall be done saith the Lord GOD.
8 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
9 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the LORD: Say, A sword, a sword, it is sharpened, and 10 also furbished: it is sharpened that it may make a slaughter; it is furbished that it may be as lightning: shall we then make mirth? [2]the rod of my 11 son, it contemneth every tree. And it is given to be furbished, that it may be handled: the sword, it is sharpened, yea, it is furbished, to give it into the 12 hand of the slayer. Cry and howl, son of man: for it is upon my people, it is upon all the princes of Is'ra-el: [3]they are delivered over to the sword with 13 my people: smite therefore upon thy thigh. For there is a trial; and [4]what if even the rod that contemneth shall be no more? saith the Lord GOD.
14 Thou therefore, son of man, prophesy, and smite thine hands together; and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the deadly wounded: it is the sword of the great one that is deadly wounded,
15 which [5]entereth into their chambers. I have set the [6]point of the sword against all their gates, that their heart may melt, and their stumblings be multiplied: ah! it is made as lightning, it is pointed for slaughter.
16 [7]Gather thee together, go to the right; set thyself in array, go to the left; [8]whithersoever thy face is set.
17 I will also smite mine hands together, and I will [9]satisfy my fury: I the LORD have spoken it.
18 The word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,
19 Also, thou son of man, appoint thee two ways, that the sword of the king of Bab'y-lon may come; they twain shall come forth out of one land: and mark out a [10]place, mark it out at the head of the way to the city.
20 Thou shalt appoint a way, for the sword to come to Rab'bah of the children of Am'mon, and to Ju'dah in 21 Je-ru'sa-lem the defenced. For the king of Bab'y-lon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination: he shook the arrows to and fro, he consulted the teraphim, he looked in the liver.

23 And it shall be unto them as a false divination in their sight, || to them that [v]have sworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity, that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because ye have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are discovered, so that in all your doings your sins do appear: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 ¶And thou, [z]profane wicked prince of Is'ra-el, [a]whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end, 26 Thus saith the Lord GOD: Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this shall not be the same: [b]exalt him that is low, and abase him that is high.

27 †I will overturn, overturn, overturn it: [c]and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him.

28 ¶And thou, son of man, prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD [d]concerning the Am'mon-ites, and concerning their reproach; even say thou, [e]The sword, the sword is drawn: for the slaughter it is furbished, to consume because of the glittering:

29 While they [f]see vanity unto thee, while they divine a lie unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked, [g]whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

30 ||[h]Shall I cause it to return into his sheath? [i]I will judge thee in the place where thou wast created, [k]in the land of thy nativity.

31 And I will [l]pour out mine indignation upon thee; I will [m]blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of || brutish men, and skilful to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be for fuel to the fire; thy blood shall be in the midst of the land; [n]thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the LORD have spoken it.

CHAPTER XXII.

The general corruption of all orders of men.

MOREOVER the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, [a]wilt thou ||judge, wilt thou judge [b]the †bloody city? yea, thou shalt †shew her all her abominations.

3 Then say thou, Thus saith the Lord GOD; The city sheddeth blood in the midst of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against herself to defile herself.

4 Thou art become guilty in thy blood that thou hast [c]shed; and hast defiled thyself in thine idols which thou hast made; and thou hast caused thy days to draw near, and art come even unto thy years: [d]therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be near, and those that be far from thee, shall mock thee, which art †infamous and much vexed.

6 Behold, [e]the princes of Is'ra-el, every one were in thee to their †power to shed blood.

7 In thee have they [f]set light by father and mother: in the midst of thee have they [g]dealt by || oppression with the stranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherless and the widow.

8 Thou hast [h]despised mine holy things, and hast [i]profaned my sabbaths.

9 In thee are †[k]men that carry tales to shed blood: [l]and in thee they eat upon the mountains: in the midst of thee they commit lewdness.

10 In thee have they [m]discovered their father's nakedness: in thee have they humbled her that was [n]set apart for pollution.

11 And ||one hath committed abomination [o]with his neighbour's wife; and ||another [p]hath ||lewdly defiled his

22 In his right hand was the divination for Je-ru'sa-lem, to set battering rams, to open the mouth [1]in the slaughter, to lift up the voice with shouting, to set battering rams against the gates, to cast up mounts, 23 to build forts. And it shall be unto them as a vain divination in their sight, which have sworn oaths unto them: but he bringeth iniquity to remembrance, that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Because ye have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your trangressions are discovered, so that in all your doings your sins do appear; because that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with 25 the hand. And thou, O deadly wounded wicked one, the prince of Is'ra-el whose day is come, in the time of 26 the [2]iniquity of the end; thus saith the Lord GOD: [3]Remove the mitre, and take off the crown: this shall be [4]no more the same: exalt that which is low, 27 and abase that which is high. [5]I will overturn, overturn, overturn it: this also shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him.

28 And thou, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD concerning the children of Am'mon, and concerning their reproach; and say thou, A sword, a sword is drawn, for the slaughter it is furbished, [6]to cause it to devour, that it may be as 29 lightning: whiles they see vanity unto thee, whiles they divine lies unto thee, to lay thee upon the necks of the wicked that are deadly wounded, whose day is come, in the time of the [2]iniquity of the end. 30 Cause it to return into its sheath. In the place where thou wast created, in the land of [7]thy birth, will I 31 judge thee. And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee; I will blow upon thee with the fire of my wrath: and I will deliver thee into the hand of 32 brutish men, skilful to destroy. Thou shalt be for fuel to the fire; thy blood shall be in the midst of the land; thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the LORD have spoken it.

22 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, 2 saying, And thou, son of man, wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge the bloody city? [8]then cause her 3 to know all her abominations. And thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord GOD: A city that sheddeth blood in the midst of her, that her time may come, and that maketh idols against herself to defile her! 4 Thou art become guilty in thy blood that thou hast shed, and art defiled in thine idols which thou hast made; and thou hast caused thy days to draw near, and art come even unto thy years: therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the nations, and a mock- 5 ing to all the countries. Those that be near, and those that be far from thee, shall mock thee, thou 6 [9]infamous one and full of tumult. Behold, the princes of Is'ra-el every one according to his [10]power, 7 have been in thee to shed blood. In thee have they set light by father and mother; in the midst of thee have they dealt by oppression with the stranger: in thee have they wronged the fatherless and the 8 widow. Thou hast despised mine holy things, and 9 hast profaned my sabbaths. Slanderous men have been in thee to shed blood: and in thee they have eaten upon the mountains: in the midst of thee 10 they have committed lewdness. In thee have they discovered their father's nakedness; in thee have they humbled her that was unclean in her separa- 11 tion. And one hath committed abomination with his neighbour's wife; and another hath lewdly defiled his daughter in law; and another in thee hath humbled his [q]sister, his father's daughter.

12 In thee [r]have they taken gifts to shed blood; [s]thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbours by extortion, and [t]hast forgotten me, saith the Lord GOD.

13 ¶Behold, therefore I have [u]smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midst of thee.

14 [x]Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with thee? [y]I the LORD have spoken it, and will do it.

15 And [z]I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and [a]will consume thy filthiness out of thee.

16 And thou ‖ shalt take thine inheritance in thyself in the sight of the heathen, and [b]thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

17 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, [c]the house of Is'ra-el is to me become dross: all they are brass, and tin, and iron, and lead, in the midst of the furnace; they are even the †dross of silver.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because ye are all become dross, behold, therefore I will gather you into the midst of Je-ru'sa-lem.

20 †As they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; so will I gather you in mine anger and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you.

21 Yea, I will gather you, and [d]blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye shall be melted in the midst thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof; and ye shall know that I the LORD have [e]poured out my fury upon you.

23 ¶And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, say unto her, Thou art the land that is not cleansed, nor rained upon in the day of indignation.

25 [f]There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the midst thereof, like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they [g]have devoured souls; [h]they have taken the treasure and precious things; they have made her many widows in the midst thereof.

26 [i]Her priests have †violated my law, and have [k]profaned mine holy things: they have put no [l]difference between the holy and profane, neither have they shewed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her [m]princes in the midst thereof are like wolves ravening the prey, to shed blood, and to destroy souls, to get dishonest gain.

28 And [n]her prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, [o]seeing vanity, and divining lies unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord GOD, when the LORD hath not spoken.

29 [p]The people of the land have used ‖ oppression, and exercised robbery, and have vexed the poor and needy: yea, they have [q]oppressed the stranger †wrongfully.

30 [r]And I sought for a man among them, that should [s]make up the hedge, and [t]stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none.

31 Therefore have I [u]poured out mine indignation upon them; I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: [x]their own way have I recompensed upon their heads, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAPTER XXIII.

The whoredoms of Aholah and Aholibah.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, there were [a]two women, the daughters of one mother:

3 And [b]they committed whoredoms in E'gypt; they committed whoredoms in [c]their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginity.

daughter in law; and another in thee hath humbled
12 his sister, his father's daughter. In thee have they taken bribes to shed blood; thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbours by oppression, and hast forgotten me, saith
13 the Lord GOD. Behold, therefore, I have smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midst
14 of thee. Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with thee? I the 15 LORD have spoken it, and will do it. And I will scatter thee among the nations, and disperse thee through the countries; and I will consume thy filthiness out of thee.
16 And thou shalt be profaned in thyself, in the sight of the nations; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.
17 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
18 Son of man, the house of Is'ra-el is become dross unto me: all of them are brass and tin and iron and lead, in the midst of the furnace; they are the 19 dross of silver. Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Because ye are all become dross, therefore behold, 20 I will gather you into the midst of Je-ru'sa-lem. As they [d]gather silver and brass and iron and lead and tin into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; so will I gather you in mine anger and in my fury, and I will lay you there, and 21 melt you. Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you with the fire of my wrath, and ye shall be 22 melted in the midst thereof. As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof; and ye shall know that I the LORD have poured out my fury upon you.
23 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
24 Son of man, say unto her, Thou art a land that is not cleansed, nor rained upon in the day of indig-
25 nation. There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the midst thereof, like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured souls; they take treasure and precious things; they have made her widows
26 many in the midst thereof. Her priests have done violence to my law, and have profaned mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and the common, neither have they caused men to discern between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I
27 am profaned among them. Her princes in the midst thereof are like wolves ravening the prey; to shed blood, and to destroy souls, that they may get dis-
28 honest gain. And her prophets have daubed for them with untempered mortar, seeing vanity, and divining lies unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord
29 GOD, when the LORD hath not spoken. The people of the land have used oppression, and exercised robbery; yea, they have vexed the poor and needy, 30 and have oppressed the stranger wrongfully. And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the fence, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none.
31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them; I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I brought upon their heads, saith the Lord GOD.

2 saying, Son of man, there were two women, the

B. C. about 593.

4 And the names of them were A-ho'lah the elder, and A-hol'i-bah her sister; and [d]they were mine, and they bare sons and daughters. Thus were their names; Sa-ma'ri-a is || A-ho'lah, and Je-ru'sa-lem || A-hol'i-bah.

5 And A-ho'lah played the harlot when she was mine; and she doted on her lovers, on [e]the As-syr'i-ans her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them desirable young men, horsemen riding upon horses.

7 Thus she †committed her whoredoms with them, with all them that were †the chosen men of As-syr'i-a, and with all on whom she doted; with all their idols she defiled herself.

8 Neither left she her whoredoms brought [f]from E'gypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and poured their whoredom upon her.

9 Wherefore, I have delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the [g]As-syr'i-ans, upon whom she doted.

10 These [h]discovered her nakedness: they took her sons and her daughters, and slew her with the sword: and she became †famous among women; for they had executed judgment upon her.

11 And [i]when her sister A-hol'i-bah saw this,[k] †she was more corrupt in her inordinate love than she, and in her whoredoms †more than her sister in her whoredoms.

12 She doted upon the [l]As-syr'i-ans her neighbours, [m]captains and rulers clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding upon horses, all of them desirable young men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, that they took both one way;

14 And that she increased her whoredoms: for when she saw men portrayed upon the wall, the images of the Chal-de'ans portrayed with vermilion,

15 Girded with girdles upon their loins, exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them princes to look to, after the manner of the Bab-y-lo'ni-ans of Chal-de'a, the land of their nativity:

16 [n]And †as soon as she saw them with her eyes, she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them into Chal-de'a.

17 And the †Bab-y-lo'ni-ans came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their whoredom, and she was polluted with them, and [o]her mind was †alienated from them.

18 So she discovered her whoredoms, and discovered her nakedness: then [p]my mind was alienated from her, like as my mind was alienated from her sister.

19 Yet she multiplied her whoredoms, in calling to remembrance the days of her youth, [q]wherein she had played the harlot in the land of E'gypt.

20 For she doted upon their paramours, [r]whose flesh is as the flesh of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thus thou calledst to remembrance the lewdness of thy youth, in bruising thy teats by the E-gyp'tians for the paps of thy youth.

22 ¶Therefore, O A-hol'i-bah, thus saith the Lord GOD; [s]Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thy mind is alienated, and I will bring them against thee on every side;

23 The Bab-y-lo'ni-ans, and all the Chal-de'ans, [t]Po'kod, and Sho'a, and Ko'a, and all the As-syr'i-ans with them: [u]all of them desirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding upon horses.

24 And they shall come against thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an assembly of people, which shall set against thee buckler and shield and helmet round about: and I will set judgment before them, and they shall judge thee according to their judgments.

25 And I will set my jealousy against thee, and they shall deal furiously with thee: they shall take away thy nose and thine ears; and thy remnant shall fall by the sword:

4 And the names of them were O-ho'lah the elder, and O-hol'i-bah her sister: and they became mine, and they bare sons and daughters. And as for their names, Sa-ma'ri-a is [1]O-ho'lah, and Je-ru'sa-lem [2]O-hol'i-bah.

5 And O-ho'lah played the harlot [3]when she was mine; and she doted on her lovers, on the As-syr'i-ans her

6 neighbours, which were clothed with blue, governors and [4]rulers, all of them desirable young men, horse-

7 men riding upon horses. And she bestowed her whoredoms upon them, the choicest men of As-syr'i-a all of them: and on whomsoever she doted, with

8 all their idols she defiled herself. Neither hath she left her whoredoms [5]since the days of E'gypt; for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the teats of her virginity: and they poured out

9 their whoredom upon her. Wherefore I delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the 10 As-syr'i-ans, upon whom she doted. These discovered her nakedness: they took her sons and her daughters, and her they slew with the sword: and she became a [6]byword among women; for they executed judge-

11 ments upon her. And her sister O-hol'i-bah saw this, yet was she more corrupt in her doting than she, and in her whoredoms which were more than the

12 whoredoms of her sister. She doted upon the As-syr'i-ans, governors and rulers, her neighbours, clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding upon horses, all

13 of them desirable young men. And I saw that she

14 was defiled; they both took one way. And she increased her whoredoms; for she saw men pourtrayed upon the wall, the images of the Chal-de'ans pour-

15 trayed with vermilion, girded with girdles upon their loins, [7]exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them princes to look upon, after the likeness of the Bab-y-lo'ni'ans [8]in Chal-de'a, the land

16 of their nativity. And [9]as soon as she saw them she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them

17 into Chal-de'a. And the Bab-y-lo'ni-ans came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their whoredom, and she was polluted with them, and her

18 soul was alienated from them. So she discovered her whoredoms, and discovered her nakedness: then my soul was alienated from her, like as my

19 soul was alienated from her sister. Yet she multiplied her whoredoms, remembering the days of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the 20 land of E'gypt. And she doted upon their paramours, whose flesh is as the flesh of asses, and whose issue

21 is like the issue of horses. Thus thou calledst to remembrance the lewdness of thy youth, in the bruising of thy teats by the E-gyp'tians for the breasts of thy youth.

22 Therefore, O O-hol'i-bah, thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thy soul is alienated, and I will bring them

23 against thee on every side; the Babylonians and all the Chal-de'ans, Pe'kod and Sho'a and Ko'a, and all the As-syr'i-ans with them: desirable young men, governors and all rulers of them, princes and [10]men

24 of renown, all of them riding upon horses. And they shall come against thee with weapons, chariots, and [11]wagons, and with an assembly of peoples; they shall set themselves against thee with buckler and shield and helmet round about: and I will commit the judgement unto them, and they shall

25 judge thee according to their judgements. And I will set my jealousy against thee, and they shall deal with thee in fury; they shall take away thy nose and thine ears; and thy residue shall fall by the sword:

they shall take thy sons and thy daughters; and thy residue shall be devoured by the fire.

26 [z]They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy †fair jewels.

27 Thus [y]will I make thy lewdness to cease from thee, and [z]thy whoredom brought from the land of E'gypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember E'gypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them [a]whom thou hatest, into the hand of them [b]from whom thy mind is alienated:

29 And they shall deal with thee hatefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and [c]shall leave thee naked and bare: and the nakedness of thy whoredoms shall be discovered, both thy lewdness and thy whoredoms.

30 I will do these things unto thee, because thou hast [d]gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister; therefore will I give her [e]cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord GOD; Thou shalt drink of thy sister's cup deep and large: [f]thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision; it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Sa-ma'ri-a.

34 Thou shalt [g]even drink it and suck it out, and thou shalt break the sherds thereof, and pluck off thine own breasts: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou [h]hast forgotten me, and [i]cast me behind thy back, therefore bear thou also thy lewdness and thy whoredoms.

36 ¶The LORD said, moreover, unto me; Son of man, wilt thou [k]‖judge A-ho'lah and A-hol'i-bah? yea, [l]declare unto them their abominations;

37 That they have committed adultery, and [m]blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have also caused their sons, [n]whom they bare unto me, to pass for them through the fire to devour them.

38 Moreover this they have done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and [o]have profaned my sabbaths.

39 For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it; and, lo, [p]thus have they done in the midst of mine house.

40 And furthermore, that ye have sent for men †to come from far, [q]unto whom a messenger was sent; and, lo, they came: for whom thou didst [r]wash thyself, [s]paintedst thy eyes, and deckedst thyself with ornaments,

41 And satest upon a †stately [t]bed, and a table prepared before it, [u]whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oil.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with the men †of the common sort were brought ‖Sabe'ans from the wilderness, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.

43 Then said I unto her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit †whoredoms with her, and she with them?

44 Yet they went in unto her, as they go in unto a woman that playeth the harlot: so went they in unto A-ho'lah and unto A-hol'i-bah, the lewd women.

45 ¶And the righteous men, they shall [x]judge them after the manner of adulteresses, and after the manner of women that shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and [y]blood is in their hands.

46 For thus saith the Lord GOD; [z]I will bring up a company upon them, and will give them †to be removed and spoiled.

47 [a]And the company shall stone them with stones, and ‖dispatch them with their swords; [b]they shall slay their sons and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.

they shall take thy sons and thy daughters; and 26 thy residue shall be devoured by the fire. They shall also strip thee of thy clothes, and take away
27 thy fair jewels. Thus will I make thy lewdness to cease from thee, and thy whoredom [1]brought from the land of E'gypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember E'gypt any 28 more. For thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them whom thou hatest, into the hand of them from whom thy soul is 29 alienated: and they shall deal with thee in hatred, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leave thee naked and bare: and the nakedness of thy whoredoms shall be discovered, both thy lewdness
30 and thy whoredoms. These things shall be done unto thee, for that thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their
31 idols. Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister;
32 therefore will I give her cup into thine hand. Thus saith the Lord GOD: Thou shalt drink of thy sister's cup, which is deep and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision; [2]it containeth
33 much. Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, 34 with the cup of thy sister Sa-ma'ri-a. Thou shalt even drink it and drain it out, and thou shalt gnaw the sherds thereof, and shalt tear thy breasts: for I have 35 spoken it, saith the Lord GOD. Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy back, therefore bear thou also thy lewdness and thy whoredoms.

36 The LORD said moreover unto me: Son of man, wilt thou judge O-ho'lah and O-hol'i-bah? then declare 37 unto them their abominations. For they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery; and they have also [3]caused their sons, whom they bare unto me, to pass through the fire unto them to be devoured.
38 Moreover this they have done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and have 39 profaned my sabbaths. For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it; and, lo, thus have they done in the midst of mine house.
40 And furthermore ye have sent for men [4]that come from far: unto whom a messenger was sent, and, lo, they came; for whom thou didst wash thyself, paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thyself with orna-
41 ments: and satest upon a stately bed, with a table prepared before it, whereupon thou didst set mine
42 incense and mine oil. And the voice of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with men of the common sort were brought drunkards from the wilderness; and they put bracelets upon the hands of them twain, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.
43 Then said I [5]of her that was old in adulteries, Now will they commit [6]whoredoms with her, [7]and she with 44 them. And they went in unto her, as they go in unto an harlot: so they went in unto O-ho'lah and unto 45 O-hol'i-bah, the lewd women. And righteous men, they shall judge them with the judgement of adulteresses, and with the judgement of women that shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and blood is in their 46 hands. For thus saith the Lord GOD: I will bring up an assembly against them, and will give them to 47 be tossed to and fro and spoiled. And the assembly shall stone them with stones, and despatch them with their swords; they shall slay their sons and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.

CHAPTER XXIV.

By a boiling pot, is shewed Jerusalem's destruction.

AGAIN in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: the king of Bab'y-lon set himself against Je-ru'sa-lem [a]this same day.
3 [b]And utter a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; [c]Set on a pot, set it on, and also pour water into it:
4 Gather the pieces thereof unto it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the shoulder; fill it with the choice bones.
5 Take the choice of the flock, and ||burn also the bones under it, and make it boil well, and let them seethe the bones of it therein.
6 ¶Wherefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Woe to [d]the bloody city, to the pot whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it! bring it out piece by piece; let no [e]lot fall upon it.
7 For her blood is in the midst of her; she set it upon the top of a rock; [f]she poured it not upon the ground, to cover it with dust;
8 That it might cause fury to come up to take vengeance; [g]I have set her blood upon the top of a rock, that it should not be covered.
9 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; [h]Woe to the bloody city! I will even make the pile for fire great.
10 Heap on wood, kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and spice it well, and let the bones be burned.
11 Then set it empty upon the coals thereof, that the brass of it may be hot, and may burn, and that [i]the filthiness of it may be molten in it, that the scum of it may be consumed.
12 She hath wearied herself with lies, and her great scum went not forth out of her: her scum shall be in the fire.
13 In thy filthiness is lewdness: because I have purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthiness any more, [k]till I have caused my fury to rest upon thee.
14 [l]I the LORD have spoken it: it shall come to pass, and I will do it; I will not go back, [m]neither will I spare, neither will I repent; according to thy ways, and according to thy doings, shall they judge thee, saith the Lord GOD.
15 ¶Also the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
16 Son of man, behold, I take away from thee the desire of thine eyes with a stroke: yet neither shalt thou mourn nor weep, neither shall thy tears †run down.
17 †Forbear to cry, [n]make no mourning for the dead, [o]bind the tire of thine head upon thee, and [p]put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and [q]cover not thy †lips, and eat not the bread of men.
18 So I spake unto the people in the morning: and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.
19 ¶And the people said unto me, [r]Wilt thou not tell us what these things are to us, that thou doest so?
20 Then I answered them, The word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
21 Speak unto the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, [s]I will profane my sanctuary, the excellency of your strength, [t]the desire of your eyes, and †that which your soul pitieth; [u]and your sons and your daughters whom ye have left shall fall by the sword.
22 And ye shall do as I have done: [x]ye shall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men.
23 And your tires shall be upon your heads, and your

48 Thus will I cause lewdness to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to do after your 49 lewdness. And they shall recompense your lewdness upon you, and ye shall bear the sins of your idols: and ye shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

24 Again in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD
2 came unto me saying, Son of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this selfsame day: the king of Bab'y-lon [1]drew close unto Je-ru'sa-lem this
3 selfsame day. And utter a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Set on the caldron, set it on, and also 4 pour water into it: gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the shoulder;
5 fill it with the choice bones. Take the choice of the flock, and pile also the bones under it: make it boil well; yea, let the bones thereof be seethed in the midst of it.
6 Wherefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Woe to the bloody city, to the caldron whose [2]rust is therein, and whose [2]rust is not gone out of it! bring it out
7 piece by piece; no lot is fallen upon it. For her blood is in the midst of her; she set it upon the bare rock she poured it not upon the ground, to 8 cover it with dust; that it might cause fury to come up to take vengeance, I have set her blood upon
9 the bare rock, that it should not be covered. Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Woe to the bloody 10 city! I also will make the pile great. Heap on the wood, make the fire hot, boil well the flesh, and make thick the broth, and let the bones be burned.
11 Then set it empty upon the coals thereof, that it may be hot, and the brass thereof may burn, and that the filthiness of it may be molten in it, that 12 the rust of it may be consumed. She hath wearied [3]herself with toil: yet her great rust goeth not forth out of her; her rust [4]goeth not forth by fire.
13 [5]In thy filthiness is lewdness: because I have purged thee and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthiness any more, till I
14 have [6]satisfied my fury [7]upon thee. I the LORD have spoken it; it shall come to pass, and I will do it; I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent; according to thy ways, and according to thy doings, shall they judge thee, saith the Lord GOD.
15 Also the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
16 Son of man, behold, I take away from thee the desire of thine eyes with a stroke: yet neither shalt thou mourn nor weep, neither shall thy tears run
17 down. Sigh, [8]but not aloud; make no mourning for the dead, bind thy head-tire upon thee, and put thy shoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and 18 [9]eat not the bread of men. So I spake unto the people in the morning; and at even my wife died: and 19 I did in the morning as I was commanded. And the people said unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what 20 these things are to us, that thou doest so? Then I said unto them, The word of the LORD came unto

CHAPTER XXV.

God's vengeance on the nations on account of the Jews.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, [a]set thy face [b]against the Am'mon-ites, and prophesy against them;

3 And say unto the Am'mon-ites, Hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus saith the Lord GOD; [c]Because thou saidst, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Is'ra-el, when it was desolate; and against the house of Ju'dah, when they went into captivity:

4 Behold, therefore I will deliver thee to the †men of the east for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drink thy milk.

5 And I will make [d]Rab'bah [e]a stable for camels, and the Am'mon-ites a couching place for flocks: [f]and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

6 For thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou [g]hast clapped thine †hands, and stamped with the †feet, and [h]rejoiced in †heart with all thy despite against the land of Is'ra-el;

7 Behold, therefore I will [i]stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee for ‖a spoil to the heathen; and I will cut thee off from the people, and I will cause thee to perish out of the countries: I will destroy thee; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

8 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because that [k]Mo'ab and [l]Se'ir do say, Behold, the house of Ju'dah is like unto all the heathen;

9 Therefore, behold, I will open the †side of Mo'ab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country, Beth-jesh'i-moth, Ba'al-me'on, and Kir-i-a-tha'im,

11 And I will execute judgments upon Mo'ab; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

12 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD; [o]Because that E'dom hath dealt against the house of Ju'dah †by taking vengeance, and hath greatly offended, and revenged himself upon them;

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; I will also stretch out mine hand upon E'dom, and will cut off man and beast from it; and I will make it desolate from Te'man; and ‖they of De'dan shall fall by the sword.

14 And [p]I will lay my vengeance upon E'dom by the hand of my people Is'ra-el: and they shall do in E'dom according to mine anger and according to my fury; and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord GOD.

15 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD; [q]Because [r]the Phi-lis'tines have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with a despiteful heart, to destroy it ‖for the old hatred;

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, [s]I will Tyrus, for insulting against Jerusalem, is threatened.

AND it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, [a]because that Ty'rus hath said against Je-ru'sa-lem, [b]Aha, she is broken that was the gates of the people: she is turned unto me; I shall be replenished now she is laid waste:

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against thee, O Ty'rus, and will cause many nations to come up against thee, as the sea causeth his waves to come up.

4 And they shall destroy the walls of Ty'rus, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and [c]make her like the top of a rock.

5 It shall be a place for the spreading of nets [d]in the midst of the sea: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD: and it shall become a spoil to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field shall be slain by the sword; [e]and they shall know that I am the LORD.

7 ¶For thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I will bring upon Ty'rus Neb-u-chad-rez'zar king of Bab'y-lon, [f]a king of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and companies, and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field: and he shall [g]make a fort against thee, and ||cast a mount against thee, and lift up a buckler against thee.

9 And he shall set engines of war against thy walls, and with his axes he shall break down thy towers.

10 By reason of the abundance of his horses their dust shall cover thee: thy walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates, †as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach.

11 With the hoofs of his horses shall he tread down all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and thy strong garrisons shall go down to the ground.

12 And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandise: and they shall break down thy walls, and destroy †thy pleasant houses: and they shall lay thy stones and thy timber and thy dust in the midst of the water.

13 [h]And I will cause the noise of [i]thy songs to cease; and the sound of thy harps shall be no more heard.

14 And [k]I will make thee like the top of a rock: thou shalt be a place to spread nets upon; thou shalt be built no more: for I the LORD have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

15 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD to Ty'rus; Shall not the isles [l]shake at the sound of thy fall, when the wounded cry, when the slaughter is made in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the [m]princes of the sea shall [n]come down from their thrones, and lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments: they shall clothe themselves with †trembling; [o]they shall sit upon the ground, and [p]shall tremble at every moment, and [q]be astonished at thee.

17 And they shall take up a [r]lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited †of seafaring men, the renowned city, which wast [s]strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which cause their terror to be on all that haunt it.

18 Now, shall [t]the isles tremble in the day of thy fall; yea, the isles that are in the sea shall be troubled at thy departure.

17 nant of the sea coast. And I will execute great vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

26 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD
2 came unto me, saying, Son of man, because that Tyre hath said against Je-ru'sa-lem, Aha, she is broken that was the gate of the peoples; she is turned unto me: I shall be replenished, now that
3 she is laid waste: therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against thee, O Tyre, and will cause many nations to come up against thee, as the
4 sea causeth his waves to come up. And they shall destroy the walls of Tyre, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and
5 make her a bare rock. She shall be a place for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea; for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD: and she shall
6 become a spoil to the nations. And her daughters which are in the field shall be slain with the sword:
7 and they shall know that I am the LORD. For thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I will bring upon Tyre Neb-u-chad-rez'zar king of Bab'y-lon, king of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and a company, and
8 much people. He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field: and he shall make forts against thee, and cast up a mount against thee, and
9 raise up the buckler against thee. And he shall set his battering engines against thy walls, and with 10 his [1]axes he shall break down thy towers. By reason of the abundance of his horses their dust shall cover thee: thy walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the [2]wagons, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates, as men
11 enter into a city wherein is made a breach. With the hoofs of his horses shall he tread down all thy streets: he shall slay thy people with the sword, and the [3]pillars of thy strength shall go down to the 12 ground. And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandise: and they shall break down thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant houses: and they shall lay thy stones and thy timber
13 and thy dust in the midst of the waters. And I will cause the noise of thy songs to cease; and the sound
14 of thy harps shall be no more heard. And I will make thee a bare rock: thou shalt be a place for the spreading of nets; thou shalt be built no more: for I the LORD have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.
15 Thus saith the Lord GOD to Tyre; Shall not the isles shake at the sound of thy fall, when the wounded groan, when the slaughter is made in the 16 midst of thee? Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, and lay aside their robes, and strip off their broidered garments: they shall clothe themselves with [4]trembling; they shall sit upon the ground, and shall tremble every 17 moment, and be astonished at thee. And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [5]of seafaring men, the renowned city, which wast strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which caused their

CHAPTER XXVII.

The rich supply of Tyrus—The irrecoverable fall thereof.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, [a]take up a lamentation for Ty'rus;

3 And say unto Ty'rus, [b]O thou that art situate at the entry of the sea, which art [c]a merchant of the people for many isles, thus saith the Lord GOD; O Ty'rus, thou hast said, [d]I am †of perfect beauty.

4 Thy borders are in the †midst of the seas, thy builders have perfected thy beauty.

5 They have †made all thy ship boards of fir trees of [e]Se'nir: they have taken cedars from Leb'a-non to make masts for thee.

6 Of the oaks of Ba'shan have they made thine oars; ‖†the company of the Ash'ur-ites have made thy benches of ivory, brought out of [f]the isles of Chit'tim.

7 Fine linen with broidered work from E'gypt was that which thou spreadest forth to be thy sail; ‖blue and purple from the isles of E-li'shah was that which covered thee.

8 The inhabitants of Zi'don and Ar'vad were thy mariners; thy wise men, O Ty'rus, that were in thee, were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of [g]Ge'bal and the wise men thereof were in thee thy ‖†calkers: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandise.

10 They of Per'si-a and of Lud and of [h]Phut were in thine army, thy men of war: they hanged the shield and helmet in thee; they set forth thy comeliness.

11 The men of Ar'vad with thine army were upon thy walls round about, and the Gam'ma-dim were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walls round about; they have made [i]thy beauty perfect.

12 [k]Tar'shish was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of all kind of riches; with silver, iron, tin, and lead, they traded in thy fairs.

13 [l]Ja'van, Tu'bal, and Me'shech, they were thy merchants: they traded [m]the persons of men and vessels of brass in thy ‖market.

14 They of the house of [n]To-gar'mah traded in thy fairs with horses and horsemen and mules.

15 The men of [o]De'dan were thy merchants; many isles were the merchandise of thine hand: they brought thee for a present, horns of ivory and ebony.

16 Syr'i-a was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of †the wares of thy making: they occupied in thy fairs with emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and †agate.

17 Ju'dah, and the land of Is'ra-el, they were thy merchants: they traded in thy market [p]wheat of [q]Min'nith, and Pan'nag, and honey, and oil, and [r]‖balm.

18 Da-mas'cus was thy merchant in the multitude of the wares of thy making, for the multitude of all riches; in the wine of Hel'bon, and white wool.

19 Dan also and Ja'van ‖going to and fro occupied in thy fairs: bright iron, cassia, and calamus, were in thy market.

20 [s]De'dan was thy merchant in †precious clothes for chariots.

21 A-ra'bi-a, and all the princes of [t]Ke'dar, †they occupied with thee in lambs, and rams, and goats: in these were they thy merchants.

19 For thus saith the Lord GOD: When I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep upon
20 thee, and the great waters shall cover thee; then will I bring thee down with them that descend into the pit, to the people of old time, and will make thee to dwell in the nether parts of the earth, [1]in the places that are desolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that thou be not inhabited; [2]and I
21 will set glory in the land of the living: I will make thee [3]a terror, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord GOD.

27 The word of the LORD came again unto me, say-
2 ing, And thou, son of man, take up a lamentation
3 for Tyre; and say unto Tyre, O thou that dwellest at the [4]entry of the sea, which art the merchant of the peoples unto many isles, thus saith the Lord GOD: Thou, O Tyre, hast said, I am perfect in 4 beauty. Thy borders are in the heart of the seas,
5 thy builders have perfected thy beauty. They have [5]made all thy planks of fir trees from Se'nir: they have taken cedars from Leb'a-non to make a mast for 6 thee. Of the oaks of Ba'shan have they made thine oars; they have made thy [6]benches of ivory
7 inlaid in boxwood, from the isles of Kit'tim. Of fine linen with broidered work from E'gypt was thy sail, that it might be to thee for an ensign; blue and purple from the isles of E-li'shah was thine awning.
8 The inhabitants of Zi'don and Ar'vad were thy rowers: thy wise men, O Tyre, were in thee, they 9 were thy pilots. The [7]ancients of Ge'bal and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to 10 [8]occupy thy merchandise. Per'si-a and Lud and Put were in thine army, thy men of war: they hanged the shield and helmet in thee; they set forth thy 11 comeliness. The men of Ar'vad with thine army were upon thy walls round about, and [9]the Gam'ma-dim were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walls round about; they have perfected thy beauty.
12 Tar'shish was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of all kinds of riches; with silver, iron, tin, and 13 lead, they traded for thy wares. Ja'van, Tu'bal, and Me'shech, they were thy traffickers: they traded the persons of men and vessels of brass for thy mer-
14 chandise. They of the house of To-gar'mah traded for thy wares with horses and war-horses and mules.
15 The men of De'dan were thy traffickers: many isles were the mart of thine hand: they brought thee [10]in 16 exchange horns of ivory and ebony. Syr'i-a was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of thy handy-works: they traded for thy wares with [11]emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and 17 coral, and rubies. Ju'dah, and the land of Is'ra-el, they were thy traffickers: they traded for thy merchandise wheat of Min'nith, and [12]pannag, and honey,
18 and oil, and balm. Da-mas'cus was thy merchant for the multitude of thy handyworks, by reason of the multitude of all kinds of riches; with the wine
19 of Hel'bon, and white wool. Ve'dan and Ja'van traded [13]with yarn for thy wares: [14]bright iron, cassia, and calamus, were among thy merchandise.
20 De'dan was thy trafficker in precious cloths for 21 riding. A-ra'bi-a, and all the princes of Ke'dar, they were the merchants of thy hand; in lambs, and rams, and goats, in these were they thy merchants.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

God's judgment upon the prince of Tyrus for his impious pride.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, say unto the prince of Ty'rus, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thine heart is lifted up, and [a]thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God, [b]in the †midst of the seas; [c]yet thou art a man, and not God, though thou set thine heart as the heart of God:
3 Behold, [d]thou art wiser than Dan'iel; there is no secret that they can hide from thee:
4 With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures:
5 †[e]By thy great wisdom and by thy traffic, hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches:
6 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God;
7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers upon thee, [f]the terrible of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.
8 They shall bring thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the deaths of them that are slain in the midst of the seas.
9 Wilt thou yet [g]say before him that slayeth thee, I am God? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hand of him that ||slayeth thee.

22 The traffickers of She'ba and Ra'a-mah, they were thy traffickers: they traded for thy wares with chief of all spices, and with all precious stones, and gold.
23 Ha'ran and Can'neh and E'den, the traffickers of She'ba, As'shur and Chil'mad, were thy traffickers.
24 These were thy traffickers in choice wares, in [1]wrappings of blue and broidered work, and in chests of rich apparel, bound with cords and made of cedar,
25 among thy merchandise. The ships of Tar'shish were thy caravans for thy merchandise: and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the 26 heart of the seas. Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the east wind hath broken thee
27 in the heart of the seas. Thy riches, and thy wares, thy merchandise, thy mariners, and thy pilots, thy calkers, and the [2]occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war, that are in thee, [3]with all thy company which is in the midst of thee, shall fall into the heart of the seas in the day of thy ruin.
28 At the sound of the cry of thy pilots the [4]suburbs
29 shall shake. And all that handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea, shall come down from their ships, they shall stand upon the 30 land, and shall cause their voice to be heard over thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast up dust upon their heads, they shall wallow themselves in
31 the ashes: and they shall make themselves bald for thee, and gird them with sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee in bitterness of soul with bitter
32 mourning. And in their wailing they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and lament over thee, saying, Who is there like Tyre, like her that is brought to 33 silence in the midst of the sea? When thy wares went forth out of the seas, thou filledst many peoples; thou didst enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy mer-
34 chandise. [5]In the time that thou wast broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy company did fall in the midst of thee.
35 All the inhabitants of the isles are astonished at thee, and their kings are horribly afraid, they are 36 troubled in their countenance. The merchants among the peoples hiss at thee; thou art become [6]a terror, and thou shalt never be any more.

28 The word of the LORD came again unto me,
2 saying, Son of man, say unto the prince of Tyre, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Because thine heart is lifted up, and thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God, in the [7]midst of the seas; yet thou art man, and not God, though thou didst set thine
3 heart as the heart of God: behold, thou art wiser than Dan'iel; there is no secret that they can hide
4 from thee: by thy wisdom and by thine understanding thou hast gotten thee [8]riches, and hast gotten 5 gold and silver into thy treasures: by thy great wisdom and by thy traffic hast thou increased thy [8]riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy
6 [8]riches: therefore thus saith the Lord GOD: Because thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God;
7 therefore behold, I will bring strangers upon thee, the terrible of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom,
8 and they shall [9]defile thy brightness. They shall bring thee down to the pit; and thou shalt die the deaths of them that are slain, in the heart

10 Thou shalt die the deaths of [h]the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.
11 ¶Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
12 Son of man, [i]take up a lamentation upon the king of Ty'rus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord GOD; [k]Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty.
13 Thou hast been in [l]E'den the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the ‖sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the ‖beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the ‖emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of [m]thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.
14 Thou art the anointed [n]cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon [o]the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire.
15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.
16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, [p]O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.
17 [q]Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.
18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffic; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee, and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth in the sight of all them that behold thee.
19 All they that know thee among the people shall be astonished at thee: [r]thou shalt be †a terror, and never shalt thou be any more.
20 ¶Again the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
21 Son of man, [s]set thy face [t]against Zi'don, and prophesy against it,
22 And say, Thus saith the Lord GOD; [u]Behold, I am against thee, O Zi'don; and I will be glorified in the midst of thee: and [x]they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be [y]sanctified in her.
23 [z]For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets; and the wounded shall be judged in the midst of her by the sword upon her on every side; and they shall know that I am the LORD.
24 ¶And there shall be no more [a]a pricking brier unto the house of Is'ra-el, nor any grieving thorn of all that are round about them, that despised them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.
25 Thus saith the Lord GOD; When I shall have [b]gathered the house of Is'ra-el from the people among whom they are scattered, and shall be [c]sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in their land that I have given to my servant Ja'cob.
26 And they shall [d]dwell ‖safely therein, and shall [e]build houses, and [f]plant vineyards; yea, they shall dwell with confidence, when I have executed judgments upon all those that ‖despise them round about them; and they shall know that I am the LORD their God.

B. C. 588.

10 Thou shalt die the deaths of the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.
11 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, say-
12 ing, Son of man, take up a lamentation for the king of Tyre, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Thou sealest up the [1]sum, full of wisdom, and perfect
13 in beauty. Thou wast in E'den the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the [2]sardius, the topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the [3]emerald, and the [4]carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was in thee; in the day that thou wast created
14 they were prepared. Thou wast the anointed cherub that covereth: and I set thee, so that thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and 15 down in the midst of the stones of fire. Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast
16 created, till unrighteousness was found in thee. By the multitude of thy traffic they filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore have I cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God; and I have destroyed thee, O covering cherub,
17 from the midst of the stones of fire. Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I have cast thee to the ground, I have laid thee before
18 kings, that they may behold thee. By the multitude of thine iniquities, in the unrighteousness of thy traffic, thou hast profaned thy sanctuaries; therefore have I brought forth a fire from the midst of thee, it hath devoured thee, and I have turned thee to ashes upon the earth in the sight of all them that behold
19 thee. All they that know thee among the peoples shall be astonished at thee: thou art become [5]a terror, and thou shalt never be any more.
20 And the word of the LORD came unto me, say-
21 ing, Son of man, set thy face toward Zi'don, and 22 prophesy against it, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against thee, O Zi'don; and I will be glorified in the midst of thee: and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall have executed judgements in her, and shall be sanctified
23 in her. For I will send into her pestilence and blood in her streets; and the wounded shall [6]fall in the midst of her, with the sword upon her on every side; and they shall know that I am the LORD.
24 And there shall be no more a pricking brier unto the house of Is'ra-el, nor a grieving thorn of any that are round about them, that did despite unto them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.
25 Thus saith the Lord GOD: When I shall have gathered the house of Is'ra-el from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the nations, then shall they dwell in their own land which I gave to my servant Ja'cob.
26 And they shall dwell securely therein; yea, they shall build houses, and plant vineyards, and shall dwell securely; when I have executed judgements upon all those that do them despite round about them; and they shall know that I am the LORD their God.

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the twefth day of the month, the word of the LORD
2 came unto me, saying, Son of man, set thy face against Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, and prophesy
3 against him, and against all E'gypt: speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against thee, Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midst of his rivers, [c]which hath said, My river is mine own, and I have made it for myself.

4 But [f]I will put hooks in thy jaws, and I will cause the fish of thy rivers to stick unto thy scales, and I will bring thee up out of the midst of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall stick unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee thrown into the wilderness, thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the †open fields; [g]thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: [h]I have given thee for meat to the beasts of the field and to the fowls of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of E'gypt shall know that I am the LORD, because they have been a [i]staff of reed to the house of Is'ra-el.

7 [k]When they took hold of thee by thy hand, thou didst break, and rend all their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakest, and madest all their loins to be at a stand.

8 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will bring [l]a sword upon thee, and cut off man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of E'gypt shall be desolate and waste; and they shall know that I am the LORD: because he hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold, therefore I am against thee, and against thy rivers, [m]and I will make the land of E'gypt †utterly waste and desolate, ||[n]from the tower of †Sy-e'ne even unto the border of E-thi-o'pi-a.

12 [p]And I will make the land of E'gypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities among the cities that are laid waste shall be desolate forty years: and I will scatter the E-gyp'tians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

13 ¶ Yet thus saith the Lord GOD; At the [q]end of forty years will I gather the E-gyp'tians from the people whither they were scattered:

14 And I will bring again the captivity of E'gypt, and will cause them to return into the land of Path'ros, into the land of their || habitation; and they shall be there a †[r]base kingdom.

15 It shall be the basest of the kingdoms; neither shall it exalt itself any more above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations.

16 And it shall be no more [s]the confidence of the house of Is'ra-el, which bringeth their iniquity to remembrance, when they shall look after them: but they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

17 ¶ And it came to pass in the seven and twentieth year, in the first month, in the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, [t]Neb-u-chad-rez'zar king of Bab'y-lon caused his army to serve a great service against Ty'rus: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army, for Ty'rus, for the service that he had served against it:

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will give the land of E'gypt unto Neb-u-chad-rez'zar king of Bab'y-lon; and he shall take her multitude, and †take her spoil, and take her prey; and it shall be the wages for his army.

20 I have given him the land of E'gypt ||for his labour wherewith he [u]served against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord GOD.

21 ¶ In that day [x]will I cause the horn of the house of Is'ra-el to bud forth, and I will give thee [y]the opening of the mouth in the midst of them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

3 For [b]the day is near, even the day of the LORD is near, a cloudy day; it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon E'gypt, and great || pain shall be in E-thi-o'pi-a, when the slain shall fall in E'gypt, and they [c]shall take away her multitude, and [d]her foundation shall be broken down.

5 E-thi-o'pi-a, and †Lib'y-a, and Lyd'i-a, and [e]all the mingled people, and Chub, and the †men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the LORD; They also that uphold E'gypt shall fall; and the pride of her power shall come down: ||[f]from the tower of Sy-e'ne shall they fall in it by the sword, saith the Lord GOD.

7 [g]And they shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have set a fire in E'gypt, and when all her helpers shall be †destroyed.

9 In that day [h]shall messengers go forth from me in ships to make the careless E-thi-o'pi-ans afraid, and great pain shall come upon them, as in the day of E'gypt: for, lo, it cometh.

11 He and his people with him, [k]the terrible of the nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against E'gypt, and fill the land with the slain.

12 And [l]I will make the rivers †dry, and [m]sell the land into the hand of the wicked: and I will make the land waste, and †all that is therein, by the hand of strangers: I the LORD have spoken it.

17 The young men of ||A'ven and of ||Pi-be'seth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.

18 [z]At Te-haph'ne-hes also the day shall be ||darkened, when I shall break there the yokes of E'gypt: and the pomp of her strength shall cease in her: as for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; behold, I am against Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, and will [a]break his arms, the strong, and that which was broken; and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 [b]And I will scatter the E-gyp'tians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Bab'y-lon, and put my sword in his hand: but I will break Pha'raoh's arms, and he shall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man.

CHAPTER XXXI.

A recital unto Pharaoh of the glory of Assyria.

AND it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying.

2 Son of man, speak unto Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, and to his multitude; [a]Whom art thou like in thy greatness?

3 ¶[b]Behold, the As-syr'i-an was a cedar in Leb'a-non †with fair branches, and with a shadowing shroud, and of a high stature; and his top was among the thick boughs.

4 [c]The waters || made him great, the deep || set him up on high with her rivers running round about his plants, and sent out her || little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore [d]his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long because of the multitude of waters, || when he shot forth.

6 All the [e]fowls of heaven made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under his shadow dwelt all great nations.

7 Thus was he fair in his greatness, in the length of his branches: for his root was by great waters.

8 The cedars in the [f]garden of God could not hide him: the fir trees were not like his boughs, and the chestnut trees were not like his branches: not any tree in the garden of God was like unto him in his beauty.

9 I have made him fair by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of E'den, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 ¶Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou hast lifted up thyself in height, and he hath shot up his top among the thick boughs, and [g]his heart is lifted up in his height;

11 I have therefore delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen; †he shall surely deal with him: I have driven him out for his wickedness.

12 And strangers, [h]the terrible of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: [i]upon the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the people of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.

13 [k]Upon his ruin shall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon his branches:

14 To the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves for their height, neither shoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither their trees || stand up in their height, all that drink water: for [l]they are all delivered unto death, [m]to the nether parts of the earth, in the midst of the children of men, with them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord GOD; In the day when he went down to the grave I caused a mourning: I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: and I caused Leb'a-non †to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted for him.

16 I made the nations to [n]shake at the sound of his fall, when I [o]cast him down to hell, with them that descend into the pit: and [p]all the trees of E'den, the choice and best of Leb'a-non, all that drink water, [q]shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went down into hell with him, unto them that be slain with the sword; and they that were his arm, that [r]dwelt under his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

and the arms of Pha'raoh shall fall down: and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Bab'y-lon and 26 he shall stretch it out upon the land of E'gypt. And I will scatter the E-gyp'tians among the nations, and disperse them through the countries: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

B. C. 588.

31 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the first day of the month, that the word of
2 the LORD came unto me, saying, Son of man, say unto Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, and to his multitude: Whom
3 art thou like in thy greatness? Behold, the As-syr'i-an was a cedar in Leb'a-non with fair branches, and with a shadowing shroud, and of an high stature; and his
4 top was among the [1]thick boughs. The waters nourished him, the deep made him to grow: her rivers ran round about her plantation; and she sent out her
5 channels unto all the trees of the field. Therefore his stature was exalted above all the trees of the field; and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long by reason of [2]many waters, when he shot them
6 forth. All the fowls of heaven made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under
7 his shadow dwelt all great nations. Thus was he fair in his greatness, in the length of his branches:
8 for his root was by [2]many waters. The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: the fir trees were not like his boughs, and the plane trees were not as his branches; nor was any tree in the garden of God
9 like unto him in his beauty. I made him fair by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of E'den, that were in the garden of God, envied him.
10 Therefore thus [3]said the Lord GOD: Because thou art exalted in stature, and he hath set his top among the [1]thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up
11 in his height; I will even deliver him into the hand of the mighty one of the nations; he shall surely deal with him: I have driven him out for his wicked-
12 ness. And strangers, the terrible of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: upon the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the water-courses of the land; and all the peoples of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.
13 Upon his ruin all the fowls of the heaven shall dwell, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon
14 his branches: to the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves in their stature, neither set their top among the thick boughs, nor that their mighty ones stand up in their height, even all that drink water: for they are all delivered unto death, to the nether parts of the earth, in the midst of the children of men, with them that go down to the pit.
15 Thus saith the Lord GOD; In the day when he went down to [4]hell I caused a mourning: I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the rivers thereof, and the great waters were stayed: and I caused Leb'a-non [5]to mourn for him, and all the trees of the 16 field fainted for him. I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to [4]hell with them that descend into the pit: and all the trees of E'den, the choice and best of Leb'a-non, all that drink water, were comforted in the nether 17 parts of the earth. They also went down into [4]hell with him unto them that be slain by the sword; yea, they that were his arm, that dwelt under his shadow in the midst of the nations.

CHAPTER XXXII.

A lamentation for the fearful fall of Egypt.

AND it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, [a]take up a lamentation for Pha'raoh king of E'gypt, and say unto him, [b]Thou art like a young lion of the nations, [c]and thou art as a || whale in the seas: and thou camest forth with thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and [d]fouledst their rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord GOD; I will therefore [e]spread out my net over thee with a company of many people; and they shall bring thee up in my net.

4 Then [f]will I leave thee upon the land, I will cast thee forth upon the open field, and [g]will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill the beasts of the whole earth with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh [h]upon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thy height.

6 I will also water with thy blood || the land wherein thou swimmest, even to the mountains; and the rivers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall || put thee out, [i]I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.

8 All the †bright lights of heaven will I make †dark over thee, and set darkness upon thy land, saith the Lord GOD.

9 I will also †vex the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, into the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people [k]amazed at thee, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for thee, when I shall brandish my sword before them; and [l]they shall tremble at every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of thy fall.

11 ¶[m]For thus saith the Lord GOD; The sword of the king of Bab'y-lon shall come upon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall, [n]the terrible of the nations, all of them: and [o]they shall spoil the pomp of E'gypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be destroyed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from beside the great waters; [p]neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, saith the Lord GOD.

15 When I shall make the land of E'gypt desolate, and the country shall be †destitute of that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, [q]then shall they know that I am the LORD.

16 This is the [r]lamentation wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for her, even for E'gypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord GOD.

17 ¶It came to pass also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

6 fill the valleys with thy [2]height. I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimmest, even to the mountains; and the watercourses shall

8 moon shall not give her light. All the bright lights of heaven will I make [3]dark over thee, and set dark-
9 ness upon thy land, saith the Lord GOD. I will also vex the hearts of many peoples, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, into the coun-

14 nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them. Then will I [5]make their waters clear, and cause their rivers to 15 run like oil, saith the Lord GOD. When I shall make the land of E'gypt desolate and waste, a land destitute of [6]that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, then shall they 16 know that I am the LORD. This is the lamentation wherewith they shall lament; the daughters of the nations shall lament therewith: for E'gypt, and for all her multitude, shall they lament therewith, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

God sheweth the justice of his ways toward the penitent.

AGAIN the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak to [a]the children of thy people, and say unto them, [b]†When I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their [c]watchman:

3 If when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;

4 Then †whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the sword come and take him away, [d]his blood shall be upon his own head.

5 He heard the sound of the trumpet, and took not warning; his blood shall be upon him. But he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, the sword: [1]she is delivered to the sword: draw 21 her away and all her multitudes. The strong among the mighty shall speak to him out of the midst of [2]hell with them that help him: they are gone down, they lie still, even the uncircumcised,

22 slain by the sword. As'shur is there and all her company; his graves are round about him: all of 23 them slain, fallen by the sword: whose graves are set in the uttermost parts of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which caused terror in the land
24 of the living. There is E'lam and all her multitude round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which are gone down uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused their terror in the land of the living, and have borne their 25 shame with them that go down to the pit. They have set her a bed in the midst of the slain with all her multitude: her graves are round about her: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword; for their terror was caused in the land of the living, and they have borne their shame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the midst of them that be
26 slain. There is Me'shech, Tu'bal, and all her multitude; her graves are round about her: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword; for they caused 27 their terror in the land of the living. [3]And they shall not lie with the mighty that are fallen of the uncircumcised, which are gone down to [2]hell with their weapons of war, and have laid their swords under their heads, and their iniquities are upon their bones; for they were the terror of the mighty in the land of 28 the living. But thou shalt be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and shalt lie with them that are
29 slain by the sword. There is E'dom, her kings and all her princes, which [4]in their might are laid with them that are slain by the sword: they shall lie with the uncircumcised, and with them that go down

There be the princes of the north, all of them, and all the Zi-do'ni-ans, which are gone down with the slain; [5]in the terror which they caused by their might they are ashamed; and they lie uncircumcised with them that are slain by the sword, and bear their shame with them that go down to 31 the pit. Pha'raoh shall see them, and shall be comforted over all his multitude: [6]even Pha'raoh and all his army, slain by the sword, saith the Lord GOD.
32 For I have put [7]his terror in the land of the living: and he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised, with them that are slain by the sword, even Pha'raoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord GOD.

33 And the word of the LORD came unto me, say-
2 ing, Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, When I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man from 3 among them, and set him for their watchman: if when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he

[e] he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

7 ¶ [f] So thou, O son of man, I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Is'ra-el; therefore thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me.

8 When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul.

10 Therefore, O thou son of man, speak unto the house of Is'ra-el; Thus ye speak, saying, If our transgressions and our sins be upon us, and we [g] pine away in them, [h] how should we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, [i] I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for [k] why will ye die, O house of Is'ra-el?

12 Therefore, thou son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The [l] righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickedness of the wicked, [m] he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedness: neither shall the righteous be able to live for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say to the righteous, that he shall surely live; [n] if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousnesses shall not be remembered; but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for it.

14 Again, [o] when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; if he turn from his sin, and do †that which is lawful and right;

15 If the wicked [p] restore the pledge, [q] give again that he had robbed, walk in [r] the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.

16 [s] None of his sins that he hath committed shall be mentioned unto him: he hath done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live.

17 ¶ [t] Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the LORD is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.

18 [u] When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

20 ¶ Yet ye say, [x] The way of the LORD is not equal. O ye house of Is'ra-el, I will judge you every one after his ways.

21 ¶ And it came to pass in the twelfth year [y] of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, [z] that one that had escaped out of Je-ru'sa-lem came unto me, saying, [a] The city is smitten.

22 Now [b] the hand of the LORD was upon me in the evening, afore he that was escaped came; and had opened my mouth, until he came to me in the morning; [c] and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb.

23 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, [d] they that inhabit those [e] wastes of the land of Is'ra-el speak, saying, [f] A'bra-ham was one, and he inherited the land: [g] but we are many; the land is given us for inheritance.

25 Wherefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; [h] Ye eat with the blood, and [i] lift up your eyes toward your idols, and [k] shed blood: and shall ye possess the land?

26 Ye stand upon your sword, ye work abomination, and ye [m] defile every one his neighbour's wife: and shall ye possess the land?

he is taken away [1] in his iniquity, but his blood
7 will I require at the watchman's hand. So thou, son of man, I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Is'ra-el; therefore hear the word at my
8 mouth, and give them warning from me. When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die, and thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way; that wicked man shall die [1] in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine

10 And thou, son of man, say unto the house of Is'ra-el: Thus ye speak, saying, [2] Our transgressions and our sins are upon us, and we pine away [1] in 11 them; how then should we live? Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Is'ra-el?
12 And thou, son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression; and as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedness: neither shall he that is righteous be able to live thereby in the day that he sinneth.
13 When I say to the righteous, that he shall surely live; if he trust to his righteousness, and commit iniquity, none of his righteous deeds shall be remembered; but [1] in his iniquity that he hath committed,
14 [3] therein shall he die. Again, when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; if he turn from his 15 sin and do [4] that which is lawful and right; if the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had taken by robbery, walk in the statutes of life, committing no iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall 16 not die. None of his sins that he hath committed shall be remembered against him: he hath done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live.
17 Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is 18 not equal. When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall 19 even die [5] therein. And when the wicked turneth from his wickedness, and doeth that which is law-
20 ful and right, he shall live thereby. Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Is'ra-el, I will judge you every one after his ways.

21 And it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that one that had escaped out of Je-ru'sa-lem

God's providence for his flock—The kingdom of Christ.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the ᵃshepherds of Is'ra-el, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD unto the shepherds; ᵇWoe be to the shepherds of Is'ra-el that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks?

3 ᶜYe eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ᵈye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock.

4 ᵉThe diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye ᶠsought that which was lost; but with ᵍforce and with cruelty have ye ruled them.

5 ʰAnd they were ⁱscattered, ‖because there is no shepherd; ᵏand they became meat to all the beasts of the field, when they were scattered.

6 My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered upon all the face of the earth, and none did search or seek after them.

7 ¶Therefore, ye shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

8 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely because my flock became a prey, and my flock ˡbecame meat to every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my flock, ᵐbut the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my flock;

9 Therefore, O ye shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

10 Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against the shepherds; and "I will require my flock at their hand, and cause them to cease from feeding the flock; neither shall the shepherds °feed themselves any more; for I will deliver my flock from their mouth, that they may not be meat for them.

11 ¶For thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out.

12 †As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in ᵖthe cloudy and dark day.

13 And ᑫI will bring them out from the people, and gather

27 Thus shalt thou say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD: As I live, surely they that are in the waste places shall fall by the sword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beasts to be devoured, and they that be in the strong holds and in the caves
28 shall die of the pestilence. And I will make the land a desolation and an astonishment, and the pride of her power shall cease; and the mountains of Is'ra-el shall be desolate, that none shall pass
29 through. Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land a desolation and an astonishment, because of all their abominations
30 which they have committed. And as for thee, son of man, the children of thy people talk of thee by the walls and in the doors of the houses, and speak one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that
31 cometh forth from the LORD. And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but do them not: for with their mouth they shew much love, but 32 their heart goeth after their gain. And, lo, thou art unto them as [1]a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument:
33 for they hear thy words, but they do them not. And when this cometh to pass, (behold, it cometh,) then shall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

34 And the word of the LORD came unto me, say-
2 ing, Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Is'ra-el prophesy, and say unto them, even to the shepherds, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Woe unto the shepherds of Is'ra-el that do feed themselves!
3 should not the shepherds feed the sheep? Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill the
4 fatlings; but ye feed not the sheep. The diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost; but with force and with rigour
5 have ye ruled over them. And they were scattered, because there was no shepherd: and they became meat to all the beasts of the field, and were scat-
6 tered. My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my sheep were scattered upon all the face of the earth; and there
7 was none that did search or seek after them. There-
8 fore, ye shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely forasmuch as my sheep became a prey, and my sheep became meat to all the beasts of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my sheep, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not
9 my sheep; therefore, ye shepherds, hear the word
10 of the LORD; Thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against the shepherds; and I will require my sheep at their hand, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheep; neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more; and I will deliver my sheep from their mouth, that they may not be meat for 11 them. For thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I myself, even I, will search for my sheep, and will seek 12 them out. As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered abroad, so will I seek out my sheep; and I will deliver them out of all places whither they have 13 been scattered in [2]the cloudy and dark day. And I will bring them out from the peoples, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Is'ra-el by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 [r]I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Is'ra-el shall their fold be: [s]there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Is'ra-el.

15 I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord GOD.

16 [t]I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick: but I will destroy [u]the fat and the strong; I will feed them [x]with judgment.

17 And as for you, O my flock, thus saith the Lord GOD; [y]Behold, I judge between †cattle and cattle, between the rams and the †he-goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing unto you to have eaten up the good pasture, but ye must tread down with your feet the residue of your pastures? and to have drunk of the deep waters, but ye must foul the residue with your feet?

19 And as for my flock, they eat that which ye have trodden with your feet; and they drink that which ye have fouled with your feet.

20 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD unto them; [z]Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat cattle and between the lean cattle.

21 Because ye have thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the diseased with your horns, till ye have scattered them abroad;

22 Therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and [a]I will judge between cattle and cattle.

23 And I will set up one [b]Shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, [c]even my servant Da'vid; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And [d]I the LORD will be their God, and my servant Da'vid [e]a prince among them; I the LORD have spoken it.

25 And [f]I will make with them a covenant of peace, and [g]will cause the evil beasts to cease out of the land: and they [h]shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.

26 And I will make them and the places round about [i]my hill [k]a blessing; and I will [l]cause the shower to come down in his season; there shall be [m]showers of blessing.

27 And [n]the tree of the field shall yield her fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the LORD, when I have [o]broken the bands of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hand of those that [p]served themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more [q]be a prey to the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land devour them; but [r]they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise up for them a [s]plant ‖of renown, and they shall be no more †consumed with hunger in the land, [t]neither bear the shame of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they know that [u]I the LORD their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Is'ra-el, are my people, saith the Lord GOD.

31 And ye my [x]flock, the flock of my pasture, are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAPTER XXXV.

The judgment of mount Seir for their hatred of Israel.

MOREOVER the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, [a]set thy face against [b]mount Se'ir, and [c]prophesy against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Se'ir, I am against thee, and [d]I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee †most desolate.

4 [e]I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

them from the countries, and will bring them into their own land; and I will feed them upon the mountains of Is'ra-el, by the watercourses, and in all the inhabited 14 places of the country. I will feed them with good pasture, and upon the mountains of the height of Is'ra-el shall their fold be: there shall they lie down in a good fold, and on fat pasture shall they feed upon
15 the mountains of Is'ra-el. I myself will feed my sheep, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord
16 GOD. I will seek that which was lost, and will bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick: and the fat and the strong I
17 will destroy; I will feed them in judgement. And as for you, O my flock, thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I judge between cattle and cattle, as well
18 the rams as the he-goats. Seemeth it a small thing unto you to have fed upon the good pasture, but ye must tread down with your feet the residue of your pasture? and to have drunk of the clear waters, but 19 ye must foul the residue with your feet? And as for my sheep, they eat that which ye have trodden with your feet, and they drink that which ye have fouled with your feet.
20 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD unto them: Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat cattle
21 and the lean cattle. Because ye thrust with side and with shoulder, and push all the diseased with your horns, till ye have scattered them abroad;
22 therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and I will judge between cattle
23 and cattle. And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant Da'vid; he shall feed them, and he shall be their 24 shepherd. And I the LORD will be their God, and my servant Da'vid prince among them; I the LORD
25 have spoken it. And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause evil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell securely in the wil-
26 derness, and sleep in the woods. And I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in its 27 seasons; there shall be showers of blessing. And the tree of the field shall yield its fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase, and they shall be secure in their land; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bars of their yoke, and have delivered them out of the hand of those that [1]served
28 themselves of them. And they shall no more be a prey to the heathen, neither shall the beast of the earth devour them; but they shall dwell securely,
29 and none shall make them afraid. And I will raise up unto them a [2]plantation for renown, and they shall be no more [3]consumed with famine in the land, neither bear the shame of the heathen any more.
30 And they shall know that I the LORD their God am with them, and that they, the house of Is'ra-el,
31 are my people, saith the Lord GOD. And ye my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord GOD.

35 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me,
2 saying, Son of man, set thy face against mount
3 Se'ir, and prophesy against it, and say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against thee, O mount Se'ir, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee a desolation and an aston-
4 ishment. I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

The land of Israel is comforted; the blessings of Christ's kingdom.

ALSO, thou son of man, prophesy unto the [a]mountains of Is'ra-el, and say, Ye mountains of Is'ra-el, hear the word of the LORD:

2 Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because [b]the enemy hath said against you, Aha, [c]even the ancient high places [d]are ours in possession:

3 Therefore prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD; †Because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the heathen, [e]and ‖ ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people:

4 Therefore, ye mountains of Is'ra-el, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus saith the Lord GOD to the mountains, and to the hills, to the ‖ rivers, and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes, and to the cities that are forsaken, which [f]became a prey and [g]derision to the residue of the heathen that are round about;

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; [h]Surely in the fire of my jealousy have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all I-du-me'a, [i]which have appointed my land into their possession with the joy of all their heart, with despiteful minds, to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophesy therefore concerning the land of Is'ra-el, and say unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I have spoken in my jealousy and in my fury, because ye have [k]borne the shame of the heathen:

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; I have [l]lifted up mine hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they shall bear their shame.

8 ¶ But ye, O mountains of Is'ra-el, ye shall shoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Is'ra-el; for they are at hand to come.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual enmity, and hast given over the children of Is'ra-el to the power of the sword in the time of their calamity, in the time
6 of the [1]iniquity of the end: therefore, as I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: saith thou hast not hated
7 blood, therefore blood shall pursue thee. Thus will I make mount Se'ir an astonishment and a desolation; and I will cut off from it him that passeth
8 through and him that returneth. And I will fill his mountains with his slain: in thy hills and in thy valleys and in all thy watercourses, shall they fall
9 that are slain with the sword. I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not [2]be inhabited: and ye shall know that I am the LORD.
10 Because thou hast said, These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess it;
11 [3]whereas the LORD was there: therefore, as I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will do according to thine anger, and according to thine envy which thou hast shewed out of thy hatred against them; and I will make myself known among them, [4]when I shall 12 judge thee. And thou shalt know [5]that I the LORD have heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Is'ra-el, saying, [6]They are laid desolate, they are given us
13 to devour. And ye have magnified yourselves against me with your mouth, and have multiplied
14 your words against me: I have heard it. Thus saith the Lord GOD: When the whole earth rejoiceth, 15 I will make thee desolate. As thou didst rejoice over the inheritance of the house of Is'ra-el, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Se'ir, and all E'dom, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

2 the word of the LORD. Thus saith the Lord GOD: Because the enemy hath said against you, Aha! and,
3 The ancient high places are ours in possession: therefore prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD: Because, even because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the nations, and ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, and the evil report
4 of the people: therefore, ye mountains of Is'ra-el, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus saith the Lord GOD to the mountains and to the hills, to the watercourses and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes and to the cities that are forsaken, which are become a prey and derision to the residue of the nations that are

B. C. about 587.

9 For, behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto you, and ye shall be tilled and sown:

10 And I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Is'ra-el, even all of it; and the cities shall be inhabited, and [m]the wastes shall be builded:

11 And [n]I will multiply upon you man and beast; and they shall increase and bring fruit: and I will settle you after your old estates, and will do better unto you than at your beginnings: [o]and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walk upon you, even my people Is'ra-el; [p]and they shall possess thee, and thou shalt be their inheritance, and thou shalt no more henceforth [q]bereave them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because they say unto you, [r]Thou land devourest up men, and hast bereaved thy nations;

14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither ||bereave thy nations any more, saith the Lord GOD.

15 [s]Neither will I cause men to hear in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou bear the reproach of the people any more, neither shalt thou cause thy nations to fall any more, saith the Lord GOD.

16 ¶Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

17 Son of man, when the house of Is'ra-el dwelt in their own land, [t]they defiled it by their own way and by their doings: their way was before me as the [u]uncleanness of a removed woman.

18 Wherefore I poured my fury upon them [x]for the blood that they had shed upon the land, and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it:

19 And I [y]scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries: [z]according to their way and according to their doings I judged them.

20 And when they entered unto the heathen whither they went, they [a]profaned my holy name, when they said to them, These are the people of the LORD, and are gone forth out of his land.

21 ¶But I had pity [b]for mine holy name, which the house of Is'ra-el had profaned among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD; I do not this for your sakes, O house of Is'ra-el, [c]but for mine holy name's sake, which ye have profaned among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctify my great name, which was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midst of them; and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, saith the Lord GOD, when I shall be [d]sanctified in you before ||their eyes.

24 For [e]I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 ¶Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean: [g]from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you.

26 A [h]new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my [i]Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them.

28 [k]And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; [l]and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also [m]save you from all your uncleannesses: and [n]I will call for the corn, and will increase it, and [o]lay no famine upon you.

30 [p]And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that ye shall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then [q]shall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and [r]shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

9 For, behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto 10 you, and ye shall be tilled and sown: and I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Is'ra-el, even all of it: and the cities shall be inhabited, and
11 the waste places shall be builded: and I will multiply upon you man and beast; and they shall increase and be fruitful: and I will cause you to be inhabited after your former estate, and will do better unto you than at your beginnings: and ye shall 12 know that I am the LORD. Yea, I will cause men to walk upon you, even my people Is'ra-el; and they shall possess thee, and thou shalt be their inheritance, and thou shalt no more henceforth bereave them of 13 children. Thus saith the Lord GOD: Because they say unto you, Thou land art a devourer of men, and 14 hast been a bereaver of thy [1]nation: therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither [2]bereave thy 15 [1]nation any more, saith the Lord GOD; neither will I [3]let thee hear any more the shame of the heathen, neither shalt thou bear the reproach of the peoples any more, neither shalt thou cause thy [1]nation to stumble any more, saith the Lord GOD.

16 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me,
17 saying, Son of man, when the house of Is'ra-el dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their way and by their doings: their way before me was as the uncleanness of a woman in her separation.
18 Wherefore I poured out my fury upon them for the blood which they had poured out upon the land,
19 and because they had defiled it with their idols: and I scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed through the countries: according to their way and according to their doings I judged them.
20 And when they came unto the nations, whither they went, they profaned my holy name; in that men said of them, These are the people of the LORD, and are 21 gone forth out of his land. But I had pity for mine holy name, which the house of Is'ra-el had profaned
22 among the nations, whither they went. Therefore say unto the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD: [4]I do not this for your sake, O house of Is'ra-el, but for mine holy name, which ye have pro-
23 faned among the nations, whither ye went. And I will sanctify my great name, which hath been profaned among the nations, which ye have profaned in the midst of them; and the nations shall know that I am the LORD, saith the Lord GOD, when I shall be 24 sanctified in you before [5]their eyes. For I will take you from among the nations, and gather you out of all the countries, and will bring you into your
26 and from all your idols, will I cleanse you. A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of 27 flesh. And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judge-
28 ments, and do them. And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.
29 And I will save you from all your uncleannesses: and I will call for the corn, and 30 will multiply it, and lay no famine upon you. And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that ye shall receive no more the reproach 31 of famine among the nations. Then shall ye remember your evil ways, and your doings that were not good; and ye shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities and for your abominations.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

The resurrection of dry bones—The promises of Christ's kingdom.

THE 'hand of the LORD was upon me, and carried me out 'in the Spirit of the LORD, and set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones,

2 And caused me to pass by them round about: and, behold, there were very many in the open ‖ valley; and, lo, they were very dry.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord GOD, 'thou knowest.

4 Again he said unto me, Prophesy upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the LORD.

5 Thus saith the Lord GOD unto these bones: Behold, I will 'cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live:

6 And I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and ye shall live; 'and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinews and the flesh came up upon them, and the skin covered them above: but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he unto me, Prophesy unto the ‖ wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord GOD; 'Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live.

10 So I prophesied as he commanded me, 'and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

11 ¶Then he said unto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Is'ra-el: behold, they say, 'Our bones are dried, and our hope is lost: we are cut off for our parts.

12 Therefore prophesy and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, 'O my people, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and 'bring you into the land of Is'ra-el.

13 And ye shall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, 14 And 'shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live, and I shall place you in your own land: then shall ye know that I the LORD have spoken it, and performed it, saith the LORD.

15 ¶The word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

The malice of Gog—God's judgment against him.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

God's judgments upon Gog; Israel's victory; the feast of the fowls and beasts.

THEREFORE, [a]thou son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Me'shech and Tu'bal:

2 And I will turn thee back, and ||leave but the sixth part of thee, [b]and will cause thee to come up from †the north parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Is'ra-el:

give thee unto the ravenous birds of every †sort, and to the beasts of the field, †to be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon †the open field: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

6 [a]And I will send a fire on Ma'gog, and among them that dwell ||carelessly in [f]the isles: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

7 [g]So will I make my holy name known in the midst of my people Is'ra-el; and I will not let them [h]pollute my holy name any more: [i]and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Is'ra-el.

8 ¶[k]Behold it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord GOD; this is the day [l]whereof I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Is'ra-el shall go forth, and shall set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the ||handstaves, and the spears, and they shall ||burn them with fire seven years:

10 So that they shall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the forests; for they shall burn the weapons with fire: [m]and they shall spoil those that spoiled them, and rob those that robbed them, saith the Lord GOD.

11 ¶And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Is'ra-el, the valley of the passengers on the east of the sea: and it shall stop the ||noses of the passengers: and there shall they bury Gog and all his multitude: and they shall call it The valley of ||Ha'mon-gog.

12 And seven months shall the house of Is'ra-el be burying of them, [n]that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall bury them: and it shall be to them a renown the day that [o]I shall be glorified, saith the Lord GOD.

14 And they shall sever out †men of continual employment, passing through the land to bury with the passengers those that remain upon the face of the earth, [p]to cleanse it: after the end of seven months shall they search.

15 And the passengers that pass through the land, when any seeth a man's bone, then shall he †set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Ha'mon-gog.

16 And also the name of the city shall be ||Ha-mo'nah. Thus shall they [q]cleanse the land.

17 ¶And, thou son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD; [r]Speak †unto every feathered fowl, and to every beast of the field, [s]Assemble yourselves, and come; gather yourselves on every side to my ||sacrifice that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice upon the mountains of Is'ra-el, that ye may [t]eat flesh, and drink blood.

18 [u]Ye shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of †goats, of bullocks, all of them [x]fatlings of Ba'shan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you.

20 [y]Thus ye shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, [z]with mighty men, and with all men of war, saith the Lord GOD.

21 [a]And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my judgment that I have executed, and [b]my hand that I have laid upon them.

22 [c]So the house of Is'ra-el shall know that I am the LORD their God from that day and forward.

23 ¶[d]And the heathen shall know that the house of Is'ra-el went into captivity for their iniquity: because they trespassed against me, therefore [e]hid I my face from them, and [f]gave them into the hand of their enemies; so fell they all by the sword.

24 [g]According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

shalt fall upon the open field: for I have spoken it,

Ma'gog, and on them that dwell securely in the [1]isles: and they shall know that I am the LORD.
7 And my holy name will I make known in the midst of my people Is'ra-el; neither will I suffer my holy name to be profaned any more: and the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy 8 One in Is'ra-el. Behold, it cometh, and it shall be give unto Gog a place for burial in Is'ra-el, the valley of them that pass through [2]on the east of the sea: and it shall stop them that pass through:

and there shall they bury Gog and all his multitude: and they shall call it The valley of 12 [3]Ha'mon-gog. And seven months shall the house of Is'ra-el be burying of them, that they may cleanse bury them; and it shall be to them a renown, in the day that I shall be glorified, saith the Lord 14 GOD. And they shall sever out men of continual employment, that shall pass through the land to bury [4]them [5]that pass through, that remain upon the face of the land, to cleanse it: after the end of 15 seven months shall they search. And they that pass through the land shall pass through; and when any seeth a man's bone, then shall he [6]set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley 16 of Ha'mon-gog. And [7]Ha-mo'nah shall also be the name of a city. Thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou, son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD: Speak unto the birds of every sort, and to every beast of the field, Assemble yourselves, and come; gather yourselves on every side to my sacrifice that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice upon the mountains of Is'ra-el, that ye may eat flesh and drink 18 blood. Ye shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of goats, of bullocks, all of them fatlings 19 of Ba'shan. And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my sacrifice 20 which I have sacrificed for you. And ye shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, saith the Lord 21 GOD. And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgement that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid upon 22 them. So the house of Is'ra-el shall know that I am the LORD their God, from that day and forward.
23 And the nations shall know that the house of Is'ra-el went into captivity for their iniquity: because they trespassed against me, and I hid my face from them:
so I gave them into the hand of their adversaries, and 24 they fell all of them by the sword. According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions did I unto them; and I hid my face from them.

CHAPTER XL.

The time, manner, and end of Ezekiel's vision.

IN the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that [a]the city was smitten, in the selfsame day [b]the hand of the LORD was upon me, and brought me thither.
2 [c]In the visions of God brought he me into the land of Is'ra-el, [d]and set me upon a very high mountain, || by which was as the frame of a city on the south.
3 And he brought me thither, and, behold, there was a man, whose appearance was [e]like the appearance of brass, [f]with a line of flax in his hand, [g]and a measuring reed: and he stood in the gate.
4 And the man said unto me, [h]Son of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and set thine heart upon all that I shall shew thee; for to the intent that I might shew them unto thee art thou brought hither: [i]declare all that thou seest to the house of Is'ra-el.
5 And behold [k]a wall on the outside of the house round about, and in the man's hand a measuring reed of six cubits long by the cubit and a handbreadth: so he measured the breadth of the building, one reed: and the height one reed.
6 ¶Then came he unto the gate †which looketh toward the east, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad; and the other threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad.
7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad; and between the little chambers were five cubits; and the threshold of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.
8 He measured also the porch of the gate within, one reed.
9 Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the posts thereof, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was inward.
10 And the little chambers of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side; they three were of one measure: and the posts had one measure on this side and on that side.
11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.
12 The †space also before the little chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side: and the little chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.
13 He measured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door against door.
14 He made also posts of threescore cubits, even unto the post of the court round about the gate.
15 And from the face of the gate of the entrance unto the face of the porch of the inner gate were fifty cubits.
16 And there were [l]†narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their posts within the gate round about, and 39 ¶And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt offering, and [q]the sin offering, and [r]the trespass offering.

40 And at the side without, ||as one goeth up to the entry of the north gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.
41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.
42 And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and a half long, and a cubit and a half broad, and one cubit high; whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.
43 And within were ||hooks, a hand broad, fastened round about: and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.
44 ¶And without the inner gate were the chambers of [s]the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate; and their prospect was toward the south: one at the side of the east gate having the prospect toward the north.

CHAPTER XLI.

The measures, parts, chambers, and ornaments of the temple.

AFTERWARD he brought me to the temple, and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.
2 And the breadth of the ||door was ten cubits; and the sides of the door were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side: and he measured the length thereof, forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits.
3 Then went he inward, and measured the posts of the door, two cubits; and the door six cubits; and the breadth of the door, seven cubits.
4 So [a]he measured the length thereof, twenty cubits; and the breadth, twenty cubits, before the temple: and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.
5 After he measured the wall of the house, six cubits; and the breadth of every side chamber, four cubits, round about the house on every side.
6 [b]And the side chambers were three, †one over another, and ||thirty in order; and they entered into the wall which was of the house for the side chambers round about, that they might †have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the house.
7 And †[c]there was an enlarging, and a winding about still upward to the side chambers: for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house was still upward, and so increased from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

38 And a chamber with the door thereof was by the posts at the gates; there they washed the burnt offer-
39 ing. And [1]in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt offering and the sin offering and the guilt
40 offering. And on the one side without, [2]as one goeth up to the entry of the gate toward the north, were two tables; and on the other side, which belonged to 41 the porch of the gate, were two tables. Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew
42 the sacrifices. And there were four tables for the burnt offering, of hewn stone, a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon they laid the instruments wherewith they slew
43 the burnt offering and the sacrifice. And the [3]hooks, an handbreadth long, were fastened [4]within round about: and upon the tables was the flesh of the ob-
44 lation. [5]And without the inner gate were chambers for the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate; and their prospect was toward the south: one at the side of the east gate having 45 the prospect toward the north. And he said unto me, This chamber, whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of 46 the house. And the chamber whose prospect is toward the north is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Za'dok, which from among the sons of Le'vi come near to the 47 LORD to minister unto him. And he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, foursquare; and the altar was before the house.
48 Then he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that
49 side. The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits; [6]even by the steps whereby they went up to it: and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

41 And he brought me to the temple, and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the
2 breadth of the [7]tabernacle. And the breadth of the entrance was ten cubits; and the [8]sides of the entrance were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side: and he measured the length thereof,
3 forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits. Then went he inward, and measured each post of the entrance, two cubits: and the entrance, six cubits;
4 and the breadth of the entrance, seven cubits. And he measured the length thereof, twenty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits, before the [9]temple: and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.
5 Then he measured the wall of the house, six cubits; and the breadth of every side-chamber, four cubits,
6 round about the house on every side. And the side-chambers were in three stories, one over another, and thirty in order; and they entered into the wall which belonged to the house for the side-chambers round about, that they might have hold therein, and not have hold in the wall of the house.
7 And [10]the side-chambers were broader as they encompassed the house higher and higher; for the encompassing of the house went higher and higher round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house continued upward; and so one went up from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middle chamber.

CHAPTER XLII.

The chambers for the priests—The use thereof.

THEN he brought me forth into the outer court, the way toward the north: and he brought me into [c]the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the north.

2 Before the length of a hundred cubits was the north door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement which was for the outer court, was [b]gallery against gallery in three stories.

[b] ch. 41. 16.

8 I saw also [1]that the house had [2]a raised basement round about: the foundations of the side-chambers
9 were a full reed [3]of six great cubits. The thickness of the wall, which was for the side-chambers, on the outside, was five cubits: [4]and that which was left was the place of the side-chambers that belonged to the 10 house. And between the chambers was a breadth of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.
11 And the doors of the side-chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the south: and the breadth of the place that was left was five cubits round about.
12 And the building that was before the separate place at the side toward the west was seventy cubits broad; and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits.
13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long; and the separate place, and the building, with the 14 walls thereof, an hundred cubits long; also the breadth of the face of the house, and of the separate place toward the east, an hundred cubits.
15 And he measured the length of the building before the separate place which was at the back thereof, and the galleries thereof on the one side and on the other side, an hundred cubits; and the inner temple, and the 16 porches of the court; the thresholds, and the closed windows, and the galleries round about on their three stories, over against the threshold, cieled with wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows;
17 now the windows were covered; to the space above the door, even unto the inner house, and without, and by all the wall round about within and without, [5]by 18 measure. And it was made with cherubim and palm trees; and a palm tree was between cherub
19 and cherub, and every cherub had two faces; so that there was the face of a man toward the palm tree on the one side, and the face of a young lion toward the palm tree on the other side: thus was it
20 made through all the house round about. From the ground unto above the door were cherubim and palm trees made: [6]thus was the wall of the temple.
21 As for the temple, the door posts were squared; and as for the face of the sanctuary, the appearance 22 thereof was [7]as the appearance of the temple. The altar was of wood, three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits; and [8]the corners thereof, and the [9]length thereof, and the walls thereof, were of wood: and he said unto me, This is the table that 23 is before the LORD. And the temple and the sanc-
24 tuary had two doors. And the doors had two leaves apiece, two turning leaves; two leaves for the one
25 door, and two leaves for the other. And there were made on them, on the doors of the temple, cherubim and palm trees, like as were made upon the walls; and there were thick beams of wood [10]upon the 26 face of the porch without. And there were closed windows and palm trees on the one side and on the other side, on the sides of the porch: thus were the side-chambers of the house, and the thick beams.

[1] Or, that the house was high round about

[4] The Sept. has, and that which was left between the side chambers that belonged to the house and between the chambers was &c.

[10] Or, before the porch

42 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, the way toward the north: and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was over against the building toward the north.
2 Before the length of [11]an hundred cubits was the north
3 door, and the breadth was fifty cubits. Over against the twenty cubits which belonged to the inner court, and over against the pavement which belonged to the outer court, was gallery against gallery [12]in the third story.

[12] Or, three stories

4 And before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit; and their doors toward the north.

5 Now the upper chambers were shorter: for the galleries were ||higher than these, ||than the lower, and than the middlemost of the building.

6 For they were in three stories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the building was straitened more than the lowest and the middlemost from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the outer court on the forepart of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the outer court was fifty cubits: and, lo, before the temple were a hundred cubits.

9 And ||from under these chambers was ||the entry on the east side, ||as one goeth into them from the outer court.

10 The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And [c]the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their goings out were both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one entereth into them.

13 ¶Then said he unto me, The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, where the priests that approach unto the LORD [d]shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and [e]the meat offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering; for the place is holy.

14 [f]When the priests enter therein, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the outer court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister; for they are holy; and shall put on other garments, and shall approach to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the east, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the east †side with the measuring reed, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.

17 He measured the north side, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.

18 He measured the south side, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed.

19 ¶He turned about to the west side, and measured five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it by the four sides: [g]it had a wall round about, [h]five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad, to make a separation between the sanctuary and the profane place.

CHAPTER XLIII.

The glory of the Lord returneth into the temple.

AFTERWARD he brought me to the gate, even the gate [a]that looketh toward the east:

2 [b]And, behold, the glory of the God of Is'ra-el came from the way of the east: and [c]his voice was like a noise of many waters: [d]and the earth shined with his glory.

3 And it was [e]according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision that I saw ||when I came [f]to destroy the city: and the visions were like the vision that I saw [g]by the river Che'bar; and I fell upon my face.

4 [h]And the glory of the LORD came into the house by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east.

5 [i]So the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court; and, behold, [k]the glory of the LORD filled the house.

4 And before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of [1]one cubit; and their doors
5 were toward the north. Now the upper chambers were shorter: for the galleries took away from these, more than from the lower and the middlemost, in the 6 building. For they were in three stories, and they had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the uppermost was straitened more than the lowest and the 7 middlemost from the ground. And the [2]wall that was without by the side of the chambers, toward the outer court before the chambers, the length thereof was fifty
8 cubits. For the length of the chambers that were in the outer court was fifty cubits: and, lo, before the 9 temple were an hundred cubits. And from under these chambers was the entry on the east side, as one
10 goeth into them from the outer court. In the thickness of the [2]wall of the court toward the east, before the separate place, and before the building, there
11 were chambers. And the way before them was like the appearance of the way of the chambers which were toward the north; [3]according to their length so was their breadth: and all their goings out were both according to their fashions, and according to 12 their doors. And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the [2]wall toward the east, as one entereth into them.
13 Then said he unto me, The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they be the holy chambers, where the priests that are near unto the LORD shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meal offering, and the sin offering, and the guilt
14 offering; for the place is holy. When the priests enter in, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the outer court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister; for they are holy: and they shall put on other garments, and shall approach to that which pertaineth to the people.
15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east, and meas-
16 ured it round about. He measured on the east [4]side with the measuring reed, five hundred reeds, with 17 the measuring reed round about. He measured on the north [4]side, five hundred reeds, with the measur-
18 ing reed round about. He measured on the south [4]side, five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.
19 He turned about to the west [4]side, and measured
20 five hundred reeds with the measuring reed. He measured it [5]on the four sides: it had a wall round about, the length five hundred, and the breadth five hundred, to make a separation between that which was holy and that which was common.

43 Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the
2 gate that looketh toward the east: and behold, the glory of the God of Is'ra-el came from the way of the east: and his voice was like the sound of many
3 waters: and the earth shined with his glory. And it was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city; and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Che'bar:
4 and I fell upon my face. And the glory of the LORD came into the house by the way of the gate
5 whose prospect is toward the east. And the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court; and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house.

6 And I heard him speaking unto me out of the house; and [i]the man stood by me.

7 ¶And he said unto me, Son of man, [m]the place of my throne, and [n]the place of the soles of my feet, [o]where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Is'ra-el for ever, and my holy name, shall the house of Is'ra-el [p]no more defile, neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredom, nor by [q]the carcasses of their kings in their high places.

8 [r]In their setting of their threshold by my thresholds, and their post by my posts, ‖ and the wall between me and them, they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in mine anger.

9 Now let them put away their whoredom, and [s]the carcasses of their kings, far from me, [t]and I will dwell in the midst of them for ever.

10 ¶Thou son of man, [u]shew the house to the house of Is'ra-el, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities: and let them measure the ‖ pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the form of the house, and the fashion thereof, and the goings out thereof, and the comings in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the law of the house; Upon [x]the top of the mountain the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the law of the house.

18 ¶And he said unto me, Son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD; These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt offerings thereon, and to [a]sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to [b]the priests the Le'vites that be of the seed of Za'dok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord GOD, [c]a young bullock for a sin offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the settle, and upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse and purge it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sin offering, and he [d]shall burn it in the appointed place of the house, [e]without the sanctuary.

22 And on the second day thou shalt offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the LORD, [f]and the priests shall cast salt upon them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt offering unto the LORD.

25 [o]Seven days shalt thou prepare every day a goat for a sin offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock, and a ram out of the flock, without blemish.

26 Seven days shall they purge the altar and purify it; and they shall †consecrate themselves.

27 [h]And when these days are expired, it shall be, that upon the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your || peace offerings: and I will [i]accept you, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAPTER XLIV.

The priests reproved for polluting of the sanctuary.

THEN he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward sanctuary [a]which looketh toward the east; and it was shut.

2 Then said the LORD unto me; This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter in by it; [b]because the LORD the God of Is'ra-el hath entered in by it, therefore it shall be shut.

3 It is for the prince; the prince, he shall sit in it to [c]eat bread before the LORD; [d]he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶Then brought he me the way of the north gate before the house: and I looked, and, [e]behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD: [f]and I fell upon my face.

5 And the LORD said unto me, [g]Son of man, †mark well, and behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears all that I say unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD, and all the laws thereof; and mark well the entering in of the house, with every going forth of the sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the [h]rebellious, even to the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD; O ye house of Is'ra-el, [i]let it suffice you of all your abominations,

7 [k]In that ye have brought into my sanctuary †[l]strangers, [m]uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to pollute it, even my house, when ye offer [n]my bread, [o]the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant because of all your abominations.

8 And ye have not [p]kept the charge of mine holy things: but ye have set keepers of my ||charge in my sanctuary for yourselves.

9 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD; [q]No stranger, uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Is'ra-el.

10 [r]And the Le'vites that are gone away far from me, when Is'ra-el went astray, which went astray away from me after their idols; they shall even bear their iniquity.

11 Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, [s]having charge at the gates of the house, and ministering to the house: [t]they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and "they shall stand before them to minister unto them.

12 Because they ministered unto them before their idols, and [x]†caused the house of Is'ra-el to fall into iniquity; therefore have I [y]lifted up mine hand against them, saith the Lord GOD, and they shall bear their iniquity.

13 [z]And they shall not come near unto me, to do the office of a priest unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, in the most holy place: but they shall [a]bear their shame, and their abominations which they have committed.

14 But I will make them [b]keepers of the charge of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 ¶[c]But the priests the Le'vites, [d]the sons of Za'dok, that kept the charge of my sanctuary [e]when the children of Is'ra-el went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister unto me, and they [f]shall stand before me to offer unto me [g]the fat and the blood, saith the Lord GOD:

16 They shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come near to [h]my table, to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

25 Seven days shalt thou prepare every day a goat for a sin offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock, 26 and a ram out of the flock, without blemish. Seven days shall they make atonement for the altar and 27 purify it; so shall they [1]consecrate it. And when they have accomplished the days, it shall be that upon the eighth day, and forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings; and I will accept you, saith the Lord GOD.

[1]Heb. fill the hands thereof. See Ex. xxix. 24.

44 Then he brought me back the way of the outer gate of the sanctuary, which looketh toward the east;
2 and it was shut. And the LORD said unto me, This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, neither shall any man enter in by it, for the LORD, the God of Is'ra-el, hath entered in by it; therefore it shall be shut.
3 As for the prince, he shall sit therein as prince to eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by the way of the porch of the gate, and shall go out by the way of
4 the same. Then he brought me the way of the north gate before the house; and I looked, and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD: and
5 I fell upon my face. And the LORD said unto me, Son of man, [2]mark well, and behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears all that I say unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD, and all the laws thereof; and [2]mark well the entering in of the house, with every going forth of the sanc-
6 tuary. And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Is'ra-el, Thus saith the Lord GOD: O ye house of Is'ra-el, let it suffice you of all your abomi-
7 nations, in that ye have brought in aliens, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to profane it, even my house, when ye offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and [3]they have broken my covenant, [4]to add unto all your
8 abominations. And ye have not kept the charge of mine holy things: but ye have set keepers of my
9 charge in my sanctuary for yourselves. Thus saith the Lord GOD, No alien, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary, of any alien that is among the children
10 of Is'ra-el. But the Le'vites that went far from me, when Is'ra-el went astray, which went astray from me after their idols; they shall bear their iniquity.
11 Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, having oversight at the gates of the house, and ministering in the house: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before
12 them to minister unto them. Because they ministered unto them before their idols, and became a stumbling-block of iniquity unto the house of Is'ra-el; therefore have I lifted up mine hand against them, saith the 13 Lord GOD, and they shall bear their iniquity. And they shall not come near unto me, to execute the office of priest unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, unto the things that are most holy: but they shall bear their shame, and their abomina-
14 tions which they have committed. Yet will I make them keepers of the charge of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein,
15 But the priests the Le'vites, the sons of Za'dok, that kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Is'ra-el went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister unto me; and they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat and the 16 blood, saith the Lord GOD: they shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come near to my table, to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

18 [k]They shall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loins; they shall not gird themselves ||†with any thing that causeth sweat.

19 And when they go forth into the outer court, even into the outer court to the people, [l]they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments; and they shall [m]not sanctify the people with their garments.

20 [n]Neither shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long; they shall only poll their heads.

21 [o]Neither shall any priest drink wine, when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives a [p]widow, nor her that is †put away: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Is'ra-el, or a widow †that had a priest before.

23 And [q]they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.

24 And [r]in controversy they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all mine assemblies; [s]and they shall hallow my sabbaths.

25 And they shall come at no [t]dead person to defile themselves: but for father, or for mother, or for son, or for daughter, for brother, or for sister that hath had no husband, they may defile themselves.

26 And [u]after he is cleansed, they shall reckon unto him seven days.

27 And in the day that he goeth into the sanctuary, [x]unto the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, [y]he shall offer his sin offering, saith the Lord GOD.

28 And it shall be unto them for an inheritance; I [z]am their inheritance: and ye shall give them no possession in Is'ra-el: I am their possession.

29 [a]They shall eat the meat offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering; and [b]every ||dedicated thing in Is'ra-el shall be theirs.

30 And the ||[c]first of all the firstfruits of all things, and every oblation of all, of every sort of your oblations, shall be the priest's: [d]ye shall also give unto the priest the first of your dough, [e]that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

31 The priests shall not eat of any thing that is [f]dead of itself, or torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

CHAPTER XLV.

The portion of land for the sanctuary, for the city, and for the prince, &c.

MOREOVER, †when ye shall [a]divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall [b]offer an oblation unto the LORD, †a holy portion of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twenty thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be ten thousand. This shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the sanctuary [c]five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, square round about; and fifty cubits round about for the ||suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: [d]and in it shall be the sanctuary and the most holy place.

4 [e]The holy portion of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the LORD: and it shall be a place for their houses, and a holy place for the sanctuary.

5 [f]And the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shall also the Le'vites, the ministers of the house, have for themselves, for a possession for [g]twenty chambers.

6 ¶[h]And ye shall appoint the possession of the city five

17 And it shall be that when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments; and no wool shall come upon them, whiles they minister in the gates of the inner court,
18 and [1]within. They shall have linen tires upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loins; they shall not gird themselves with any thing that 19 causeth sweat. And when they go forth into the outer court, even into the outer court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they minister, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments, that they sanctify not the people with 20 their garments. Neither shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long; they shall only
21 poll their heads. Neither shall any priest drink
22 wine, when they enter into the inner court. Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, nor her that is put away: but they shall take virgins of the seed of the house of Is'ra-el, or a widow that is the widow
23 of a priest. And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and the common, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the 24 clean. And in a controversy they shall stand to judge; according to my judgements shall they judge it: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all my appointed feasts; and they shall hallow my 25 sabbaths. And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves: but for father, or for mother, or for son, or for daughter, for brother, or for sister that hath had no husband, they may defile them-
26 selves. And after he is cleansed, they shall reckon
27 unto him seven days. And in the day that he goeth into the sanctuary, into the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer his sin offering, saith
28 the Lord GOD. And they shall have an inheritance; I am their inheritance: and ye shall give them no
29 possession in Is'ra-el; I am their possession. They shall eat the meal offering, and the sin offering, and the guilt offering; and every devoted thing in 30 Is'ra-el shall be theirs. And the first of all the firstfruits of every thing, and every [2]oblation of every thing, of all your oblations, shall be for the priests: ye shall also give unto the priest the first of your [3]dough, to cause a blessing to rest on thine house.
31 The priests shall not eat of any thing that dieth of itself, or is torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

45 Moreover, when ye shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the LORD, [4]an holy portion of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twenty thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be [5]ten thousand: it shall be holy in all the border thereof round about.
2 Of this there shall be for the holy place five hundred in length by five hundred in breadth, square round about; and fifty cubits for the [6]suburbs
3 thereof round about. And of this measure shalt thou measure, a length of five and twenty thousand, and a breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the sanc-
4 tuary, which is most holy. It is an holy portion of the land; it shall be for the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, which come near to minister unto the LORD; and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy 5 place for the sanctuary. And five and twenty thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth, shall be unto the Le'vites, the ministers of the house, for a possession unto themselves, for [7]twenty chambers.
6 And ye shall appoint the possession of the city five

CHAPTER XLVI.

Ordinances for the prince in his worship, and for the people.

B. C. about 574.

THUS saith the Lord GOD; The gate of the inner court that looketh toward the east, shall be shut the six working days; but on the sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

[a] ch. 44. 3. ver. 8.

2 [a]And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: then he shall go forth; but the gate shall not be shut until the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the door of this gate before the LORD in the sabbaths and in the new moons.

[b] ch. 45. 29.

4 And the burnt offering that [b]the prince shall offer unto the LORD in the sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

[c] ch. 45. 17. ver. 7, 11. †Heb. the gift of his hand, Deut. 16. 17

5 [c]And the meat offering shall be an ephah for a ram, and the meat offering for the lambs †as he shall be able to give, and a hin of oil to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs, and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and for the lambs according as his hand shall attain unto, and a hin of oil to an ephah.

8 [d]And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

[e] Ex. 23. 14—17. Deut. 16. 16

9 ¶But when the people of the land [e]shall come before the LORD in the solemn feasts, he that entereth in by the way of the north gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the south gate; and he that entereth by the way of the south gate, shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go forth over against it.

10 And the prince in the midst of them, when they go in, shall go in; and when they go forth, shall go forth.

11 And in the feasts and in the solemnities [f]the meat offering shall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, and to the lambs as he is able to give, and a hin of oil to an ephah.

[g] ch. 44. 3. ver. 2.

12 Now when the prince shall prepare a voluntary burnt offering or peace offerings voluntarily unto the LORD, [g]one shall then open him the gate that looketh toward the east, and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the sabbath day: then he shall go forth; and after his going forth one shall shut the gate.

13 [h]Thou shalt daily prepare a burnt offering unto the LORD of a lamb †of the first year without blemish: thou shalt prepare it †every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offering for it every morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of a hin of oil, to temper with the fine flour; a meat offering continually by a perpetual ordinance unto the LORD.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meat offering, and the oil, every morning for a continual burnt offering.

16 ¶Thus saith the Lord GOD; If the prince give a gift unto any of his sons, the inheritance thereof shall be his sons'; it shall be their possession by inheritance.

[i] Lev. 25. 10.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to [i]the year of liberty; after, it shall return to the prince: but his inheritance shall be his sons' for them.

18 Moreover [k]the prince shall not take of the people's inheritance by oppression, to thrust them out of their possession; but he shall give his sons inheritance out of his own possession; that my people be not scattered every man from his possession.

B. C. 574.

46 Thus saith the Lord GOD: the gate of the inner court that looketh toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the sabbath day it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall
2 be opened. And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of the gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate; then he shall go forth: but the gate shall not be shut until
3 the evening. And the people of the land shall worship at the door of that gate before the LORD in 4 the sabbaths and in the new moons. And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the LORD shall be in the sabbath day six lambs without
5 blemish and a ram without blemish; and the meal offering shall be an ephah for the ram, and the meal offering for the lambs as he is able to give, and an
6 hin of oil to an ephah. And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish; and six lambs, and a ram; they shall be without 7 blemish: and he shall prepare a meal offering, an ephah for the bullock, and an ephah for the ram, and for the lambs according as [1]he is able, and an 8 hin of oil to an ephah. And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of the 9 gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof. But when the people of the land shall come before the LORD in the appointed feasts, he that entereth by the way of the north gate to worship shall go forth by the way of the south gate; and he that entereth by the way of the south gate shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go
10 forth straight before him. And the prince, when they go in, shall go in in the midst of them; and when 11 they go forth, [2]they shall go forth together. And in the feasts and in the [3]solemnities the meal offering shall be an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and for the lambs as he is able to give, and an 12 hin of oil to an ephah. And when the prince shall prepare a freewill offering, a burnt offering or peace offerings as a freewill offering unto the LORD, one shall open for him the gate that looketh toward the east, and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he doth on the sabbath day: then he shall go forth; and after his going forth one shall shut the gate.
13 And thou shalt prepare a lamb of the first year without blemish for a burnt offering unto the LORD daily:
14 morning by morning shalt thou prepare it. And thou shalt prepare a meal offering with it morning by morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oil, to [4]moisten the fine flour; a meal offering unto the LORD continually by a per-
15 petual ordinance. Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meal offering, and the oil, morning by morning, for a continual burnt offering.
16 Thus saith the Lord GOD: If the prince give a gift unto any of his sons, it is his inheritance, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance.
17 But if he give of his inheritance a gift to one of his servants, it shall be his to the year of liberty; then it shall return to the prince; but as for his inherit-
18 ance, it shall be for his sons. Moreover the prince shall not take of the people's inheritance, to [5]thrust them out of their possession; he shall give inheritance to his sons out of his own possession: that my people be not scattered every man from his possession.

20 Then said he unto me, This is the place where the priests shall [l]boil the trespass offering and the sin offering, where they shall [m]bake the meat offering; that they bear them not out into the outer court, [n]to sanctify the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and, behold, †in every corner of the court there was a court.

The vision of the holy waters; the virtue of them.

AFTERWARD he brought me again unto the door of the house; and, behold, [a]waters issued out from under the threshold of the house eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the east, and the waters came down from under, from the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out of the way of the gate northward, and led me about the way without unto the outer gate by the way that looketh eastward; and, behold, there ran out waters on the right side.

3 And when [b]the man that had the line in his hand went forth eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters; the †waters were to the ankles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees. Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand; and it was a river that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen, †waters to swim in, a river that could not be passed over.

6 ¶And he said unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen this? Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now, when I had returned, behold, at the †bank of the river were very many [c]trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then said he unto me, These waters issue out toward the east country, and go down into the ||desert, and go into the sea: which being brought forth into the sea, the waters shall be healed.

9 And it shall come to pass, that every thing that liveth, which moveth, whithersoever the †rivers shall come, shall live: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be healed; and every thing shall live whither the river cometh.

10 And it shall come to pass, that the fishers shall stand upon it from En-ge'di even unto En-eg-la'im; they shall be a place to spread forth nets; their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish [d]of the great sea, exceeding many.

12 And [e]by the river upon the bank thereof, on this side and on that side, †shall grow all trees for meat, [f]whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth ||new fruit according to his months,

19 Then he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers for the priests, which looked toward the north: and, behold, there was a place on the hinder part west-
20 ward. And he said unto me, This is the place where the priests shall boil the guilt offering and the sin offering, where they shall bake the meal offering; that they bring them not forth into the outer 21 court, to sanctify the people. Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and behold, in every
22 corner of the court there was a court. In the four corners of the court there were courts [1]inclosed, forty cubits long and thirty broad: these four in the 23 corners were of one measure. And there was a row of building round about in them, round about the four, and it was made with boiling places under 24 the rows round about. Then he said unto me, These are the boiling houses, where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifice of the people.

9 shall be healed. And it shall come to pass, that every living creature which swarmeth, in every place whither the [3]rivers come, shall live; and there shall be a very great multitude of fish: for these waters are come thither, [4]and the waters of the sea shall be healed, and every thing shall live whither-

18 And the east side ye shall measure †from Hau'ran, and from Da-mas'cus, and from Gil'e-ad, and from the land of Is'ra-el by Jor'dan from the border unto the east sea. And this is the east side.

20 The west side also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Ha'math. This is the west side.

21 So shall ye divide this land unto you according to the tribes of Is'ra-el.

22 ¶And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, [r]and to the strangers that sojourn among you which shall beget children among you: [s]and they shall be unto you as born in the country among the children of Is'ra-el; they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Is'ra-el.

23 And it shall come to pass, that in what tribe the stranger sojourneth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

The portions of the tribes—Of the sanctuary—The gates of the city.

NOW these are the names of the tribes. [a]From the north end to the coast of the way of Heth'lon, as one goeth to Ha'math, Ha-zar-e'nan, the border of Da-mas'cus northward, to the coast of Ha'math; for these are his sides east and west; †a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Ash'er.

3 And by the border of Ash'er, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Naph'ta-li.

4 And by the border of Naph'ta-li, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Ma-nas'seh.

5 And by the border of Ma-nas'seh, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for E'phra-im.

6 And by the border of E'phra-im, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Reu'ben.

7 And by the border of Reu'ben, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Ju'dah.

8 ¶And by the border of Ju'dah, from the east side unto the west side, shall be [b]the offering which ye shall offer of five and twenty thousand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the other parts, from the east side unto the west side: and the sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer unto the LORD shall be of five and twenty thousand in length, and of ten thousand in breadth.

because the waters thereof issue out of the sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for healing.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD: This shall be the border, whereby ye shall divide the land for inheritance according to the twelve tribes of Is'ra-el:
14 Jo'seph shall have [1]portions. And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another; [2]concerning the which I lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers: and 15 this land shall fall unto you for inheritance. And this shall be the border of the land: on the north side, from the great sea, by the way of Heth'lon,
16 unto the entering in of Ze'dad; Ha'math, Be-ro'thah, Sib-ra'im, which is between the border of Da-mas'cus and the border of Ha'math; [3]Ha-zer-hat'ti-con, which 17 is by the border of Hau'ran. And the border from the sea shall be Ha-zar-e'non at the border of Da-mas'-cus, and on the north northward is the border of 18 Ha'math. This is the north side. And the east side, between Hau'ran and Da-mas'cus and Gil'e-ad, and the land of Is'ra-el, shall be Jor'dan; from the north border unto the east sea shall ye measure.
19 This is the east side. And the south side southward shall be from Ta'mar as far as the waters of Mer'i-both-ka'desh, to the brook of E'gypt, unto the 20 great sea. This is the south side southward. And the west side shall be the great sea, from the south border as far as over against the entering in of Ha'-
21 math. This is the west side. So shall ye divide this land unto you according to the tribes of Is'ra-el.
22 And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you and to the strangers that sojourn among you, which shall beget children among you; and they shall be unto you as the homeborn among the children of Is'ra-el; they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of 23 Is'ra-el. And it shall come to pass, that in what tribe the stranger sojourneth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord GOD.

48 Now these are the names of the tribes: from the north end, beside the way of Heth'lon to the entering in of Ha'math, Ha-zar-e'nan at the border of Da-mas'cus, northward beside Ha'- math; and they shall have their sides east and 2 west; Dan, one portion. And by the border of Dan, from the east side unto the west side; Ash'er,
3 one portion. And by the border of Ash'er, from the east side even unto the west side; Naph'ta-li, one
4 portion. And by the border of Naph'ta-li, from the east side unto the west side; Ma-nas'seh, one portion.
5 And by the border of Ma-nas'seh, from the east side
6 unto the west side; E'phra-im, one portion. And by the border of E'phra-im, from the east side even unto 7 the west side; Reu'ben, one portion. And by the border of Reu'ben, from the east side unto the west side; Ju'dah, one portion.
8 And by the border of Ju'dah, from the east side unto the west side, shall be the oblation which ye shall offer, five and twenty thousand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the portions, from the east side unto the west side: and the sanctuary
9 shall be in the midst of it. The oblation that ye shall offer unto the LORD shall be five and twenty thousand reeds in length, and ten thousand in 10 breadth. And for these, even for the priests, shall be the holy oblation; toward the north five and twenty thousand in length, and toward the west ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east

BOOK OF DANIEL.

CHAPTER I.

Ashpenaz taketh Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

IN the third year of the reign of Je-hoi'a-kim king of Ju'dah [a]came Neb-u-chad-nez'zar king of Bab'y-lon unto Je-ru'sa-lem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Je-hoi'a-kim king of Ju'dah into his hand, with [b]part of the vessels of the house of God: which he carried [c]into the land of Shi'nar to the house of his god; [d]and he brought the vessels into the treasure house of his god.

3 ¶ And the king spake unto Ash'pe-naz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain* of the children of Is'ra-el, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;

4 Children [e]in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and [f]whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chal-de'ans.

5 And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of †the wine which he drank: so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might [g]stand before the king.

6 Now among these were of the children of Ju'dah, Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah, Mish'a-el, and Az-a-ri'ah:

7 [h]Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: [i]for he gave unto Dan'iel the name of Bel-te-shaz'zar; and to Han-a-ni'ah, of Shad'rach; and to Mish'a-el, of Me'shach; and to Az-a-ri'ah, of A-bed'-ne-go.

8 ¶ But Dan'iel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself [k]with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore, he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

9 Now [l]God had brought Dan'iel into favour and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs.

10 And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Dan'iel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces †worse liking than the children which are of your ‖ sort? then shall ye make me endanger my head to the king.

11 Then said Dan'iel to ‖ Mel'zar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah, Mish'a-el, and Az-a-ri'ah, 12 Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us †pulse †to eat, and water to drink.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

BOOK OF DANIEL.

1 In the third year of the reign of Je-hoi'a-kim king of Ju'dah came Neb-u-chad-nez'zar king of Bab'y-lon
2 unto Je-ru'sa-lem, and besieged it. And the Lord gave Je-hoi'a-kim king of Ju'dah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God; and he carried them into the land of Shi'nar to the house of his god: and he brought the vessels into the treasure
3 house of his god. And the king spake unto Ash'-pe-naz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring in certain of the children of Is'ra-el, even of 4 the seed royal and of the nobles; youths in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability to stand in the king's palace; and that he should teach them the learning and the tongue of the Chal-
5 de'ans. And the king appointed for them a daily portion of the king's [2]meat, and of the wine which he drank, and that they should be nourished three years; that at the end thereof they might stand
6 before the king. Now among these were of the children of Ju'dah, Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah, Mish'a-el, and 7 Az-a-ri'ah. And the prince of the eunuchs gave names unto them: unto Dan'iel he gave the name of Bel-te-shaz'zar; and to Han-a-ni'ah, of Shad'rach; and to Mish'a-el, of Me'shach; and to Az-a-ri'ah, of A-bed'-ne-
8 go. But Dan'iel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince
9 of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself. Now God made Dan'iel to find favour and compassion in 10 the sight of the prince of the eunuchs. And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Dan'iel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse liking than the youths which are of your own age? so
11 should ye endanger my head with the king. Then said Dan'iel to [3]the steward, whom the prince of the eunuchs had appointed over Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah,
12 Mish'a-el, and Az-a-ri'ah: Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us [4]pulse 13 to eat, and water to drink. Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the youths that eat of the king's meat; and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat.

16 Thus Mel'zar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink; and gave them pulse.

17 ¶As for these four children, [m]God gave them [n]knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom: and ‖Dan'iel had [o]understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now at the end of the days that the king had said he should bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Neb-u-chad-nez'zar.

19 And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah, Mish'a-el, and Az-a-ri'ah: therefore [p]stood they before the king.

20 [q]And in all matters of †wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all his realm.

21 [r]And Dan'iel continued even unto the first year of king Cy'rus.

Nebuchadnezzar forgetteth his dream—It is revealed to Daniel.

AND in the second year of the reign of Neb-u-chad-nez'zar, Neb-u-chad-nez'zar dreamed dreams, [a]wherewith his spirit was troubled, and [b]his sleep brake from him.

2 [c]Then the king commanded to call the magicians and the astrologers, and the sorcerers, and the Chal-de'ans, for to shew the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.

4 Then spake the Chal-de'ans to the king in Syr'i-ac, [d]O king, live for ever: tell thy servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation.

5 The king answered and said to the Chal-de'ans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be [e]†cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made a dunghill.

6 [f]But if ye shew the dream, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts and ‖rewards and great honour; therefore shew me the dream, and the interpretation thereof.

7 They answered again and said, Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation of it.

8 The king answered and said, I know of certainty that ye would †gain the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not make known unto me the dream, [g]there is but one decree for you: for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to speak before me, till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that ye can shew me the interpretation thereof.

10 ¶The Chal-de'ans answered before the king, and said, There is not a man upon the earth that can shew the king's matter: therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that asked such things at any magician, or astrologer, or Chal-de'an.

11 And it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can shew it before the king, [h]except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Bab'y-lon.

13 And the decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they sought Dan'iel and his fellows to be slain.

14 ¶Then Dan'iel †answered with counsel and wisdom to A'ri-och the ‖†captain of the king's guard, which was gone forth to slay the wise men of Bab'y-lon:

15 He answered and said to A'ri-och the king's captain, Why is the decree so hasty from the king? Then A'ri-och made the thing known to Dan'iel.

14 So he hearkened unto them in this matter, and proved 15 them ten days. And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer, and they were fatter in flesh, than all the youths which did eat of the 16 king's meat. So [1]the steward took away their meat, and the wine that they should drink, and 17 gave them pulse. Now as for these four youths, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom: and Dan'iel had understanding in all
18 visions and dreams. And at the end of the days which the king had [2]appointed for bringing them in, the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before
19 Neb-u-chad-nez'zar. And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Dan'iel, Han-a-ni'ah, Mish'a-el, and Az-a-ri'ah:
20 therefore stood they before the king. And in every matter of wisdom and understanding, concerning which the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and 21 enchanters that were in all his realm. And Dan'iel continued even unto the first year of king Cy'rus.

16 Then Dan'iel went in, and desired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would shew the king the interpretation.

18 [f]That they would desire mercies †of the God of heaven concerning this secret; ‖that Dan'iel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Bab'y-lon.

19 ¶Then was the secret revealed unto Dan'iel [k]in a night vision. Then Dan'iel blessed the God of heaven.

20 Dan'iel answered and said, [l]Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: [m]for wisdom and might are his:

21 And he changeth [n]the times and the seasons: [o]he removeth kings, and setteth up kings; [p]he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding:

22 [q]He revealeth the deep and secret things: [r]he knoweth what is in the darkness, and [s]the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee, and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, who hast given me wisdom and might, and hast made known unto me now what we [t]desired of thee: for thou hast now made known unto us the king's matter.

24 ¶Therefore Dan'iel went in unto A'ri-och, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Bab'y-lon: he went and said thus unto him; Destroy not the wise men of Bab'y-lon: bring me in before the king, and I will shew unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then A'ri-och brought in Dan'iel before the king in haste, and said thus unto him, †I have found a man of the †captives of Ju'dah, that will make known unto the king the interpretation.

26 The king answered and said to Dan'iel, whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Dan'iel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded cannot the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, the soothsayers, shew unto the king;

28 [u]But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and †maketh known to the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar [x]what shall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are these:

19 Then was the secret revealed unto Dan'iel in a vision of the night. Then Dan'iel blessed the God of 20 heaven. Dan'iel answered and said, Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and 21 might are his: and he changeth the times and the seasons: he removeth kings, and setteth up kings: he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge 22 to them that know understanding: he revealeth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in the 23 darkness, and the light dwelleth with him. 25 Then A'ri-och brought in Dan'iel before the king in haste, and said thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of the captivity of Ju'dah, that will make known unto the king the interpretation.

26 The king answered and said to Dan'iel, whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the in- 27 terpretation thereof? Dan'iel answered before the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded can neither wise men, enchanters, magi- 28 cians, nor soothsayers, shew unto the king; but there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and he hath made known to the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar what shall be in the latter days. heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 [k]And wheresoever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. [l]Thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall arise [m]another kingdom [n]inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth.

40 And [p]the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise.

41 And whereas thou sawest [q]the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with miry clay.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly ||broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave †one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.

44 And in †the days of these kings [r]shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, [s]which shall never be destroyed: and the †kingdom shall not be left to other people, [t]but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.

45 [u]Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain ||without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass †hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure.

46 ¶ [x]Then the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar fell upon his face, and worshipped Dan'iel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation [y]and sweet odours unto him.

47 The king answered unto Dan'iel, and said, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, [z]and a revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest reveal this secret.

48 Then the king made Dan'iel a great man, [a]and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Bab'y-lon, and [b]chief of the governors over all the wise men of Bab'y-lon.

49 Then Dan'iel requested of the king, [c]and he set Shad'-rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go over the affairs of the province of Bab'y-lon: but Dan'iel [d]sat in the gate of the king.

CHAPTER III.

Nebuchadnezzar setteth up a golden image.

NEB-U-CHAD-NEZ'ZAR the king made an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Du'ra, in the province of Bab'y-lon.

2 Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king sent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king had set up.

3 Then the princes, the governors, and captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Neb-u-chad-nez'zar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried †aloud, To you †it is commanded, [e]O people, nations, and languages,

42 thou sawest the iron mixed with [1]miry clay. And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and
43 partly [2]broken. And whereas thou sawest the iron mixed with [1]miry clay, they shall mingle themselves [3]with the seed of men; but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron doth not mingle
44 with clay. And in the days of those kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed, nor shall the sovereignty thereof be left to another people; but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it
45 shall stand for ever. Forasmuch as thou sawest that a stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the inter-
46 pretation thereof sure. Then the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar fell upon his face and worshipped Dan'iel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation and
47 sweet odours unto him. The king answered unto Dan'iel, and said, Of a truth your God is the God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets,
48 seeing thou hast been able to reveal this secret. Then the king made Dan'iel great, and gave him many great gifts, and made him to rule over the whole province of Bab'y-lon, and to be chief governor over all the 49 wise men of Bab'y-lon. And Dan'iel requested of the king, and he [4]appointed Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed-'ne-go, over the affairs of the province of Bab'y-lon: but Dan'iel was [4]in the gate of the king.

3 Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king made an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Du'ra,
2 in the province of Bab'y-lon. Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king sent to gather together the satraps, the deputies, and the governors, the [5]judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the [6]sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king had set
3 up. Then the satraps, the deputies and the governors, the [5]judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the [6]sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Neb-u-chad-nez'zar
4 had set up. Then the herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O peoples, nations, and languages,
5 that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, [7]dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down and worship the golden image that Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king hath set up:

6 and whoso falleth not down and worshippeth shall the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning 7 fiery furnace. Therefore at that time, when all the peoples heard the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and all kinds of music, all the peoples, the nations, and the languages, fell down and worshipped the golden image that Neb-u-8 chad-nez'zar the king had set up. Wherefore at that time certain Chal-de'ans came near, and brought 9 accusation against the Jews. They answered and said to Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king, O king, live for 10 ever. Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that every man that shall hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all

11 golden image: and whoso falleth not down and 12 ing fiery furnace. There are certain Jews whom thou hast appointed over the affairs of the province of Bab'y-lon, Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go;

13 which thou hast set up. Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go. Then they brought 14 these men before the king. Neb-u-chad-nez'zar answered and said unto them, Is it of purpose, O Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, that ye serve not my god, nor worship the golden image which I 15 have set up? Now if ye be ready that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down and worship the image which I have made, well: but if ye worship not, ye shall be cast the same hour into the midst of a burning fiery furnace; and who is that god that shall deliver you 16 out of my hands? Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'- ne-go, answered and said to the king, O Neb-u-chadnez'zar, [1]we have no need to answer thee in this 17 matter. [2]If it be so, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace;
and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.
18 But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden 19 image which thou hast set up. Then was Neb-uchad-nez'zar full of fury, and the form of his visage was changed against Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go: therefore he spake, and commanded that they should heat the furnace seven times more 20 than it was wont to be heated. And he commanded certain mighty men that were in his army to bind
Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, and to cast 21 them into the burning fiery furnace. Then these men were bound in their hosen, their [3]tunics, and their mantles, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flame of the fire slew those men that took up Shad'rach, Me'- 23 shach, and A-bed'-ne-go. And these three men, Shad'- rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'ne-go, fell down bound into 24 the midst of the burning fiery furnace. Then Neb-uchad-nez'zar the king was astonied, and rose up in haste:
he spake and said unto his counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?
They answered and said unto the king, True, O king.
25 He answered and said, Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt;
and the aspect of the fourth is like a son of the gods.

26 ¶Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar came near to the †mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and spake, and said, Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, ye servants of the most high God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, came forth of the midst of the fire.

27 And the princes, governors, and captains, and the king's counsellors being gathered together, saw these men, [m]upon whose bodies the fire had no power, nor was a hair of their head singed, neither were their coats changed, nor the smell of fire had passed on them.

28 Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar spake, and said, Blessed be the God of Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, who hath sent his angel, and delivered his servants that [n]trusted in him, and have changed the king's word, and yielded their bodies, that they might not serve nor worship any god, except their own God.

29 [o]Therefore †I make a decree, That every people, nation, and language, which speak †any thing amiss against the God of Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, shall be [p]†cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made a dunghill: [q]because there is no other God that can deliver after this sort.

30 Then the king †promoted Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, in the province of Bab'y-lon.

CHAPTER IV.

Daniel heareth Nebuchadnezzar's dream, and interpreteth it.

NEB-U-CHAD-NEZ'ZAR the king, [a]unto all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied unto you.

2 †I thought it good to shew the signs and wonders [b]that the high God hath wrought toward me.

3 [c]How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is [d]an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

4 ¶I Neb-u-chad-nez'zar was at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace:

5 I saw a dream which made me afraid, [e]and the thoughts upon my bed and the visions of my head [f]troubled me.

6 Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wise men of Bab'y-lon before me, that they might make known unto me the interpretation of the dream.

7 [g]Then came in the magicians, the astrologers, the Chal-de'ans, and the soothsayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known unto me the interpretation thereof.

8 ¶But at the last Dan'iel came in before me, [h]whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, according to the name of my god, [i]and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods: and before him I told the dream, saying,

9 O Bel-te-shaz'zar, [k]master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and the interpretation thereof.

10 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed; †I saw, and behold [l]a tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

11 The tree grew, and was strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the end of all the earth:

12 The leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: [m]the beasts of the field had shadow under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it.

13 I saw in the visions of my head upon my bed, and, behold, [n]a watcher and [o]a holy one came down from heaven;

14 He cried †aloud, and said thus, [p]Hew down the tree, and cut off his branches, shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit: [q]let the beasts get away from under it, and the fowls from his branches:

15 Nevertheless, leave the stump of his roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of

26 Then Neb-u-chad-nez'zar came near to the [1]mouth of the burning fiery furnace: he spake and said, Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, ye servants of the Most High God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go came forth out of 27 the midst of the fire. And the satraps, the deputies, and the governors, and the king's counsellors, being gathered together, saw these men, that the fire had no power upon their bodies, nor was the hair of their head singed, neither were their hosen changed,
28 nor had the smell of fire passed on them. Neb-u-chad-nez'zar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, who hath sent his angel, and delivered his servants that trusted in him, and have changed the king's word, and have yielded their bodies, that they might not serve nor 29 worship any god, except their own God. Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which speak any thing amiss against the God of Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, shall be cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made a dunghill: because there is no other god that is able to deliver 30 after this sort. Then the king promoted Shad'rach, Me'shach, and A-bed'-ne-go, in the province of Bab'y-lon.

4 Neb-u-chad-nez'zar the king, unto all the peoples, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth;
2 peace be multiplied unto you. It hath seemed good unto me to shew the signs and wonders that the
3 Most High God hath wrought toward me. How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.
4 I Neb-u-chad-nez'zar was at rest in mine house, and

6 and the visions of my head troubled me. Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wise men of Bab'y-lon before me, that they might make known
7 unto me the interpretation of the dream. Then came in the magicians, the enchanters, the Chal-de'ans, and the soothsayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known unto me
8 the interpretation thereof. But at the last Dan'iel came in before me, whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, according to the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods: and I told the dream be-
9 fore him, saying, O Bel-te-shaz'zar, master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dream, that I have seen, and the 10 interpretation thereof. Thus were the visions of my head upon my bed: I saw, and behold a tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the earth:

16 Let his heart be changed from man's, and let a beast's heart be given unto him; and let seven [r]times pass over him.

17 This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent [s]that the living may know [t]that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men.

18 This dream I king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar have seen. Now thou, O Bel-te-shaz'zar, declare the interpretation thereof, [u]forasmuch as all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able; [z]for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

19 ¶Then Dan'iel, [y]whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, was astonied for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him. The king spake, and said, Bel-te-shaz'zar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof, trouble thee. Bel-te-shaz'zar answered, and said, My lord, [z]the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

20 [a]The tree that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth;

21 Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls of the heaven had their habitation:

22 [b]It is thou, O king, that art grown and become strong: for thy greatness is grown, and reacheth unto heaven, [c]and thy dominion to the end of the earth.

23 [d]And whereas the king saw a watcher and a holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew the tree down, and destroy it; yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, [e]and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him;

24 This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which is come upon my lord the king:

25 That they shall [f]drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee [g]to eat grass as oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over thee, [h]till thou know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and [i]giveth it to whomsoever he will.

26 And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree roots; thy kingdom shall be sure unto thee, after that thou shalt have known that the [k]heavens do rule.

27 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and [l]break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor; [m]if it may be ||[n]a lengthening of thy tranquillity.

28 ¶All this came upon the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar.

29 At the end of twelve months he walked ||in the palace of the kingdom of Bab'y-lon.

30 The king [o]spake, and said, Is not this great Bab'y-lon, that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

31 [p]While the word was in the king's mouth, there fell [q]a voice from heaven, saying, O king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar, to thee it is spoken; The kingdom is departed from thee.

32 And [r]they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until thou know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

16 the earth: let his heart be changed from man's, and let a beast's heart be given unto him; and let seven
17 times pass over him. The sentence is by the decree of the watchers, and the [1]demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth
18 up over it the lowest of men. This dream I king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar have seen: and thou, O Bel-te-shaz'zar declare the interpretation, forasmuch as all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation; but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.
19 Then Dan'iel, whose name was Bel-te-shaz'zar, was astonied for a while, and his thoughts troubled him. The king answered and said, Bel-te-shaz'zar, let not the dream, or the interpretation, trouble thee. Bel-te-shaz'zar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation
20 thereof to thine adversaries. The tree that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all
21 the earth; whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls

24 field, till seven times pass over him; this is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the Most High, which is come upon my lord the king:
25 that thou shalt be driven from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and thou shalt be made to eat grass as oxen, and shalt be wet with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over thee; till thou know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to

27 known that the heavens do rule. Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and [2]break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor; if there 28 may be [3]a lengthening of thy tranquillity. All this 29 came upon the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar. At the end of twelve months he was walking [4]in the royal palace

34 And [a]at the end of the days I Neb-u-chad-nez'zar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me, and I blessed the Most High, and I praised and honoured him [c]that liveth for ever, whose dominion is [d]an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation:

36 At the same time my reason returned unto me; [i]and for the glory of my kingdom, mine honour and brightness returned unto me; and my counsellors and my lords sought unto me; and I was established in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was [k]added unto me.

37 Now I Neb-u-chad-nez'zar praise and extol and honour the King of heaven, [l]all whose works are truth, and his ways judgment: [m]and those that walk in pride he is able to abase.

CHAPTER V.

Belshazzar's impious feast—A hand writing on the wall.

BEL-SHAZ'ZAR the king [a]made a great feast to a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the thousand.

2 Bel-shaz'zar, while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels [b]which his ‖father Neb-u-chad-nez'zar had †taken out of the temple which was in Je-ru'sa-lem; that the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines, might drink therein.

3 Then they brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the temple of the house of God which was at Je-ru'sa-lem; and the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines, drank in them.

4 They drank wine, [c]and praised the gods of gold, and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone.

5 ¶ [d]In the same hour came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaster of the wall of the king's palace: and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the king's †countenance †was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ‖†joints of his loins were loosed, and his [e]knees smote one against another.

7 [f]The king cried †aloud to bring in [g]the astrologers, the Chal-de'ans, and the soothsayers. And the king spake and said to the wise men of Bab'y-lon, Whosoever shall read this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with ‖scarlet, and have a chain of gold about his neck, [h]and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came in all the king's wise men: [i]but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation thereof.

9 Then was king Bel-shaz'zar greatly [k]troubled, and his †countenance was changed in him, and his lords were astonied.

10 ¶ Now the queen, by reason of the words of the king and his lords, came into the banquet house: and the queen spake and said, [l]O king, live for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed:

11 [m]There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and in the days of thy ‖father light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him; whom the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar thy ‖father, the king, I say, thy father, made [n]master of the magicians, astrologers, Chal-de'ans, and soothsayers:

The king spake and said to the wise men of Bab'y-lon, Whosoever shall read this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and have a chain of gold about his neck,
8 and shall [3]be the third ruler in the kingdom. Then came in all the king's wise men: but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king
9 the interpretation. Then was king Bel-shaz'zar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in 10 him, and his lords were perplexed. Now the queen by reason of the words of the king and his lords came into the banquet house: the queen spake and said, O king, live for ever; let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed:
11 there is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and in the days of thy father light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: and the king Neb-u-chad-nez'zar thy father, [4]the king, I say, thy father, made him master of the magicians, en-hard sentences, and ‖ dissolving of †doubts, were found in the same Dan'iel, [p]whom the king named Bel-te-shaz'zar: now let Dan'iel be called, and he will shew the interpretation.

13 Then was Dan'iel brought in before the king. And the king spake and said unto Dan'iel, Art thou that Dan'iel, which art of the children of the captivity of Ju'dah, whom the king my ‖ father brought out of Jew'ry?

14 I have even heard of thee, that [q]the spirit of the gods is in thee, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 And now [r]the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing, and make known unto me the interpretation thereof: but they could not shew the interpretation of the thing:

16 And I have heard of thee, that thou canst †make interpretations, and dissolve doubts: [s]now if thou canst read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with scarlet, and have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 ¶Then Dan'iel answered and said before the king, Let thy gifts be to thyself, and give thy ‖ rewards to another; yet I will read the writing unto the king, and make known to him the interpretation.

18 O thou king, [t]the most high God gave Neb-u-chad-nez'zar thy father a kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honour:

19 And for the majesty that he gave him, [u]all people, nations, and languages, trembled and feared before him: whom he would he slew; and whom he would he kept alive; and whom he would he set up; and whom he would he put down.

20 [x]But when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened ‖ in pride, he was †deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him:

21 And he was [y]driven from the sons of men; and ‖ his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven; [z]till he knew that the most high God ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he appointeth over it whomsoever he will.

22 And thou his son, O Bel-shaz'zar, [a]hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all this;

23 [b]But hast lifted up thyself against the Lord of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives and thy concubines, have drunk wine in them; and thou hast praised the gods of silver, and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, [c]which see not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, [d]and whose are all thy ways, hast thou not glorified:

24 Then was the part of the hand sent from him; and this writing was written.

25 ¶And this is the writing that was written, ME'NE, ME'NE, TE'KEL, U-PHAR'SIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing: ME'NE; God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it.

27 TE'KEL; [e]Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.

28 PE'RES; Thy kingdom is divided, and given to the [f]Medes and [g]Per'si-ans.

29 Then commanded Bel-shaz'zar, and they clothed Dan'iel with scarlet, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him, [h]that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 ¶[i]In that night was Bel-shaz'zar the king of the Chalde'ans slain.

dark sentences, and dissolving of doubts, were found in the same Dan'iel, whom the king named Bel-te-shaz'zar. Now let Dan'iel be called, and he will shew the interpretation.

13 Then was Dan'iel brought in before the king. The king spake and said unto Dan'iel, Art thou that Dan'iel, which art of the children of the captivity of Ju'dah, whom the king my father brought 14 out of Ju'dah? I have heard of thee, that the spirit of the gods is in thee, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 And now the wise men, the enchanters, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing, and make known unto me the interpretation thereof: but they could not shew the interpretation

16 of the thing. But I have heard of thee, that thou canst give interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt [1]be the third ruler in the king-

17 dom. Then Dan'iel answered and said before the king, Let thy gifts be to thyself, and give thy rewards to another; nevertheless I will read the writing unto the king, and make known to him

18 the interpretation. O thou king, the Most High God gave Neb-u-chad-nez'zar thy father the kingdom,

19 and greatness, and glory, and majesty: and because of the greatness that he gave him, all the peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him: whom he would he slew, and whom he would he kept alive; and whom he would he raised up,

20 and whom he would he put down. But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit was hardened that he dealt proudly, he was deposed from his kingly

21 throne, and they took his glory from him: and he was driven from the sons of men; and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses; he was fed with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven: until he knew that the Most High God ruleth in the kingdom of men, and that he setteth up over it

22 whomsoever he will. And thou his son, O Bel-shaz'zar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou

23 knewest all this; but hast lifted up thyself against the Lord of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives and thy concubines, have drunk wine in them; and thou hast praised the gods of silver, and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, which see not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and whose are all thy

24 ways, hast thou not glorified: then was the part of the hand sent from before him, and this writing was

25 inscribed. And this is the writing that was in-

26 scribed, [2]ME'NE, ME'NE, TE'KEL, U-PHAR'SIN. This is the interpretation of the thing: ME'NE; God hath numbered thy kingdom, and brought it to an end.

27 TE'KEL; thou art weighed in the balances, and art

28 found wanting. [3]PE'RES; thy kingdom is divided, and 29 given to the Medes and Per'si-ans. Then commanded Bel-shaz'zar, and they clothed Dan'iel with purple, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made proclamation concerning him, that he should [1]be the 30 third ruler in the kingdom. In that night Bel-

31 shaz'zar the Chal-de'an king was slain. And Da-ri'us the Mede received the kingdom, being about threescore and two years old.

CHAPTER VI.

Daniel's preferment; cast into the den of lions; he is miraculously saved.

IT pleased Da-ri'us to set [a]over the kingdom a hundred and twenty princes, which should be over the whole kingdom;
2 And over these three presidents; of whom Dan'iel was first: that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king should have no damage.
3 Then this Dan'iel was preferred above the presidents and princes, [b]because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king thought to set him over the whole realm.
4 ¶ [c]Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Dan'iel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.
5 Then said these men, We shall not find any occasion against this Dan'iel, except we find it against him concerning the law of his God.
6 Then these presidents and princes ||assembled together to the king, and said thus unto him, [d]King Da-ri'us, live for ever.
7 All the presidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counsellors, and the captains, have consulted together to establish a royal statute, and to make a firm ||decree, that whosoever shall ask a petition of any God or man for thirty days, save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.
8 Now, O king, establish the decree, and sign the writing, that it be not changed, according to the [e]law of the Medes and Per'si-ans, which †altereth not.
9 Wherefore king Da-ri'us signed the writing and the decree.
10 Now when Dan'iel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house: and, his windows being open in his chamber [f]toward Je-ru'sa-lem, he kneeled upon his knees [g]three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime.
11 Then these men assembled, and found Dan'iel praying and making supplication before his God.
12 [h]Then they came near, and spake before the king concerning the king's decree; Hast thou not signed a decree, that every man that shall ask a petition of any God or man within thirty days, save of thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, The thing is true, [e]according to the law of the Medes and Per'si-ans, which altereth not.
13 Then answered they and said before the king, That Dan'iel, [k]which is of the children of the captivity of Ju'dah, [l]regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast signed, but maketh his petition three times a day.
14 Then the king, when he heard these words, [m]was sore displeased with himself, and set his heart on Dan'iel to deliver him: and he laboured till the going down of the sun to deliver him.
15 Then these men assembled unto the king, and said unto the king, Know, O king, that [n]the law of the Medes and Per'si-ans is, That no decree nor statute which the king establisheth may be changed.
16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Dan'iel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Dan'iel, Thy God whom thou servest continually, he will deliver thee.
17 [o]And a stone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den; [p]and the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords; that the purpose might not be changed concerning Dan'iel.
18 ¶Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting: neither were ||instruments of music brought before him: [q]and his sleep went from him.
19 Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions.

B. C. 538.

6 It pleased Da-ri'us, to set over the kingdom an hundred and twenty satraps, which should be throughout
2 the whole kingdom; and over them three presidents, of whom Dan'iel was one; that these satraps might give account unto them, and that the king should
3 have no damage. Then this Dan'iel was distinguished above the presidents and the satraps, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king thought to set
4 him over the whole realm. Then the presidents and the satraps sought to find occasion against Dan'iel as touching the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither
5 was there any error or fault found in him. Then said these men, We shall not find any occasion against this Dan'iel, [o]except we find it against him concern-
6 ing the law of his God. Then these presidents and satraps [1]assembled together to the king, and said
7 thus unto him, King Da-ri'us, live for ever. All the presidents of the kingdom, the deputies and the satraps, the counsellors and the governors, have consulted together [2]to establish a royal statute, and to make a strong interdict, that whosoever shall ask a petition of any god or man for thirty days, save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den
8 of lions. Now, O king, establish the interdict, and sign the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Per'si-ans, which [3]alter-
9 eth not. Wherefore king Da-ri'us signed the writing
10 and the interdict. And when Dan'iel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; (now his windows were open in his chamber toward Je-ru'sa-lem;) and he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before
11 his God, as he did aforetime. Then these men assembled together, and found Dan'iel making peti-
12 tion and supplication before his God. Then they came near, and spake before the king concerning the king's interdict; Hast thou not signed an interdict, that every man that shall make petition unto any god or man within thirty days, save unto thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Per'si-ans,
13 which [3]altereth not. Then answered they and said before the king, That Dan'iel, which is of the children of the captivity of Ju'dah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the interdict that thou hast signed, but 14 maketh his petition three times a day. Then the king, when he heard these words, was sore displeased, and set his heart on Dan'iel to deliver him: and he laboured till the going down of the sun to 15 rescue him. Then these men assembled together unto the king, and said unto the king, Know, O king, that it is a law of the Medes and Per'si-ans, that no interdict nor statute which the king estab-
16 lisheth may be changed. Then the king commanded, and they brought Dan'iel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Dan'iel, Thy God whom thou servest con-
17 tinually, he will deliver thee. And a stone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords; [4]that nothing might be changed
18 concerning Dan'iel. Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting: neither were [5]instruments of music brought before him: and his sleep
19 fled from him. Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Dan'iel: and the king spake and said to Dan'iel, O Dan'iel, servant of the living God, [r]is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

21 Then said Dan'iel unto the king, [s]O king, live for ever.

22 [t]My God hath sent his angel, and hath [u]shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Dan'iel up out of the den. So Dan'iel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, [x]because he believed in his God.

24 ¶And the king commanded, [y]and they brought those men which had accused Dan'iel, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, [z]their children, and their wives; and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces or ever they came at the bottom of the den.

CHAPTER VII.

Daniel's vision of four beasts, of God's kingdom; the interpretation thereof.

about 555.

IN the first year of Bel-shaz'zar king of Bab'y-lon, [a]Dan'iel †had a dream and [b]visions of his head upon his bed: then he wrote the dream, and told the sum of the ‖ matters.

2 Dan'iel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and, behold, the four winds of the heaven strove upon the great sea.

3 And four great beasts [c]came up from the sea, diverse one from another.

4 The first was [d]like a lion, and had eagle's wings; I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, ‖ and it was lifted up from the earth, and made stand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

5 [e]And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and ‖ it raised up itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and lo another, like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also [f]four heads; and dominion was given to it.

7 After this I saw in the night visions, and behold [g]a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with the feet of it: and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before it; [h]and it had ten horns.

8 I considered the horns, and, behold, [i]there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of the first horns plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes [k]of man, [l]and a mouth speaking great things.

9 ¶[m]I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and [n]the Ancient of days did sit, [o]whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, [p]and his wheels as burning fire.

10 [q]A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: [r]thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thou-

20 And when he came near unto the den to Dan'iel, he cried with a lamentable voice: the king spake and said to Dan'iel, O Dan'iel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to 21 deliver thee from the lions? Then said Dan'iel unto 22 the king, O king, live for ever. My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, and they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king,
23 have I done no hurt. Then was the king exceeding glad, and commanded that they should take Dan'iel up out of the den. So Dan'iel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because 24 he had trusted in his God. And the king commanded, and they brought those men which had accused Dan'iel, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives; and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, or ever they came at the bottom of the den.
25 Then king Da-ri'us wrote unto all the peoples, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth;
26 Peace be multiplied unto you. I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom men tremble and fear before the God of Dan'iel: for he is the living God, and stedfast for ever, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed, and his
27 dominion shall be even unto the end: he delivereth and rescueth, and he worketh signs and wonders in heaven and in earth; who hath delivered Dan'iel
28 from the power of the lions. So this Dan'iel prospered in the reign of Da-ri'us, and in the reign of Cy'rus the Per'si-an.

7 In the first year of Bel-shaz'zar king of Bab'y-lon Dan'iel [1]had a dream and visions of his head upon his bed: then he wrote the dream and told the

3 of the heaven brake forth upon the great sea. And four great beasts came up from the sea, diverse one
4 from another. The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made to stand upon two feet as a man, and a man's
5 heart was given to it. And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and [2]it was raised up on one side, and three ribs were in his mouth between his teeth: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour
6 much flesh. After this I beheld, and lo another, like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also four heads;
7 and dominion was given to it. After this I saw in the night visions, and behold a fourth beast, terrible and [3]powerful, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet: and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before it; and
8 it had ten horns. I considered the horns, and, behold, there came up among them another horn, a little one, before which three of the first horns were plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth
9 speaking great things. I beheld till thrones were [4]placed, and one that was ancient of days did sit: his raiment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like pure wool; his throne was fiery
10 flames, and the wheels thereof burning fire. A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thou-

11 I beheld then, because of the voice of the great words which the horn spake: [b]I beheld even till the beast was slain, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning flame.

12 As concerning the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away: yet †their lives were prolonged for a season and time.

13 I saw in the night visions, and, behold, [c]one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to [d]the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him.

14 [e]And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all [f]people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is [g]an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed.

19 Then I would know the truth of [k]the fourth beast, which was diverse †from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet;

20 And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell; even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spake very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows.

21 I beheld, [l]and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them;

22 [m]Until the Ancient of days came, [n]and judgment was given to the saints of the Most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be [o]the fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces.

24 [p]And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall arise: and another shall rise after them; and he shall be diverse from the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

25 [q]And he shall speak great words against the Most High, and shall [r]wear out the saints of the Most High, and [s]think to change times and laws: and [t]they shall be given into his hand [u]until a time and times and the dividing of time.

26 [v]But the judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and to destroy it unto the end.

27 And the [w]kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, [x]whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, [y]and all ‖ dominions shall serve and obey him.

28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me Dan'iel, [z]my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I [a]kept the matter in my heart.

CHAPTER VIII.

Daniel's vision of the ram and he-goat.

IN the third year of the reign of king Bel-shaz'zar a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Dan'iel, after that which appeared unto me [b]at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision; and it came to pass, when I saw, that I was at [c]Shu'shan in the palace, which is in the province of E'lam; and I saw in a vision, and I was by the river of U'la-i.

sand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgment was set, and the books were opened.

11 I beheld at that time because of the voice of the great words which the horn spake; I beheld even till the beast was slain, and his body destroyed,

12 and he was given [1]to be burned with fire. And as for the rest of the beasts, their dominion was taken away: yet their lives were prolonged for a season

13 and a time. I saw in the night visions, and, behold, there came with the clouds of heaven one like unto a son of man, and he came even to the ancient of 14 days, and they brought him near before him. And there was given him dominion and glory, and a kingdom, that all the peoples, nations, and languages should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed.

16 bled me. I came near unto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth concerning all this. So he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the

17 things. These great beasts, which are four, are four

18 kings, which shall arise out of the earth. But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and

19 ever. Then I desired to know the truth concerning the fourth beast, which was diverse from all of them, exceeding terrible, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, brake in pieces, and 20 stamped the residue with his feet; and concerning the ten horns that were on his head, and the other horn which came up, and before which three fell; even that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spake great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the same horn made war with the

22 saints, and prevailed against them; until the ancient of days came, and judgement was given [3]to the saints of the Most High; and the time came that

23 the saints possessed the kingdom. Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be a fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all the kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall [4]tread it

24 down, and break it in pieces. And as for the ten horns, out of this kingdom shall ten kings arise: and another shall arise after them; and he shall be diverse from the former, and he shall put down three

25 kings. And he shall speak words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High: and he shall think to change the times and the law; and they shall be given into his hand until a

26 time and times and half a time. But the judgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to

27 consume and to destroy it unto the end. And the kingdom and the dominion, and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High: his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions

28 shall serve and obey him. [5]Here is the end of the matter. As for me Dan'iel, my thoughts much troubled me, and my [6]countenance was changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

8 In the third year of the reign of king Bel-shaz'zar a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Dan'iel, after

3 Then I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and, behold, there stood before the river a ram which had two horns: and the two horns were high; but one was higher than †the other, and the higher came up last.

4 I saw the ram pushing westward, and northward, and southward; so that no beasts might stand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand; [c]but he did according to his will, and became great.

5 And as I was considering, behold, a he-goat came from the west on the face of the whole earth, and ||touched not the ground: and the goat had †[d]a notable horn between his eyes.

6 And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power.

7 And I saw him come close unto the ram, and he was moved with choler against him, and smote the ram, and brake his two horns: and there was no power in the ram to stand before him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped upon him; and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand.

8 Therefore the he-goat waxed very great: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken; and for it came up [e]four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven.

9 [f]And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great, [g]toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the [h]pleasant land.

10 [i]And it waxed great, even ||to [k]the host of heaven; and [l]it cast down some of the host and of the stars to the ground, and stamped upon them.

11 Yea, [m]he magnified himself even ||to [n]the prince of the host, [o]and ||by him [p]the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down.

12 And [q]||a host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down [s]the truth to the ground; and it [t]practised, and prospered.

13 ¶Then I heard [u]one saint speaking, and another saint said unto ||†that certain saint which spake, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of ||desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?

14 And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred †days; then shall the sanctuary be †cleansed.

15 ¶And it came to pass, when I, even I Dan'iel, had seen the vision, and [y]sought for the meaning, then, behold, there stood before me [z]as the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice [a]between the banks of U'la-i, which called and said, [b]Ga'bri-el, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came near where I stood; and when he came, I was afraid, and [c]fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man: for at the time of the end shall be the vision.

18 [d]Now as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep on my face toward the ground: [e]but he touched me, and †set me upright.

19 And he said, Behold, I will make thee know what shall be in the last end of the indignation: [f]for at the time appointed the end shall be.

21 [h]And the rough goat is the king of Gre'ci-a: and the great horn that is between his eyes [i]is the first king.

22 [k]Now that being broken, whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.

23 And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors †are come to the full, a king [m]of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, [n]shall stand up.

12 his sanctuary was cast down. And [3]the host was given over to it together with the continual burnt offering through transgression; and it cast down truth to the ground, and it did its pleasure and pros-

CHAPTER IX.

Daniel, confessing his sins, prayeth for the restoration of Jerusalem.

IN the first year [a]of Da-ri'us the son of A-has-u-e'rus, of the seed of the Medes, || which was made king over the realm of the Chal-de'ans;

2 In the first year of his reign I Dan'iel understood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the LORD came to [b]Jer-e-mi'ah the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Je-ru'sa-lem.

3 ¶ [c]And I set my face unto the Lord GOD, to seek by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth, and ashes:

4 And I prayed unto the LORD my God, and made my confession, and said, O [d]Lord, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments;

5 [e]We have sinned, and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even by departing from thy precepts and from thy judgments:

6 [f]Neither have we hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, [g]righteousness || belongeth unto thee, but unto us confusion of faces, as at this day; to the men of Ju'dah, and to the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem, and unto all Is'ra-el, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither thou hast driven them, because of their trespass that they have trespassed against thee.

8 O Lord, to us belongeth [h]confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.

9 [i]To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him;

10 [k]Neither have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

11 Yea, [l]all Is'ra-el have transgressed thy law, even by departing, that they might not obey thy voice; therefore the curse is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the [m]law of Mo'ses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him.

12 And he hath [n]confirmed his words, which he spake against us, and against our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evil: [o]for under the whole heaven hath not been done as hath been done upon Je-ru'sa-lem.

13 [p]As it is written in the law of Mo'ses, all this evil is come upon us: [q]yet †made we not our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the LORD [r]watched upon the evil, and brought it upon us: for [s]the LORD our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: [t]for we obeyed not his voice.

15 And now, O Lord our God, [u]that hast brought thy people forth out of the land of E'gypt with a mighty hand, and hast †gotten thee [z]renown, as at this day; [v]we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

24 And his power shall be mighty, but not [1]by his own power; and he shall [2]destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper and do his pleasure: and he shall [2]destroy the
25 mighty ones and [3]the holy people. And through his policy he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart, and in their security shall he [2]destroy many: he shall also stand up against the prince of princes; but he shall be broken
26 without hand. And the vision of the evenings and mornings which hath been told is true: but shut thou up the vision; for it belongeth to many days to come.
27 And I Dan'iel fainted, and was sick certain days; then I rose up, and did the king's business: and I was astonished at the vision, [4]but none understood it.

9 In the first year of Da-ri'us the son of A-has-u-e'rus, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king
2 over the realm of the Chal-de'ans; in the first year of his reign I Dan'iel understood by the books the number of the years, whereof the word of the LORD came to Jer-e-mi'ah the prophet, for the accomplishing of the desolations of Je-ru'sa-lem, even seventy
3 years. And I set my face unto the Lord God, [5]to seek by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and
4 sackcloth, and ashes. And I prayed unto the LORD my God, and made confession, and said, O Lord, the great and dreadful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his
5 commandments; we have sinned, and have dealt perversely, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even turning aside from thy precepts and
6 from thy judgements: neither have we hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and 7 to all the people of the land. O Lord, righteousness belongeth unto thee, but unto us confusion of face, as at this day; to the men of Ju'dah, and to the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem, and unto all Is'ra-el, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither thou hast driven them, because of their trespass that they have trespassed against thee.
8 O Lord, to us belongeth confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because 9 we have sinned against thee. To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses; [6]for we have re-
10 belled against him; neither have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.
11 Yea, all Is'ra-el have transgressed thy law, even turning aside, that they should not obey thy voice: therefore hath the curse been poured out upon us, and the oath that is written in the law of Mo'ses the serv-
12 ant of God; for we have sinned against him. And he hath confirmed his words, which he spake against us, and against our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evil: for under the whole heaven hath not been done as hath been done upon Je-ru'sa-
13 lem. As it is written in the law of Mo'ses, all this evil is come upon us: yet have we not intreated the favour of the LORD our God, that we should turn from our iniquities, and [7]have discernment in thy 14 truth. Therefore hath the LORD watched over the evil, and brought it upon us: for the LORD our God is righteous in all his works which he 15 doeth, and we have not obeyed his voice. And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people forth out of the land of E'gypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renown, as at this day; we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

16 ¶O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy fury be turned away from thy city Je-ru'sa-lem, [a]thy holy mountain: because for our sins, [b]and for the iniquities of our fathers, [c]Je-ru'sa-lem and thy people [d]are become a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, [e]and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary [f]that is desolate, [g]for the Lord's sake.

18 [h]O my God, incline thine ear, and hear; open thine eyes, [i]and behold our desolations, and the city [k]†which is called by thy name: for we do not †present our supplications before thee for our righteousnesses, but for thy great mercies.

19 O Lord, hear; O Lord, forgive; O Lord, hearken and do; defer not [l]for thine own sake, O my God: for thy city and thy people are called by thy name.

20 ¶[m]And while I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin, and the sin of my people Is'ra-el, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God;

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man [n]Ga'bri-el, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly †swiftly, [o]touched me [p]about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Dan'iel, I am now come forth †to give thee skill and understanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the †commandment came forth, and [q]I am come to shew thee; [r]for thou art †greatly beloved: therefore [s]understand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 *Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people and upon thy holy city, ‖to finish the transgression, and ‖to make an end of sins, [t]and to make reconciliation for iniquity, [u]and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and †prophecy, [x]and to anoint the Most Holy.

25 Know therefore and understand that from the going forth of the commandment ‖to restore and to build Jerusa'lem unto [a]the Mes-si'ah [b]the Prince shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks: the street †shall be built again, and the ‖wall [c]even †in troublous times.

26 And after threescore and two weeks [d]shall Mes-si'ah be cut off, [e]‖but not for himself: ‖and [f]the people of the prince that shall come [g]shall destroy the city [h]and the sanctuary; [i]and the end thereof shall be [k]with a flood, and unto the end of the war ‖desolations are determined.

27 And he shall confirm ‖[l]the covenant with [m]many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, ‖and for the overspreading of [n]abominations, he shall make it desolate, [o]even until the consummation, and that determined shall be poured ‖upon the desolate.

CHAPTER X.

Daniel, having humbled himself, seeth a vision.

IN the third year of Cy'rus king of Per'si-a a thing was revealed unto Dan'iel, [a]whose name was called Bel-te-shaz'zar; [b]and the thing was true, [c]but the time appointed was †long: and [d]he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.

2 In those days I Dan'iel was mourning three †full weeks.

3 I ate no †pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 And in the four and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, which is Hid'de-kel;

5 Then I lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold †a certain man clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with fine [e]gold of U'phaz:

16 O Lord, according to all thy [1]righteousness, let thine anger and thy fury, I pray thee, be turned away from thy city Jesru'sa-lem, thy holy mountain: because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Je-ru'sa-lem and thy people have become a reproach to all
17 that are round about us. Now therefore, O our God, hearken unto the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplications, and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanc-
18 tuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake. O my God, incline thine ear, and hear; open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city which is called by thy name; for we do not [2]present our supplications before thee for our righteousnesses, but for thy great mercies.
19 O Lord, hear; O Lord, forgive; O Lord, hearken and do; defer not; for thine own sake, O my God, because thy city and thy people are called by thy name.
20 And whiles I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Is'ra-el, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God
21 for the holy mountain of my God; yea, whiles I was speaking in prayer, the man Ga'bri-el, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, [3]being caused to fly swiftly, [4]touched me about the time of the evening
22 oblation. And he [5]instructed me, and talked with me, and said, O Dan'iel, I am now come forth to make thee
23 skilful of understanding. At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment went forth, and I am come to tell thee; for thou art [6]greatly beloved; therefore consider the matter and understand the vision.
24 Seventy weeks are decreed upon thy people and upon thy holy city, [7]to finish [8]transgression, and [9]to make an end of sins, and to [10]make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up vision and [11]prophecy, and to anoint [12]the most holy.
25 Know therefore and discern, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Je-ru'salem unto [13]the anointed one, the prince, shall be [14]seven weeks: and threescore and two weeks, it shall be built again, with street and moat, even in troublous
26 times. And after the threescore and two weeks shall the anointed one be cut off, and [15]shall have nothing: and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and [16]his end shall be with a flood, and even unto the end shall 27 be war; desolations are determined. And he shall make a firm covenant with many for one week: and [17]for the half of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the [18]oblation to cease; and [19]upon the wing of abominations shall come one that maketh desolate; and even unto the consummation, and that determined, shall wrath be poured out upon the [20]desolator.

10 In the third year of Cy'rus king of Per'si-a a thing was revealed unto Dan'iel, whose name was called Bel-te-shaz'zar; and the thing was true, even a great warfare: and he understood the thing, and had un-
2 derstanding of the vision. In those days I Dan'iel
3 was mourning three whole weeks. I ate no pleasant bread neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole
4 weeks were fulfilled. And in the four and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the 5 great river, which is [21]Hid'de-kel, I lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold a man clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with pure gold of U'phaz:

7 And I Dan'iel [q]alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me saw not the vision; but a great quaking fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves.
8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, [r]and there remained no strength in me: for my ||[s]comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength.
9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: [t]and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep sleep on my face, and my face toward the ground.
10 ¶[u]And, behold, a hand touched me, which †set me upon my knees and upon the palms of my hands.
11 And he said unto me, O Dan'iel, [x]†a man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak unto thee, and †stand upright: for unto thee am I now sent. And when he had spoken this word unto me, I stood trembling.
12 Then said he unto me, [y]Fear not, Dan'iel; for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand, and to chasten thyself before thy God, [z]thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.
13 [a]But the prince of the kingdom of Per'si-a withstood me one and twenty days: but, lo, [b]Mi'chael, || one of the chief princes, came to help me; and I remained there with the kings of Per'si-a.
14 Now I am come to make thee understand what shall befall thy people [c]in the latter days: [d]for yet the vision is for many days.
15 And when he had spoken such words unto me, [e]I set my face toward the ground, and I became dumb.
16 And, behold, [f]one like the similitude of the sons of men [g]touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him that stood before me, O my lord, by the vision [h]my sorrows are turned upon me, and I have retained no strength.
17 For how can ||the servant of this my lord talk with this my lord? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.
18 Then there came again and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me,
19 And said, [i]O man greatly beloved, [k]fear not: peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong. And when he had spoken unto me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my lord speak; for thou hast strengthened me.
20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I come unto thee? and now will I return to fight [l]with the prince of Per'si-a: and when I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Gre'ci-a shall come.
21 But I will shew thee that which is noted in the scripture of truth: and there is none that †holdeth with me in these things, [m]but Mi'chael your prince.

CHAPTER XI.

The overthrow of Persia by the king of Grecia.

ALSO I [a]in the first year of [b]Da-ri'us the Mede, even I, stood to confirm and to strengthen him.
2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Per'si-a; and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and by his strength through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Gre'ci-a.
3 And [c]a mighty king shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and [d]do according to his will.
4 And when he shall stand up, [e]his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of heaven; and not to his posterity, [f]nor according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others besides those.
5 ¶And the king of the south shall be strong, and one of his princes; and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion; his dominion shall be a great dominion.
6 And in the end of years they †shall join themselves to-

6 his body also was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in colour to burnished brass, and the voice of his words like the voice of a
7 multitude. And I Dan'iel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me saw not the vision; but a great quaking fell upon them, and they fled to hide them-
8 selves. So I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained
9 no strength. Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I fallen into a deep sleep on my face, with my face toward the 15 days. And when he had spoken unto me according to these words, I set my face toward the ground,

16 and was dumb. And, behold, one like the similitude of the sons of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake and said unto him that stood before me, O my lord, by reason of the vision my sorrows are turned upon me, and I retain no strength.
17 For how can the servant of this my lord talk with this my lord? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither was there breath left in me.
18 Then there touched me again one like the appearance

11 And as for me, in the first year of Da-ri'us the Mede, I stood up to confirm and strengthen him.
2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Per'si-a; and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and when he is waxed strong through his riches, [6]he

8 And I heard, but I understood not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way, Dan'iel: for the words are closed up and sealed [y]till the time of the end.

10 [z]Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; [a]but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but [b]the wise shall understand.

HOSEA.

CHAPTER I.

Hosea, to shew God's judgment for spiritual whoredom, taketh Gomer, &c.

B. C. about 785.

THE word of the LORD that came unto Ho-se'a, the son of Be-e'ri, in the days of Uz-zi'ah, Jo'tham, A'haz, and Hez-e-ki'ah, kings of Ju'dah, and in the days of Jer-o-bo'am the son of Jo'ash, king of Is'ra-el.

2 The beginning of the word of the LORD by Ho-se'a. And the LORD said to Ho-se'a, [a]Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredoms and children of whoredoms; for [b]the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the LORD.

3 So he went and took Go'mer the daughter of Dib'la-im; which conceived, and bare him a son.

4 And the LORD said unto him, Call his name Jez're-el; for yet a little while, [c]and I will †avenge the blood of Jez're-el upon the house of Je'hu, [d]and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Is'ra-el.

5 [e]And it shall come to pass at that day, that I will break the bow of Is'ra-el in the valley of Jez're-el.

6 ¶And she conceived again, and bare a daughter. And God said unto him, Call her name || Lo-ru'ha-mah: [f]for †I will no more have mercy upon the house of Is'ra-el; || but I will utterly take them away.

HOSEA.

1 The word of the LORD that came unto Ho-se'a the son of Be-e'ri, in the days of Uz-zi'ah, Jo'tham, A'haz, and Hez-e-ki'ah, kings of Ju'dah, and in the days of Jer-o-bo'am the son of Jo'ash, king of Is'ra-el.

2 When the LORD spake at the first [4]by Ho-se'a, the LORD said unto Ho-se'a, Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredom and children of whoredom: for the land doth commit great whoredom, departing from the 3 LORD. So he went and took Go'mer the daughter of Dib'la-im; and she conceived, and bare him a son.

4 And the LORD said unto him, Call his name Jez're-el; for yet a little while, and I will [5]avenge the blood of Jez're-el upon the house of Je'hu, and will cause the 5 kingdom of the house of Is'ra-el to cease. And it shall come to pass at that day, that I will break the 6 bow of Is'ra-el in the valley of Jez're-el. And she conceived again, and bare a daughter. The idolatry of the people—God's judgments against them.

SAY ye unto your brethren, ‖ Am'mi; and to your sisters, ‖ Ru'ha-mah.
2 Plead with your mother, plead; for ᵃshe is not my wife, neither am I her husband: let her therefore put away her ᵇwhoredoms out of her sight, and her adulteries from between her breasts:
3 Lest ᶜI strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was ᵈborn, and make her ᵉas a wilderness, and set her like a dry land, and slay her with ᶠthirst.
4 And I will not have mercy upon her children; for they be the ᵍchildren of whoredoms.
5 ʰFor their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them hath done shamefully; for she said, I will go after my lovers, ⁱthat give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, mine oil and my †drink.
6 ¶Therefore, behold, ᵏI will hedge up thy way with thorns, and †make a wall, that she shall not find her paths.
7 And she shall follow after her lovers, but she shall not overtake them; and she shall seek them, but shall not find them: then shall she say, ˡI will go and return to my ᵐfirst husband; for then was it better with me than now.
8 For she did not ⁿknow that ᵒI gave her corn, and †wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, ‖ which they prepared for Ba'al.

CHAPTER III.

The desolation of Israel before their restoration, foreshewed.

THEN said the LORD unto me, [a]Go yet, love a woman beloved of her [b]friend, yet an adulteress, according to the love of the LORD toward the children of Is'ra-el, who look to other gods, and love flagons †of wine.

2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for a homer of barley, and a †half homer of barley:

3 And I said unto her, Thou shalt [c]abide for me many days; thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt not be for another man: so will I also be for thee.

4 For the children of Is'ra-el shall abide many days [d]without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without †an image, and without an [e]ephod, and without [f]teraphim:

5 Afterward shall the children of Is'ra-el return, and [g]seek the LORD their God, and [h]Da'vid their king; and shall fear the LORD and his goodness in the [i]latter days.

CHAPTER IV.

God's judgments against the sins of the people, &c.

HEAR the word of the LORD, ye children of Is'ra-el: for the LORD hath a [a]controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor [b]knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and †blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore [c]shall the land mourn, and [d]every one that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yea, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away.

4 Yet let no man strive, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they [e]that strive with the priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall [f]in the day, and the prophet also shall fall with thee in the night, and I will †destroy thy mother.

6 ¶ [g]My people are †destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 [h]As they were increased, so they sinned against me: [i]therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eat up the sin of my people, and they †set their heart on their iniquity.

9 And there shall be, [k]like people, like priest: and I will †punish them for their ways, and †reward them their doings.

10 For [l]they shall eat, and not have enough: they shall commit whoredom, and shall not increase: because they have left off to take heed to the LORD.

11 Whoredom and wine and new wine [m]take away the heart.

12 ¶ My people ask counsel at their [n]stocks, and their staff declareth unto them: for [o]the spirit of whoredoms hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 [p]They sacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incense upon the hills, under oaks and poplars and elms, because the shadow thereof is good: [q]therefore your the bow and the sword and the battle out of the land, 19 and will make them to lie down safely. And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgement, and 20 in lovingkindness, and in mercies. I will even be-troth thee unto me in faithfulness: and thou shalt 21 know the LORD. And it shall come to pass in that day, I will answer, saith the LORD, I will answer the 22 heavens, and they shall answer the earth; and the earth shall answer the corn, and the wine, and the 23 oil; and they shall answer [1]Jez're-el. And I will sow her unto me in the [2]earth; and I will have mercy upon [3]her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to [4]them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God.

3 And the LORD said unto me, Go yet, love a woman beloved [5]of her friend and an adulteress, even as the LORD loveth the children of Is'ra-el, though they turn 2 unto other gods, and [6]love cakes of raisins. So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and an 3 homer of barley, and an [7]half homer of barley: and I said unto her, Thou shalt abide for me many days; thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt not be any man's wife: so will I also be toward 4 thee. For the children of Is'ra-el shall abide many days without king, and without prince, and without sacrifice, and without [8]pillar, and without ephod or 5 teraphim: afterward shall the children of Is'ra-el return, and seek the LORD their God, and Da'vid their king; and shall come with fear unto the LORD and to his goodness in the latter days.

4 Hear the word of the LORD, ye children of Is'ra-el: for the LORD hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.
2 There is nought but swearing and breaking faith, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery;
3 they break out, and blood toucheth blood. Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field and the fowls of heaven; yea, the fishes of 4 the sea also shall be taken away. Yet let no man strive, neither let any man reprove; for thy people 5 are as they that strive with the priest. And thou shalt stumble in the day, and the prophet also shall stumble with thee in the night; and I will destroy 6 thy mother. My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, [9]I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy 7 God, I also will forget thy children. As they were multiplied, so they sinned against me: I will change
8 their glory into shame. They feed on the sin of my 9 people, and set their heart on their iniquity. And it shall be, like people, like priest: and I will punish them for their ways, and will reward them their doings.
10 And they shall eat, and not have enough; they shall commit whoredom, and shall not increase: because 11 they have left off to take heed to the LORD. Whore-dom and wine and new wine take away the [10]under-12 standing. My people ask counsel at their stock, and their staff declareth unto them: for the spirit of whoredom hath caused them to err, and they have 13 gone a whoring from under their God. They sacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incense upon the hills, under oaks and poplars and terebinths, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your

14 || I will not punish your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your spouses when they commit adultery: for themselves are separated with whores, and they sacrifice with harlots: therefore the people that [r]doth not understand shall || fall.

15 ¶Though thou, Is'ra-el, play the harlot, yet let not Ju'dah offend; [s]and come not ye unto Gil'gal, neither go ye up to [t]Beth-a'ven, [u]nor swear, The LORD liveth.

16 For Is'ra-el [x]slideth back as a backsliding heifer: now the LORD will feed them as a lamb in a large place.

19 [a]The wind hath bound her up in her wings, and [b]they shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

CHAPTER V.

God's judgments against Israel for its manifold sins.

HEAR ye this, O priests; and hearken ye house of Is'ra-el; and give ye ear, O house of the king; for judgment is toward you, because [c]ye have been a snare on Miz'pah, and a net spread upon Ta'bor.

2 And the revolters are [b]profound to make slaughter, though I have been †a rebuker of them all.

3 [c]I know E'phra-im, and Is'ra-el is not hid from me: for now, O E'phra-im, [d]thou committest whoredom, and Is'ra-el is defiled.

4 †|| They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for [e]the spirit of whoredoms is in the midst of them, and they have not known the LORD.

5 And [f]the pride of Is'ra-el doth testify to his face: therefore shall Is'ra-el and E'phra-im fall in their iniquity; Ju'dah also shall fall with them.

6 [g]They shall go with their flocks and with their herds to seek the LORD; but they shall not find him; he hath withdrawn himself from them.

7 They have [h]dealt treacherously against the LORD; for they have begotten strange children: now shall [i]a month devour them with their portions.

8 [k]Blow ye the cornet in Gib'e-ah, and the trumpet in Ra'mah: [l]cry aloud at [m]Beth-a'ven, [n]after thee, O Ben'ja-min.

9 E'phra-im shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Is'ra-el have I made known that which shall surely be.

10 The princes of Ju'dah were like them that [o]remove the bound: therefore I will pour out my wrath upon them like water.

11 E'phra-im is [p]oppressed and broken in judgment, because he willingly walked after [q]the commandment.

12 Therefore will I be unto E'phra-im as a moth, and to the house of Ju'dah [r]as || rottenness.

13 When E'phra-im saw his sickness, and Ju'dah saw his [s]wound, then went E'phra-im to the As-syr'i-an, [u]and sent ||to king Ja'reb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For [x]I will be unto E'phra-im as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Ju'dah: [y]I, even I, will tear and go away: I will take away, and none shall rescue him.

15 ¶I will go and return to my place, †till [z]they acknowledge their offence, and seek my face: [c]in their affliction they will seek me early.

CHAPTER VI.

An exhortation to repentance—A complaint of their untowardness and iniquity.

COME, and let us return unto the LORD: for [a]he hath torn, and [b]he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up.

2 [c]After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.

3 [d]Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared [e]as the morning; and [f]he shall come unto us [g]as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

4 ¶[h]O E'phra-im, what shall I do unto thee? O Ju'dah, what shall I do unto thee? for your || goodness is [i]as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away.

daughters commit whoredom, and your [1]brides commit adultery. I will not punish your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your [1]brides when they commit adultery; for they themselves go apart with whores, and they sacrifice with the [2]harlots; and the people that doth not understand shall be overthrown. Though thou, Is'ra-el, play the harlot, yet let not Ju'dah [3]offend; and come not ye unto Gil'gal, neither go ye up to Beth-a'ven, nor swear, As the LORD liveth. For Is'ra-el hath behaved himself stubbornly, like a stubborn heifer: now will the LORD feed them as a lamb in a larger place. E'phra-im is joined to idols; let him alone. [4]Their drink is become sour: they commit whoredom continually; [5]her [6]rulers dearly love shame. The wind hath wrapped her up in its [7]wings; and [8]they shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

5 Hear this, O ye priests, and hearken, ye house of Is'ra-el and give ear, O house of the king, for [9]unto you pertaineth the judgment; for ye have been a snare at Miz'pah, and a net spread upon Ta'bor. And the revolters are gone deep [10]in making slaughter; but I am [11]a rebuker of them all. I know E'phra-im, and Is'ra-el is not hid from me: for now, O E'phra-im, thou hast committed whoredom, Is'ra-el is defiled. [12]Their doings will not suffer them to turn unto their God: for the spirit of whoredom is [13]within them, and they know not the LORD. And the [14]pride of Is'ra-el doth testify to his face: therefore Is'ra-el and E'phra-im shall stumble in their iniquity; Ju'dah also shall stumble with them. They shall go with their flocks and with their herds to seek the LORD; but they shall not find him: he hath withdrawn himself from them. They have dealt treacherously against the LORD; for they have [15]borne strange children: now shall [16]the new moon devour them with their [17]fields.

8 Blow ye the cornet in Gib'e-ah, and the trumpet in Ra'mah: sound an alarm at Beth-a'ven; [18]behind thee, O Ben'ja-min. E'phra-im shall become a desolation in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Is'ra-el have I made known that which shall surely be. The princes of Ju'dah are like them that remove the landmark: I will pour out my wrath upon them like water. E'phra-im is oppressed, he is crushed in judgement; because he was content to walk after [19]the command. [20]Therefore am I unto E'phra-im as a moth, and to the house of Ju'dah as rottenness. When E'phra-im saw his sickness, and Ju'dah saw his wound, then went E'phra-im to As-syr'i-a, and sent to [21]king Ja'reb: but he is not able to heal you, neither shall he cure you of your wound. For I will be unto E'phra-im as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Ju'dah: I, even I, will tear and go away; I will carry off, and there shall be none to deliver. I will go and return to my place, till they [22]acknowledge their offence, and seek my face: in their affliction they will seek me [23]earnestly.

6 Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up. After two days will he revive us: on the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live before him. And let us know, let us follow on to know the LORD; his going forth is sure as the morning: and he shall come unto as the rain, as the latter rain that watereth the earth.

4 O E'phra-im, what shall I do unto thee? O Ju'dah, what shall I do unto thee? for your [24]goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the dew that goeth early away.

9 [l]Strangers have devoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray hairs are †there and there upon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the [m]pride of Is'ra-el testifieth to his face: and [n]they do not return to the LORD their God, nor seek him for all this.

11 ¶ [o]E'phra-im also is like a silly dove without heart: [p]they call to E'gypt, they go to As-syr'i-a.

12 When they shall go, [q]I will spread my net upon them; I will bring them down as the fowls of the heaven; I will chastise them, [r]as their congregation hath heard.

13 Woe unto them! for they have fled from me: †destruction unto them! because they have transgressed against me: though [s]I have redeemed them, yet they have spoken lies against me.

14 [t]And they have not cried unto me with their heart, when they howled upon their beds: they assemble themselves for corn and wine, and they rebel against me.

15 Though I ||have bound and strengthened their arms, yet do they imagine mischief against me.

16 [u]They return, but not to the Most High: [x]they are like a deceitful bow: their princes shall fall by the sword for the [y]rage of their tongue: this shall be their derision [z]in the land of E'gypt.

princes shall fall by the sword for the rage of their tongue: this shall be their derision in the land of E'gypt.

[8] Or, him
[9] Heb. brought near.
[10] According to some ancient versions, their anger.
[11] Heb. sprinkled
[12] Or, excellency
[13] Heb. heart.
[14] Or, when the report cometh to their congregation
[15] According to some ancient authorities, they cut themselves.
[16] Or, chasten them

8 [17]Set the trumpet to thy mouth. As an eagle he cometh against the house of the LORD: because they have transgressed my covenant, and 2 trespassed against my law. They shall cry unto me, My God, we Is'ra-el knew thee.

[17] Or, The trumpet to thy mouth. As an eagle against the house of the LORD

3 Is'ra-el hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 [f]They have set up kings, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it not: [g]of their silver and their gold have they made them idols, that they may be cut off.

5 ¶Thy calf, O Sa-ma'ri-a, hath cast thee off; mine anger is kindled against them: [h]how long will it be ere they attain to innocency?

6 For from Is'ra-el was it also: the workman made it; therefore it is not God: but the calf of Sa-ma'ri-a shall be broken in pieces.

7 For [i]they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall yield no meal: if so be it yield, [k]the strangers shall swallow it up.

8 [l]Is'ra-el is swallowed up: now shall they be among the Gentiles [m]as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For [n]they are gone up to As-syr'i-a, [o]a wild ass alone by himself: E'phra-im [p]hath hired †lovers.

10 Yea, though they have hired among the nations, now [q]will I gather them, and they shall ||sorrow ||a little for the burden of [r]the king of princes.

11 Because E'phra-im hath made [s]many altars to sin, altars shall be unto him to sin.

12 I have written to him [t]the great things of my law, but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 [u]They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it; [x]but the LORD accepteth them not; [y]now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins: [z]they shall return to E'gypt.

14 [a]For Is'ra-el hath forgotten [b]his Maker, and [c]buildeth temples; and Ju'dah hath multiplied fenced cities: but [d]I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

CHAPTER IX.

The distress and captivity of Israel for sin and idolatry.

REJOICE not, O Is'ra-el, for joy, as other people: for thou [a]hast gone a whoring from thy God, thou hast loved a [b]reward ||upon every cornfloor.

2 [c]The floor and the winepress shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail in her.

3 They shall not dwell in [d]the LORD'S land; [e]but E'phra-im shall return to E'gypt, and [f]they shall eat unclean things [g]in As-syr'i-a.

4 [h]They shall not offer wine offerings to the LORD, [i]neither shall they be pleasing unto him: [k]their sacrifices shall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof shall be polluted: for their bread [l]for their soul shall not come into the house of the LORD.

5 What will ye do in [m]the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the LORD?

6 For, lo, they are gone because of † destruction: [n]E'gypt shall gather them up, Mem'phis shall bury them: the pleasant places for their silver, [o]nettles shall possess them: thorns shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The days of visitation are come, the days of recompense are come; Is'ra-el shall know it: the prophet is a fool, †[p]the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity, and the great hatred.

8 The [q]watchman of E'phra-im was with my God: but the prophet is a snare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred ||in the house of his God.

9 [r]They have deeply corrupted themselves as in the days of [s]Gib'e-ah: [t]therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sins.

10 I found Is'ra-el like grapes in the wilderness; I saw your fathers as [u]the first ripe in the fig tree [x]at her first time: but they went to [y]Ba'al-pe'or, and [z]separated themselves [a]unto that shame; [b]and their abominations were according as they loved.

11 As for E'phra-im, their glory shall fly away like a bird, from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception.

12 [c]Though they bring up their children, yet [d]will I

3 Is'ra-el hath cast off that which is good: the ene-
4 my shall pursue him. They have set up kings, but not by me; [1]they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their gold have
5 they made them idols, that they may be cut off. He hath cast off thy calf, O Sa-ma'ri-a; mine anger is kindled against them: how long will it be ere they 6 attain to innocency? For from Is'ra-el is even this; the workman made it, and it is no God: yea, the calf of Sa-ma'ri-a shall be broken in pieces.
7 For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: [2]he hath no standing corn; the blade shall yield no meal; if so be it yield, strangers
8 shall swallow it up. Is'ra-el is swallowed up: now are they among the nations as a vessel wherein 9 is no pleasure. For they are gone up to As-syr'i-a, like a wild ass alone by himself: E'phra-im hath 10 hired [3]lovers. Yea, though they hire among the nations, now will I gather them; and they [4]begin to be minished by reason of the burden of the [5]king
11 of princes. Because E'phra-im hath multiplied altars
12 to sin, altars have been unto him to sin. [6]Though I write for him my law in ten thousand precepts,
13 they are counted as a strange thing. As for the sacrifices of mine offerings, they sacrifice flesh and eat it; but the LORD accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins;
14 they shall return to E'gypt. For Is'ra-el hath forgotten his Maker, and builded [7]palaces; and Ju'dah hath multiplied fenced cities: but I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the [8]castles thereof.

9 Rejoice not, O Is'ra-el, [9]for joy, like the peoples; [10]for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God, thou hast
2 loved hire upon every cornfloor. The threshing-floor and the winepress shall not feed them, and the 3 new wine shall fail her. They shall not dwell in the LORD'S land; but E'phra-im shall return to E'gypt,
4 and they shall eat unclean food in As-syr'i-a. They shall not pour out wine offerings to the LORD, [11]neither shall they be pleasing unto him: their sacrifices shall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof shall be polluted: for their bread shall be for their appetite; it shall not come
5 into the house of the LORD. What will ye do in the day of solemn assembly, and in the day of the 6 feast of the LORD? For, lo, they are gone away from destruction, yet E'gypt shall gather them up, Mem'phis shall bury them: their pleasant things of silver, nettles shall possess them: thorns shall be in 7 their tents. The days of visitation are come, the days of recompence are come; Is'ra-el shall know it: the prophet is a fool, the man that hath the spirit is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity,
8 and because the enmity is great. E'phra-im [12]was a watchman with my God: as for the prophet, a fowler's snare is in all his ways, and enmity in the 9 house of his God. They have deeply corrupted themselves, as in the days of Gib'e-ah: he will re-
10 member their iniquity, he will visit their sins. I found Is'ra-el like grapes in the wilderness; I saw your fathers as the firstripe in the fig tree at her first season: but they came to Ba'al-pe'or, and [13]consecrated themselves unto the [14]shameful thing, and became 11 abominable like that which they loved. As for E'phra-im, their glory shall fly away like a bird: there shall be no birth, and none with child, and no conception.
12 Though they bring up their children, yet will I

CHAPTER X.

Israel reproved and threatened for impiety and idolatry.

IS'RA-EL is [a]an empty vine, he bringeth forth fruit unto himself: according to the multitude of his fruit [b]he hath increased the altars; according to the goodness of his land [c]they have made goodly †images.

2 ‖Their heart is [d]divided; now shall they be found faulty: he shall break down their altars, he shall spoil their images.

3 [e]For now they shall say, We have no king, because we feared not the LORD; what then should a king do to us?

4 They have spoken words, swearing falsely in making covenant: thus judgment springeth up [f]as hemlock in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Sa-ma'ri-a shall fear because of [g]the calves of [h]Beth-a'ven: for the people thereof shall mourn over it, and ‖the priests thereof that rejoiced on it, [i]for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also carried unto As-syr'i-a, for a present to [k]king Ja'reb: E'phra-im shall receive shame, and Is'ra-el shall be ashamed [l]of his own counsel.

7 [m]As for Sa-ma'ri-a, her king is cut off as the foam upon †the water.

8 [n]The high places also of A'ven, [o]the sin of Is'ra-el, shall be destroyed: [p]the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars; [q]and they shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us.

9 [r]O Is'ra-el, thou hast sinned from the days of Gib'e-ah: there they stood: [s]the battle in Gib'e-ah against the children of iniquity did not overtake them.

10 [t]It is in my desire that I should chastise them; and [u]the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall bind themselves in their two furrows.

11 And E'phra-im is as [x]a heifer that is taught, and loveth to tread out the corn; but I passed over upon her fair neck: I will make E'phra-im to ride; Ju'dah shall plough, and Ja'cob shall break his clods.

12 [y]Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; [z]break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you.

13 [a]Ye have ploughed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men.

14 [b]Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy fortresses shall be spoiled, as Shal'man spoiled [c]Beth-ar'bel in the day of battle: [d]the mother was dashed in pieces upon her children.

15 So shall Beth'-el do unto you because of †your great wickedness: in a morning [e]shall the king of Is'ra-el utterly be cut off.

CHAPTER XI.

The ingratitude of Israel unto God for his benefits.

WHEN [a]Is'ra-el was a child, then I loved him, and [b]called my [c]son out of E'gypt.

2 As they called them, so they went from them: [d]they sacrificed unto Ba'al-im, and burned incense to graven images.

bereave them, that there be not a man left: yea, woe also to them when I depart from them!

13 E'phra-im, [1]like as I have seen Tyre, is planted in a pleasant place: but E'phra-im shall bring out
14 his children to the slayer. Give them, O LORD: what wilt thou give? give them a miscarrying
15 womb and dry breasts. All their wickedness is in Gil'gal; for there I hated them: because of the wickedness of their doings I will drive them out of mine house: I will love them no more; all their 16 princes are revolters. E'phra-im is smitten, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay the beloved 17 fruit of their womb. My God will cast them away, because they did not hearken unto him: and they shall be wanderers among the nations.

10 Is'ra-el is a luxuriant vine, which putteth forth his fruit: according to the multitude of his fruit he hath multiplied his altars: according to the [2]goodness of his land they have made goodly [3]pillars.
2 [4]Their heart is [5]divided; now shall they be found guilty: he shall smite their altars, he shall spoil
3 their [3]pillars. Surely now shall they say, We have no king: for we fear not the LORD; and the king,
4 what can he do for us? They speak vain words, [6]swearing falsely in making covenants: therefore judgement [7]springeth up as [8]hemlock in the furrows
5 of the field. The inhabitants of Sa-ma'ri-a shall be in terror for the calves of Beth-a'ven: for the people thereof shall mourn over it, and [9]the priests thereof that rejoiced over it, for the glory thereof, because 6 it is departed from it. It also shall be carried unto As-sy'ri-a for a present to [10]king Ja'reb: E'phra-im shall receive shame, and Is'ra-el shall be ashamed of his
7 own counsel. [11]As for Sa-ma'ri-a, her king is cut off,
8 as [12]foam upon the water. The high places also of A'ven, the sin of Is'ra-el, shall be destroyed: the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars; and they shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and
9 to the hills, Fall on us. O Is'ra-el, thou hast sinned [13]from the days of Gib'e-ah: [14]there they stood; [15]that the battle against the children of iniquity should 10 not overtake them in Gib'e-ah. When it is my desire, I will chastise them; and the peoples shall be gathered against them, when they are [16]bound [17]to 11 their two transgressions. And E'phra-im is an heifer that is taught, that loveth to tread out the corn; but I have passed over upon her fair neck: I will set a rider on E'phra-im: Ju'dah shall plow, Ja'cob shall 12 break his clods. Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap according to mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he 13 come and [18]rain righteousness upon you. Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of [19]lies: for thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men.
14 Therefore shall a tumult arise [20]among thy [21]people, and all thy fortresses shall be spoiled, as Shal'man spoiled Beth-ar'bel in the day of battle: the mother
15 was dashed in pieces with her children. [22]So shall Beth'-el do unto you because of your great wickedness: at daybreak shall the king of Is'ra-el be utterly cut off.

11 When Is'ra-el was a child, then I loved him, and
2 called my son out of E'gypt. As they called them, so they went from them: they sacrificed unto the Ba'al-im, and burned incense to graven images.

5 ¶ [i]He shall not return into the land of E'gypt, but the As-syr'i-an shall be his king, [k]because they refused to return.
6 And the sword shall abide on his cities, and shall consume his branches, and devour them, [l]because of their own counsels.

10 They shall walk after the LORD: [s]he shall roar like a lion: when he shall roar, then the children shall tremble [t]from the west.
11 They shall tremble as a bird out of E'gypt, [u]and as a dove out of the land of As-syr'i-a: [x]and I will place them in their houses, saith the LORD.
12 [y]E'phra-im compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Is'ra-el with deceit: but Ju'dah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the saints.

CHAPTER XII.

A reproof of Ephraim, Judah, and Jacob.

E'PHRA-IM [a]feedeth on wind, and followeth after the east wind: he daily increaseth lies and desolation; [b]and they do make a covenant with the As-syr'i-ans, and [c]oil is carried into E'gypt.
2 [d]The LORD hath also a controversy with Ju'dah, and will punish Ja'cob according to his ways; according to his doings will he recompense him.
3 ¶ He took his brother [e]by the heel in the womb, and by his strength he [f]had power with God:
4 Yea, he had power over the angel, and prevailed: he wept, and made supplication unto him: he found him in [g]Beth'-el, and there he spake with us;
5 Even the LORD God of hosts; the LORD is his [h]memorial.
6 [i]Therefore, turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and [k]wait on thy God continually.
7 ¶ He is ‖ a merchant, [l]the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to ‖ oppress.
8 And E'phra-im said, [m]Yet I am become rich, I have found me out substance: in all my labours they shall find none iniquity in me that were sin.
9 And [n]I that am the LORD thy God from the land of E'gypt [o]will yet make thee to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the solemn feast.
10 [p]I have also spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes, †by the ministry of the prophets.
11 [q]Is there iniquity in Gil'e-ad? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in [r]Gil'gal; yea, [s]their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the fields.
12 And Ja'cob [t]fled into the country of Syr'i-a, [u]and Is'ra-el [w]served for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheep.
13 [x]And by a prophet the LORD brought Is'ra-el out of E'gypt, and by a prophet was he preserved.
14 [y]E'phra-im provoked him to anger most bitterly: therefore shall he leave his †blood upon him, [z]and his [a]reproach shall his Lord return unto him.

CHAPTER XIII.

Ephraim's glory, by reason of idolatry, vanisheth; a promise of God's mercy.

WHEN E'phra-im spake trembling, he exalted himself, in Is'ra-el; but [a]when he offended in Ba'al, he died.
2 And now †they sin more and more, and [b]have made

3 Yet I taught E'phra-im to go: [1]I took them on my 4 arms; but they knew not that I healed them. I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love; and I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their
5 jaws, and I laid meat before them. He shall not return into the land of E'gypt; but the As-syr'i-an shall be 6 his king, because they refused to return. And the sword shall [2]fall upon his cities, and shall consume his bars, and devour them, because of their own
7 counsels. And my people are bent to backsliding from me: though they called them to him that is on 8 high, none at all will [3]exalt him. How shall I give thee up, E'phra-im? how shall I deliver thee, Is'ra-el? how shall I make thee as Ad'mah? how shall I set thee as Ze-bo'im? mine heart is turned within me,
9 my compassions are kindled together. I will not execute the fierceness of mine anger, I will not return to destroy E'phra-im: for I am God, and not man; the Holy One in the midst of thee: and I will 10 not [4]enter into the city. They shall walk after the LORD, who shall roar like a lion: for he shall roar, and the children shall come trembling from the west.
11 They shall come trembling as a bird out of E'gypt, and as a dove out of the land of As-syr'i-a: and I will make them to dwell in their houses, saith the LORD.
12 E'phra-im compasseth me about with falsehood, and the house of Is'ra-el with deceit: [5]but Ju'dah yet
12 ruleth with God, and is faithful with the Holy One.
E'phra-im feedeth on wind, and followeth after the east wind: he continually multiplieth lies and desolation; and they make a covenant with As-syr'i-a,
2 and oil is carried into E'gypt. The LORD hath also a controversy with Ju'dah, and will [6]punish Ja'cob according to his ways; according to his
3 doings will he recompense him. In the womb he took his brother by the heel; and in his [7]manhood
4 he [8]had power with God: yea, he had power over the angel, and prevailed: he wept, and made supplication unto him: he found him at Beth'-el, and
5 there he spake with us; [9]even the LORD, the God
6 of hosts; the LORD is his memorial. Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgement, and wait on thy God continually.
7 [10]He is [11]a trafficker, the balances of deceit are in 8 his hand: he loveth to [12]oppress. And E'phra-im said, Surely I am become rich, I have found me wealth: in all my labours they shall find in me none
9 iniquity that were sin. But I am the LORD thy God from the land of E'gypt; I will yet again make thee to dwell in tents, as in the days of the solemn 10 feast. I have also spoken unto the prophets, and I have multiplied visions; and [13]by the ministry of the 11 prophets have I used similitudes. Is Gil'e-ad iniquity? they are altogether vanity; in Gil'gal they sacrifice bullocks: yea, their altars [14]are as heaps in 12 the furrows of the field. And Ja'cob fled into the field of A'ram, and Is'ra-el served for a wife, and for a wife
13 he kept sheep. And by a prophet the LORD brought Is'ra-el up out of E'gypt, and by a prophet was he 14 [15]preserved. E'phra-im hath provoked to anger most bitterly: †therefore shall his blood be left upon him, and his reproach shall his Lord return unto him.

13 When E'phra-im [16]spake, there was trembling; he exalted himself in Is'ra-el: but when he [17]offended in 2 Ba'al, he died. And now they sin more and more,

CHAPTER XIV.

An exhortation to repentance; a promise of God's blessing.

O IS'RA-EL, [a]return unto the LORD thy God; [b]for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

2 Take with you words, and turn to the LORD: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciously: so will we render the [c]calves of our lips.

3 [d]As'shur shall not save us; [e]we will not ride upon horses: [f]neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: [g]for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy.

4 ¶ I will heal [h]their backsliding, I will love them [i]freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

5 I will be as [k]the dew unto Is'ra-el: he shall || grow as the lily, and †cast forth his roots as Leb'a-non.

6 His branches shall spread, and [l]his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and [m]his smell as Leb'a-non.

7 [n]They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Leb'a-non.

8 E'phra-im shall say, [o]What have I to do any more with idols? [p]I have heard him, and observed him: I am like a green fir tree. [q]From me is thy fruit found.

9 [r]Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for [s]the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein.

and have made them molten images of their silver, even idols according to their own understanding, all of them the work of the craftsmen: they say of them, Let [1]the men that sacrifice kiss the calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the dew that passeth early away, as the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the threshing-floor, and as the smoke out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the LORD thy God from the land of E'gypt; and thou [2]shalt know no god but me, and beside me there is no saviour. I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of great drought. According to their pasture, so were they filled; they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me. Therefore am I unto them as a lion: as a leopard will I watch by the way: I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will rend the caul of their heart: and there will I devour them like a lion; the wild beast shall tear them. [3]It is thy destruction, O Is'ra-el, [4]that thou art against me, against thy help. Where now is thy king, that he may save thee in all thy cities? and thy judges, of whom thou saidst, Give me a king and princes? I have given thee a king in mine anger, and have taken him away in my wrath. The iniquity of E'phra-im is bound up; his sin is laid up in store. The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come upon him: he is an unwise son; [5]for it is time he should not tarry in the place of the breaking forth of children. I will ransom them from the [6]power of [7]the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, [8]where are thy plagues? O [7]grave, [8]where is thy destruction? repentance shall be hid from mine eyes. Though he be fruitful among his brethren, an east wind shall come, the [9]breath of the LORD coming up from the wilderness, and his spring shall become dry, and his fountain shall be dried up: [10]he shall spoil the treasure of all pleasant vessels. Sa-ma'ri-a shall [11]bear her guilt; for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword; their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripped up.

14 O Is'ra-el, return unto the LORD thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. Take with you words, and return unto the LORD: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and [12]accept that which is good: so will we render [13]as bullocks the offering of our lips. As'shur shall not save us; we will not ride upon horses: neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy. I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him. I will be as the dew unto Is'ra-el: he shall blossom as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Leb'a-non. His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Leb'a-non. They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and blossom as the vine: [14]the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Leb'a-non. [15]E'phra-im shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have answered, and will regard him: I am like a green fir tree; from me is thy fruit found. Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them; but transgressors shall fall therein.

JOEL.

CHAPTER I.

Joel, declaring sundry judgments of God, exhorteth to observe them.

THE word of the LORD that came to Jo'el the son of Pe-thu'el.

2 Hear this, ye old men, and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land. [a]Hath this been in your days, or even in the days of your fathers?

3 [b]Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation.

4 [c]†That which the palmerworm hath left hath the locust eaten; and that which the locust hath left hath the canker-worm eaten; and that which the canker-worm hath left hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake, ye drunkards, and weep; and howl, all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine; [d]for it is cut off from your mouth.

6 For [e]a nation is come up upon my land, strong, and without number, [f]whose teeth are the teeth of a lion, and he hath the cheek teeth of a great lion.

7 He hath [g]laid my vine waste, and †barked my fig tree: he hath made it clean bare, and cast it away: the branches thereof are made white.

8 ¶ [h]Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth for [i]the husband of her youth.

9 [k]The meat offering and the drink offering is cut off from the house of the LORD; the priests, the LORD'S ministers, mourn.

10 The field is wasted, [l]the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted: [m]the new wine is ‖ dried up, the oil languisheth.

11 [n]Be ye ashamed, O ye husbandmen; howl, O ye vine-dressers, for the wheat and for the barley; because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 [o]The vine is dried up, and the fig tree languisheth; the pomegranate tree, the palm tree also, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field, are withered: because [p]joy is withered away from the sons of men.

13 [q]Gird yourselves, and lament, ye priests: howl, ye ministers of the altar: come, lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for [r]the meat offering and the drink offering is withholden from the house of your God.

14 ¶ [s]Sanctify ye a fast, call [t]a ‖ solemn assembly, gather the elders and [u]all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the LORD your God, and cry unto the LORD,

15 [x]Alas for the day! for [y]the day of the LORD is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes, yea, [z]joy and gladness from the house of our God?

17 The †seed is rotten under their clods, the garners are laid desolate, the barns are broken down; for the corn is withered.

18 How do [a]the beasts groan! the herds of cattle are perplexed, because they have no pasture; yea, the flocks of sheep are made desolate.

19 O LORD, to thee [b]will I cry: for [c]the fire hath devoured the ‖ pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burned all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field [d]cry also unto thee: for [e]the rivers of water are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAPTER II.

The terribleness of God's judgments—He exhorteth to repentance.

BLOW [a]ye the ‖ trumpet in Zi'on, and [b]sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for [c]the day of the LORD cometh, for it is nigh at hand;

2 [d]A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: [c]a great people and a strong; [f]there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, even to the years †of many generations.

1 The word of the LORD that came to Jo'el the son of Pe-thu'el.

3 [g]A fire devoureth before them; and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as [h]the garden of E'den before them, [i]and behind them a desolate wilderness; yea, and nothing shall escape them.

4 [k]The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses; and as horsemen, so shall they run.

5 [l]Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, [m]as a strong people set in battle array.

6 Before their face the people shall be much pained: [n]all faces shall gather †blackness.

7 They shall run like mighty men; they shall climb the wall like men of war; and they shall march every one on his ways, and they shall not break their ranks:

8 Neither shall one thrust another; they shall walk every one in his path: and when they fall upon the ‖sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the city; they shall run upon the wall, they shall climb up upon the houses; they shall [o]enter in at the windows [p]like a thief.

10 [q]The earth shall quake before them; the heavens shall tremble: [r]the sun and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall withdraw their shining:

11 [s]And the LORD shall utter his voice before [t]his army: for his camp is very great: [u]for he is strong that executeth his word: for the [z]day of the LORD is great and very terrible; and [v]who can abide it?

12 ¶Therefore also now, saith the LORD, [x]Turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning:

13 And [a]rend your heart, and not [b]your garments, and turn unto the LORD your God: for he is [c]gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil.

14 [d]Who knoweth if he will return and repent, and leave [e]a blessing behind him; even [f]a meat offering and a drink offering unto the LORD your God?

15 ¶[g]Blow the trumpet in Zi'on, [h]sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly:

16 Gather the people, [i]sanctify the congregation, [k]assemble the elders, [l]gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: [m]let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep [n]between the porch and the altar, and let them say, [o]Spare thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should ‖rule over them: [p]wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 ¶Then will the LORD [q]be jealous for his land, [r]and pity his people.

19 Yea, the LORD will answer and say unto his people, Behold, I will send you [s]corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen:

20 But [t]I will remove far off from you [u]the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face [z]toward the east sea, and his hinder part [v]toward the utmost sea; and his stink shall come up, and his ill savour shall come up, because †he hath done great things.

21 ¶Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the LORD will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, [z]ye beasts of the field: for [a]the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig tree and the vine do yield their strength.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zi'on, and [b]rejoice in the LORD your God: for he hath given you ‖the former rain and thick darkness, as the dawn spread upon the mountains; a great people and a strong, there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after 3 them, even to the years of many generations. A fire devoureth before them; and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as the garden of E'den before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness; yea, and

4 none hath escaped them. The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses; and as [1]horsemen, so
5 do they run. Like the noise of chariots on the tops of the mountains do they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, as a strong people
6 set in battle array. At their presence the peoples
7 are in anguish: all faces are waxed pale. They run like mighty men; they climb the wall like men of war; and they march every one on his ways, and
8 they break not their ranks. Neither doth one thrust another; they march every one in his path: and [2]they burst through the weapons, and [3]break
9 not off their course. They leap upon the city; they run upon the wall; they climb up into the houses; they enter in at the windows like a thief.
10 The earth quaketh before them; the heavens tremble: the sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars
11 withdraw their shining: and the LORD uttereth his voice before his army; for his camp is very great; for he is strong that executeth his word: for the day of the LORD is great and very terrible; and who 12 can abide it? Yet even now, saith the LORD, turn ye unto me with all your heart, and with fasting,
13 and with weeping, and with mourning: and rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the LORD your God: for he is gracious and full of compassion, slow to anger, and plenteous in 14 mercy, and repenteth him of the evil. Who knoweth whether he will not turn and repent, and leave a blessing behind him, even a meal offering and a drink offering unto the LORD your God?
15 Blow the trumpet in Zi'on, sanctify a fast, call a 16 solemn assembly: gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the [4]old men, gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride
17 out of her closet. Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the nations should [5]rule over them: wherefore should they say among the peoples, Where is their God?
18 Then was the LORD jealous for his land, and had 19 pity on his people. And the LORD answered and said unto his people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach
20 among the nations: but I will remove far off from you the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, [6]his forepart [7]into the eastern sea, and his hinder part [7]into the western sea; and his stink shall come up, and his ill savour shall come up, because he hath done great things.
21 Fear not, O land, be glad and rejoice; for the LORD

CHAPTER III.

God's judgments against the enemies of his people.

FOR, behold, [a]in those days, and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Ju'dah and Je-ru'sa-lem,
2 [b]I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into [c]the valley of Je-hosh'a-phat, and [d]will plead with them there for my people and for my heritage Is'ra-el, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land.
3 And they have [e]cast lots for my people; and have given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they might drink.
4 Yea, and what have ye to do with me, [f]O Tyre, and Zi'don, and all the coasts of Pal'es-tine? [g]will ye render me a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompense upon your own head;
5 Because ye have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly †pleasant things:
6 The children also of Ju'dah and the children of Je-ru'sa-lem have ye sold unto †the Gre'ci-ans, that ye might remove them far from their border.
7 Behold, [h]I will raise them out of the place whither ye have sold them, and will return your recompense upon your own head:
8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Ju'dah, and they shall sell them to the [i]Sa-be'ans, to a people [k]far off: for the LORD hath spoken it.
9 ¶[l]Proclaim ye this among the Gen'tiles; †prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up:
10 [m]Beat your ploughshares into swords and your ||pruninghooks into spears: [n]let the weak say, I am strong.
11 [o]Assemble yourselves, and come, all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: thither ||cause [p]thy mighty ones to come down, O LORD.
12 Let the heathen be wakened, [q]and come up to the valley of Je-hosh'a-phat: for there will I sit to [r]judge all the heathen round about.
13 [s]Put ye in the sickle, for [t]the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the [u]press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great.
14 Multitudes, multitudes in [x]the valley of ||decision: for [y]the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

[1]in just measure, and he causeth to come down for you the rain, the former rain and the latter rain, [2]in 24 the first month. And the floors shall be full of wheat,
25 and the fats shall overflow with wine and oil. And I will restore to you the years that [3]the locust hath eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpiller, and the palmerworm, my great army which I sent among you.
26 And ye shall eat in plenty and be satisfied, and shall praise the name of the LORD your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be 27 ashamed. And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Is'ra-el, and that I am the LORD your God, and there is none else: and my people shall never be ashamed.
28 And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see 29 visions: and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit.
30 And I will shew wonders in the heavens and in the 31 earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the LORD come.
32 And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the LORD shall be delivered: for in mount Zi'on and in Je-ru'sa-lem there shall be those that escape, as the LORD hath said, and [4]among the remnant those whom the LORD doth
3 call. For, behold, in those days, and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Ju'dah
2 and Je-ru'sa-lem, I will gather all nations, and will bring them down into [5]the valley of Je-hosh'a-phat; and I will plead with them there for my people and for my heritage Is'ra-el, whom they have scattered
3 among the nations, and parted my land. And they have cast lots for my people: and have given a boy for an harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they
4 might drink. Yea, and what are ye to me, O Tyre, and Zi'don, and all the regions of Phi-lis'ti-a? [6]will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your [7]recom-
5 pence upon your own head. Forasmuch as ye have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried
6 into your temples my goodly pleasant things; the children also of Ju'dah and the children of Je-ru'sa-lem have ye sold unto the sons of the Gre'ci-ans, that ye
7 might remove them far from their border: behold, I will stir them up out of the place whither ye have sold them, and will return your [7]recompence
8 upon your own head; and I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Ju'dah, and they shall sell them to the men of She'ba, to a nation far off: for the LORD hath spoken it.
9 Proclaim ye this among the nations; [8]prepare war: stir up the mighty men; let all the men of war
10 draw near, let them come up. Beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruninghooks into spears:
11 let the weak say, I am strong. [9]Haste ye, and come, all ye nations round about, and gather yourselves together: thither cause thy mighty ones to come
12 down, O LORD. Let the nations bestir themselves, and come up to the valley of [10]Je-hosh'a-phat: for there 13 will I sit to judge all the nations round about. Put ye in the sickle, for the [11]harvest is ripe: come, [12]tread ye; for the winepress is full, the fats over-14 flow; for their wickedness is great. Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision! for the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

CHAPTER I.

Amos sheweth God's judgments upon Syria, &c.

THE words of A'mos, [a]who was among the herdmen of [b]Te-ko'a, which he saw concerning Is'ra-el [c]in the days of Uz-zi'ah king of Ju'dah, and in the days of [d]Jer-o-bo'am the son of Jo'ash king of Is'ra-el, two years before the [e]earthquake.

2 And he said, The LORD will [f]roar from Zi'on, and utter his voice from Je-ru'sa-lem; and the habitations of the shepherds shall mourn, and the top of [g]Car'mel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the LORD; For three transgressions of [h]Da-mas'cus, ‖ and for four, I will not ‖ turn away the punishment thereof; [i]because they have threshed Gil'e-ad with threshing instruments of iron:

4 [k]But I will send a fire into the house of Haz'a-el, which shall devour the palaces of Ben-ha'dad.

5 I will break also the [l]bar of Da-mas'cus, and cut off the inhabitant from ‖ the plain of A'ven, and him that holdeth the sceptre from ‖ the house of E'den: and [m]the people of Syr'i-a shall go into captivity [n]unto Kir, saith the LORD.

God's wrath against Moab; upon Judah; and upon Israel.

THUS saith the LORD; For three transgressions of [a]Mo'ab, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he [b]burned the bones of the king of E'dom into lime:
2 But I will send a fire upon Mo'ab, and it shall devour the palaces of [c]Kir'i-oth: and Mo'ab shall die with tumult, [d]with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet:
3 And I will cut off [e]the judge from the midst thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the LORD.
4 ¶Thus saith the LORD; for three transgressions of Ju'dah, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; [f]because they have despised the law of the LORD, and have not kept his commandments, and [g]their lies caused them to err, [h]after the which their fathers have walked:

CHAPTER III.

The necessity of God's judgment against Israel; publication of it.

HEAR this word that the LORD hath spoken against you. O children of Is'ra-el against the whole family which I brought up from the land of E'gypt, saying,
2 [a]You only have I known of all the families of the earth: [b]therefore I will †punish you for all your iniquities.

15 shall the mighty deliver [5]himself; neither shall he stand that handleth the bow; and he that is swift of foot shall not deliver himself: neither shall he that 16 rideth the horse deliver [5]himself: and he that is courageous among the mighty shall flee away naked in that day, saith the LORD.

3 Hear this word that the LORD hath spoken against you, O children of Is'ra-el, against the whole family which I brought up out of the land of E'gypt, saying,
2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit upon you all your 3 iniquities. Shall two walk together, except they 4 have [6]agreed? Will a lion roar in the forest, when he hath no prey? will a young lion cry out of

CHAPTER IV.

Israel reproved for oppression; for idolatry; and for their incorrigibleness.

HEAR this word, ye [a]kine of Ba'shan, that are in the mountain of Sa-ma'ri-a, which oppress the poor, which crush the needy, which say to their masters, Bring, and let us drink.

2 [b]The Lord GOD hath sworn by his holiness, that, lo, the days shall come upon you, that he will take you away [c]with hooks, and your posterity with fishhooks.

3 And [d]ye shall go out at the breaches, every cow at that which is before her; and ‖ ye shall cast them into the palace, saith the LORD.

5 [i]And †offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, and proclaim and publish [k]the free offerings: [l]for †this liketh you, O ye children of Is'ra-el, saith the Lord GOD.

6 ¶And I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places: [m]yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

7 And also I have withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest: and I caused it to rain upon one city, and caused it not to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered unto one city, to drink water; but they were not satisfied: [n]yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

9 [o]I have smitten you with blasting and mildew: ‖ when your gardens and your vineyards and your fig trees and your olive trees increased, [p]the palmerworm devoured them: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

10 I have sent among you the pestilence ‖ [q]after the manner of E'gypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, †and have taken away your horses; and I have made the stink of your camps to come up unto your nostrils: [r]yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

Hear ye, and testify against the house of Ja'cob, saith the Lord GOD, the God of hosts. For in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Is'ra-el upon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth'-el, and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground. And I will smite [3]the winter house with the [4]summer house; and the houses of ivory shall perish, and [5]the great houses shall have an end, saith the LORD.

4 Hear this word, ye kine of Ba'shan, that are in the mountain of Sa-ma'ri-a, which oppress the poor, which crush the needy, which say unto their lords, Bring, and let us drink. The Lord GOD hath sworn by his holiness, that, lo, the days shall come upon you, that they shall take you away with hooks, and your residue with fish hooks. And ye shall go out at the breaches, every one straight before her; [6]and ye shall cast yourselves into Har'mon, saith the LORD.

4 Come to Beth'-el, and transgress; to Gil'gal, and multiply transgression; and bring your sacrifices every morning, and your tithes every three days; and [7]offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving of that which is leavened, and proclaim freewill offerings and publish them: for this liketh you, O ye children of Is'ra-el, saith the Lord GOD. So two or three cities wandered unto one city to drink water, and were not satisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD. I have smitten you with blasting and mildew: the multitude of your gardens and your vineyards and your fig trees and your olive trees hath the palmerworm devoured: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD. I have sent among you the pestilence after the manner of E'gypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, [8]and have carried away your horses; and I have made the stink of your camp to come up even into your nostrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD. CHAPTER V.

A lamentation for Israel—An exhortation to repentance.

HEAR ye this word which I [a]take up against you, even a lamentation, O house of Is'ra-el.

2 The virgin of Is'ra-el is fallen; she shall no more rise: she is forsaken upon her land: there is none to raise her up.

3 For thus saith the Lord GOD; The city that went out by a thousand shall leave a hundred, and that which went forth by a hundred shall leave ten, to the house of Is'ra-el.

4 ¶For thus saith the LORD unto the house of Is'ra-el, [b]Seek ye me, [c]and ye shall live:

5 But seek not [d]Beth'-el, nor enter into Gil'gal, and pass not to [e]Be'er-she'ba: for Gil'gal shall surely go into captivity, and [f]Beth'-el shall come to nought.

6 [g]Seek the LORD, and ye shall live; lest he break out like fire in the house of Jo'seph, and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Beth'-el.

7 Ye who [h]turn judgment to wormwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth,

8 Seek him that maketh the [i]seven stars and O-ri'on, and turneth the shadow of death into the morning, [k]and maketh the day dark with night: that [l]calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: [m]The LORD is his name:

9 That strengtheneth the †spoiled against the strong, so that the spoiled shall come against the fortress.

10 [n]They hate him that rebuketh in the gate, and they [o]abhor him that speaketh uprightly.

11 Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat: [p]ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted †pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions and your mighty sins: [q]they afflict the just, they take ‖a bribe, and they [r]turn aside the poor in the gate from their right.

13 Therefore [s]the prudent shall keep silence in that time; for it is an evil time;

14 Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live: and so the LORD, the God of hosts, shall be with you, [t]as ye have spoken.

15 [u]Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate: [z]it may be that the Lord GOD of hosts will be gracious unto the remnant of Jo'seph.

16 Therefore, the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord, saith thus; Wailing shall be in all streets; and they shall say in all the highways, Alas! alas! and they shall call the husbandmen to mourning, and [y]such as are skilful of lamentation to wailing.

17 And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for [x]I will pass through thee, saith the LORD.

18 [a]Woe unto you that desire the day of the LORD! to what end is it for you? [b]the day of the LORD is darkness, and not light.

19 [c]As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the LORD be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it?

21 ¶[d]I hate, I despise your feast days, and [e]I will not ‖smell in your solemn assemblies.

22 [f]Though you offer me burnt offerings and your meat offerings, I will not accept them; neither will I regard the ‖peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.

out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD. B. C. 787.

12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Is'ra-el: and because I will do this unto thee, prepare 13 to meet thy God, O Is'ra-el. For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth; the LORD, the God of hosts, is his name.

5 Hear ye this word which I take up for a lamen-
2 tation over you, O house of Is'ra-el. The virgin of Is'ra-el is fallen; she shall no more rise: she [1]is cast down upon her land; there is none to raise her up.
3 For thus saith the Lord GOD: the city that went forth a thousand shall have an hundred left, and that which went forth an hundred shall have ten left, to 4 the house of Is'ra-el. For thus saith the LORD unto the house of Is'ra-el, Seek ye me, and ye shall live:
5 but seek not Beth'-el, nor enter into Gil'gal, and pass not to Be'er-she'ba: for Gil'gal shall surely go into captivity, and Beth'-el shall [2]come to nought.
6 Seek the LORD, and ye shall live; lest he break out like fire in the house of Jo'seph, and it devour and 7 there be none to quench it in Beth'-el: ye who turn judgement to wormwood, and cast down righteous-
8 ness to the earth; seek him that maketh the Ple'iades and O-ri'on, and turneth [3]the shadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night; that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth; the 9 LORD is his name; that [4]bringeth sudden destruction upon the strong, so that destruction cometh
10 upon the fortress. They hate him that reproveth in the gate, and they abhor him that speaketh up-
11 rightly. Forasmuch therefore as ye trample upon the poor, and take exactions from him of wheat: ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink the wine thereof. For I know how manifold are your transgressions and how mighty are your sins; ye that afflict the just, that take a bribe, and that turn aside the needy in 13 the gate from their right. Therefore he that is prudent shall keep silence in such a time; for it is an evil
14 time. Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live: and so the LORD, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye 15 say. Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgement in the gate: it may be that the LORD, the God of hosts, will be gracious unto the remnant of 16 Jo'seph. Therefore thus saith the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord: Wailing shall be in all the broad ways; and they shall say in all the streets, Alas! alas! and they shall call the husbandmen to mourning, [5]and 17 such as are skilful of lamentation to wailing. And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for I will pass through 18 the midst of thee, saith the LORD. Woe unto you that desire the day of the LORD! wherefore would ye have the day of the LORD? it is darkness, and not light.
19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; [6]or went into the house and leaned his hand
20 on the wall, and a serpent bit him. Shall not the day of the LORD be darkness, and not light? even 21 very dark, and no brightness in it? I hate, I despise your feasts, and I [7]will take no delight in your 22 solemn assemblies. Yea, though ye offer me [8]your burnt offerings and meal offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the [9]peace offerings of 23 your fat beasts. Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.

[1] Or, lieth forsaken
[2] Or, become vanity (Heb. Aven)
[3] Or, deep darkness
[4] Or, causeth destruction to flash forth
[5] Heb. and proclaim wailing to such as are skilful of lamentation.
[6] Or, and
[7] Heb. will not smell a savour.
[8] Or, burnt offerings with your meal offerings
[9] Or, thank offerings

B. C. about 787.

24 [o]But let judgment †run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

25 [h]Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Is'ra-el?

26 But ye have borne ‖ the tabernacle [i]of your Mo'loch and Chi'un your images, the star of your god, which ye made to yourselves.

27 Therefore, will I cause you to go into captivity [k]beyond Da-mas'cus, saith the LORD, [l]whose name is The God of hosts.

CHAPTER VI.

The wantonness of Israel shall be plagued with desolation.

WOE [a]to them that ‖are at ease in Zi'on, and trust in the mountain of Sa-ma'ri-a, which are named [b]‖ chief of the nations, to whom the house of Is'ra-el came!

2 [c]Pass ye unto [d]Cal'neh, and see; and from thence go ye to [e]Ha'math the great; then go down to [f]Gath of the Phi-lis'tines: [g]be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border?

3 Ye that [h]put far away the [i]evil day, [k]and cause [l]the ‖ seat of violence to come near;

4 That lie upon beds of ivory, and ‖ stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall;

5 [m]That ‖ chant to the sound of the viol, and invent to themselves instruments of music, [n]like Da'vid;

6 That drink ‖ wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: [o]but they are not grieved for the †affliction of Jo'seph.

7 ¶Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed.

8 [p]The Lord GOD hath sworn by himself, saith the LORD the God of hosts, I abhor [q]the excellency of Ja'cob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all †that is therein.

9 And it shall come to pass, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die.

10 And a man's uncle shall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? and he shall say, No. Then shall he say, [r]Hold thy tongue: [s]for ‖ we may not make mention of the name of the LORD.

11 For, behold, [t]the LORD commandeth, [u]and he will smite the great house with ‖ breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 ¶Shall horses run upon the rock? will one plough there with oxen? for [x]ye have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into hemlock:

13 Ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which say, Have we not taken to us horns by our own strength?

14 But, behold, [y]I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Is'ra-el, saith the LORD the God of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the [z]entering in of Ha'math unto the ‖ river of the wilderness.

CHAPTER VII.

The judgments are diverted by the prayer of Amos, &c.

THUS hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me; and, behold, he formed ‖ grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth; and, lo, it was the latter growth after the king's mowings.

2 And it came to pass, that when they had made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord GOD, forgive, I beseech thee: [a]‖ by whom shall Ja'cob arise? for he is small.

3 [b]The LORD repented for this: It shall not be, saith the LORD.

4 ¶Thus hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me: and, behold, the Lord GOD called to contend by fire, and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord GOD, cease, I beseech thee: [c]by whom shall Ja'cob arise? for he is small.

6 The LORD repented for this: This also shall not be, saith the Lord GOD.

24 But let judgement roll down as waters, and righteous-
25 ness as a [1]mighty stream. Did ye bring unto me sacrifices and [2]offerings in the wilderness forty years, 26 O house of Is'ra-el? Yea, ye [3]have borne [4]Sic'cuth your king and [5]Chi'un your images, the star of your 27 god, which ye made to yourselves. Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Da-mas'cus, saith the LORD, whose name is the God of hosts.

6 Woe to them that are at ease in Zi'on, and to them that are secure in the mountain of Sa-ma'ri-a, the notable men of the chief of the nations, to whom
2 the house of Is'ra-el come! Pass ye unto Cal'neh, and see; and from thence go ye to Ha'math the great: then go down to Gath of the Phi-lis'tines: be they better than these kingdoms? or is their border greater
3 than your border? Ye that put far away the evil day, and cause the [6]seat of violence to come near;
4 that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall;
5 that sing idle songs to the sound of the viol; that devise for themselves instruments of music, [7]like
6 Da'vid; that drink [8]wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: but they are not
7 grieved for the affliction of Jo'seph. Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the revelry of them that stretched themselves
8 shall pass away. The Lord GOD hath sworn by himself, saith the LORD, the God of hosts: I abhor the [9]excellency of Ja'cob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein.
9 And it shall come to pass, if there remain ten men
10 in one house, that they shall die. And when a man's [10]uncle shall take him up, even he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is in the innermost parts of the house, Is there yet any with thee? and he shall say, No; then shall he say, Hold thy peace; for we may 11 not make mention of the name of the LORD. For, behold, the LORD commandeth, and [11]the great house shall be smitten with breaches, and the little house
12 with clefts. Shall horses run upon the rock? will one plow there with oxen? that ye have turned judgement into [12]gall, and the fruit of righteousness into 13 wormwood: ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which say, Have we not taken to us horns by our 14 own strength? For, behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Is'ra-el, saith the LORD, the God of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the [13]entering in of Ha'math unto the brook of the Ar'a-bah.

7 Thus the Lord GOD shewed me: and, behold, he formed locusts in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth; and, lo, it was the latter growth
2 after the king's mowings. And it came to pass that when they made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord GOD, forgive, I beseech thee:
3 how shall Ja'cob stand? for he is small. The LORD repented concerning this: It shall not be, saith the LORD.
4 Thus the Lord GOD shewed me: and, behold, the Lord GOD called to contend by fire; and it devoured the great deep, and would have eaten up the [14]land.
5 Then said I, O Lord GOD, cease, I beseech thee:
6 how shall Ja'cob stand? for he is small. The LORD repented concerning this: This also shall not be, saith the Lord GOD.

7 ¶Thus he shewed me: and, behold, the LORD stood upon a wall made by a plumbline, with a plumbline in his hand.
8 And the LORD said unto me, A'mos, what seest thou? and I said, A plumbline. Then said the LORD, Behold, [d]I will set a plumbline in the midst of my people Is'ra-el: [e]I will not again pass by them any more:
9 [f]And the high places of I'saac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Is'ra-el shall be laid waste; and [g]I will rise against the house of Jer-o-bo'am with the sword.
10 ¶Then Am-a-zi'ah [h]the priest of Beth'-el sent to [i]Jer-o-bo'am king of Is'ra-el, saying, A'mos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Is'ra-el: the land is not able to bear all his words.
11 For thus A'mos saith, Jer-o-bo'am shall die by the sword, and Is'ra-el shall surely be led away captive out of their own land.
12 Also, Am-a-zi'ah said unto A'mos, O thou seer, go, flee thee away into the land of Ju'dah, and there eat bread, and prophesy there:
13 But [k]prophesy not again any more at Beth'-el: [l]for it is the king's ||chapel, and it is the †king's court.
14 ¶Then aswered A'mos, and said to Am-a-zi'ah, I was no prophet, neither was I [m]a prophet's son; [n]but I was a herdman, and a gatherer of ||sycamore fruit:
15 And the LORD took me †as I followed the flock, and the LORD said unto me, Go, prophesy unto my people Is'ra-el.
16 ¶Now therefore hear thou the word of the LORD: Thou sayest, Prophesy not against Is'ra-el, and [o]drop not thy word against the house of I'saac.
17 [p]Therefore thus saith the LORD; [q]Thy wife shall be a harlot in the city, and thy sons and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land: and Is'ra-el shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

CHAPTER VIII.

By a basket of summer fruit is shewed Israel's end.

THUS hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me: and behold a basket of summer fruit.
2 And he said, A'mos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the LORD unto me, [a]The end is come upon my people of Is'ra-el; [b]I will not again pass by them any more.
3 And [c]the songs of the temple †shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord GOD: there shall be many dead bodies in every place; [d]they shall cast them forth †with silence.
4 ¶Hear this, O ye that [e]swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,
5 Saying, When will the ||new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and [f]the sabbath, that we may †set forth wheat, [g]making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and †falsifying the balances by deceit?
6 That we may buy the poor for [h]silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?
7 The LORD hath sworn by [i]the excellency of Ja'cob, Surely [k]I will never forget any of their works.
8 [l]Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood: and it shall be cast out and drowned, [m]as by the flood of E'gypt.
9 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord GOD, [n]that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day:
10 And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; [p]and I will bring up sackcloth upon all loins, and baldness upon every head; [q]and I will make it as the mourning of an only son, and the end thereof as a bitter day.
11 ¶Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but [r]of hearing the words of the LORD:

B. C. 787.

7 Thus he shewed me: and, behold, the Lord stood [1]beside a wall made by a plumbline, with a plumb-
8 line in his hand. And the LORD said unto me, A'mos, what seest thou? And I said, A plumbline. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a plumbline in the midst of my people Is'ra-el; I will not again
9 pass by them any more: and the high places of I'saac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Is'ra-el shall be laid waste; and I will rise against the house of Jer-o-bo'am with the sword.
10 Then Am-a-zi'ah the priest of Beth'-el sent to Jer-o-bo'am king of Is'ra-el, saying, A'mos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Is'ra-el: the 11 land is not able to bear all his words. For thus A'mos saith, Jer-o-bo'am shall die by the sword, and Is'ra-el shall surely be led away captive out of his land.
12 Also Am-a-zi'ah said unto A'mos, O thou seer, go, flee thee away into the land of Ju'dah, and there eat
13 bread, and prophesy there: but prophesy not again any more at Beth'-el: for it is the king's sanctuary,
14 and it is a royal house. Then answered A'mos, and said to Am-a-zi'ah, I [2]was no prophet, neither [2]was I [3]a prophet's son; but I [2]was an herdman, and a 15 dresser of sycomore trees: and the LORD took me from following the flock, and the LORD said unto 16 me, Go, prophesy unto my people Is'ra-el. Now therefore hear thou the word of the LORD: Thou sayest, Prophesy not against Is'ra-el, and drop not thy 17 word against the house of I'saac; therefore thus saith the LORD: Thy wife shall be an harlot in the city, and thy sons and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line; and thou thyself shalt die in a land that is unclean, and Is'ra-el shall surely be led away captive out of his land.

8 Thus the Lord GOD shewed me: and behold, a
2 basket of summer fruit. And he said, A'mos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the LORD unto me, The end is come upon my people Is'ra-el; I will not again pass by them any
3 more. And the songs of the [4]temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord GOD: the dead bodies shall be many; in every place [5]shall they cast them
4 forth with silence. Hear this, O ye that would swallow up the needy, and cause the poor of the land to 5 fail, saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may [6]set forth wheat? making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and dealing falsely with balances of deceit;
6 that we may buy the poor for [7]silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes, and sell the refuse of the wheat.
7 The LORD hath sworn by the excellency of Ja'cob,
8 Surely I will never forget any of their works. Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? yea, it shall rise up wholly like the River; and it shall be troubled and sink
9 again, like the River of E'gypt. And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord GOD, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken
10 the earth in the clear day. And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; and I will bring up sackcloth upon all loins, and baldness upon every head; and I will make it as the mourning for an only son, and the 11 end thereof as a bitter day. Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD.

The certainty of Israel's desolation; the restoring of the tabernacle of David.

I SAW the LORD standing upon the altar: and he said, Smite the ‖ lintel of the door, that the posts may shake: and ‖ [a]cut them in the head, all of them; and I will slay the last of them with the sword: [b]he that fleeth of them shall not flee away, and he that escapeth of them shall not be delivered.

OBADIAH.

CHAPTER I.

Destruction of Edom for their pride—Salvation and victory of Jacob.

THE vision of O-ba-di'ah. Thus saith the Lord GOD [a]concerning E'dom; [b]We have heard a rumor from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen, Arise ye, and let us rise up against her in battle.

2 Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art greatly despised.

3 ¶The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts [c]of the rock, whose habitation is high; [d]that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?

4 [e]Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou [f]set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD.

5 If [g]thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off!) would they not have stolen till they had enough? if the grapegatherers came to thee, [h]would they not leave ||some grapes?

6 How are the things of E'sau searched out! how are his hidden things sought up!

7 All the men of thy confederacy have brought thee even to the border: †[i]the men that were at peace with thee have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee; †they that eat thy bread have laid a wound under thee: [k]there is none understanding ||in him.

8 [l]Shall I not in that day, saith the LORD, even destroy the wise men out of E'dom, and understanding out of the mount of E'sau?

9 And thy [m]mighty men, O [n]Te'man, shall be dismayed, to the end that every one of the mount of E'sau may be cut off by slaughter.

10 ¶For thy [o]violence against thy brother Ja'cob, shame shall cover thee, and [p]thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 In the day that thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers ||carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and [q]cast lots upon Je-ru'-sa-lem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But ||thou shouldest not have [r]looked on [s]the day of thy brother in the day that he became a stranger; neither shouldest thou have [t]rejoiced over the children of Ju'dah in the day of their destruction; neither shouldest thou have †spoken proudly in the day of distress.

13 Thou shouldest not have entered into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yea, thou shouldest not have looked on their affliction in the day of their calamity, nor have laid hands on their ||substance in the day of their calamity;

14 Neither shouldest thou have stood in the crossway, to cut off those of his that did escape; neither shouldest thou have ||delivered up those of his that did remain in the day of distress.

15 [u]For the day of the LORD is near upon all the heathen: [x]as thou hast done, it shall be done unto thee: thy reward shall return upon thine own head.

16 [y]For as ye have drunk upon my holy mountain, so shall all the heathen drink continually; yea, they shall drink, and they shall ||swallow down, and they shall be as though they had not been.

17 ¶[z]But upon mount Zi'on [a]shall be ||deliverance, and ||there shall be holiness; and the house of Ja'cob shall possess their possessions.

18 And the house of Ja'cob [b]shall be a fire, and the house of Jo'seph a flame, and the house of E'sau for stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and devour them; and there shall not be any remaining of the house of E'sau; for the LORD hath spoken it.

OBADIAH

B. C. 587.

1 The vision of O-ba-di'ah.
Thus saith the Lord GOD [1]concerning E'dom: We have heard tidings from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent among the nations, saying, Arise ye, and let us rise up against her in battle.
2 Behold, I have made thee small among the na-
3 tions: thou art greatly despised. The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, O thou that dwellest in the clefts of [2]the rock, whose habitation is high; that saith in his heart, Who shall
4 bring me down to the ground? Though thou mount on high as the eagle, and though thy nest be set among the stars, I will bring thee down from 5 thence, saith the LORD. If thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off!) would they not steal till they had enough? if grapegatherers came to thee, would they not leave some 6 gleaning grapes? How are [3]the things of E'sau searched out! how are his hidden treasures sought
7 up! All the men of thy confederacy have [4]brought thee on thy way, even to the border: the men that were at peace with thee have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee; [5]they that eat thy bread lay a [6]snare under thee: there is none understanding
8 [7]in him. Shall I not in that day, saith the LORD, destroy the wise men out of E'dom, and under-
9 standing out of the mount of E'sau? And thy mighty men, O Te'man, shall be dismayed, to the end that every one may be cut off from the mount
10 of E'sau by slaughter. For the violence done to thy brother Ja'cob shame shall cover thee, and thou
11 shalt be cut off for ever. In the day that thou stoodest [8]on the other side, in the day that strangers carried away his [9]substance, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots upon Je-ru'-
12 sa-lem, even thou wast as one of them. But look not thou on the day of thy brother in [10]the day of his disaster, and rejoice not over the children of Ju'dah in the day of their destruction; neither 13 speak proudly in the day of distress. Enter not into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yea, look not thou on their affliction in the day of their calamity, neither lay ye hands on their substance in the day of their calamity.
14 And stand thou not in the crossway, to cut off those of his that escape; and deliver not up those 15 of his that remain in the day of distress. For the day of the LORD is near upon all the nations: as thou hast done, it shall be done unto thee; thy 16 [11]dealing shall return upon thine own head. For as ye have drunk upon my holy mountain, so shall all the nations drink continually, yea, they shall drink, and [12]swallow down, and shall be as 17 though they had not been. But in mount Zi'on there shall be those that escape, and it shall be holy; and the house of Ja'cob shall possess their possessions.
18 And the house of Ja'cob shall be a fire, and the house of Jo'seph a flame, and the house of E'sau for stubble, and they shall burn among them, and devour them: and there shall not be any remaining to the house of E'sau; for the LORD hath spoken it.

CHAPTER I.

Jonah, sent to Nineveh, fleeth to Tarshish; he is overtaken by a tempest.

B. C. about 862.

NOW the word of the LORD came unto [a]‖ Jo'nah the son of A-mit'ta-i, saying,

2 Arise, go to Nin'e-veh, that [b]great city, and cry against it; for [c]their wickedness is come up before me.

3 But Jo'nah [d]rose up to flee unto Tar'shish from the presence of the LORD, and went down to [e]Jop'pa: and he found a ship going to Tar'shish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them unto Tar'shish [f]from the presence of the LORD.

4 ¶ But [g]the LORD †sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship †was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and [h]cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. But Jo'nah was gone down [i]into the sides of the ship; and he lay, and was fast asleep.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, [k]call upon thy God, [l]if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not.

7 And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us [m]cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jo'nah.

8 Then said they unto him, [n]Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us; What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he said unto them, I am a He'brew; and I fear ‖ the LORD, the God of heaven, [o]which hath made the sea and the dry land.

10 Then were the men †exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, Why hast thou done this? For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them.

11 ¶ Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea †may be calm unto us? for the sea ‖ †wrought and was tempestuous.

12 And he said unto them, [p]Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you.

13 Nevertheless the men †rowed hard to bring it to the land; [q]but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the LORD, and said, We beseech thee, O LORD, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and [r]lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O LORD, [s]hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they took up Jo'nah, and cast him forth into the sea: [t]and the sea †ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [u]feared the LORD exceedingly, and †offered a sacrifice unto the LORD, and made vows.

17 ¶ Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jo'nah. And [x]Jo'nah was in the †belly of the fish three days and three nights.

JONAH.

B. C. 585.

1 Now the word of the LORD came unto Jo'nah
2 the son of A-mit'ta-i, saying, Arise, go to Nin'e-veh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wicked-
3 ness is come up before me. But Jo'nah rose up to flee unto Tar'shish from the presence of the LORD; and he went down to Jop'pa, and found a ship going to Tar'shish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them unto Tar'shish
4 from the presence of the LORD. But the LORD [3]sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was
5 like to be broken. Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god; and they cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it unto them. But Jo'nah was gone down into the innermost parts of the ship; and he lay,
6 and was fast asleep. So the shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call upon thy God, if so be that
7 God will think upon us, that we perish not. And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot
8 fell upon Jo'nah. Then said they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us; what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?
9 And he said unto them, I am an He'brew; and I fear the LORD, the God of heaven, which hath 10 made the sea and the dry land. Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, What is this that thou hast done? For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he 11 had told them. Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be calm unto us? for the sea grew more and more tempes-
12 tuous. And he said unto them, Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that for my sake this great tem-
13 pest is upon you. Nevertheless the men rowed hard to get them back to the land; but they could not: for the sea grew more and more tempestuous against 14 them. Wherefore they cried [1]unto the LORD, and said, We beseech thee, O LORD, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O LORD, hast
15 done as it pleased thee. So they took up Jo'nah, and cast him forth into the sea; and the sea ceased 16 from her raging. Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly; and they offered a sacrifice unto the 17 LORD, and made vows. And the LORD prepared a great fish to swallow up Jo'nah; and Jo'nah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

CHAPTER II.

The prayer of Jonah; he is delivered out of the belly of the fish.

THEN Jo'nah prayed unto the LORD his God out of the fish's belly,

2 And said, I [c]cried ||by reason of mine affliction unto the LORD, [b]and he heard me; out of the belly of ||hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 [c]For thou hadst cast me into the deep, in the †midst of the seas; and the floods compassed me about: [d]all thy billows and thy waves passed over me.

4 [e]Then I said, I am cast out of thy sight; yet I will look again [f]toward thy holy temple.

5 The [g]waters compassed me about, even to the soul: the depths closed me round about, the weeds were wrapped about my head.

6 I went down to the †bottoms of the mountains; the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet hast thou brought up my life [h]from ||corruption, O LORD my God.

7 When my soul fainted within me I remembered the LORD: [i]and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.

8 They that observe [k]lying vanities forsake their own mercy.

9 But I will [l]sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. [m]Salvation is of the LORD.

10 ¶And the LORD spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jo'nah upon the dry land.

CHAPTER III.

Jonah, sent again, preacheth to the Ninevites, &c.

AND the word of the LORD came unto Jo'nah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nin'e-veh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 So Jo'nah arose and went unto Nin'e-veh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nin'e-veh was an †exceeding great city of three days' journey.

4 And Jo'nah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and [a]he cried, and said, Yet forty days and Nin'e-veh shall be overthrown.

5 ¶So the people of Nin'e-veh [b]believed God and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nin'e-veh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, [c]and sat in ashes.

7 [d]And he caused it to be proclaimed and †published through Nin'e-veh by decree of the king and his †nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water:

8 But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, [e]let them turn every one from his evil way and from [f]the violence that is in their hands.

9 [g]Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not?

10 ¶[h]And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not.

CHAPTER IV.

Jonah, repining at God's mercy, is reproved, by the type of a gourd.

BUT it displeased Jo'nah exceedingly, and he was very angry.

2 And he prayed unto the LORD and said, I pray thee, O LORD, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore I [a]fled before unto Tar'shish: for I knew that thou art a [b]gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil.

B. C. 862.

2 Then Jo'nah prayed unto the LORD his God out
2 of the fish's belly. And he said,
I called [1]by reason of mine affliction unto the LORD,
And he answered me;
Out of the belly of [2]hell cried I,
And thou heardest my voice.
3 For thou didst cast me into the depth, in the heart of the seas,
And the flood was round about me;
All thy waves and thy billows passed over me.
4 And I said, I am cast out from before thine eyes;
Yet I will look again toward thy holy temple.
5 The waters compassed me about, even to the soul;
The deep was round about me;
The weeds were wrapped about my head.
6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains;
The earth with her bars closed upon me for ever:
Yet hast thou brought up my life from [3]the pit, O LORD my God.
7 When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the LORD:
And my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.
8 They that regard lying vanities

3 I bid thee. So Jo'nah arose, and went unto Nin'e-veh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nin'e-veh was [5]an exceeding great city, of three days' journey.
4 And Jo'nah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and said, Yet forty days, and
5 Nin'e-veh will be overthrown. And the people of Nin'e-veh believed God; and they proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest
6 of them even to the least of them. [6]And the tidings reached the king of Nin'e-veh, and he arose from his throne, and laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.
7 And he made proclamation and [7]published through Nin'e-veh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water:
8 but let them be covered with sackcloth, both man and beast, and let them cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and
9 from the violence that is in their hands. Who knoweth whether God will not turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish
10 not? And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, which he said he would do unto them; and he did it
4 not. But it displeased Jo'nah exceedingly, and he
2 was angry. And he prayed unto the LORD, and said, I pray thee, O LORD, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore I [8]hasted to flee unto Tar'shish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and full of compassion, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy, and repentest thee of the evil.

B. C. about 750.

1 The word of the LORD that came to Mi'cah the Mo'rash-tite in the days of Jo'tham, A'haz, and Hez-e-ki'ah, kings of Ju'dah, which he saw concerning Sa-ma'ri-a and Je-ru'sa-lem.
2 Hear, ye peoples, all of you; hearken, O earth, and [3]all that therein is: and let the Lord GOD be witness [4]against you, the Lord frem his holy temple.
3 For, behold, the LORD cometh forth out of his place, and will come down, and tread upon the high places of 4 the earth. And the mountains shall be molten under him, and the valleys shall be cleft, as wax before the 5 fire, as waters that are poured down a steep place. For the transgression of Ja'cob is all this, and for the sins of the house of Is'ra-el. What is the transgression of Ja'cob? is it not Sa-ma'ri-a? and what are the high places
6 of Ju'dah? are they not Je-ru'sa-lem? Therefore I will make Sa-ma'ri-a as an heap of the field, and as the plantings of a vineyard: and I will pour down the stones thereof into the valley, and I will discover the foun-
7 dations thereof. And all her graven images shall be beaten to pieces, and all her hires shall be burned with fire, and all her idols will I lay desolate: for of the hire of an harlot hath she gathered them, and
8 unto the hire of an harlot shall they return. For this will I wail and howl, I will go stripped and naked: I will make a wailing like the jackals, and 9 a mourning like the ostriches. For her wounds are incurable: for it is come even unto Ju'dah; it reacheth unto the gate of my people, even to Je-ru'-
10 sa-lem. Tell it not in Gath, weep not at all: at [5]Beth-le-Aph'rah [6]have I rolled myself in the dust.
11 Pass ye away, O [7]inhabitant of Sha'phir, in nakedness and shame: the [7]inhabitant of Za'a-nan is not come forth; the wailing of Beth-e'zel shall take from 12 you the [8]stay thereof. For the [7]inhabitant of Ma'roth [9]waiteth anxiously for good: because evil is come down from the LORD unto the gate of Je-ru'sa-lem.

14 Therefore shalt thou [y]give presents || to Mor'esh-eth-gath: the houses of || [z]Ach'zib shall be a lie to the kings of Is'ra-el.
15 Yet will I bring an heir unto thee, O inhabitant of [a]Ma-re'shah; || he shall come unto [b]A-dul'lam the glory of Is'ra-el.

CHAPTER II.

Against oppression; reproof of injustice, &c.; a promise of restoring Jacob.

WOE to them [a]that devise iniquity, and [b]work evil upon their beds! when the morning is light, they practise it, because [c]it is in the power of their hand.
2 And they covet [d]fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they || oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage.
3 Therefore thus saith the LORD; Behold, against [e]this family do I devise an evil, from which ye shall not remove your necks; neither shall ye go haughtily: [f]for this time is evil.
4 ¶ In that day shall one [g]take up a parable against you, and [h]lament †with a doleful lamentation, and say, We be utterly spoiled: [i]he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he removed it from me! || turning away he hath divided our fields.
5 Therefore thou shalt have none that shall [k]cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the LORD.
6 ||†[l]Prophesy ye not, say they to them that prophesy: they shall not prophesy to them, that they shall not take shame.
7 ¶ O thou that art named The house of Ja'cob, is the Spirit of the LORD || straitened? are these his doings? do not my words do good to him that walketh †uprightly?
8 Even †of late my people is risen up as an enemy: ye pull off the robe †with the garment from them that pass by securely as men averse from war.
9 The || women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses; from their children have ye taken away my glory for ever.
10 Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your [m]rest: because it is [n]polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.
11 If a man || [o]walking in the spirit and falsehood do lie, saying, I will prophesy unto thee of wine and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people.
12 ¶ [p]I will surely assemble, O Ja'cob, all of thee; I will surely gather the remnant of Is'ra-el; I will put them together [q]as the sheep of Boz'rah, as the flock in the midst of their fold: [r]they shall make great noise by reason of the multitude of men.
13 The breaker is come up before them: they have broken up, and have passed through the gate, and are gone out by it; and [s]their king shall pass before them, [t]and the LORD on the head of them.

CHAPTER III.

Cruelty of the princes; falsehood of the prophets; security of them both.

AND I said, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Ja'cob, and ye princes of the house of Is'ra-el: [a]Is it not for you to know judgment?
2 Who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones;
3 Who also [b]eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from off them; and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and [c]as flesh within the caldron.
4 Then [d]shall they cry unto the LORD, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themselves ill in their doings.
5 ¶ Thus saith the LORD [e]concerning the prophets that make my people err, that [f]bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace; and [g]he that putteth not into their mouths, they even prepare war against him:

13 Bind the chariot to the swift steed, O [1]inhabitant of La'chish: for she was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zi'on; for the transgressions of Is'ra-el were found
14 in thee. Therefore shalt thou give a parting gift to Mor'esh-eth-gath: the houses of Ach'zib shall be [2]a 15 deceitful thing unto the kings of Is'ra-el. I will yet bring unto thee, O [1]inhabitant of Ma-re'shah, him that shall possess thee: the glory of Is'ra-el shall come even 16 unto A-dul'lam. Make thee bald, and poll thee for the children of thy delight: enlarge thy baldness as the [3]eagle; for they are gone into captivity from thee.

2 Woe to them that devise iniquity and work evil upon their beds! when the morning is light, they practise it, because it is in the power of their hand.
2 And they covet fields, and seize them; and houses, and take them away: and they oppress a man and
3 his house, even a man and his heritage. Therefore thus saith the LORD: Behold, against this family do I devise an evil, from which ye shall not remove your necks, neither shall ye walk haughtily; for it
4 is an evil time. In that day shall they take up a parable against you, and lament [4]with a doleful lamentation, and say, We be utterly spoiled: he changeth the portion of my people: how doth he [5]remove it from me! to the rebellious he divideth
5 our fields. Therefore thou shalt have none that shall cast the line by lot in the congregation of the 6 LORD. [6]Prophesy ye not, thus they prophesy. They shall not prophesy [7]to these: reproaches shall not
7 depart. [8]Shall it be said, O house of Ja'cob, Is the spirit of the LORD [9]straitened? are these his doings? Do not my words do good to him that walketh up-
8 rightly? But [10]of late my people is risen up as an enemy: ye strip the robe from off the garment from them that pass by securely as men averse from war.
9 The women of my people ye cast out from their pleasant houses; from their young children ye take away
10 my glory for ever. Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest: because of uncleanness [11]that destroy-
11 eth, even with a grievous destruction. If a man walking [12]in wind and falsehood do lie, saying, I will prophesy unto thee of wine and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people.
12 I will surely assemble, O Ja'cob, all of thee; I will surely gather the remnant of Is'ra-el; I will put them together as the sheep of Boz'rah: as a flock in the midst of their pasture, they shall make great 13 noise by reason of the multitude of men. The breaker is gone up before them: they have broken forth and passed on to the gate, and are gone out thereat: and their king is passed on before them, and the LORD at the head of them.

3 And I said, Hear, I pray you, ye heads of Ja'cob, and rulers of the house of Is'ra-el: is it not for you
2 to know judgement? who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and
3 their flesh from off their bones; who also eat the flesh of my people; and they flay their skin from off them, and break their bones: yea, they chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.
4 Then shall they cry unto the LORD, but he will not answer them: yea, he will hide his face from them at that time, according as they have wrought evil in 5 their doings. Thus saith the LORD concerning the prophets that make my people to err; that bite with their teeth and cry, Peace: and whoso putteth not into their mouths, they even [13]prepare war against him:

8 ¶But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the LORD, and of judgment, and of might, [l]to declare unto Ja'cob his transgression, and to Is'ra-el his sin.

9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Ja'cob, and princes of the house of Is'ra-el, that abhor judgment, and pervert all equity.

10 [m]They build up Zi'on with [n]†blood, and Je-ru'sa-lem with iniquity.

11 [o]The heads thereof judge for reward, and [p]the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof divine for money: [q]yet will they lean upon the LORD, †and say, Is not the LORD among us? none evil can come upon us.

12 Therefore shall Zi'on for your sake be [r]ploughed as a field, [s]and Je-ru'sa-lem shall become heaps, and [t]the mountain of the house as the high places of the forest.

CHAPTER IV.

Establishment of Christ's kingdom; peace, restoration, kingdom, &c.

BUT [a]in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the LORD shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it.

2 And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Ja'cob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zi'on, and the word of the LORD from Je-ru'sa-lem.

3 ¶And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off, and they shall beat their swords into [b]ploughshares, and their spears into ‖ pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, [c]neither shall they learn war any more.

4 [d]But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the LORD of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For [e]all people will walk every one in the name of his god, and [f]we will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.

6 In that day, saith the LORD, [g]will I assemble her that halteth, [h]and I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted;

7 And I will make her that halted [i]a remnant, and her that was cast far off a strong nation: and the LORD [k]shall reign over them in mount Zi'on from henceforth, even for ever.

8 ¶And thou, O tower of ‖ the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zi'on, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion; the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Je-ru'sa-lem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out aloud? [l]is there no king in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for [m]pangs have taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Be in pain, and labour to bring forth, O daughter of Zi'on, like a woman in travail: for now shalt thou go forth out of the city, and thou shalt dwell in the field, and thou shalt go even to Bab'y-lon; there shalt thou be delivered; there the LORD shall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 ¶[n]Now also many nations are gathered against thee, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye [o]look upon Zi'on.

12 But they know not [p]the thoughts of the LORD: neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather them [q]as the sheaves into the floor.

13 [r]Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zi'on: for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thy hoofs brass: and thou shalt [s]beat in pieces many people: [t]and I will consecrate their gain unto the LORD, and their substance unto [u]the Lord of the whole earth.

CHAPTER V.

The birth of Christ; his kingdom; his conquest.

NOW gather thyself in troops, O daughter of troops: he hath laid siege against us: they shall [c]smite the judge of Is'ra-el with a rod upon the cheek.

2 But thou, [b]Beth'-le-hem Eph'ra-tah, though thou be little [c]among the [d]thousands of Ju'dah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be [e]ruler in Is'ra-el; [f]whose goings forth have been from of old, from †everlasting.

3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that [g]she which travaileth hath brought forth: then [h]the remnant of his brethren shall return unto the children of Is'ra-el.

4 ¶ And he shall stand and ||[i]feed in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God; and they shall abide: for now [k]shall he be great unto the ends of the earth.

5 And this man [l]shall be the peace, when the As-syr'i-an shall come into our land: and when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight †principal men.

6 And they shall †waste the land of As-syr'i-a with the sword, and the land of [m]Nim'rod ||in the entrances thereof: thus shall he [n]deliver us from the As-syr'i-an, when he cometh into our land, and when he treadeth within our borders.

7 And [o]the remnant of Ja'cob shall be in the midst of many people [p]as the dew from the LORD, as the showers upon the grass, that tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the sons of men.

8 ¶ And the remnant of Ja'cob shall be among the Gentiles in the midst of many people, as a lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of ||sheep: who, if he go through, both treadeth down, and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand shall be lifted up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 [q]And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that I will cut off thy horses out of the midst of thee, and I will destroy thy chariots:

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and throw down all thy strong holds:

12 And I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand; and thou shalt have no more [r]soothsayers:

13 [s]Thy graven images also will I cut off, and thy ||standing images out of the midst of thee; and thou shalt [t]no more worship the work of thy hands.

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midst of thee: so will I destroy thy ||cities.

15 And I will [u]execute vengeance in anger and fury upon the heathen, such as they have not heard.

CHAPTER VI.

God's controversy for unkindness, for ignorance, for injustice, and for idolatry.

HEAR ye now what the LORD saith; Arise, contend thou ||before the mountains, and let the hills hear thy voice.

2 [a]Hear ye, O mountains, [b]the LORD's controversy, and ye strong foundations of the earth: for [c]the LORD hath a controversy with his people, and he will plead with Is'ra-el.

3 O my people, [d]what have I done unto thee? and wherein have I wearied thee? testify against me.

4 [e]For I brought thee up out of the land of E'gypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants; and I sent before thee Mo'ses, Aa'ron, and Mir'i-am.

5 O my people, remember now what [f]Ba'lak king of Mo'ab consulted, and what Ba'laam the son of Be'or answered him from [g]Shit'tim unto Gil'gal; that ye may know [h]the righteousness of the LORD.

6 ¶ Wherewith shall I come before the LORD, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves †of a year old?

7 [i]Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of [k]rivers of oil? [l]shall I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my †body for the sin of my soul?

5 Now shall thou gather thyself in troops, O daughter of troops: he hath laid siege against us: they shall smite the judge of Is'ra-el with a rod upon the cheek.

2 But thou, Beth'-le-hem Eph'ra-thah, which art little to be among the [1]thousands of Ju'dah, out of thee shall one come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Is'ra-el; whose goings forth are from of old, [2]from everlasting.

3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that she which travaileth hath brought forth: then the residue of his brethren shall return [3]unto the children of

4 Is'ra-el. And he shall stand, and shall feed his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God: and they shall abide; for now

5 shall he be great unto the ends of the earth. And this man shall be our peace: when the As-syr'i-an shall come into our land, and when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and

6 eight [4]principal men. And they shall [5]waste the land of As-syr'i-a with the sword, and the land of Nim'rod in the entrances thereof: and he shall deliver us from the As-syr'i-an, when he cometh into our land, and when

7 he treadeth within our border. And the remnant of Ja'cob shall be in the midst of many peoples as dew from the LORD, as showers upon the grass; that tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the sons of men.

8 And the remnant of Ja'cob shall be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, as a lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of sheep: who, if he go through, treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and there is none to 9 deliver. Let thine hand be lifted up above thine adversaries, and let all thine enemies be cut off.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that I will cut off thy horses out of the midst

11 of thee, and will destroy thy chariots: and I will cut off the cities of thy land, and will throw down

12 all thy strong holds: and I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand; and thou shalt have no more

13 soothsayers: and I will cut off thy graven images and thy [6]pillars out of the midst of thee; and thou shalt no more worship the work of thine hands.

14 And I will pluck up thine [7]Ash'er-im out of the midst

15 of thee: and I will destroy thy [8]cities And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury upon the nations [9]which hearkened not.

6 Hear ye now what the LORD saith: Arise, contend thou before the mountains, and let the hills

2 hear thy voice. Hear, O ye mountains, the LORD's controversy, and ye enduring foundations of the earth: for the LORD hath a controversy with his

3 people, and he will plead with Is'ra-el. O my people, what have I done unto thee? and wherein have I

4 wearied thee? testify against me. For I brought thee up out of the land of E'gypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of bondage; and I sent before

5 thee Mo'ses, Aa'ron, and Mir'i-am. O my people, remember now what Ba'lak king of Mo'ab consulted, and what Ba'laam the son of Be'or answered him; remember from Shit'tim unto Gil'gal, that ye

6 may know the righteous acts of the LORD. Wherewith shall I come before the LORD, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year

7 old? Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? shall I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

B. C. 710.

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?

9 The voice of the LORD crieth unto the city, and the man of wisdom will [1]see thy name: hear ye the 10 rod, and who hath appointed it. Are there yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, 11 and the scant [2]measure that is abominable? Shall I be pure with wicked balances, and with a bag of 12 deceitful weights? For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.
13 Therefore I also have smitten thee with a grievous wound; I have made thee desolate because of thy 14 sins. Thou shalt eat, but not be satisfied; and thy [3]humiliation shall be in the midst of thee: and thou shalt remove, but shalt not carry away safe; and that which thou carriest away will I give up to the 15 sword. Thou shalt sow, but shalt not reap: thou shalt tread the olives, but shalt not anoint thee with oil; and the vintage, but shalt not drink the wine.
16 For the statutes of Om'ri are kept, and all the works of the house of A'hab, and ye walk in their counsels: that I should make thee [4]a desolation, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing; and ye shall bear the reproach of my people.

7 Woe is me! for I am as when they have gathered the summer fruits, as the grapes gleanings of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat; [5]my soul desireth
2 the firstripe fig. The godly man is perished out of the earth, and there is none upright among men: they all lie in wait for blood; they hunt every man
3 his brother with a net. [6]Their hands are upon that which is evil to do it diligently; the prince asketh, and the judge is ready for a reward; and the great man, he uttereth the mischief of his soul: thus they
4 weave it together. The best of them is as a brier: [7]the most upright is worse than a thorn hedge: the day of thy watchmen, even thy visitation, is come; now
5 shall be their perplexity. Trust ye not in a friend, put ye not confidence in a [8]guide: keep the doors of thy 6 mouth from her that lieth in thy bosom. For the son dishonoureth the father, the daughter riseth up against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in law; a man's enemies are the men of his own house.
7 But as for me, [9]I will look unto the LORD; I will wait for the God of my salvation: my God will hear
8 me. Rejoice not against me, O [10]mine enemy: when I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, the LORD
9 shall be a light unto me. I will bear the indignation of the LORD, because I have sinned against him; until he plead my cause, and execute judgement for me: he will bring me forth to the light, and I shall behold his 10 righteousness. Then mine enemy shall see it, and shame shall cover her; which said unto me, Where is the LORD thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her; now shall she be trodden down as the mire of the 11 streets. [11]A day for building thy walls! in that 12 day shall [12]the [13]decree be far removed. In that day shall they come unto thee, from As-syr'i-a and the cities of [14]E'gypt, and from [14]E'gypt even to the River, and from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain.
13 Yet shall the land be desolate because of them that dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings.
14 [15]Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage, which dwell solitarily, in the forest, in the midst of Car'mel: let them feed in Ba'shan and Gil'e-ad, as in the days of old.

CHAPTER I.

The majesty of God in goodness to his people, and severity against his enemies.

THE burden [a]of Nin'e-veh. The book of the vision of Na'hum the El'kosh-ite.

2 ||God is [b]jealous, and [c]the LORD revengeth; the LORD revengeth, and †is furious; the LORD will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth wrath for his enemies.

3 The LORD is [d]slow to anger, and [e]great in power, and will not at all acquit the wicked: [f]the LORD hath his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.

4 [g]He rebuketh the sea, and maketh it dry, and drieth up all the rivers: [h]Ba'shan languisheth, and Car'mel, and the flower of Leb'a-non languisheth.

5 [i]The mountains quake at him, and [k]the hills melt, and [l]the earth is burned at his presence, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can stand before his indignation? and [m]who can †abide in the fierceness of his anger? [n]his fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are thrown down by him.

7 [o]The LORD is good, a ||strong hold in the day of trouble; and [p]he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 [q]But with an overrunning flood he will make an utter end of the place thereof, and darkness shall pursue his enemies.

9 [r]What do ye imagine against the LORD? [s]he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time.

10 For while they be folden together [t]as thorns, [u]and while they are drunken as drunkards, [z]they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry.

11 There is one come out of thee, [v]that imagineth evil against the LORD, †a wicked counsellor.

12 Thus saith the LORD; ||Though they be quiet, and likewise many, yet thus [s]shall they be †cut down, when he shall [a]pass through. Though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now will I [b]break his yoke from off thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the LORD hath given a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven image and the molten image: [c]I will make thy grave; for thou art vile.

15 Behold [d]upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! O Ju'dah, †keep thy solemn feasts, perform thy vows: for †[e]the wicked shall no more pass through thee: [f]he is utterly cut off.

1 The [4]burden of Nin'e-veh. The book of the vision of Na'hum the El'kosh-ite.

2 The LORD is a jealous God and avengeth; the LORD avengeth and is full of wrath; the LORD taketh vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth

3 wrath for his enemies. The LORD is slow to anger, and great in power, and will by no means clear the guilty: the LORD hath his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his

4 feet. He rebuketh the sea, and maketh it dry, and drieth up all the rivers: Ba'shan languisheth, and Car'mel, and the flower of Leb'a-non languisheth.

5 The mountains quake at him, and the hills melt; and the earth is upheaved at his presence, yea, the

6 world, and all that dwell therein. Who can stand before his indignation? and who can abide in the fierceness of his anger? his fury is poured out like

7 fire, and the rocks are broken asunder by him. The LORD is good, a strong hold in the day of trouble; and he knoweth them that put their trust in him.

8 But with an overrunning flood he will make a full end of the place thereof, and will pursue his enemies into

9 darkness. What do ye imagine against the LORD? he will make a full end: affliction shall not rise up

10 the second time. For though they be like tangled thorns, and be drenched as it were in their drink, they shall be devoured [5]utterly as dry stubble.

11 There is one gone forth out of thee, that imagineth evil against the LORD, [6]that counselleth [7]wickedness.

12 Thus saith the LORD: Though they be in full strength, and likewise many, even so shall they be cut down, and he shall pass away. [8]Though I have

13 afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. And now will I break his yoke from off thee, and will burst

14 thy bonds in sunder. And the LORD hath given commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven image and the moulten image; I will make thy grave; for thou art vile.

are women; the gates of thy land are set wide open unto thine enemies: the fire hath devoured thy bars.
14 Draw thee water for the siege, strengthen thy fortresses: go into the clay, and tread the mortar, [2]make 15 strong the brickkiln. There shall the fire devour thee; the sword shall cut thee off, it shall devour thee like the cankerworm: make thyself many as the canker-16 worm, make thyself many as the locust. Thou hast multiplied thy merchants above the stars of heaven:
17 the cankerworm [3]spoileth, and flieth away. Thy crowned are as the locusts, and thy [4]marshals as the swarms of grasshoppers, which camp in the [5]hedges in the cold day, but when the sun ariseth they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.
18 Thy shepherds slumber, O king of As-syr'i-a: thy worthies are at rest: thy people are scattered upon the mountains, and there is none to gather them.
19 There is no assuaging of thy hurt; thy wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of thee clap the hands over thee; for upon whom hath not thy wickedness passed continually?

HABAKKUK.

CHAPTER I.

Unto Habakkuk is shewed the fearful vengeance by the Chaldeans.

THE burden which Ha-bak'kuk the prophet did see.
2 O LORD, how long shall I cry, [a]and thou wilt not hear!
even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not save?
3 Why dost thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance? for spoiling and violence are before me:
and there are that raise up strife and contention.
4 Therefore the law is slacked, and judgment doth never go forth: for the [b]wicked doth compass about the righteous;
therefore || wrong judgment proceedeth.
5 ¶ [c]Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvellously: for I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe, though it be told you.
6 For, lo, [d]|| I raise up the Chal-de'ans, that bitter and hasty nation, which shall march through the †breadth of the land, to possess the dwellingplaces that are not theirs.
7 They are terrible and dreadful: || their judgment and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.
8 Their horses also are swifter than the leopards, and are more fierce †than the [e]evening wolves: and their horsemen shall spread themselves, and their horsemen shall come from far; [f]they shall fly as the eagle that hasteth to eat.
9 They shall come all for violence: || †their faces shall sup up as the east wind, and they shall gather the captivity as the sand.
10 And they shall scoff at the kings, and the princes shall be a scorn unto them: they shall deride every strong hold;
for they shall heap dust, and take it.
11 Then shall his mind change, and he shall pass over,
and offend, [g]imputing this his power unto his god.
12 ¶ [h]Art thou not from everlasting, O LORD my God, mine Holy One? We shall not die, O LORD, [i]thou hast ordained them for judgment; and, O †mighty God, thou hast †established them for correction.
13 [k]Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on || iniquity: [l]wherefore lookest thou upon them that deal treacherously, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous than he?

HABAKKUK.

B. C. 626.

1 The [6]burden which Ha-bak'kuk the prophet did see.
2 O LORD, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not hear? I cry out unto thee of violence, and thou 3 wilt not save. Why dost thou shew me iniquity, and [7]look upon perverseness? for spoiling and violence are before me: and there is strife, and conten-4 tion riseth up. Therefore the law is slacked, and judgement [8]doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compass about the righteous; therefore judge-5 ment goeth forth perverted. Behold ye among the nations, and regard, and wonder marvellously: for [9]I work a work in your days, which ye will not 6 believe though it be told you. For, lo, I raise up the Chal-de'ans, that bitter and hasty nation; which march through the breadth of the earth, to possess 7 dwelling places that are not theirs. [10]They are terrible and dreadful: their judgement and their 8 dignity proceed from themselves. Their horses also are swifter than leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves; and their horsemen [11]spread themselves: yea, their horsemen come from far; 9 they fly as an eagle that hasteth to devour. They come all of them for violence; [12]their faces are set eagerly [13]as the east wind; and they gather captives 10 as the sand. [14]Yea, he scoffeth at kings, and princes are a derision unto him: he derideth every strong hold; 11 for he heapeth up dust, and taketh it. [15]Then shall he sweep by as a wind, and shall [16]pass over, and be guilty: 12 even he whose might is his god. Art not thou from everlasting, O LORD my God, mine Holy One? [17]we shall not die. O LORD, thou hast ordained him for judgement; and thou, O [18]Rock, hast established him 13 for correction. Thou that art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and that canst not look on perverseness, wherefore lookest thou upon them that deal treach-erously, and holdest thy peace when the wicked swalloweth up the man that is more righteous than he;

15 They [m]take up all of them with the angle, they catch them in their net, and gather them in their ||drag: therefore they rejoice and are glad.
16 Therefore [n]they sacrifice unto their net, and burn incense unto their drag: because by them their portion is fat, and their meat ||†plenteous.
17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAPTER II.

The judgment upon the Chaldeans for their sins.

I WILL [a]stand upon my watch, and set me upon the †tower, [b]and will watch to see what he will say ||unto me, and what I shall answer ||†when I am reproved.
2 And the LORD answered me, and said, [c]Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it.
3 For [d]the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will [e]surely come, it will not tarry.
4 Behold, his soul which is lifted up, is not upright in him: but the [f]just shall live by his faith.
5 ¶ ||Yea also, because he transgresseth by wine, he is a proud man, neither keepeth at home, who enlargeth his desire [g]as hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people:
6 Shall not all these [h]take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, ||Woe to him that increaseth that which is not his! how long? and to him that ladeth himself with thick clay!
7 Shall they not rise up suddenly that shall bite thee, and awake that shall vex thee, and thou shalt be for booties unto them?
8 [i]Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil thee; [k]because of men's †blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.
9 ¶ Woe to him that [l]||coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may [m]set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the †power of evil!
10 Thou hast consulted shame to thy house by cutting off many people, and hast sinned against thy soul.
11 For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the ||beam out of the timber shall ||answer it.
12 ¶ Woe to him that buildeth a town with [n]†blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity!
13 Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts [o]that the people shall labour in the very fire, and the people shall weary themselves ||for very vanity?
14 For the earth shall be filled ||with the [p]knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea.
15 ¶ Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that puttest thy [q]bottle to him, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest [r]look on their nakedness!
16 Thou art filled ||with shame for glory: [s]drink thou also, and let thy foreskin be uncovered; the cup of the LORD'S right hand shall be turned unto thee, and shameful spewing shall be on thy glory.
17 For the violence of Leb'a-non shall cover thee, and the spoil of beasts, which made them afraid, [t]because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.
18 ¶ [u]What profiteth the graven image that the maker thereof hath graven it; the molten image, and a [x]teacher of lies, that †the maker of his work trusteth therein, to make [y]dumb idols?
19 Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, it shall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, [z]and there is no breath at all in the midst of it.
20 But [a]the LORD is in his holy temple: †[b]let all the earth keep silence before him.

14 and makest men as the fishes of the sea, as the 15 creeping things, that have no ruler over them? He taketh up all of them with the angle, he catcheth them in his net, and gathereth them in his drag:
16 therefore he rejoiceth and is glad. Therefore he sacrificeth unto his net, and burneth incense unto his drag; because by them his portion is fat,
17 and his meat [1]plenteous. Shall he therefore empty his net, and not spare to slay the nations continually?

2 I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the [2]tower, and will look forth to see what he will speak [3]with me, and what I shall answer concerning my
2 complaint. And the LORD answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that
3 he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for the appointed time, and it [4]hasteth toward the end, and shall not lie: though it tarry, wait for it: be-
4 cause it will surely come, it will not delay. Behold, his soul is puffed up, it is not [5]upright in him: but
5 the just shall live [6]by his faith. [7]Yea, moreover, wine is a treacherous dealer, a haughty man, and [8]that keepeth not at home; who enlargeth his desire as [9]hell, and he is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto 6 him all peoples. Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting [10]proverb against him, and say, Woe to him that increaseth that which is not his! how long? and that ladeth himself with pledges!
7 Shall they not rise up suddenly that shall [11]bite thee, and awake that shall [12]vex thee, and thou shalt be for 8 booties unto them? Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the peoples shall spoil thee; because of men's blood, and for the violence done to the land, to the city and to all that dwell therein.
9 Woe to him that getteth an evil gain for his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he
10 may be delivered from the hand of evil! Thou hast consulted shame to thy house, by cutting off many 11 peoples, and hast sinned against thy soul. For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber shall answer it.
12 Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood, and 13 stablisheth a city by iniquity! Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts that the peoples labour for the fire, and the nations weary themselves for vanity?
14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea.
15 Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that [13]addest thy [14]venom thereto, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest look on their naked-
16 ness! Thou art filled with shame for glory: drink thou also, and [15]be as one uncircumcised: the cup of the LORD'S right hand shall be turned unto thee,
17 and foul shame shall be upon thy glory. For the violence done to Leb'a-non shall cover thee, and the destruction of the beasts, [16]which made them afraid; because of men's blood, and for the violence done to the land, to the city and to all that dwell therein.
18 What profiteth the graven image, that the maker thereof hath graven it; the molten image, and the teacher of lies, that the maker of [17]his work trusteth
19 therein, to make dumb idols? Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise! Shall this teach? Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all 20 in the midst of it. But the LORD is in his holy temple: [18]let all the earth keep silence before him.

CHAPTER III.

Habakkuk's prayer; he trembleth at God's majesty; the stability of his faith.

A PRAYER of Ha-bak'kuk the prophet [c]|| upon Shi-gi'o-noth.

2 O LORD, I have heard †thy speech and was afraid:
O LORD, || [b]revive thy work in the midst of the years, in the midst of the years make known; in wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from || Te'man, [c]and the Holy One from mount Pa'ran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise.

4 And his brightness was as the light; he had || horns coming out of his hand: and there was the hiding of his power.

5 [d]Before him went the pestilence, and || [e]burning coals went forth at his feet.

6 He stood, and measured the earth: he beheld, and drove asunder the nations; [f]and the [g]everlasing mountains were scattered, the perpetual hills did bow: his ways are everlasting.

7 I saw the tents of || Cu'shan || in affliction: and the curtains of the land of Mid'i-an did tremble.

8 Was the LORD displeased against the rivers? was thine anger against the rivers? was thy wrath against the sea, [h]that thou didst ride upon thine horses, and || thy chariots of salvation?

9 Thy bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even thy word. Selah. || [i]Thou didst cleave the earth with rivers.

10 [k]The mountains saw thee, and they trembled: the overflowing of the water passed by: the deep uttered his voice, and [l]lifted up his hands on high.

11 [m]The sun and moon stood till in their habitation: || at the light of thine [n]arrows they went, and at the shining of thy glittering spear.

12 Thou didst march through the land in indignation, [o]thou didst thresh the heathen in anger.

13 Thou wentest forth for the salvation of thy people, even for salvation with thine anointed; [p]thou woundedst the head out of the house of the wicked, †by discovering the foundation unto the neck. Selah.

14 Thou didst strike through with his staves the head of his villages: they †came out as a whirlwind to scatter me: their rejoicing was as to devour the poor secretly.

15 [q]Thou didst walk through the sea with thine horses, through the || heap of great waters.

16 When I heard, [r]my belly trembled; my lips quivered at the voice: rottenness entered into my bones, and I trembled in myself, that I might rest in the day of trouble: when he cometh up unto the people, he will || invade them with his troops.

17 ¶Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labour of the olive shall †fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls:

18 [s]Yet I will [t]rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation.

19 The Lord GOD is [u]my strength, and he will make my feet like [z]hinds' feet, and he will make me to [v]walk upon mine high places. To the chief singer on my †stringed instruments.

3 A prayer of Ha-bak'kuk the prophet, set to Shi-gi'o-noth. B. C. 626.

2 O LORD, I have heard [1]the report of thee, and [2]am afraid:
O LORD, revive thy work in the midst of the years,
In the midst of the years make it known;
In wrath remember mercy.

3 God [3]came from Te'man,

[8]His goings were as of old.

7 I saw the tents of Cu'shan in affliction:
The curtains of the land of Mid'i-an did tremble.

ZEPHANIAH.

CHAPTER I.

When Zephaniah prophesied; God's severe judgment against Judah.

THE word of the LORD which came unto Zeph-a-ni'ah, the son of Cu'shi, the son of Ged-a-li'ah, the son of Am-a-ri'ah, the son of Hiz-ki'ah, in the days of Jo-si'ah the son of A'mon, king of Ju'dah.

2 †I will utterly consume all things from off †the land, saith the LORD.

3 [a]I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and [b]the ||stumblingblocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the LORD.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand upon Ju'dah and upon all the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem; and [c]I will cut off the remnant of Ba'al from this place, and the name of [d]the Chem'a-rim with the priests;

5 And them [e]that worship the host of heaven upon the housetops; [f]and them that worship and [g]that swear ||by the LORD, and that swear [h]by Mal'cham;

6 And [i]them that are turned back from the LORD; and those that [k]have not sought the LORD, nor inquired for him.

7 [l]Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord GOD: [m]for the day of the LORD is at hand: for [n]the LORD hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath †bid his guests.

8 And it shall come to pass in the day of the LORD'S sacrifice, that I will †punish [o]the princes, and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, which fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that there shall be the noise of a cry from [p]the fish gate, and a howling from the second, and a great crashing from the hills.

11 [q]Howl, ye inhabitants of Mak'tesh, for all the merchant people are cut down; all they that bear silver are cut off.

12 And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Je-ru'sa-lem with candles, and punish the men that are †[r]settled on their lees: [s]that say in their heart, The LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil.

13 Therefore, their goods shall become a booty and their houses a desolation: they shall also build houses, but [t]not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, but [u]not drink the wine thereof.

14 [x]The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man shall cry there bitterly.

15 [v]That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness,

16 A day of [z]the trumpet and alarm against the fenced cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall [a]walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the LORD: and [b]their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh [c]as the dung.

18 [d]Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD'S wrath: but the whole land shall be [e]devoured by the fire of his jealousy: for [f]he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

ZEPHANIAH.

1 The word of the LORD which came unto Zeph-a-ni'ah, the son of Cu'shi, the son of Ged-a-li'ah, the son of Am-a-ri'ah, the son of Hez-e-ki'ah, in the days of Jo-si'ah the son of A'mon, king of Ju'dah.

2 I will utterly consume all things from off the face
3 of the ground, saith the LORD. I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and the stumblingblocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off
4 the face of the ground, saith the LORD. And I will stretch out mine hand upon Ju'dah, and upon all the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem; and I will cut off the remnant of Ba'al from this place, and the name of
5 the [1]Chem'a-rim with the priests; and them that worship the host of heaven upon the housetops; and them that worship, which swear to the LORD
6 and swear by [2]Mal'cam; and them that are turned back from following the LORD; and those that have not sought the LORD, nor inquired after him.

7 Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord GOD: for the day of the LORD is at hand: for the LORD hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath [3]sanctified his 8 guests. And it shall come to pass in the day of the LORD'S sacrifice, that I will [4]punish the princes, and the king's sons, and all such as are clothed with 9 foreign apparel. And in that day I will [4]punish all those that leap over the threshold, which fill their 10 master's house with violence and deceit. And in that day, saith the LORD, there shall be the noise of a cry from the fish gate, and an howling from the [5]second quarter, and a great crashing from the 11 hills. Howl, ye inhabitants of [6]Mak'tesh, for all [7]the people of Ca'naan are undone: all they that were 12 laden with silver are cut off. And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Je-ru'sa-lem with [8]candles; and I will [4]punish the men that are [9]settled on their lees, that say in their heart, The 13 LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil. And their wealth shall become a spoil, and their houses a desolation: yea, they shall build houses, but shall not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards,
14 but shall not drink the wine thereof. The great day of the LORD is near, it is near and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD; the mighty
15 man crieth there bitterly. That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day
16 of clouds and thick darkness, a day of the trumpet and alarm, against the fenced cities, and against the 17 high [10]battlements. And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the LORD: and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as dung.
18 Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD'S wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of his jealousy: for he shall make an end, yea, a [11]terrible end, of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAPTER II.

The judgment of the Philistines, Moab and Ammon, Ethiopia and Assyria.

B. C. about 630.

GATHER [a]yourselves together, yea, gather together, O nation ||not desired;

2 Before the decree bring forth, before the day pass [b]as the chaff, before [c]the fierce anger of the LORD come upon you, before the day of the LORD'S anger come upon you.

3 [d]Seek ye the LORD, [e]all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgment; seek righteousness, seek meekness: [f]it may be ye shall be hid in the day of the LORD'S anger.

4 ¶For [g]Ga'za shall be forsaken, and Ash'ke-lon a desolation: they shall drive out Ash'dod [h]at the noonday, and Ek'ron shall be rooted up.

5 Woe unto the inhabitants of [i]the sea coast, the nation of the Cher'eth-ites! the word of the LORD is against you; O [k]Ca'naan, the land of the Phi-lis'tines, I will even destroy thee, that there shall be no inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cottages for shepherds, [l]and folds for flocks.

7 And the coast shall be for [m]the remnant of the house of Ju'dah; they shall feed thereupon: in the houses of Ash'ke-lon shall they lie down in the evening: ||for the LORD their God shall [n]visit them, and [o]turn away their captivity.

8 ¶[p]I have heard the reproach of Mo'ab, and [q]the revilings of the children of Am'mon, whereby they have reproached my people, and [r]magnified themselves against their border.

9 Therefore, as I live, saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Is'ra-el, Surely [s]Mo'ab shall be as Sod'om, and [t]the children of Am'mon as Go-mor'rah, [u]even the breeding of nettles and saltpits, and a perpetual desolation: [z]the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

10 This shall they have [v]for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the LORD of hosts.

11 The LORD will be terrible unto them: for he will †famish all the gods of the earth; [z]and men shall worship him, every one from his place, even all [a]the isles of the heathen.

12 ¶[b]Ye E-thi-o'pi-ans also, ye shall be slain by [c]my sword.

13 And he will stretch out his hand against the north and [d]destroy As-syr'i-a; and will make Nin'e-veh a desolation, and dry like a wilderness.

14 And [e]flocks shall lie down in the midst of her, all [f]the beasts of the nations: both the ||[g]cormorant and the bittern shall lodge in the ||upper lintels of it; their voice shall sing in the windows; desolation shall be in the thresholds: ||for he shall uncover the [h]cedar work.

15 This is the rejoicing city [i]that dwelt carelessly, [k]that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her [l]shall hiss, and [m]wag his hand.

CHAPTER III.

Reproof of Jerusalem for sins; exhortation to wait for the restoration of Israel.

WOE to ||†her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city!

2 She [a]obeyed not the voice; she [b]received not ||correction; she trusted not in the LORD; she drew not near to her God.

3 [c]Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are [d]evening wolves; they gnaw not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her [e]prophets are light and treacherous persons: her priests have polluted the sanctuary, they have done [f]violence to the law.

5 [g]The just LORD is in the midst thereof; he will not do iniquity: †every morning doth he bring his judgment to light, he faileth not; but [h]the unjust knoweth no shame.

6 I have cut off the nations: their ||towers are desolate; I made their streets waste, that none passeth by: their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant.

2 Gather yourselves together, yea, gather together,
2 O nation that hath no [1]shame; before the decree bring forth, [2]before the day pass as the chaff, before the fierce anger of the LORD come upon you, before
3 the day of the LORD'S anger come upon you. Seek ye the LORD, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgement; seek righteousness, seek meekness: it may be ye shall be hid in the day of 4 the LORD'S anger. For Ga'za shall be forsaken, and Ash'ke-lon a desolation: they shall drive out Ash'dod at the noonday, and Ek'ron shall be rooted up.
5 Woe unto the inhabitants of [3]the sea coast, the nation of the Cher'eth-ites! The word of the LORD is against you, O Ca'naan, the land of the Phi-lis'tines; I will destroy thee, that there shall be no inhabitant.
6 And the sea coast shall be pastures, with [4]cottages
7 for shepherds and folds for flocks. And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Ju'dah; they shall feed their flocks thereupon: in the houses of Ash'ke-lon shall they lie down in the evening; for the LORD their God shall visit them, and bring
8 again their captivity. I have heard the reproach of Mo'ab, and the revilings of the children of Am'mon, wherewith they have reproached my people, and
9 magnified themselves against their border. Therefore as I live, saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Is'ra-el, Surely Mo'ab shall be as Sod'om, and the children of Am'mon as Go-mor'rah, a possession of [5]nettle, and saltpits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the 10 remnant of my nation shall inherit them. This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the 11 people of the LORD of hosts. The LORD will be terrible unto them: for he will famish all the gods of the earth; and men shall worship him, every one from his place, even all the [6]isles of the nations.
12 Ye E-thi-o'pi-ans also, ye shall be slain by my sword.
13 And he will stretch out his hand against the north, and destroy As-syr'i-a; and will make Nin'e-veh a 14 desolation, and dry like the wilderness. And herds shall lie down in the midst of her, [7]all the beasts of the nations: both the pelican and the porcupine shall lodge in the chapiters thereof: their voice shall sing in the windows; [8]desolation shall be in the thresholds: for he hath laid bare the cedar 15 work. This is the joyous city that dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none else beside me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her shall hiss, and wag his hand.

3 Woe to her that is rebellious and polluted, to the 2 oppressing city! She obeyed not the voice; she received not [9]correction; she trusted not in the 3 LORD; she drew not near to her God. Her princes in the midst of her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves; they [10]leave nothing till the 4 morrow. Her prophets are light and treacherous persons: her priests have profaned the sanctuary,
5 they have done violence to the law. The LORD in the midst of her is righteous; he will not do iniquity; [11]every morning doth he bring his judgement to light, he faileth not; but the unjust knoweth

HAGGAI.

CHAPTER I.

Haggai reproving the people's negligence, inciteth them to build the house.

IN [a]the second year of Da-ri'us the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the LORD †by Hag'ga-i the prophet unto [b]Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, ‖governor of Ju'dah, and to [c]Josh'u-a the son of [d]Jos'e-dech, the high priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not come, the time that the LORD'S house should be built.

3 Then came the word of the LORD [e]by Hag'ga-i the prophet, saying,

4 [f]Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your ceiled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts; †[g]Consider your ways.

6 Ye have [h]sown much, and bring in little; ye eat, but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink; ye clothe you, but there is none warm; and [i]he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag †with holes.

7 ¶Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Consider your ways.

8 Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith the LORD.

9 [k]Ye looked for much, and, lo, it came to little; and when ye brought it home, [l]I did ‖blow upon it. Why? saith the LORD of hosts. Because of mine house that is waste, and ye run every man unto his own house.

10 Therefore [m]the heaven over you is stayed from dew, and the earth is stayed from her fruit.

11 And I [n]called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the new wine, and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth, and upon men, and upon cattle, and [o]upon all the labour of the hands.

12 ¶[p]Then Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, and Josh'u-a the son of Jos'e-dech, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Hag'ga-i the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him, and the people did fear before the LORD.

13 Then spake Hag'ga-i the LORD'S messenger in the LORD'S message unto the people, saying, [q]I am with you, saith the LORD.

14 And [r]the LORD stirred up the spirit of Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, [s]governor of Ju'dah, and the spirit of Josh'u-a the son of Jos'e-dech, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; [t]and they came and did work in the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, 15 In the four and twentieth day of the sixth month, in the second year of Da-ri'us the king.

CHAPTER II.

Haggai encourageth the people to the work.

IN the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD †by the prophet Hag'ga-i, saying,

2 Speak now to Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, governor of Ju'dah, and to Josh'u-a the son of Jos'e-dech the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

3 [a]Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do ye see it now? [b]is it not in your eyes in comparison of it as nothing?

4 Yet now [c]be strong, O Ze-rub'ba-bel, saith the LORD; and be strong, O Josh'u-a, son of Jos'e-dech the high priest; and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and work: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts.

B. C. 520.

HAGGAI.

1 In the second year of Da-ri'us the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the LORD by Hag'ga-i the prophet unto Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, governor of Ju'dah, and to Josh'u-a the son of Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest,
2 saying, Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, [1]It is not the time for us to come,
3 the time for the LORD'S house to be built. Then came the word of the LORD by Hag'ga-i the prophet,
4 saying, Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your cieled houses, while this house lieth waste?
5 Now therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts: [2]Con-
6 sider your ways. Ye have sown much, and bring in little; ye eat, but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink; ye clothe you, but there is none warm; and he that earneth wages earneth
7 wages to put it into a bag with holes. Thus saith the 8 LORD of hosts: [2]Consider your ways. Go up to the [3]mountain, and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith
9 the LORD. Ye looked for much, and, lo, it came to little; and when ye brought it home, I did [4]blow upon it. Why? saith the LORD of hosts. Because of mine house that lieth waste, while ye run every 10 man to his own house. Therefore [5]for your sake the heaven is stayed from dew, and the earth is 11 stayed from her fruit. And I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the wine, and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth, and upon men, and upon cattle, and upon all the labour of the hands.
12 Then Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, and Josh'u-a the son of Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Hag'ga-i the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and 13 the people did fear before the LORD. Then spake Hag'ga-i the LORD'S messenger in the LORD'S message unto the people, saying, I am with you, saith
14 the LORD. And the LORD stirred up the spirit of Ze-rub'ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, governor of Ju'dah, and the spirit of Josh'u-a the son of Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and did work in the house
15 of the LORD of hosts, their God, in the four and twentieth day of the month, in the sixth month, in the second year of Da-ri'us the king.

2 In the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD by
2 Hag'ga-i the prophet, saying, Speak now to Ze-rub'-ba-bel the son of She-al'ti-el, governor of Ju'dah, and to Josh'u-a the son of Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest,
3 and to the remnant of the people, saying, Who is left among you that saw this house in its former glory? and how do you see it now? is it not in
4 in your eyes as nothing? Yet now be strong, O Ze-rub'ba-bel, saith the LORD; and be strong, O Josh'u-a, son of Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest; and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and work: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts,

5 [a]According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of E'gypt, so [c]my Spirit remaineth among you; fear ye not.

6 For thus saith the LORD of hosts; [f]Yet once, it is a little while, and [g]I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land;

7 And I will shake all nations, [h]and the Desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the LORD of hosts.

8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts.

9 [i]The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give [k]peace, saith the LORD of hosts.

10 ¶In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Da-ri'us, came the word of the LORD by Hag'ga-i the prophet, saying,

11 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, [l]Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying, 12 If one bear holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the priests answered and said, No.

13 Then said Hag'ga-i, If one that is [m]unclean by a dead body touch any of these, shall it be unclean? And the priests answered and said, It shall be unclean.

14 Then answered Hag'ga-i, and said, [n]So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the LORD; and so is every work of their hands; and that which they offer there is unclean.

15 And now, I pray you, [o]consider from this day and upward, from before a stone was laid upon a stone in the temple of the LORD:

16 Since those days were, [p]when one came to a heap of twenty measures, there were but ten: when one came to the pressfat for to draw out fifty vessels out of the press, there were but twenty.

17 [q]I smote you with blasting and with mildew and with hail [r]in all the labours of your hands; [s]yet ye turned not to me, saith the LORD.

18 Consider now from this day and upward, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from [t]the day that the foundation of the LORD'S temple was laid, consider it.

19 [u]Is the seed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree, hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

20 ¶And again the word of the LORD came unto Hag'ga-i in the four and twentieth day of the month, saying,

21 Speak to Ze-rub'ba-bel, [z]governor of Ju'dah, saying, [v]I will shake the heavens and the earth;

22 And [x]I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen; and [a]I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them; and the horses and their riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother.

23 In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, will I take thee, O Ze-rub'ba-bel, my servant, the son of She-al'ti-el, saith the LORD, [b]and will make thee as a signet; for [c]I have chosen thee, saith the LORD of hosts.

20 And the word of the LORD came the second time unto Hag'ga-i in the four and twentieth day of the 21 month, saying, Speak to Ze-rub'ba-bel, governor of Ju'dah, saying, I will shake the heavens and the ZECHARIAH.

CHAPTER I.

Zechariah exhorteth to repentance; the vision of the horses.

IN the eighth month, [c]in the second year of Da-ri'us, came the word of the LORD [b]unto Zech-a-ri'ah, the son of Ber-e-chi'ah, the son of Id'do, the prophet, saying,

2 The LORD hath been †sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Turn [c]ye unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, [d]unto whom the former prophets have cried, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; [e]Turn ye now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear, nor hearken unto me, saith the LORD.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever?

6 But [f]my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not ‖ take hold of your fathers? and they returned and said, [g]Like as the LORD of hosts thought to do unto us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so hath he dealt with us.

7 ¶Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Se'bat, in the second year of Da-ri'us, came the word of the LORD unto Zech-a-ri'ah, the son of Ber-e-chi'ah, the son of Id'do the prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and behold [h]a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle trees that were in the bottom; and behind him were there [i]red horses, ‖ speckled, and white.

9 Then said I, O my lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me said unto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, [k]These are they whom the LORD hath sent to walk to and fro through the earth.

11 [l]And they answered the angel of the LORD that stood among the myrtle trees, and said, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and, behold, all the earth sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 ¶Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, [m]O LORD of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Je-ru'sa-lem and on the cities of Ju'dah, against which thou hast had indignation [n]these threescore and ten years?

13 And the LORD answered the angel that talked with me with [o]good words and comfortable words.

14 So the angel that communed with me said unto me, Cry thou, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; I am [p]jealous for Je-ru'sa-lem and for Zi'on with a great jealousy.

15 And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease: for [q]I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the LORD; [r]I am returned to Je-ru'sa-lem with mercies: my house shall be built in it, saith the LORD of hosts, and [s]a line shall be stretched forth upon Je-ru'sa-lem.

17 Cry yet, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; My cities through †prosperity shall yet be spread abroad; [t]and the LORD shall yet comfort Zi'on, and [u]shall yet choose Je-ru'sa-lem.

18 ¶Then lifted I up mine eyes, and saw, and behold four horns.

19 And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, [x]These are the horns which have scattered Ju'dah, Is'ra-el, and Je-ru'sa-lem.

20 And the LORD shewed me four carpenters.

B. C. 520.

ZECHARIAH.

1 In the eighth month, in the second year of Da-ri'us, came the word of the LORD unto Zech-a-ri'ah the son of Ber-e-chi'ah, the son of Id'do the prophet, say-
2 ing, The LORD hath been sore displeased with your
3 fathers. Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts: Return unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will return unto you, saith the LORD
4 of hosts. Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former prophets cried, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Return ye now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear,
5 nor hearken unto me, saith the LORD. Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for 6 ever? But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? and they turned and said, Like as the LORD of hosts thought to do unto us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so hath he dealt with us.

7 Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month She'bat, in the second year of Da-ri'us, came the word of the LORD unto Zech-a-ri'ah the son of Ber-e-chi'ah, the son of Id'do,
8 the prophet, saying, I saw in the night, and behold a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle trees that were in the [1]bottom; and behind
9 him there were horses, red, sorrel, and white. Then said I, O my lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me said unto me, I will shew thee
10 what these be. And the man that stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, These are they whom the LORD hath sent to walk to and fro through the 11 earth. And they answered the angel of the LORD that stood among the myrtle trees, and said, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and, behold,
12 all the earth sitteth still, and is at rest. Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, O LORD of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Je-ru'-sa-lem and on the cities of Ju'dah, against which thou hast had indignation these threescore and ten years?
13 And the LORD answered the angel that talked with 14 me with good words, even comfortable words. So the angel that talked with me said unto me, Cry thou, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts: I am jealous for Je-ru'sa-lem and for Zi'on with a great jealousy.
15 And I am very sore displeased with the nations that are at ease: for I was but a little displeased, and they 16 [2]helped forward the affliction. Therefore thus saith the LORD: I am returned to Je-ru'sa-lem with mercies; my house shall be built in it, saith the LORD of hosts, and a line shall be stretched forth over Je-ru'sa-lem.
17 Cry yet again, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts: My cities [3]through prosperity shall yet be spread abroad; and the LORD shall yet comfort Zi'on, and shall yet choose Je-ru'sa-lem.
18 And I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and behold four 19 horns. And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Ju'dah, Is'ra-el, and 20 Je-ru'sa-lem. And the LORD shewed me four smiths.

[1]Or, shady place

[2]Or, helped for evil.

[3]Or, shall yet overflow with prosperity [Ch. ii. 1 in Heb.]

21 Then said I, What come these to do? And he spake, saying, These are the horns which have scattered Ju'dah, so that no man did lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which [v]lifted up their horn over the land of Ju'dah to scatter it.

CHAPTER II.

An angel sent to measure Jerusalem; its flourishing state foretold.

I LIFTED up mine eyes again, and looked, and behold [a]a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said unto me, [b]To measure Je-ru'sa-lem, to see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And, behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him,

4 And said unto him, Run, speak to this young man, saying, [c]Je-ru'sa-lem shall be inhabited as towns without walls for the multitude of men and cattle therein:

5 For I, saith the LORD, will be unto her [d]a wall of fire round about, [e]and will be the glory in the midst of her.

6 ¶Ho, ho, come forth, and flee [f]from the land of the north, saith the LORD: for I have [g]spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, saith the LORD.

7 [h]Deliver thyself, O Zi'on, that dwellest with the daughter of Bab'y-lon.

8 For thus saith the LORD of hosts; After the glory hath he sent me unto the nations which spoiled you: for he that [i]toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For, behold, I will [k]shake my hand upon them, and they shall be a spoil to their servants: and [l]ye shall know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me.

10 ¶[m]Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zi'on: for, lo, I come, and I [n]will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the LORD.

11 [o]And many nations shall be joined to the LORD [p]in that day, and shall be [q]my people: and I will dwell in the midst of thee, and [r]thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto thee.

12 And the LORD shall [s]inherit Ju'dah his portion in the holy land, and [t]shall choose Je-ru'sa-lem again.

13 [u]Be silent, O all flesh, before the LORD: for he is raised up [x]out of †his holy habitation.

CHAPTER III.

Under the type of Joshua, the restoration of the church promised.

AND he shewed me [a]Josh'u-a the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and [b]‖ Sa'tan standing at his right hand †to resist him.

2 And the LORD said unto Sa'tan, [c]The LORD, rebuke thee, O Sa'tan; even the LORD that [d]hath chosen Je-ru'sa-lem rebuke thee: [e]is not this a brand plucked out of the fire?

3 Now Josh'u-a was clothed with [f]filthy garments, and stood before the angel.

4 And he answered and spake unto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And unto him he said, Behold, I have caused thine iniquity to pass from thee, [g]and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them set a fair [h]mitre upon his head. So they set a fair mitre upon his head, and clothed him with garments. And the angel of the LORD stood by.

6 And the angel of the LORD protested unto Josh'u-a, saying,

7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; If thou wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt [i]keep my ‖charge, then thou shalt also [k]judge my house, and shalt also keep my courts, and I will give thee †places to walk among these that [l]stand by.

8 Hear now, O Josh'u-a the high priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are [m]†men wondered at: for, behold, I will bring forth [x]my servant the [o]BRANCH.

2 And I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and behold a man with a measuring line in his hand. Then said I, Whither goest thou? For I, saith the LORD, will be unto her a wall of fire round about, and I will be the glory in the midst of her. Ho, ho, flee from the land of the north, saith the LORD: for I have spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, saith the LORD. [Ch. ii. 5 in Heb.]

[1] Or, dwell

[2] Or, After the glory, he hath &c.

3 And he shewed me Josh'ua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and [3]Sa'tan standing at his right hand to be his adversary. And the LORD said unto Sa'tan, The LORD rebuke thee, O Sa'tan; yea, the LORD that hath chosen Je-ru'sa-lem rebuke thee: is not this a brand plucked out of the fire? Now Josh'u-a was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the angel. And he answered and spake unto those that stood before him, saying, Take the filthy garments from off him. And unto him he said, Behold, I have caused thine iniquity to pass from thee, and I will clothe thee with rich apparel. And [4]I said, Let them set a fair [5]mitre upon his head. So they set a fair [5]mitre upon his head, and clothed him with garments; and the angel of the LORD stood by. And the angel of the LORD protested unto Josh'u-a, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts: If thou wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt keep my charge, then thou also shalt judge my house, and shalt also keep my courts, and I will give thee [6]a place of access among these that stand by: Hear now, O Josh'u-a the high priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee; for they are men which are a [7]sign: for, behold, I will bring forth my servant the [8]Branch.

[3] That is, The Adversary.

[4] According to some ancient authorities, he said.

[5] Or, turban Or, diadem

[6] Or, places to walk

[7] Or, wonder

[8] Or, Shoot Or, Sprout

9 For behold the stone that I have laid before Josh'u-a; [p]upon one stone shall be [q]seven eyes: behold, I will engrave the graving thereof, saith the LORD of hosts, and [r]I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.

10 [s]In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, shall ye call every man his neighbour [t]under the vine and under the fig tree.

CHAPTER IV.

Zerubbabel's foundation; its success foreshewed by the golden candlestick.

AND [a]the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, [b]as a man that is wakened out of his sleep,

2 And said unto me, What seest thou? And I said, I have looked, and behold [c]a candlestick all of gold, †with a bowl upon the top of it, [d]and his seven lamps thereon, and ||seven pipes to the seven lamps, which are upon the top thereof:

3 [e]And two olive trees by it, one upon the right side of the bowl, and the other upon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered and spake to the angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my lord?

5 Then the angel that talked with me answered and said unto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.

6 Then he answered and spake unto me saying, This is the word of the LORD unto Ze-rub'ba-bel, saying, [f]Not by ||might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the LORD of hosts.

7 Who art thou, [g]O great mountain? before Ze-rub'ba-bel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth [h]the headstone thereof [i]with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace, unto it.

8 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 The hands of Ze-rub'ba-bel [k]have laid the foundation of this house; his hands [l]shall also finish it; and [m]thou shalt know that the [n]LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of [o]small things? ||for they shall rejoice, and shall see the †plummet in the hand of Ze-rub'ba-bel with those seven; [p]they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth.

11 ¶Then answered I, and said unto him, What are these [q]two olive trees upon the right side of the candlestick and upon the left side thereof?

12 And I answered again, and said unto him, What be these two olive branches which †through the two golden pipes ||empty †the golden oil out of themselves?

13 And he answered me and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.

14 Then said he, [r]These are the two †anointed ones, [s]that stand by [t]the Lord of the whole earth.

CHAPTER V.

By the flying roll, is shewed the curse of thieves and of false swearers.

THEN I turned and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold a flying [a]roll.

2 And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying roll; the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he unto me, This is the [b]curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth: for ||every one that stealeth shall be cut off as on this side according to it; and every one that sweareth shall be cut off as on that side according to it.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of [c]him that sweareth falsely by my name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and [d]shall consume it with the timber thereof and the stones thereof.

5 ¶Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth.

9 For behold, the stone that I have set before Josh'u-a; upon one stone are seven eyes: behold I will engrave the graving thereof, saith the LORD of hosts, and I
10 will remove the iniquity of that land in one day. In that day saith the LORD of hosts, shall ye call every man his neighbour under the vine and under the fig tree.

4 And the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his
2 sleep. And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I said, I have seen, and behold, a candlestick all of gold, with its bowl upon the top of it, and its seven lamps thereon; [1]there are seven pipes to each
3 of the lamps, which are upon the top thereof: and two olive trees by it, one upon the right side of the 4 bowl, and the other upon the left side thereof. And I answered and spake to the angel that talked with 5 me, saying, What are these, my lord? Then the angel that talked with me answered and said unto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said,
6 No, my lord. Then he answered and spake unto me, saying, This is the word of the LORD unto Ze-rub'ba-bel, saying, Not by [2]might, nor by power, but 7 by my spirit, saith the LORD of hosts. Who art thou, O great mountain? before Ze-rub'ba-bel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone
8 with shoutings of Grace, grace, unto it. Moreover 9 the word of the LORD came unto me, saying, The hands of Ze-rub'ba-bel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto 10 you. For who hath despised the day of small things? for they shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Ze-rub'ba-bel, even these seven, which are the eyes of the LORD; they run two and fro through the 11 whole earth. Then answered I, and said unto him, What are these two olive trees upon the right side of the candlestick and upon the left side thereof?
12 And I answered the second time, and said unto him, What be these two olive branches, [3]which are beside the two golden spouts, that empty [4]the golden oil out
13 of themselves? And he answered me and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, 14 my lord. Then said he, These are the two sons of oil, that stand by the Lord of the whole earth.

5 Then again I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and
2 behold, a flying roll. And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying roll; the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth
3 thereof ten cubits. Then said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole land: for every one that stealeth shall be purged out [5]on the one side according to it; and every one that sweareth shall be purged out [5]on the other side
4 according to it. I will cause it to go forth, saith the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that sweareth falsely by my name: and it shall abide in the midst of his house, and shall consume it with the timber thereof and the stones thereof.
5 Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is
6 this that goeth forth. And I said, What is it? And he said, This is the ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their [6]resemblance in all the land:

9 Then lifted I up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork: and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?

CHAPTER VI.

The vision of the four chariots; the temple and kingdom of Christ.

AND I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of brass.

2 In the first chariot were [a]red horses; and in the second chariot [b]black horses;

3 And in the third chariot [c]white horses; and in the fourth chariot grizzled and ||bay horses.

4 Then I answered [d]and said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these, my lord?

5 And the angel answered and said unto me, [e]These are the four ||spirits of the heavens, which go forth from [f]standing before the Lord of all the earth.

6 The black horses which are therein go forth into [g]the north country; and the white go forth after them; and the grizzled go forth toward the south country.

7 And the bay went forth, and sought to go that they might [h]walk to and fro through the earth: and he said, Get ye hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth.

8 Then cried he upon me, and spake unto me saying, Behold, these that go toward the north country have quieted my [i]spirit in the north country.

9 ¶And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Hel'da-i, of To-bi'jah, and of Je-da'iah, which are come from Bab'y-lon, and come thou the same day, and go into the house of Jo-si'ah the son of Zeph-a-ni'ah:

11 Then take silver and gold, and make [k]crowns, and set them upon the head of Josh'u-a the son of Jos'e-dech, the high priest;

12 And speak unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, Behold [l]the man whose name is The [m]BRANCH; and he shall ||grow up out of his place, [n]and he shall build the temple of the LORD:

13 Even he shall build the temple of the LORD; and he [o]shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne: and [p]he shall be a priest upon his throne: and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.

14 And the crowns shall be to He'lem, and to To-bi'jah, and to Je-da'iah, and to Hen the son of Zeph-a-ni'ah, [q]for a memorial in the temple of the LORD.

15 And [r]they that are far off shall come and build in the temple of the LORD; and [s]ye shall know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you. And this shall come to pass, if ye will diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.

CHAPTER VII.

The captives inquire of fasting; Zechariah reproveth them.

AND it came to pass in the fourth year of king Da-ri'us, that the word of the LORD came unto Zech-a-ri'ah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chis'leu;

2 When they had sent unto the house of God, She-re'zer and Re-gem-me'lech, and their men, †to pray before the LORD,

7 (and behold, there was lifted up a [1]talent of lead:) and this is a woman sitting in the midst of the 8 ephah. And he said, This is Wickedness; and he cast her down into the midst of the ephah: and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.
9 Then lifted I up mine eyes, and saw, and behold, there came forth two women, and the wind was in their wings; now they had wings like the wings of a stork: and they lifted up the ephah between the 10 earth and the heaven. Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?
11 And he said unto me, to build her an house in the land of Shi'nar: and when it is [2]prepared, she shall be set there [3]in her own place.

6 And again I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and behold, there came four chariots out from between [4]two mountains; and the mountains were mountains
2 of brass. In the first chariot were red horses; and
3 in the second chariot black horses; and in the third chariot white horses; and in the fourth chariot
4 grisled [5]bay horses. Then I answered and said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these, my
5 lord? And the angel answered and said unto me, These are the four [6]winds of heaven, which go forth
6 from [7]standing before the Lord of all the earth. The chariot wherein are the black horses goeth forth toward the north country; and the white went forth after them; and the grisled went forth toward the 7 south country. And the [8]bay went forth, and sought to go that they might walk to and fro through the earth: and he said, Get you hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro
8 through the earth. Then cried he upon me, and spake unto me, saying, Behold, they that go toward the north country have quieted my spirit in the north country.

9 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Hel'da-i, of To-bi'jah, and of Je-da'iah; and come thou the same day, and go into the house of Jo-si'ah the son of Zeph-a-ni'ah, whither they are come from Bab'y-lon;
11 yea, take of them silver and gold, and make [9]crowns, and set them upon the head of Josh'u-a the son of 12 Je-hoz'a-dak, the high priest; and speak unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, Behold, the man [10]whose name is the [11]Branch; and he shall [12]grow up out of his place, and he shall build the

7 And it came to pass in the fourth year of king Da-ri'us, that the word of the LORD came unto Zech-a-ri'ah in the
2 fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chis'lev. [16]Now they of Beth-'el had sent Sha-re'zer and Re-gem-me'lech, and their men, to intreat the favour of the LORD,

9 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, [h]†Execute true judgment, and shew mercy and compassions every man to his brother:

10 And [i]oppress not the widow, nor the fatherless, the stranger, nor the poor; [k]and let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart.

14 But [r]I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations [s]whom they knew not. Thus [t]the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid [u]the †pleasant land desolate.

CHAPTER VIII.

They are encouraged to the building by God's favour of them.

AGAIN the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; [a]I was jealous for Zi'on with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury.

3 Thus saith the LORD; [b]I am returned unto Zi'on, and [c]will dwell in the midst of Je-ru'sa-lem: and Je-ru'sa-lem [d]shall be called, A city of truth; and [e]the mountain of the LORD of hosts, [f]The holy mountain.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; If it be ‖ marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, [h]should it also be marvellous in mine eyes? saith the LORD of hosts.

7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Behold, [i]I will save my people from the east country, and from †the west country;

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Je-ru'sa-lem: [k]and they shall be my people, and I will be their God, [l]in truth and in righteousness.

9 ¶Thus saith the LORD of hosts; [m]Let your hands be strong, ye that hear in these days these words by the mouth of [n]the prophets, which were in [o]the day that the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid, that the temple might be built.

that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men every one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not be unto the residue of this people as in the former days, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 [r]For the seed shall be prosperous; the vine shall give her fruit, and [s]the ground shall give her increase, and [t]the heavens shall give their dew; and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shall come to pass, that as ye were [u]a curse among the heathen, O house of Ju'dah, and house of Is'ra-el; so will I save you, and [x]ye shall be a blessing: fear not, but [y]let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the LORD of hosts; [z]As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, saith the LORD of hosts, [a]and I repented not:

15 So again have I thought in these days to do well unto Je-ru'sa-lem and to the house of Ju'dah: fear ye not.

16 ¶These are the things that ye shall do; [b]Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; †execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates:

Zion is exhorted to rejoice for the coming of Christ.

about 587.

THE [a]burden of the word of the LORD in the land of Ha'drach, and [b]Da-mas'cus shall be the rest thereof: when [c]the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Is'ra-el, shall be toward the LORD.

2 And [d]Ha'math also shall border thereby; [e]Ty'rus and [f]Zi'don, though it be very [g]wise.

3 And Ty'rus did build herself a strong hold, and [h]heaped up silver as the dust, and fine gold as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, [i]the LORD will cast her out, and he will smite [k]her power in the sea; and she shall be devoured with fire.

5 [l]Ash'ke-lon shall see it, and fear; Ga'za also shall see it, and be very sorrowful, and Ek'ron; for her expectation shall be ashamed; and the king shall perish from Ga'za, and Ash'ke-lon shall not be inhabited.

6 And a bastard shall dwell [m]in Ash'dod, and I will cut off the pride of the Phi-lis'tines.

7 And I will take away his †blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, even he, shall be for our God, and he shall be as a governor in Ju'dah, and Ek'ron as a Jeb'u-site.

8 And [n]I will encamp about mine house because of the army, because of him that passeth by, and because of him that returneth: and [o]no oppressor shall pass through them any more: for now [p]have I seen with mine eyes.

11 But now I will not be unto the remnant of this people
12 as in the former days, saith the LORD of hosts. For there shall be the seed of peace; the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dew; and I will cause the remnant of this people to inherit all these 13 things. And it shall come to pass that, as ye were a curse among the nations, O house of Ju'dah and house of Is'ra-el, so will I save you, and ye shall be a blessing: fear not, but let your hands be strong.
14 For thus saith the LORD of hosts: As I thought to do evil unto you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, saith the LORD of hosts, and I repented
15 not; so again have I thought in these days to do good unto Je-ru'sa-lem and to the house of Ju'dah: fear ye not.
16 These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth with his neighbour; [1]execute the judgement of truth and peace in your 17 gates: and let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbour; and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, saith the LORD.
18 And the word of the LORD of hosts came unto 19 me, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts: The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Ju'dah joy and gladness and cheerful feasts; therefore love truth and peace.
20 Thus saith the LORD of hosts: It shall yet come to pass, that there shall come peoples, and the inhab-
21 itants of [2]many cities: and the inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, Let us go speedily to intreat the favour of the LORD, and to seek the 22 LORD of hosts: I will go also. Yea, many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Je-ru'sa-lem, and to intreat the favour of the 23 LORD. Thus saith the LORD of hosts: In those days it shall come to pass, that ten men shall take hold, out of all the languages of the nations, shall even take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, We will go with you, for we have heard that God is with you.

By a type is showed Christ's care of his flock.

OPEN [d]thy doors, O Leb'a-non, that the fire may devour thy cedars.
2 Howl, fir tree, for the cedar is fallen; because the ||mighty are spoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Ba'shan; [e]for ||the forest of the vintage is come down.
3 ¶ There is a voice of the howling of the shepherds; for their glory is spoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jor'dan is spoiled.
4 Thus saith the LORD my God; [f]Feed the flock of the slaughter;
5 Whose possessors slay them, and [g]hold themselves not guilty: and they that sell them [h]say, Blessed be the LORD; for I am rich: and their own shepherds pity them not.
6 For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, saith the LORD: but, lo, I will †deliver the men every one into his neighbour's hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.
7 And I will [i]feed the flock of slaughter, ||even you, [j]O poor of the flock. And I took unto me two staves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called ||Bands; and I fed the flock.
8 Three shepherds also I cut off [k]in one month; and my soul †loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me.
9 Then said I, I will not feed you: [l]that that dieth, let it die; and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let the rest eat every one the flesh †of another.
10 ¶And I took my staff, even Beauty, and cut it asunder, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people.
11 And it was broken in that day: and ||so [k]the poor of the flock that waited upon me knew that it was the word of the LORD.

13 And the LORD said unto me, Cast it unto the [m]potter: a goodly price that I was prized at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them to the potter in the house of the LORD.
14 Then I cut asunder mine other staff, even ||Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Ju'dah and Is'ra-el.
15 ¶And the LORD said unto me, [n]Take unto thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd.
16 For, lo, I will raise up a shepherd in the land, which shall not visit those that be ||cut off, neither shall seek the young one, nor heal that that is broken, nor ||feed that that standeth still: but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces.

4 In that day, saith the LORD, [f]I will smite every horse with astonishment, and his rider with madness: and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Ju'dah, and will smite every horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the governors of Ju'dah shall say in their heart, ‖ The inhabitants of Je-ru'salem shall be my strength in the LORD of hosts their God.

6 ¶ In that day will I make the governors of Ju'dah [g]like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf; and they shall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left: and Je-ru'sa-lem shall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Je-ru'sa-lem.

7 The LORD also shall save the tents of Ju'dah first, that the glory of the house of Da'vid and the glory of the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem do not magnify themselves against Ju'dah.

The fountain of purgation for Jerusalem, from idolatry and false prophecy.

IN [c]that day there shall be [b]a fountain opened to the house of Da'vid and to the inhabitants of Je-ru'sa-lem for sin and for †uncleanness.

2 ¶ And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD of hosts, that I will [c]cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they shall no more be remembered: and also I will cause [d]the prophets and the unclean spirit to pass out of the land.

3 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will make Je-ru'sa-lem a burdensome stone for all the peoples; all that burden themselves with it shall be sore wounded; and all the nations of the earth shall be

CHAPTER XIV.

The coming of Christ, and the graces of his kingdom, &c.

BEHOLD, [a]the day of the LORD cometh, and thy spoil shall be divided in the midst of thee.

2 For [b]I will gather all nations against Je-ru'sa-lem to battle; and the city shall be taken, and the [c]houses rifled, and the women ravished; and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

3 Then shall the LORD go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle.

4 ¶And his feet shall stand in that day [d]upon the mount of Olives, which is before Je-ru'sa-lem on the east, and the mount of Olives shall cleave in the midst thereof toward the east and toward the west, [e]and there shall be a very great valley; and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.

5 And ye shall flee to the valley of ‖ the mountains; ‖ for the valley of the mountains shall reach unto A'zal: yea, ye shall flee, like as ye fled from before the [f]earthquake in the days of Uz-zi'ah king of Ju'dah: [g]and the LORD my God shall come, and [h]all the saints with thee.

6 And it shall come to pass in that day, ‖ that the light shall not be †clear, nor †dark:

7 But ‖ it shall be [i]one day [k]which shall be known to the Lord, not day, nor night: but it shall come to pass, that at [l]evening time it shall be light.

8 And it shall be in that day, that living [m]waters shall go out from Je-ru'sa-lem; half of them toward the ‖ former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea: in summer and in winter shall it be.

9 And the LORD shall be [n]King over all the earth: in that day shall there be [o]one LORD, and his name one.

10 All the land shall be ‖ turned [p]as a plain from Ge'ba to Rim'mon, south of Je-ru'sa-lem: and it shall be lifted up, and [q]‖ inhabited in her place, from Ben'ja-min's gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, [r]and from the tower of Ha-nan'e-el unto the king's winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be [s]no more utter destruction; [t]but Je-ru'sa-lem ‖ shall be safely inhabited.

12 ¶And this shall be the plague wherewith the LORD will smite all the people that have fought against Je-ru'sa-lem; Their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.

13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that [u]a great tumult from the LORD shall be among them; and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and [x]his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And ‖ Ju'dah also shall fight ‖ at Je-ru'sa-lem; [y]and the wealth of all the heathen round about shall be gathered together, gold, and silver, and apparel, in great abundance.

15 And [z]so shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the ass, and of all the beasts that shall be in these tents, as this plague.

16 ¶And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Je-ru'sa-lem, shall even [a]go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep [b]the feast of tabernacles.

And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people; and they shall say, The LORD is my God.

7 [5]with brightness and with gloom: but it shall be one day which is known unto the LORD: not day, and not night: but it shall come to pass, that at evening

11 unto the king's winepresses. And men shall dwell therein, and there shall be no more [6]curse; but Je-ru'-
12 sa-lem shall dwell safely. And this shall be the plague wherewith the LORD will smite all the peoples that have warred against Je-ru'sa-lem: their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their sockets, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.
13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that a great [7]tumult from the LORD shall be among them; and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise up against the 14 hand of his neighbour. And Ju'dah also shall fight [8]against Je-ru'sa-lem; and the wealth of all the nations round about shall be gathered together, gold, and 15 silver, and apparel, in great abundance. And so shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the ass, and of all the beasts that shall 16 be in those camps, as this plague. And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Je-ru'sa-lem shall go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles.

MALACHI.

CHAPTER I.

Malachi complaineth of Israel's unkindness, of their irreligiousness.

THE burden of the word of the LORD to Is'ra-el †by Mal'a-chi.

2 [a]I have loved you, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not E'sau Ja'cob's brother? saith the LORD: yet [b]I loved Ja'cob,

3 And I hated E'sau, and [c]laid his mountains and his heritage waste for the dragons of the wilderness.

4 Whereas E'dom saith, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places; thus saith the LORD of hosts, They shall build, but I will throw down; and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and, The people against whom the LORD hath indignation for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, [d]The LORD will be magnified ‖ †from the border of Is'ra-el.

8 And [k]if ye offer the blind †for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now unto thy governor; will he be pleased with thee, or [l]accept thy person? saith the LORD of hosts.

10 Who is there even among you that would shut the doors for nought? [n]neither do ye kindle fire on mine altar for nought. I have no pleasure in you, saith the LORD of hosts, [o]neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For, [p]from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same, my name shall be great [q]among the Gentiles; [r]and in every place [s]incense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering: [t]for my name shall be great among the heathen, saith the LORD of hosts.

1 The [4]burden of the word of the LORD to Is'ra-el [5]by Mal'-a-chi.
2 I have loved you, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? [6]Was not E'sau Ja'cob's
3 brother? saith the LORD: Yet I loved Ja'cob; but E'sau I hated, and made his mountains a desolation, and gave his heritage to the jackals of the wilderness.

that which was torn, and the lame, and the sick; thus ye brought an offering; [z]should I accept this of your hand? saith the LORD.

14 But cursed be [v]the deceiver, ||which hath in his flock a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth unto the LORD a corrupt thing: for [r]I am a great King, saith the LORD of hosts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen.

CHAPTER II.

Malachi severely reproveth the priests and the people for their sins.

AND now, O ye priests, this commandment is for you.

2 [a]If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, saith the LORD of hosts, I will even send a curse upon you, and I will curse your blessings; yea, I have cursed them already, because ye do not lay it to heart.

3 Behold, I will ||corrupt your seed, and †spread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts; and ||one shall [b]take you away with it.

4 And ye shall know that I have sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Le'vi, saith the LORD of hosts.

5 [c]My covenant was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him [d]for the fear wherewith he feared me, and was afraid before my name.

6 [e]The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did [f]turn many away from iniquity.

7 [g]For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: [h]for he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.

8 But ye are departed out of the way; ye [i]have caused many to ||stumble at the law; [k]ye have corrupted the covenant of Le'vi, saith the LORD of hosts.

9 Therefore [l]have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but ||†have been partial in the law.

10 [m]Have we not all one father? [n]hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?

11 ¶Ju'dah hath dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Is'ra-el and in Je-ru'sa-lem; for Ju'dah hath profaned the holiness of the LORD which he ||loved, [o]and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The LORD will cut off the man that doeth this, ||the master and the scholar, out of the tabernacles of Ja'cob, [p]and him that offereth an offering unto the LORD of hosts.

13 And this have ye done again, covering the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping, and with crying out, insomuch that he regardeth not the offering any more, or receiveth it with good will at your hand.

14 ¶Yet ye say, Wherefore? Because the LORD hath been witness between thee and [q]the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast dealt treacherously; [r]yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And [s]did not he make one? Yet had he the ||residue of the Spirit. And wherefore one? That he might seek †[t]a godly seed. Therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal ||treacherously against the wife of his youth.

16 For [u]the LORD, the God of Is'ra-el, saith, ||that he hateth †putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously.

17 ¶[x]Ye have wearied the LORD with your words. Yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doeth evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delighteth in them; or, Where is the God of judgment?

that which was taken by violence, and the lame and the sick; thus ye bring the offering: should 14 I accept this of your hand? saith the LORD. But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth unto the Lord a blemished thing: for I am a great king, saith the LORD of hosts, and my name is terrible among the Gentiles.

2 And now, O ye priests, this commandment is for
2 you. If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, saith the LORD of hosts, then will I send the curse upon you, and I will curse your blessings: yea, I have cursed them
3 already, because ye do not lay it to heart. Behold, I will rebuke [1]the seed for your sake, and will spread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your [2]sacrifices; and ye shall be taken away [3]with 4 it. And ye shall know that I have sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be
5 with Le'vi, saith the LORD of hosts. My covenant was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him that he might fear, and he feared me, and
6 stood in awe of my name. The law of truth was in his mouth, and unrighteousness was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and upright-
7 ness, and did turn many away from iniquity. For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the
8 messenger of the LORD of hosts. But ye are turned aside out of the way; ye have caused many to stumble in the law; ye have corrupted the covenant
9 of Le'vi, saith the LORD of hosts. Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but have had respect of persons in the law.

10 Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, profaning the covenant of 11 our fathers? Ju'dah hath dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Is'ra-el and in Je-ru'sa-lem; for Ju'dah hath profaned the [4]holiness of the LORD which he loveth, and hath married the daugh-
12 ter of a strange god. The LORD will cut off to the man that doeth this him that waketh and him that answereth, out of the tents of Ja'cob, and him that
13 offereth an offering unto the LORD of hosts. And this [5]again ye do: ye cover the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping, and with sighing, insomuch that he regardeth not the offering any more, neither 14 receiveth it with good will at your hand. Yet ye say, Wherefore? Because the LORD hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast dealt treacherously, though she is thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.
15 [6]And did he not make one, although he had the residue of the spirit? And wherefore one? He sought a godly seed. Therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal treacherously against the wife of 16 his youth. For [7]I hate putting away, saith the LORD, the God of Is'ra-el, and him that covereth his garment with violence, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously.

17 Ye have wearied the LORD with your words. Yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? In that ye say, Every one that doeth evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delighteth in them; or where is the God of judgement?

Majesty, and grace of Christ, and of the infidelity of the people.

BEHOLD, [a]I will send my messenger, and he shall [b]prepare the way before me: and the LORD, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, [c]even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, [d]he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts.

2 But who may abide [e]the day of his coming? and [f]who shall stand when he appeareth? for [g]he is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap.

3 And [h]he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Le'vi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may [i]offer unto the LORD an offering in righteousness.

4 Then [k]shall the offering of Ju'dah and Je-ru'sa-lem be pleasant unto the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in || former years.

5 And I will come near to you to judgment: and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, [l]and against false swearers, and against those that || oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts.

6 For I am the LORD, [m]I change not; [n]therefore ye sons of Ja'cob are not consumed.

7 ¶Even from the days of [o]your fathers ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them. [p]Return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the LORD of hosts. [q]But ye said, Wherein shall we return?

8 ¶Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? [r]In tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation.

10 [s]Bring ye all the tithes into [t]the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the [u]windows of heaven, and †[x]pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

11 And I will rebuke [v]the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not †destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be [z]a delightsome land, saith the LORD of hosts.

13 ¶[a]Your words have been stout against me, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, What have we spoken so much against thee?

14 [b]Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept †his ordinance, and that we have walked †mournfully before the LORD of hosts?

15 And now [c]we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness †are set up; yea, they that [d]tempt God are even delivered.

16 ¶Then they [e]that feared the LORD [f]spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it; and [g]a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name.

17 And [h]they shall be mine, saith the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my || [i]jewels; and [k]I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.

18 [l]Then shall ye return and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not.

3 Behold, I send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple; [1]and the [2]messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in, behold,
2 he cometh, saith the LORD of hosts. But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's fire, and
3 like fullers' soap: and he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he shall purify the sons of Le'vi, and purge them as gold and silver; and they shall offer unto the LORD offerings in righteousness.
4 Then shall the offering of Ju'dah and Je-ru'sa-lem be pleasant unto the LORD, as in the days of old, and
5 as in ancient years. And I will come near to you to judgement; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers; and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and 6 fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts. For I the LORD change not; therefore ye, O sons of Ja'cob, are not consumed.
7 From the days of your fathers ye have turned aside from mine ordinances, and have not kept them. Return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the LORD of hosts. But ye say, Wherein shall we
8 return? Will a man rob God? yet ye rob me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes
9 and [3]offerings. Ye are cursed with the curse; for 10 ye rob me, even this whole nation. Bring ye the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing,
11 that there shall not be room enough to receive it. And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the 12 field, saith the LORD of hosts. And all nations shall call you happy: for ye shall be a delightsome land, saith the LORD of hosts.
13 Your words have been stout against me, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, Wherein have we spoken against 14 thee? Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his charge, and that we have walked [4]mournfully before the LORD
15 of hosts? And now we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness are built up; yea, they 16 tempt God, and are delivered. Then they that feared the LORD spake one with another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard, and a book of remembrance was written before him, for them that feared
17 the LORD, and that thought upon his name. And they shall be mine, saith the LORD of hosts, in the day [5]that I [6]do make, even a peculiar treasure; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son 18 that serveth him. Then shall ye return and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not.

CHAPTER IV.

God's judgment on the wicked, and his blessing on the good.

FOR, behold, [a]the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all [b]the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be [c]stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall [d]leave them neither root nor branch.

2 ¶But unto you that [e]fear my name shall the [f]Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall.

3 [g]And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 ¶Remember ye the [h]law of Mo'ses my servant, which I commanded unto him [i]in Ho'reb for all Is'ra-el, with [k]the statutes and judgments.

5 ¶Behold, I will send you [l]E-li'jah the prophet [m]before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and [o]smite the earth with [p]a curse.

APPENDIX.

The American Old Testament Revision Company, while recognizing the cordial acceptance given to many of their suggestions, present the following instances in which they differ from the English Company, as of sufficient importance to be appended to the Revision in accordance with the original agreement.

CLASSES OF PASSAGES.

I. Substitute the Divine name "Jehovah" wherever it occurs in the Hebrew text, for "the LORD" and "GOD" and omit the marg. to "the LORD" at Gen. ii. 4, and "Heb. Jehovah" from the marg. at Ex. iii. 15; also substitute "Jehovah" for "the LORD" or "Jah" wherever the latter occurs in the Hebrew text, and retain or insert "Heb. Jah" in the marg.; where "Jehovah" immediately follows, viz. in Is. xii. 2, xxvi. 4, read "Jehovah, even Jehovah" and omit "Jehovah" from the marg.

II. Substitute "Sheol" wherever it occurs in the Hebrew text, for the renderings "the grave" "the pit" and "hell" and omit these renderings from the marg.

III. Substitute "a" for "an", "my" for "mine" and "thy" for "thine" wherever followed by "h" aspirated.

IV. Substitute "who" or "that" for "which" when used of persons.

V. Substitute "are" for "be" in the present indicative, and omit "for" before infinitives.

VI. Omit from the margin all renderings from the LXX., Vulgate, and other ancient Versions or "authorities."

VII. The following substitutions are preferred, with the necessary inflectional variations:

"adder" for "basilisk"
"annul" for "disannul"
"ascent" for "going up" when used as a noun.
"astonished" for "astonied"
"a year old" for "of the first year"
"base man" for "man of Belial" or "son of B."; "base woman" for "daughter of Belial"; "base men" for "men of Belial" "sons of B." or "children of B."
"before" for "afore"; also for "or ever" except in Ps. xc. 2; Eccl. xii. 1, 2, 6.
"blow the trumpet" for "blow with (or, "blow up") the trumpet"
"boil" "boiled" for "seethe" "sod" "sodden"
"bonds" for "bands" in Job xxxix. 5, and elsewhere uniformly for the same Hebrew word.
"capital" for "chapiter"
"chiefs" for "dukes"
"contend" for "plead" in Judg. vi. 31 (three times) and so wherever the latter rendering represents the same Hebrew verb unless followed by "cause", except in Is. i. 17. But substitute "enter into judgment" for "plead" in Jer. xxv. 31; Ezek. xvii. 20; xx. 35, 36 (twice).
"courses" for "rows" of timber or stone.
"devise" for "imagine" in Ps. x. 2; xxi. 11; cxl. 2; Hos. vii. 15; Nah. i. 9, 11; Zech. vii. 10; viii. 17.

"put to shame" for "ashamed"
"refine" for "fine" (metal). So "refiner" for "finer"
"scoffer" for "scorner" and "scoffing" for "scornful" and "scorning"
"settings" for "ouches"
"since" for "sith"
"sitteth above" (the cherubim) for "sitteth upon" with marg. Or is enthroned
"skill" for "cunning" (noun) and "skillful" for "cunning" (adj.) when either relates to workman or work.
"stench" for "stink", when used as a noun.
"stronghold" for "hold", when used as a noun.
"take refuge" for "trust" (Deut. xxxii. 37) for "put . . . trust" (Ps. ii. 12), and so uniformly as the rendering of the same Hebrew verb.
"therewith" for withal" in Ex. xxv. 29; xxx. 4; xxxvii. 16; Lev. xi. 21.
"trespass offering" for "guilt offering"
"uncover" for "discover" except in 1 Sam. xiv. 8, 11, and xxii. 6.
"wail" for "howl" where it is used of persons.
"wait for" for "wait on" in Ps. xxv. 3, and so uniformly as the rendering of the same Hebrew verb, except in Ps. lii. 9.
"which" for "the which"
"winnow" for "fan" (the verb)
"wrath" for "fury" when it is attributed to God, except in Is. xlii. 25; lxvi. 15, and "wrathful" for "furious"

MEMORANDUM

FAMILY TEMPERANCE PLEDGE

WHY SIGN THE PLEDGE BECAUSE

1. Moderate drinking tends to drunkenness, while total abstinence directly from it.

2. While no one means to become a drunkard, there is said to be over six hundred thousand confirmed drunkards in our country to-day.

3. Intoxicating drinks can do no good as a beverage, and there are always safer and surer remedies to use in case of sickness.

4. The idea of moderation is full of deceit, and our estimate of the power of our own will is usually a mistaken one.

5. The drinking habit is the cause of the larger portion of the misery, poverty and crime in our land.

6. Both science and experience prove that even moderate drinking is injurious to health.

WHY SIGN THE PLEDGE BECAUSE

7. Eternal interests are often forfeited through drink, for the Bible declares that no drunkard shall enter heaven.

8. The Bible pronounces no blessing upon drinking, but many upon total abstinence.

9. It is easier to keep a pledge publicly, solemnly given than a simple resolution.

10. The pledge protects us from the solicitations of friends and removes us from the temptations of the saloon.

11. Persons miscalculate their ability to drink in moderation, and become slaves to the drinking habit before they are aware of it.

12. Intemperance obstructs civilization, education, religion and every useful reform.

PARABLES OF OUR LORD

AND

SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST,

UNFOLDED AND ILLUSTRATED.

All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them.—Matt. xiii. 34.

Entered, according to Act of Congress, in the year 1882, in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C.

INTRODUCTION.

WHAT is a parable? We need not go at length into the distinctions which separate it from the fable, the proverb, or the allegory; it is sufficient to say, bearing these distinctions in mind, that a parable is a fictitious or real story intended to convey spiritual truth, and is of a nature such that it is generally taken from what might be actual life among men. Its form is grave, as its purpose is serious. It enters into all the relations of life—father and son, husband and wife, master and servant, king and people; into the operations of agriculture and commerce, the pursuits and ways of living among men, their differences and their affections. First, there is the simple story, which may interest even the heart of an intelligent child. Which of us is there that does not remember his fresh interest when he was first told of the sower going forth to sow, or of the lost sheep, or of the prodigal son, or of the wise and foolish virgins? Nor is this the case only with the young and at one time of their lives. It is so with the simple and the half-educated all their lives; with often this exception, that frequently some real event in their own lives, some joy or sorrow, some overflowing of mercy or some bitter drop of anguish in their cup, seems to bring out new meaning from that which they fancied they knew before. As with the æolian harp that has long sounded one chord only in the gentle breezes of ordinary life, at times like these the rushing of the strong wind of God's Spirit over the strings awakens them to higher harmonies unheard before. And if this is so with them, what is it with those who love to think, and to weigh, and to delve into the deeper sense of those wonderful revelations of truth? Evermore by them are the Lord's parables seen in many and shifting lights; evermore are they heard speaking to them new and rich counsel as their need requires. None have ever exhausted their depths, none have ever so discovered their reference and connection that there are not new references and connections left for others to discover.

Not unfrequently—as, for instance, in the parables of the unforgiving servant who had himself been forgiven and of the good Samaritan—great Christian doctrines lie beneath the surface of the story; sometimes, as in those of the wicked husbandmen and of the barren fig tree, they are pregnant with prophetic meaning which time shall bring out; sometimes, again, as in those of the lost sheep, and the rich man and Lazarus, they open to us glimpses into the unseen world. And as we study each of these, and place it in new light and connections, more and richer meanings open to us, and will do so as long as we are in this realm of imperfect and still to be completed knowledge. Surely, "never man spake like this man!" How these parables have remained in the memory of all generations since! What passages in Homer, Virgil, Dante, Shakespeare, have secured for themselves so universal a hold on men or been felt to be so fadelessly fresh and true? No wonder that crowds followed him, and that "the common people heard him gladly." Even the simplest could delight in such teaching, and carry away as a lifelong possession at least the expression of his ideas, though it might require the thought of centuries to pierce their crystalline depths. There never was speaking so simple yet so profound, so pictorial yet so deeply true.

The use and usefulness of parabolic teaching are obvious and undisputed; spiritual truth is thus made more attractive and more memorable. But of the parables in particular, as of the Scriptures generally, it is true, as has been said, that faith is necessary to the full appreciation of their meaning. That one must understand the Scriptures in order to have faith, and have faith in order to understand the Scriptures, seems to be arguing in a circle; but it is a necessary one. As we approach from without, we may perceive that the Bible is the word of God, and that the Christ whom it reveals is the Saviour of sinners; standing now on our new position, and recognizing our Instructor as also our Redeemer, we shall discover in his work a length, and breadth, and height, and depth, which were formerly concealed. In our day, as well as when the parables were first spoken, it is to his own disciples that their true meaning is made known.

THE SOWER.

"Behold, a sower went forth to sow."—Matt. xiii. 3–8 and 18–23; Mark iv. 4–8 and 14–21; Luke viii. 5–8 and 11–15.

In this parable our Saviour, with a beauty and simplicity of language, illustrates the preaching of his gospel by comparing it to the sowing of seed; himself the first great Sower, afterward his disciples and ministers. The leading thought in the parable is that "mystery of the kingdom" according to which the grace of God, and the receptivity of it by man, work ever together in bringing forth fruit. The seed is the same everywhere and to all; but seed does not spring up without earth, nor does earth bring forth without seed; and the success or failure of the seed is the consequence of the adaptation to its reception, or otherwise, of the spot on which it falls. The ground into which the seed is cast is the heart of man, and according to preparedness of the heart will be the result of the sowing.

In the first instance, in the parable, the seed fell by the wayside, the beaten track which went through the field, and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it. The ground was hard, unprepared. The wheels of carts and the feet of travellers had made it unfit for culture; and so the seed lies on it till the first footfall crushes its very life out. This is a very apt illustration of the effect of the gospel on the hearts of many; their ideas of divine truth lie all on the outside, never in any way sinking beneath the surface. The words which come from the preacher's lips lie waiting for the wheels of business or pleasure to pass over them. Men must, of course, have business and pleasure; they must have new impressions, new joys, and cares, and sorrows; but meanwhile the divine seed must be in its proper place, not on the road, on the outside of the heart, but in the very depths of the being, where no worldly footfall can crush it, and no fowl of the air, in the shape of unworthy thoughts and desires, can carry it off.

"And some fell upon a rock" or in "stony places where they had not much earth." The seed did begin to grow just a little, but because it had no depth of earth it withered away. This earth without depth very much resembles many characters we meet with; they are superficial in most things, and above all in religion. They are often moved to tears when the truth is presented to them, and full of good resolutions; the germs of truth have begun to take root. They have received the word with joy, but when temptation comes, and it costs some self-denial to be consistent, then these surface religionists are found wanting.

Another class is mentioned, the seed sown among thorns. Here the ground is in good condition, the seed grows fast, and yet thorns grow up with it and threaten to choke its life out. The thorns take away the nourishment which of right belongs to the grain; the ground cannot support both.

Our Saviour applies this illustration to the religious life of many when he likens the thorns to the cares, and riches, and pleasures of this life. Now, these things are necessary to men; business must be attended to, money must be made, pleasure must be indulged in. But when these things are made the essentials of existence, and the religious life is, in the slightest degree, subordinated to their influence, then it is killed out and the soul is lost.

We have, in the last place, the good ground where the seed springs up to perfect fruitage. This, our Lord says, is the "honest and good heart," where the divine seed is retained and cultivated, and brings forth fruit with patience. Sometimes our labor may seem in vain, but he is faithful that promised. The word that he has sown shall not return unto him void, but it shall accomplish that which he pleases, and prosper in the thing whereto he sent it. Let us remember that the fault is not in the seed nor in God the sower, but in the soil of the heart; and just as we prepare that for the reception of the truth, will be our hopes of carrying grain into the Master's garner.

THE TARES.

"The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field; but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and then went his way."—Matt. xiii. 24–30 and 36–43.

The sowing of good seed is not the only sowing which takes place. The sower has an enemy. His enemy came while men slept and sowed the seeds of noxious weeds all over his field. This wicked act is an exercise of malice, not without example even in our times. Dean Alford somewhere speaks of personal knowledge of such a thing, which was made the subject of legal damages. Let us notice the doctrine contained in the parable. This enemy, our Lord expressly tells us, is the devil. While men slept—not while the Son of man slept—while, not the great Head of the Church, who never slumbers, but they who were his infirm and imperfect ministers slept, came the enemy, this arch-enemy of God and man, and sowed the evil seed. These children of the wicked one, these tares that spring up in the field of the Church, are the sowing of God's enemy, the devil. Nothing can be more plainly declared, as a truth by our Lord, than this.

When the wheat came then appeared the tares also. And now comes the difficulty felt by the servants of the sower of the field: "Didst thou not sow good seed? Whence, then, came the tares?" And so it ever is and ever will be in the Church. The gospel is good, its preaching is good, the ordinances and sacraments are good; good seed is sown and Christ sows it. And yet how is it that evermore in the Church there are multitudes of bad men, unbelieving men, growing among the good, looking like the good, partaking of all the rich privileges of membership of Christ? Hear the Lord's answer, "An enemy hath done this." "They are the children of the wicked one;" none of Christ's sowing, no growth out of the means of grace, no result of men trying to be righteous overmuch, but distinctly the result of the devil's work counteracting Christ's work.

The servants are not only surprised but offended by this state of things; scandalized that their Lord's field should grow evil weeds with the wheat. They are for uprooting the tares immediately; that is, they would have evil men driven out of the Church. But Christ forbids them, "lest, while ye gather together the tares, ye root up the wheat also." Memorable and blessed words! How do we know, how does any man know for a certainty, who is the true member of Christ and child of God, so as to be able to separate the bad from the good in every instance? But the Saviour knows his own and those who are not, and at the season of the harvest he will order the reapers, his holy angels, to make the final separation between the good and bad. We need not anticipate that separation, but rather take care above all things that he find us bringing forth fruit to his praise. Blessed are they who shall be thus found at his coming! For He who is all mercy and grace, and who spake this parable, ends it with gracious and joyous words: "Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father."

THE MUSTARD-SEED.

"The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard-seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field."—Matt. xiii. 31, 32; Mark iv. 30–32; Luke xiii. 18, 19.

In this parable our Lord corrects a very fatal error of his countrymen. They looked for the kingdom of God as a sudden outbreak of divine favor. He represents it as a gradual development from small beginnings in the hearts of men. "You know," he says, "the mustard-plant. You know how small are its germs, yet how widespreading are the branches. Just so is the reign of God. It begins with what is looked on with contempt. It works on, growing, spreading, branching out, till at last it will overshadow the whole earth." We are all familiar with the mustard-plant of our own country. It is not the smallest, nor indeed the largest, of our herbs or shrubs; still, its proportions are comparatively diminutive; it is nothing like a tree. The Saviour here is referring his hearers, not to the plant with which we are acquainted, but to the khordal, or Salvadora persica—the same as the khayal found in the Himalayas. This, though small in germ, does grow into a tree in which birds do nestle. And its seeds resemble those of our mustard in taste. It is noticed by travellers as growing abundantly on the shores of that very lake from which Jesus was teaching. And its seed is used in the Talmud as an image of extreme littleness; "small as a mustard-seed" was a common saying. And yet the tree was noted as large. "There was a stalk of mustard in Sichem (writes one) whence sprang three branches, one of which was large enough to cover the shed of a potter." "There was a stem of mustard (writes another) in my field, into which I used to climb, as men climb into a fig tree." "I have seen it," says Dr. Thomson, "on the rich plain of Akkar as tall as the horse and his rider."

The spiritual lesson to be derived from this parable has two forms. By the kingdom of heaven, as represented by the growth of this plant, may be meant the truth of God growing in the world, or the same truth living and growing in the heart of man. In either case its beginning is magnificent

Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?

Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing.

and imperceptible, its final result surprisingly great and important. When the first promise was made in Eden to fallen man that a Redeemer should one day appear, that was a seed dropped into the earth to remain for a long time unheeded. All through the long ages of the old dispensation did men wait for the seed to spring up, till at last the "fulness of the time" was come and the Saviour appeared. How like a tiny seed was the little Bethlehem Babe! Even as the village where he was born was the least of all the villages of Judea. In the manger-cradle lay the seed of eternal life. From among the beasts of the stall sprang the stem whose branches should shelter all the nations of the earth. That despised land of Palestine makes but a small show on the map of the world, yet from it went out an undying power which shall finally subdue the whole world. In the humble town of Nazareth and before the judgment-seat of the Roman proconsul Christ was deemed of small account; yet unto him every knee shall bow. Christian nations are now the leading powers of this world, and the world to come is peopled by Christian men.

It has always been a principle of God's mode of working to deduce great results from small beginnings, both in nature and in grace. If we were to run over the history of most men who have been famous in secular affairs, we should find how, almost without exception, the principle holds true. The great discoveries of the world have also had their rise in obscure and trivial things. "Despise not the day of small things" has become a proverb. And in the individual human heart, both in the smallness of its beginning and the greatness of its growth, we also see the operations of the kingdom of heaven. "When I am weak, then am I strong," said an apostle. "He that humbleth himself shall be exalted," said the Master. It is often a small thing that sets the conscience and the heart toward Christ, even as a pebble or a twig at the fountain-head of a mighty river may turn its waters toward the Atlantic or Pacific. Christians are sometimes discouraged because of the smallness of their hopes and the weakness of their endeavors. Let them be thankful for the hope, however feeble, and for the endeavor, small though it be; trusting that He who hath begun the good work in them will perfect it unto the day of Christ. They have no more power of themselves to make the tree grow than they had to create and plant the seed in their own heart. God is the Author and Finisher of his own work. He gives rain from heaven and fruitful seasons. Thank him for the past and take courage for the future. The plant which our Father hath planted, tender and small as it now is, will in due time broaden into a great tree, in whose protecting shade many shall find refuge and rest.

THE LEAVEN.

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened."—Matt. xiii. 33; Luke xiii. 20, 21.

It is the gospel kingdom, or the kingdom of grace, of which this parable speaks. As regards the leaven to which it is likened, it may surprise some readers to find that which is usually employed in a bad sense otherwise employed here. Leaven is frequently used in the sacred Scriptures as an emblem of sin; and very appropriately so, since it changes the natural properties of those substances on which it acts, breeds in liquids a poisonous gas, and, applied to meal, swells it up and sours it. But there are other instances in which a figure is employed in a bad as well as a good sense. Satan is compared to a devouring, ravaging lion, a destroyer of men's souls; and the Saviour of men, too, is called "the Lion of the tribe of Judah." So the serpent is an emblem of the devil as he was in Eden, and yet, raised high upon a pole, the brazen serpent, as it gleamed over Israel's camp, gave life and vigor to dying men, and was a type of the crucified Saviour of the world. In the parable the leaven is employed in a good sense, as denoting either the influence of the gospel on the world, and its final universal manifestation, or the influence and operation of divine grace on those in whose heart the Spirit of God has lodged. Let us look at it in the latter aspect. The leaven is placed by the woman not on, but in, the meal, where it can work from within outwards, and change the whole substance from centre to circumference. The man in whom God's grace is hidden goes through a corresponding change. That grace is hidden in the heart; the change begins there: the outward reformation is the consequence of the inward regeneration, not the cause of it. This has been God's method always. "My son, give me"—not thy moral obedience, nor thy good character, nor thy careful habits, but—"thy heart." First make the tree good and then the fruit will be good. Our Lord said, "The kingdom of heaven is within you;" in other words, religion does not lie in the church we attend, or the denomination to which we belong, or our works of benevolence, or professions of piety. It is in the state of the heart; if the heart be full of burning love to Christ, if the grace which the Saviour gives be cherished, it will not cease its work till, like the leaven, it has subdued the whole nature to its influence.

If the woman had taken a common substance instead of the leaven—if she had put in the meal a stone, or a jewel or ring, any inert substance, the meal would have remained just the same. But so soon as the leaven is embedded a process of fermentation goes on until the whole mass is leavened. Neither nature nor art could supply a better illustration of the power of God's grace than this. When honestly cherished in the heart it must change the whole man, assimilating him to the character of God, as the leaven made the whole mass like itself.

There are three peculiarities of this heavenly leaven which may teach us something as to the worth of our professed religion. It is within us, not on the outside: have we felt its power on our hearts? It is assimilating: are we being renewed by it into the likeness of Jesus Christ, into the image of God? It is expansive: is there a work begun in us, and on us, which shall at length "sanctify us wholly"? These are serious questions, and if we cannot answer them as we ought we need to begin at the beginning, and, by the Holy Spirit of God, to be born again. Then let us try to be as leaven in our homes, among our friends and associates, in our neighborhoods around us, and in the community at large. Every Christian should be a centre from which should radiate a life-giving power on all around. Soon would the dull mass begin to work and ferment and change. Then, in the best use of the words, would it be seen how "a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump."

THE HIDDEN TREASURE.

"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field, the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field."—Matt. xiii. 44.

MANY of our readers must remember something of the excitement which was caused by the discovery of gold in California; how thousands broke away from all other pursuits and pleasures, snapped every tie that bound them to home, friends, and business, and hurried off, over land and sea, to reach the golden strand. And yet, for many years before that discovery was made in the Valley of the Sacramento the wild Indian had roamed about that country, hunting the deer and catching the salmon, unmindful that beneath his feet and in yonder hillside were treasures which could almost buy a world.

In this we have the type and image of thousands who are ignorant of the riches of divine grace, the gold of the gospel. "The god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not." Were God to make these heavenly treasures as plain to men's eyes as the golden sands were to the first discoverer, they would be far happier than he. In the parable the treasure is evidently found without being sought, come upon by chance, as it were; and so the riches of Christ's salvation, the pardon of our sins, the sanctifying influences of the Holy Spirit, like the treasures which the ploughshare has brought unexpectedly to light, lie at our feet and within our reach. "He was found of them who sought him not."

We are not required to settle the moral questions which may arise concerning his manner of acting after he finds the treasure. In hiding it till he had made himself owner of the field, he took the surest way of making it his own, and showed, better than words could do, its value in his eyes. He spared no pains, and lost no time, and grudged no sacrifice, to gain this treasure—and, as concerns the infinitely more valuable treasures of the gospel, our Saviour would have us show the same anxiety. We are encouraged and urged to leave no stone unturned, no anxiety unfelt, no prayer omitted, no Lord's Day unimproved, to make these treasures ours. If the man took so much pains to secure a fleeting treasure, what care should we exhibit to obtain Christ and the riches of his grace!

In the treasures of gold and silver there may be great danger; in those of grace there is none. Common, earthly riches cause jealousy and envy and fears. But he who has the heavenly treasure is always willing and eager to share it with his neighbor. And then, how great and deep is the joy which he feels in the possession of it! He parted with all he had to obtain it. What he paid indeed was not the full value of it, nor does the parable mean to teach that salvation or grace can be bought. Certainly not. Salvation is all of free grace; yet self-denial is equired: "Let him that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity." "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." Salvation is not purchased with "corruptible things, such as silver and gold, but with the precious blood of Christ." If He gave up everything for us, it is not too much to demand from us some sacrifice in return. If by faith we rise above the world, it will sink into nothingness compared with Christ: this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

THE PEARL OF GREAT PRICE.

"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchantman, seeking goodly pearls: who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it."—Matt. xiii. 45, 46.

In our own country we generally estimate the amount of a man's wealth by the size of his bank account, by the extensiveness of his landed property, the sort of a house he lives in, and manner in which he extends his hospitalities or his entertainments. In our Lord's time and country a different standard obtained. There you could not always tell how much a man was worth by looking at his clothes or at the house he lived in. You enter a house with walls of clay and roof thatched with straw or reeds. You find an ill-dressed man sitting there, amid the coarsest furniture, on a piece of carpet which forms his seat by day and bed by night. And yet that man may be the wealthiest person you have ever seen. He has his wealth invested in jewels, and for a very good reason. In Oriental countries sudden invasions often take place, and great rebellions and revolutions frequently arise, where cruel tyrants oppress their people. So, in order that a man's wealth may be more easily hidden, or securely removed in case of flight, it is in most cases put into the shape of jewels. In this form and carried about the person, or hid in the tresses of a woman's hair, great fortunes have often been carried from place to place in the East; and if we remember this fact, it will help us to understand the value which God puts upon his people in calling them his "jewels," and to see the full meaning of the figure which Jesus uses to represent the blessings of his salvation, as one "pearl of great price" which all other property and jewels should be sold to obtain.

One thing we notice first: This pearl was bought, and not obtained or bestowed as a gift. The merchant was compelled to part with all his other possessions before he could obtain it. But we are told that salvation is free, that by grace we are saved, that it is all of mercy and not at all of merit that we possess what Jesus has given to us. And if this be so, it may be asked where is the analogy between the obtaining of the pearl and the getting of salvation? It is a seeming contradiction, of which there are many in the Bible. There is no need to disparage good works, there are none too many of them in the world, and Christians are told to let their light so shine before men that their good works may be seen. But we are altogether wrong if we suppose we can earn or deserve salvation by these. The price we are required to pay is not virtues and merits, but just that we abandon all trust in these, give up in them what we have reckoned goodly pearls; though we cannot buy salvation, we are to seek it as those who, if they could, would buy it at any price, at any sacrifice, giving the whole world, were it theirs, for Christ.

We learn from the conduct of this merchantman to make Christ's religion our chief end and aim. The merchant does not allot a few hours, by fits and starts, to the pursuit of business—hours grudgingly taken from his pleasures. He rises to his work every morning, and seldom yields himself to the enjoyments of ease; year in and year out his business is all in all to him. Would that the business of eternity had such a strong hold upon men's minds and hearts! But, alas! the most trivial thing drives it out of our head. What a different aspect is presented by men engaged in the service of religion, so listlessly and languidly, from the same men in the market-place, or in the council-chamber, or in the battle-field! In the world, all is life, activity, eager competition; in the Church, all is cold as winter, silent as the grave. May God help us to be as earnest as the merchantman; to throw our whole heart into His work, while it is called day, remembering that "the night cometh when no man can work."

THE DRAW-NET.

"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a net, that was cast into the sea and gathered of every kind."—Matt. xiii. 47–50.

We are not ignorant of the fact that considerable controversy has arisen over the proper interpretation of this parable. Our space is too limited for us to state the different views of commentators; we can put down only what seems to us as the really practical meaning of this last parable in the series contained in this chapter. The Lord intimates in the introductory formula that he desires here to give yet one more lesson regarding the kingdom of heaven. Six consecutive lessons have already been taught. He has shown what the hindrances to the kingdom are in the wickedness and deceit of human hearts, and the machinations of the evil one; what the inherent force and power of the kingdom are, and what its contagious influence; how men value it, and what sacrifices they undergo to obtain its treasures. Some new lesson, some additional characteristic of the kingdom ought certainly to be looked for in this last parable: what is that lesson, and that characteristic? It is the closing scene of the kingdom—the separation of the good and bad on the last great day; it brings out in strong relief the parting between those who remain distant and those who are brought nigh. It will be seen that the Lord himself does not interpret to his disciples the first part of the parable—that part relating to the casting and drawing of the net; so that, as his silence may have a meaning quite as strong as his words could have, we are fully justified in leaving that part unexplained, and touching only upon that which he has seen fit to interpret.

Good and bad are brought ashore in the gospel net which is cast into the world. We cannot evade that net; its lines are thrown around us, its meshes entangle us. Here, in this world, all of us, the bad with the good, are together; but on the shore of the next world, where the net is hauled in, and its contents examined, the irrevocable separation takes place. No lesson can be addressed to us more solemn, more touching than this. It is the Saviour's word, not spoken figuratively or in parables, but the explanation of the parable just spoken. Every man, good or bad, hears it equally with every other man, and learns on the authority of his Master, and in language so unequivocal and transparent as to leave no room for mistake or doubt, that on the silent shore to which we are all moving we shall find each one his place. As regards the punishment or place into which the impenitent will be cast, we must simply receive our Lord's own words. What He intends to convey by the "furnace of fire" and by "wailing and gnashing of teeth," are unknowable to us in our present condition. In regard to such matters, we may well think of His own words to one who was curious regarding another matter: "What I do thou knowest not now, thou shalt know hereafter." May God, in his infinite mercy, grant that we may not know, practically, the fate of the lost! The reason why the Lord warns us that the wicked shall be cast away, is that we may never be numbered among them. He who died for sinners spake such words in infinite, tender love.

THE UNMERCIFUL SERVANT.

"Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants."—Matt. xviii. 23–35.

Forgiveness seems almost entirely foreign to human nature, and very difficult, even, to that nature improved by divine grace. In this same chapter Peter asks, "Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him?" The disciple had some notion of forgiveness, for he had read the ancient Jewish Scriptures in which God's pardoning mercy was so highly extolled. Among the heathen the law was, "An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth;" among the Jews three injuries were to be forgiven, but patience was exhausted at the fourth. Peter goes beyond the "three," and asks if "seven" shall be borne with. This was a grand advance, yet not far enough to reach the full Christian standard; so our Lord answers Peter, "Not seven times, but seventy times seven"—a definite number is used to express an indefinite one, teaching that, practically, there is no limit to forbearance and forgiveness, that man's mercy, like God's, should be boundless.

In this parable we are reminded that God, who is represented by the king, will reckon with us who are his servants. He will bring all our sins to our remembrance; in fact he is doing so now, through his Word, by the agency of the Spirit and our own conscience. We have sinned against him in unnumbered times and ways, and come short of his glory. The debt of the merciless servant is expressed by the very highest number in the Greek notation, ten thousand, or a myriad; reckoning it according to the Jewish talent, and calculating the amount in gold, the servant's debt is nearly three hundred and fifty millions of dollars. It was an enormous amount, but all the better fitted to express our debt to the divine law.

Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion and loosed him, and forgave him the debt. But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellow servants, which owed him an hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

What could a man do who owed a sum like this? Simply nothing; and so the king orders him "to be sold, together with his wife and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made." Full payment would not, of course, be made in that way, but it was all that could be done. Hearing his sentence, distracted with terror, the man prostrates himself to beg his master's mercy and patience. Our illustration pictures his sad strait. The officers are at hand ready to seize him, while his wife and children, in agony and tears, might almost move the heart of a stone. His master is touched, and in plentitude of mercy forgives the debt, and the servant goes forth a free man. He has asked for patience and receives pardon. Such is the all-abounding mercy of our gracious God!

And now mark the contrast to this scene of forgiveness. This same man went out and "found one of his fellow-servants who owed him a hundred pence," a paltry sum, only about fifteen dollars according to Roman reckoning. Forgetful of the mercy which had just been extended to himself, the wicked man, as our picture represents him, seizes his fellow-servant by the throat, demanding payment. He is deaf to the same plea which he had just made himself: "Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all!" He had been forgiven the much, and yet he refuses to forgive the little. The debt which was owing to him was as nothing compared with what he owed to the king, just as the trifling sums which our fellows owe to us sink into insignificance compared with our indebtedness to Almighty God. But no emotions of pity move him, he lets the law have full course, and inflicts upon his fellow-servant the very punishment which he himself had just escaped.

The other servants are naturally indignant at such cruelty, and go to their master to inform him of it. He summons the cruel man to his presence, and his indignation is hot against him: "O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt because thou desiredst me; shouldst thou not also have had compassion on thy fellow-servant even as I had pity on thee?" The former pardon is withdrawn, and immediately the prison-door closes upon the culprit, never to be opened for his release until he has paid the uttermost farthing of his immense debt.

Our Lord taught his disciples to pray, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors;" and this parable is a good comment upon such words, since it concludes with words like these: "So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses." But it may be asked, If the unmerciful servant had once been forgiven his debt, how could he be cast into prison and tormented for it? When God pardons, does he not do so unconditionally and without reserve? It may be answered that something is always to be allowed for the drapery of the parable and the surroundings; according to the old saying, "No figure walks on all its four feet"—that is, no illustration is necessarily exact in all its particulars. For instance, our Saviour is sometimes likened to a lion; but a lion is of a bloodthirsty nature, while he, the image of God, is pitiful and tender. It was essential that our Lord in this parable should also enforce the lesson, "With what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again." The chief instruction to be derived is, That we shall be as ready to forgive others as God is to forgive us. Our inward tempers, the dispositions of our hearts, should be tender and pitiful. The selfishness, so natural to unrenewed human hearts, should be crushed. If we would obtain mercy we should be merciful. As we sow we shall reap. If we shut our hearts against the sinful and wretched, God's heart will be closed against ourselves.

THE LABORERS IN THE VINEYARD.

"For the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which went out early in the morning to hire laborers into his vineyard."—Matt. xx. 1–16.

We often forget one thing in reading our Bibles, and that is, that when the Scriptures were first written they were not divided into chapters and verses. Matthew's Gospel, for instance, has been written nearly eighteen hundred years, but its division into chapters and verses is only about four hundred years old. These divisions are, of course, no part of inspiration, and they have sometimes interfered with the proper understanding of the text of Scripture. Now, a great many people may be misunderstanding this present parable from their not seeing that certain verses in the latter part of the previous chapter should be joined to the initial verses of this one, since they contain the key to the meaning of the parable. It was evidently suggested by Peter's question (xix. 27), "Behold, we have forsaken all, and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?" It was a hard command which our Lord had enforced on the rich young man who came running to him to ask his duty: "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow me." The apostles had done this, had exercised this self-denial, and now Peter asks, "What then shall we have?" evidently uttering their thoughts as well as his own. The answer of our Lord is, that they shall be glorified with himself in the "regeneration" or new world which he would bring into existence. Their reward would be great and pre-eminent, a hundredfold beyond what they had given up in this life for their Master's sake. But, in order that Peter and his companions might not be puffed up, or tempted to indulge a mercenary spirit, Jesus adds: "Many that are first shall be last; and the last shall be first"—that is, many who now seem to excel in devotedness and obedience may be led away by self-confidence and pride, and so lose their position; while others, who are now timid and distrustful and seem to be "last," by humility shall take the first rank.

The explanation of the parable is not easy. It is a story of Oriental life. The householder, we might say the farmer, has a vineyard, and it is the season of the year when extra labor is necessary. He goes out into the market-place of the village, where men are wont to congregate, especially if they are idlers, and finds some men doing nothing because "no man had hired" them. He agrees to give them a penny (about fifteen cents) for a day's work, and sends them into his vineyard. The pay seems small, but it was the average wages of a working-man in those days. These men are hired "early in the morning," perhaps about six o'clock. He goes out again at six, nine, twelve, three (P. M.), and at last at the "eleventh hour," the hour before sunset, or five o'clock. Each of these times he engages laborers for the penny a day, and they all go to work. At set of sun when he comes to settle with them, those who were first hired were paid last; but every one received the penny, the men who were latest engaged as well as the others, though they had been promised only "whatsoever is right." Seeing this, the men who had worked the longest exclaimed against the seeming unfairness of paying them, who "had borne the burden and heat of the day," no more than the men who had worked one hour, forgetting the agreement which had been made with them. The householder reminds the spokesman of this agreement, and claims that no wrong is done, and sends them off with their wages. Such is the parable in brief. What is the real significance of it?

We do not think that any significance can be affixed to the various hours at which the laborers were hired. It is next to impossible to interpret them as being the different times of life in which men become religious; and it appears very unsatisfactory to explain those first hired as Jews and the remainder as various Gentile nations, called to the gospel some at earlier, some at later periods, for the whole context of the parable points to an individual rather than to a national application. What our Lord intends to impress upon us is the principle on which the householder gives his money. He wrongs no man, and yet he does what he will with his own. He wrongs no man, for those who were first hired got what they bargained for. It was his will to give those who trusted to his generosity more than their due, and he does so. The whole parable is spoken with reference to Peter's question, "What shall we have, for we have forsaken all?" It is as if our Lord had answered, "Do not rely on this; you can make no bargain with God. With him the reward is of grace and not of debt."

What, then, will destroy all such self-seeking, envious, mercenary spirit in us? One thing—a true sense of our sins and sinfulness, a true view of God's greatness and our nothingness, of God's goodness and our vileness. Only let us get this, and we shall be only too glad to throw ourselves on God's mercy. We will make no self-righteous bargain, but look upon all as a free gift, which indeed it is. We will wonder that God condescends to employ us at all; we will from our inmost soul confess ourselves less than the least of all his mercies, and of all the grace that he has shown to us his servants. He calls upon us to work in his vineyard; as, in our illustration, the Saviour stands with pleading look and points to others who are laboring while we are idling. We cannot say that we have never been called or hired. In infancy, in youth, in manhood or womanhood, and in old age, the call has sounded all our lives; and these very words as we read them are another call to be up and doing if we are still idling. Let us obey that call, trusting simply to God's gracious favor, and our reward will be everlasting life.

FOR the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which went out early in the morning to hire labourers into his vineyard.

And when he had agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard.

And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the market-place.

THE TWO SONS.

"But what think ye? A certain man had two sons: and he came to the first, and said, Son, go work to-day in my vineyard."—Matt. xxi. 28–32.

SOME have maintained that by these "two sons" our Lord meant to typify the Jews and the Gentiles. But this need not necessarily be supposed; nor need we stop, as some have done, to consider whether it was an elder and a younger son that was meant by the "first" and "second." Looking at the parable in a natural manner, we may suppose the father going out in the early morning and meeting one of his sons, and, to "the first" one he met, saying, "Go work in my vineyard." This son, blunt, and perhaps rude in manner, not accustomed to make apologies for his disobedience, at once refuses to obey his father. The father makes no expostulation or reply. It seems as if he were used to his son's rudeness, and knew that entreaty or argument would be vain. It was, very likely, not the first time the young man had flatly refused to obey; and as the father turned away his heart probably ached, as many a father's heart has done before and since. And yet, this son "afterwards repented and went." What it was that touched his heart the parable does not tell us. Perhaps the look which his father gave him, one of pity and reproach, may have haunted him as he went to seek his own pleasure. When Peter denied his Master, and that Lord, with dewy pity in his gaze, turned to look at the denying disciple, he went out and wept. Peter was called to suffer with his Lord, and at first said by his denial, "I will not;" afterwards he repented, and went forth to work, and suffer, and die for Him whom he loved. And so with this son, at first disobedient. Very likely, no one worked harder that day than he did to make up for his early treatment of his father.

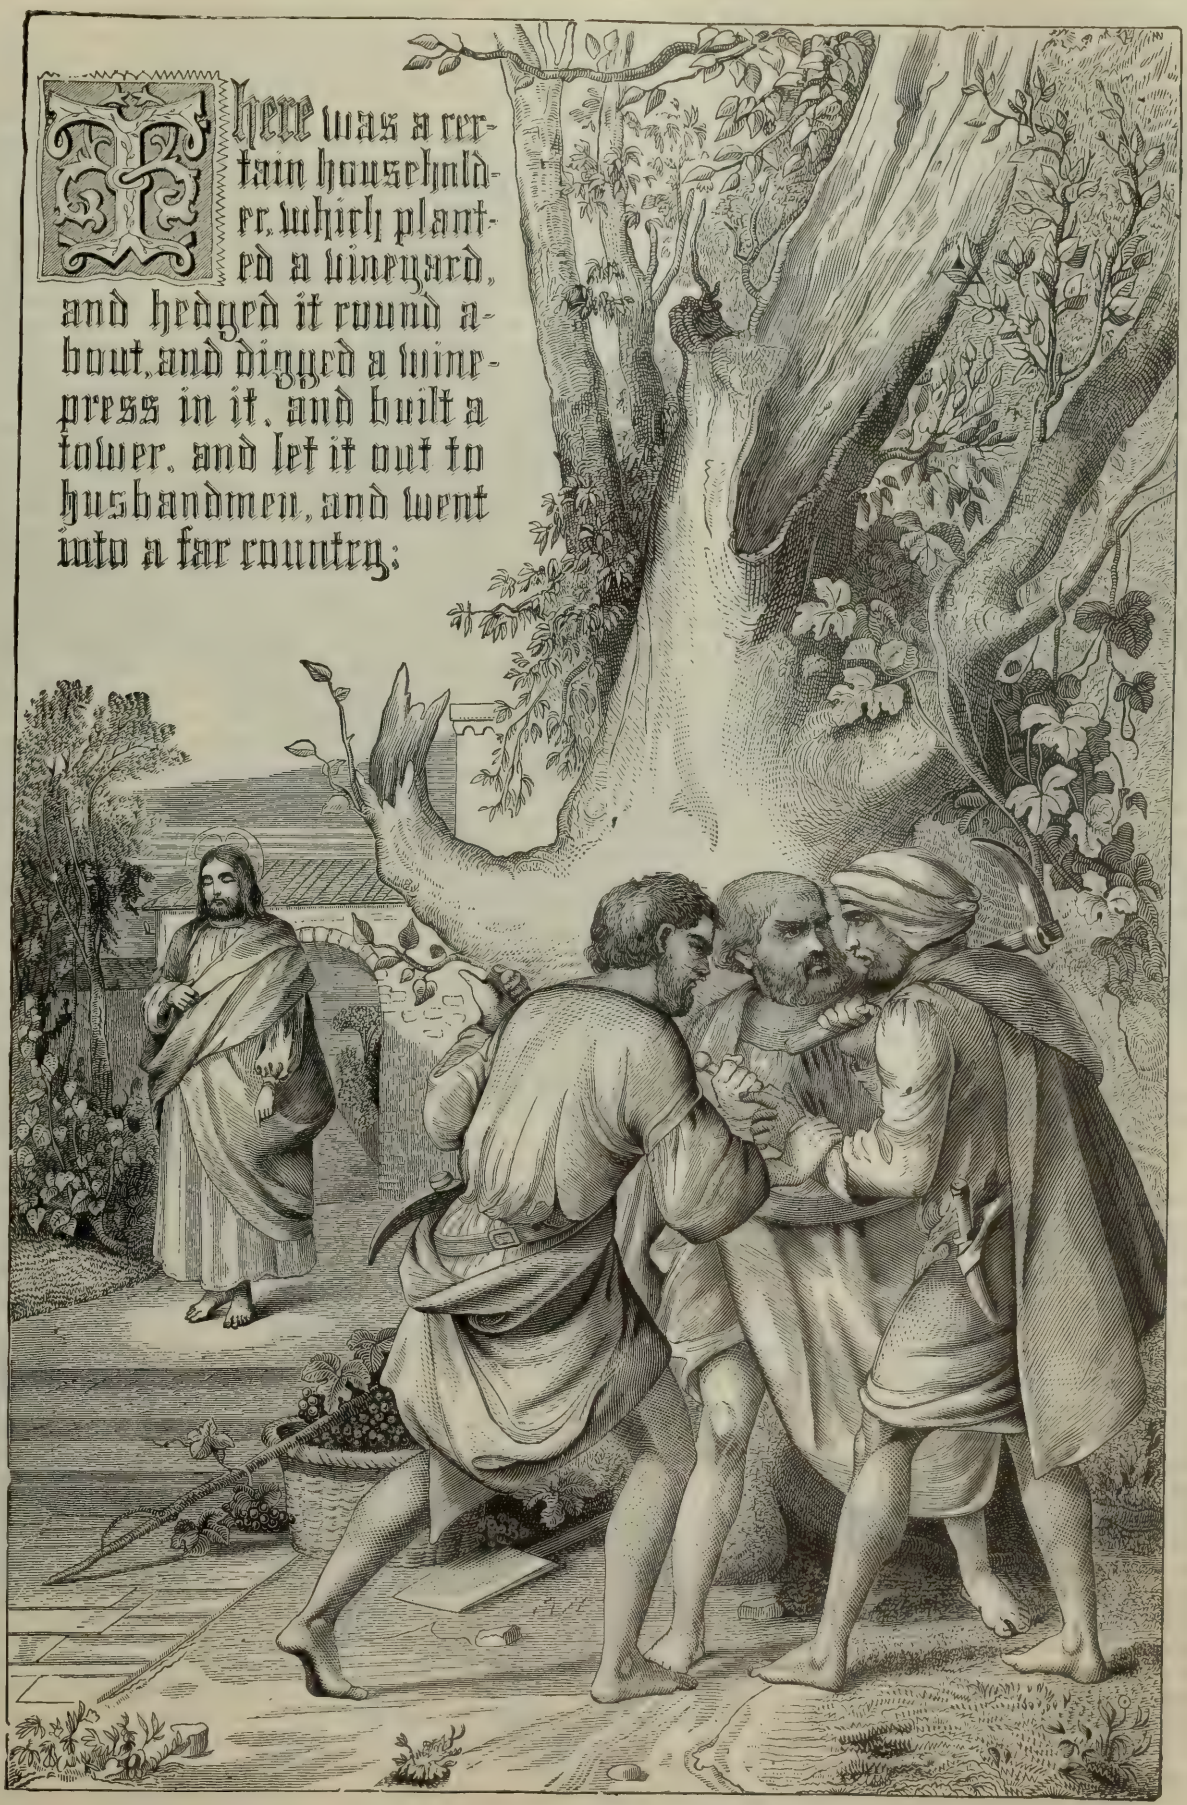
"He came to the second and said likewise." Here we have in answer to the command a ready obedience, glib and smooth in form: "I go, sir," said the young man promptly and politely. And here, too, it may be that the father was not so overjoyed at the ready acquiescence, for he may have had fair promises from this son before. In this instance the promise was broken. The tree that gave such assurance of fine fruitage was blasted ere the time of fruition came.

Now we have the hard question, "Whether of them twain did the will of his father?" And the Pharisees cannot help answering, and confessing the truth that is such condemnation of themselves: they say unto Him, "The first." That makes the parable plain. The first son is the hardest sinner repenting; the second shows us men who are godly in appearance without the power of godliness. Publicans and harlots, who had repented, turned from their evil ways and followed Christ, were seen in the first son; the Pharisees and Scribes, chief priests and elders, who for a pretence made long prayers and tried to appear righteous unto men, were seen in the second son. Now the answer of the one who refused to work was rude, outrageously bad, and without excuse. It is necessary to have this plainly understood; for, looking at the class whom that son represents, we find that it contains the ungodly and wicked of every sort in every age. They neither profess true religion, nor fear to say that they will disobey God. The answer of the second son was also evil, if we consider it in the spirit and not in the letter. We have no reason to suppose that he meant it when he told his father he would go. His polite language was a lie. We may notice that though the first son is said to have changed his mind, no change is affirmed of the second son between his answer and his act; and so we may infer that the intention of the disobedient son was the same when he promised well as when he acted ill.

There is a class amongst us answering to the publicans and sinners to whom Jesus proclaimed the message of mercy. To them comes the warning, "Without holiness no man shall see the Lord:" but even as the son in the parable repented and obeyed, so God's invitation to the sinner now is, "Repent, turn, and live." It was not the courageous, honest disobedience of the first son that made him right, for it was all wrong. It was his change of mind eventuating in act, his passing out of the state of disobedience, as if from death to life, that saved him. And so to every sinner now is the Saviour calling; to publicans and harlots is the kingdom open as of old; they are welcomed when they come repentant, not because their sins are any the less, but because Christ's forgiving love is surpassingly great.

In the end of the parable the Saviour intimates to the Pharisees that these very lowest sinners whom they despised are going into heaven before them. This does not mean that the licentious and profane find the way made more easy to themselves, but simply that they seized the right opportunity for entering while the self-righteous hung back. The parable is intended as a reproach and a spur to the Pharisees to press in, lest the door should be shut. It is not because men are sinners that they are saved, it is because they repent and bring forth fruit. When the self-righteous man admits his righteousness to be as filthy rags, and asks from Christ the clothing of his spotless righteousness, then he is accepted.

THE WICKED HUSBANDMEN.



"There was a certain householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a wine-press in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country."—Matt. xxi. 33–44; Mark xii. 1–12; Luke xx. 9–18.

WHETHER anything like the exact circumstances of this parable ever happened in our Lord's time we are not in a position to say. It is the case of a man who owns a large property on which he does not reside. He lets it out to husbandmen, while he himself lives in a far country. It is not one capitalist who has charge of the property, but a sort of joint-stock company of laborers, who cultivate the land with their own hands, and pay the rent not in money, but in produce. When the landlord sends his agents to collect what is due to him, they receive the treatment narrated in the parable. Twice are his agents contemptuously and cruelly abused. He at last thinks that his son, as the heir to the property and representing the family, will receive better treatment, on account of the supposed feelings of respect and reverence which the laborers will have for him. But the landlord is mistaken. The tenants think that by killing the heir they may obtain the property, and so the murder is committed. It is a state of things which might really happen in our day in that unfortunate country, Ireland.

When the Pharisees had heard thus far, they are asked what treatment such wicked men are worthy of, and they pass judgment on themselves immediately by replying: "He will miserably destroy these wicked men, and will let out his vineyard to other husbandmen which will render him the fruits in their season." The interpretation of the parable is comparatively easy, and consequently no very great differences in opinion have arisen among the different commentators. The main lines of the lesson cannot be mistaken. Very often in the Scriptures the Jewish nation are likened to a vineyard; we find notable instances of this in Isaiah v. 1–7; Ezekiel xv. 2–5; and Psalm lxxx. 8–15. In all these places the vineyard, or the vines separately, represented the privileged people who constituted the Church of God as it then existed in the world. In Isaiah the wickedness of God's people is shown by their bringing forth bitter fruit after so much care and cultivation; in Ezekiel their unprofitableness is demonstrated by want of fruit on the vine; and in the Psalm we see their sufferings as depicted in the ravages of wild beasts on the tender vine. Our parable differs from the other three descriptions in this one respect, that it shows us a vineyard or vine whose cultivators, after it has brought forth fruit, refuse to give to the owner that portion which is his due; and this difference determines our interpretation.

By the vineyard with all its privileges our Lord means all the ordinances which God gave to his people Israel to be improved. The husbandmen are the leaders who at various times had usurped a lordship over God's heritage. At various times ambassadors were sent to them to demand the stipulated tribute—prophets like Elijah, Elisha, Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, especially commissioned to approach them with reproof and instruction. But such ambassadors were despised, they were assaulted, imprisoned, exiled, and even put to death. This state of things happened all through the ages until "the fulness of the time" had come, and Christ the Son was sent as the messenger of the covenant. But while he came to his own they received him not. The very rulers who listened to this parable were then plotting to cast him out of the vineyard and to crucify him. Now, "when the Lord of the vineyard cometh he will destroy these wicked men;" in such words the rulers prophesy their own doom, and our Lord tells them plainly, "The kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof." The Romans crushed the Jewish polity, and the Church, God's vineyard, fell into other hands; the worship and ordinances of God's house were given to the apostles and their followers, neither as Jews nor as Gentiles, but as the disciples of Christ. Those who are "born again" make up the new nation, and under their charge the affairs of the kingdom will be administered till Christ comes again.

The individual application of the lesson of the parable is very plain. Our Heavenly Father has given us a rich vineyard to cultivate, as Christian men; there are many privileges attached to our position. We have vil and religious liberty, the Bible, the Sabbath, the Church and its ministers, all the means of grace and the hopes of glory. For these privileges we have to render a tribute to our God. When Christ the messenger of the covenant comes and knocks for admittance at the door of our heart, the "carnal mind, which is enmity against God," refuses to admit him, and exclaims, "I will not have this man to reign over me." It brings upon itself the punishment which wicked husbandmen earned. And in like manner, a Church which refuses to improve its privileges or to render rightful tribute to its great Head, shall have those privileges removed from it, and given to a people bringing forth fruit. Our Lord sums up all the teachings of the parable in that sublime saying from the prophet, "The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner," and, "Whosoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder." Jesus Christ shall be either for "a rock of defence" or "a stone of stumbling" to us. It is impossible for us to be neutral, so as to be neither for nor against him; we must either accept or reject the Son of God. If we flee to him for refuge, he is the sanctuary in which we shall be safe; if we fall on him in a vain effort to be free from him, we shall perish.

There was a certain householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a winepress in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country:

THE MARRIAGE OF THE KING'S SON.

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a marriage for his son."—Matt. xxii. 1-14.

THERE can be no doubt that by the character of the king's son, the bridegroom of this parable, the Redeemer is meant, as the Church, His redeemed people, is the bride. The feast spoken of in the story is the marriage supper. When the king sent forth his servants to summon the guests, this was not their first invitation, but simply a warning that all the preparations had been completed. This is supposed to have been a common custom in the East at the time of our Saviour. It is well to remember this in order that we may understand why such severe punishment was inflicted on those who refused to come. They had already accepted the first invitation, and by retaining it, and thus enjoying a sort of reputation by being accounted the king's guests, and compelling him, as it were, to make preparations, their breach of engagement was both dishonorable and disloyal. He sent to them a second time, bidding his servants use special urgency, and tell what arrangement had been made; but the guests made light of it, going to their several occupations. Some of them, indeed, added injury to insult, and took his servants and treated them badly, and killed them. "But when the king heard thereof he was wroth; and he sent forth his armies, and destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city." As far as appears in the story the same punishment was inflicted upon those who despised the king's invitation and those who killed his messengers—all were guilty of the one crime, disloyalty to their monarch.

But the wedding-feast must go on, and so the king sends his servants out into the highways—the places of public resort, both the city's streets and the country roads—to bid everybody they see to the marriage. The invitations in the first instance were select to those whose positions gave them the right to appear at court; but when these people despised their privilege, the king by his sovereignty invited others who possessed no right of admission. The instructions to the servants were carried out to the very letter; they brought in everybody they could find, "bad and good alike." They had not been told to make any inquiries about character or social position; the very streets were swept to provide guests.

This marriage-feast of the king manifestly refers to the redemption of man, completed in the birth, work, death, and resurrection of Christ Jesus. When the appointed time had come, our Lord himself, in the form of a servant, carried the invitation to his brethren according to the flesh, the chosen people. His immediate apostles and their successors repeated the same message. It was not a new feast to which the ancient people were invited; all through the ages they had known the rich feast which was prepared for them. They were favored but unthankful, for not only did they have one message sent to them, but, despite their refusal, another still more urgent, the second mission of the apostles after Pentecost and under the ministration of the Spirit. Both invitations were despised by those to whom they were sent; the Saviour came to his own, and they received him not. Yet although the Jews rejected him, Christ did not remain without subjects; the feast was not wholly deprived of guests. The servants, the apostles, went to the Gentiles, departed to the ends of the earth, bringing multitudes of outcasts to the feast of the King. "They brought in good and bad." The invitations of the gospel come to fallen humankind without respect of person or character. Really, in God's sight none is good, no, not one, yet all are urged to come.

When the wedding was furnished with guests the king came in to see them. In customary society when a man entertains people he stands at the door to receive them as they come in; but with royalty it is different; the sovereign appears only when the guests are ready. As soon as the king's eye had rested upon the assembled company it discerned a man who had not on a wedding-garment. It has been said by some commentators, that a special garment was usually provided out of the royal store for those whom the king honored by an invitation to a banquet, in some such way as certain favors or decorations are often given to guests in our day. But the point is not of great importance; we may assume from the story that every guest was expected to be dressed in a garment such as even the poorest might obtain on very short warning. The primary use of such a garment was not to make the man look elegant, or to keep him warm, but to show his respect for and his loyalty to his host. The want of the garment was understood to be a decisive mark of unfaithfulness and disloyalty. There was no excuse for its omission, or the condemned man would not have remained speechless after the king had pronounced his sentence.

The spiritual lesson in the parable, for all who read it, is very simple. The guests who have really assembled at the call of the messengers, and have sat down at the king's table, are those who have heard the gospel message, and have adopted Christ's name and called themselves his people. But there is a distinction still among those who have complied with the call. We are not, indeed, told specifically of what shape, color, or size the wedding-garment in the parable was; the needful thing was that every guest should have one. So, while we may not know the exact plan of God's salvation, this thing is sure, we must comply with God's terms before we can be saved; and elsewhere in Scripture we are told what these terms are. The fault with the guest in the parable was that he claimed to be as worthy of the king's honor as any of the other guests, while still disobedient to the king's commands to put on the proper robe. And so the sinner who would be saved in his own way, in his own self-righteousness, instead of wearing the robe of Christ's righteousness, will also hear the words of doom from the great King at the last day.

THE TEN VIRGINS.

"Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom."—Matt. xxv. 1-13.

VIGILANCE is the safety-lamp of life. What the lighthouse is to the ship in the murky night, nearing the rocks and treacherous sands; what the torch is to the traveller who has been enveloped in thick mists; what the lantern is to the miner who creeps from gallery to gallery along the low corridors which penetrate the bowels of the earth, where the firedamp hangs around his way; what the genial blaze on the cottage hearth is to the shepherd as he comes from afar over morass or moor; what the branch of the green tree was to Columbus as it floated past his vessel's side, the sure harbinger of a not distant land—such is vigilance to man's life. Never, in all the admonitions which fell from Christ's lips, did he impress upon man a more solemn duty than when he proclaimed, "Watch, therefore; for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh."

That famed event, when Jesus worked his first miracle of turning the water into wine, occurred at a marriage-feast in Cana of Galilee. The details of the parable before us, borrowed from a ceremony with which the Saviour must have been familiar, will acquire a reality for us if we can call to mind descriptions which have been given us by persons who have witnessed such ceremonies. The time is after the marriage has been concluded, and when the bridegroom, accompanied by his bride, is returning to his own house. It is at night, and the wedding-train go forth; the bridegroom is surrounded by his kinsfolk and friends, while the bride is attended by her maidens, conducting her with barbaric pomp and ceremony. The gleam of the torches is seen, and the ringing of merry shouts and laughter, the music of instruments, and the sound of nuptial melodies, fills the air. They come near the bridegroom's home, at the midnight hour, and then the loud shout goes up to heaven; there is a cry made, "Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him." Then all the village arise, and go out to meet him; and they that are ready go in with him to the feast, and the door is shut. A scene like this the Saviour had often witnessed. That mind, so sensitive to all that is picturesque, finds lessons of eternal value in a commonplace incident like that before us. It was because

Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins. which took their lamps and went forth to meet the Bridegroom.

And five of them were wise. and five were foolish.

They that were foolish took their lamps and took no oil with them

But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

While the bridegroom tarried they all slumbered and slept.

he was the Great Bridegroom, come to lead the Church, his Bride, to the Father's house. How may we be ready to go in with Him?

Let us look first at these virgins. There is no special significance in the number "ten," except that it was used by the Jews to represent completion. When there were ten present in an assembly it was considered complete. The virgins may be considered as representing the visible Church, the one part wise unto salvation, the other lost by their own folly and want of preparedness. The lamp may be called the lamp of Truth. But even truth may be lifeless. It can find expression only through external agencies, and nothing that is merely external can of itself preserve vitality. Our words may be lamps of truth, admirably constructed to expound it; our forms, our rites and ceremonies, may be lamps of truth; and yet, useful and necessary as instruments, if these instruments are estimated simply for themselves, and not for what they ought to contain, then they are as worthless as lamps without oil and flame. It is the Spirit, the oil which feeds these lamps, which giveth light. All external religion (whether expressed by language, form, or ceremony) may deserve to be called a lamp of the truth; nevertheless, every such lamp not only may but will go out, unless it be fed with oil—the same oil wherewith God anointed Jesus; that is the Holy Ghost.

Our first illustration depicts the virgins as roused from their slumber. We read that "they all slumbered and slept." This expression is supposed by some of the ancient commentators to refer to the sleep of death; but such an explanation seems to mar the perfectness of the parable, because this slumber occurs before the bridegroom comes, and enters into heaven, shutting the door between eternity and time. We think "they all slumbered" is a painfully true description of the best and holiest among us. We are apt to grow inactive, to slacken our exertions, or, perhaps with self-confidence, to slumber in the discharge of our duties. But true vigilance of heart will make provision and take forethought against known weaknesses and infirmities. We see the virgins awaking from their sleep. Some alert and eager, ready to go forth into the night, their lamps all trimmed and burning, while another is pouring in fresh oil which her wisdom had provided. One is with difficulty being aroused by her companion, and others are begging oil from the more fortunate ones who have just enough and none to spare. Nothing remains for the careless ones to do but to go to the shops and buy their oil; but when they return it is too late; those who are ready have gone into the feast, and the door is shut.

We see them again. The wise ones in the bridegroom's presence, where is "fulness of joy;" the foolish, down below in the darkness, knocking vainly at the door, and on bended knee and with tearful eye imploring admission to the light and blessedness within:

> "No light had we: for that we do repent;
> And learning this, the bridegroom will relent.
> Too late, too late! Ye cannot enter now."

"Behold, the Bridegroom cometh!" The early Church looked for the immediate coming of Christ on earth, and constantly urged the need of preparation. But though their view was mistaken, every earnest soul is, as the apostle says, hasting to the coming of the day of God. Christ himself has told us that we know not the day nor the hour of his coming, but when he cometh blessed is he who shall be found, like the wise virgins, ready. This parable shows us that it is not only dangerous but fatal to slumber on our way, if we have not vigilantly sought for God's Holy Spirit to keep the light of truth and faith alive in our souls—alive, despite the world's hindrance and temptations, so that when the summons startles us, we may trim our lamps for the solemn meeting, and go in with him through the heavenly portal when the hand of death shuts to the door, which, once closed against us, shall never be opened again. In the full possession of power and opportunity, vigilance alone will secure the abundant outpouring of the Holy Spirit to feed our lamps; and this vigilance is expressed and demonstrated by prayer. It is through prayer, unto those who diligently seek him, that God keeps alive in the lamp of the soul that light which alone can outlive the darkness of this world, and shine more and more through all eternity.

THE TALENTS.

"For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods."—Matt. xxv. 14–30.

THIS parable is so familiar to everybody that we need not consume the space in giving the details of it, but proceed at once with the exposition.

The master who leaves his goods with his servants is our Saviour, who at the close of his earthly ministry, leaves his disciples and ascends into heaven. We know, of course, that by his spiritual presence he is always with his servants; but that fact is not inconsistent with the parable which deals with the visible and bodily. The giving of goods to the servants (the whole number of professing Christians) is symbolical of the fact that to every member of the visible Church talents and opportunities of service are entrusted. These talents are given in different proportions, and are of various sorts—health, wealth, genius, intellect, time,—and with this important qualification each one receives "according to his several ability;" no responsibility is thrown upon a man greater than he is really able to bear—as his power of service is, so is the talent entrusted to him.

There were two faithful servants in the parable, the one who had received the largest and the one who had received the medium amount of gifts and opportunities. Each was faithful according to his means. The third man made no endeavor to serve his lord by using the talent at his disposal, but digged in the earth and hid the money. We have these three examples as representatives of all possible cases, denoting an infinite variety in the measure of the gifts. Every man has talents of some kind, and of greater or less amount. The Master who gave them to us desires that we should use them in his service, and for his profit, until he shall come again. Now is the time for the improving of our opportunities, for when he has come again it will be too late. Though it is said that "after a long time the lord of those servants cometh and reckoneth with them," the time is not really "long" in the account of the Lord himself. His latest warning to the Church is, "Behold, I come quickly." Whenever he comes it will be too soon for the unprofitable servants; but to the true disciple his coming has ever seemed to be delayed. The faithful two are ready to welcome him, and to render their account with joy. Each is approved, and each is rewarded with the fruit of his own labors.

In the account of the unfaithful servant we have greater fulness of detail. He gives the reason for his unfaithfulness when he says, "I knew thee that thou art a hard man," etc. It was perhaps natural that he should endeavor to excuse his want of diligence, and strengthen his case by alleging hard treatment; but we find the essence of his answer in its first words, "I knew thee hard," which do not really tell us what the master's character was, but only what the servant supposed it to be; and the servant's opinion of his master was what regulated his conduct. It is so now, according as men look upon God will they find his service a joyful one or a hard one. In the parable, the natural and necessary as well as the actual result of this man's conception of his lord was to make him idle and unprofitable. And if we tell men now that they are called to serve a hard and rigorous taskmaster instead of a loving Father; if we infuse into their minds and hearts that fear "which hath torment" instead of that "perfect love which casteth out fear," we shall have idle and wretched servants in the place of willing and obedient children. The idleness of the servant who knew his master only as a hard man is a solemn warning to all except those who obey the Lord whom they love, and love the Lord whom they obey.

This is the sum of the whole matter: Whatever our talents and opportunities are, we are to use them as men who shall one day have to give an account. Gifts not used are taken away from their possessors. To waste life now in the hope of making up for it by repentance at life's close, is like leaning upon a staff which will break under our weight. "Unto him that hath shall be given;" from the whole circumstances of the parable, "to have" evidently means to "use aright." The man who received one talent was distinguished from the others not by not having but by not using; he did not really possess the talent; the talent possessed him, and held him with a cruel grasp. "Take it from him" is said before "cast him out." The first sentence prepares the way for the second. It is a process now going on by which destiny is decided. Now is the accepted time; either salvation or condemnation is being wrought out now.

THE SEED GROWING SECRETLY.

"So is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground; and should sleep, and rise night and day; and the seed shall spring and grow up, he knoweth not how."—Mark iv. 26–29.

THERE is a remarkable correspondence between the history of the Church and the spiritual life of the individual Christian. The principles which govern the former rule the latter, finding in each appropriate development

Verily, verily, I say unto you. He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.
But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.

hence what is said of the kingdom of God in this whole dispensation is often true also of the same kingdom in every believer's soul. This is so true of many of our Lord's parables that it is often difficult, perhaps impossible, to determine in which sense the "kingdom of God" is intended to be understood. This parable is an example. It sets forth a fact universally true in the order of the divine life, whether in individuals, communities, or the world, that the word of truth, if it be but sown, will mysteriously grow and bring forth fruit unto the harvest. Let us look first at this growth of the divine word in the world.

There is, primarily, a mystery in its growth. "The seed springs and grows, we know not how. It was so in its beginning. The kingdom of God did not come" with observation. Judea was the last country, and the Jews were the last people, from which we would have expected the message of salvation. That people, so wonderful and holy to us, were despised by the Greeks and Romans as a singularly obstinate, malignant, and intolerant race. Had the world indeed looked among the Jews for the truth, it would have gone to Jerusalem, to the temple in which rabbis taught and priests offered sacrifices, to the most bitter enemies, therefore, of the faith of Christ. But the good seed sprang not up among the learned of the Holy City, but in the darkest district of the land, in Nazareth, the worst village of Galilee.

And in its growth, as well as birth, was the same mystery apparent. They could not say "Lo! here," or "Lō! there," "In the chamber" or "In the desert." It was growing everywhere, though almost unseen. It took the kingdoms of this world by surprise, and overcame; so that, within three centuries after its first preaching, the faith of the crucified Redeemer became the strongest of beliefs and powers in a world at enmity against God. It grows and expands, not only like the seed, but like the dawn which ushers in the coming day. In vain do the rulers take counsel to avert its progress. They may as well try to darken the sunlight. It spreads and broadens and shines till all heaven and all earth is aglow, and its very enemies are transformed and glorified by its effulgence. So mysterious and so marvellous was the springing and growth of God's kingdom. Its growth was not only mysterious but spontaneous. "The earth brought forth fruit of itself." Man lay down at night and rose up in the morning, and went about his work, the seed growing all the time, by its own power, and not his care. The growth of God's kingdom was largely independent of human aid. When we ourselves take any important cause in hand we desire to have everything and everybody on its side, in its favor. Wealth, learning, culture, power, political influence, all the forces which men think of value in this world, we would desire to see enlisted in behalf of the cause we have so near at heart. But all the powers of the earth, religious as well as secular, were banded together against the gospel. Kings and rulers set themselves against the Lord and his Anointed One. Learning despised the new faith too much to trouble itself to refute it. Wealth was no more disposed to risk its gains for the truth then than now. The popular manners and customs were abominably corrupt, and the holy faith was a rebuke to them. There were no organized societies of the Church as we have them now, to do aggressive work, but each messenger of the truth went forth in simple reliance on the Spirit and providence of God. In a word, instead of everything being in favor, everything was against, the growth of the seed, and yet "mightily grew the word of God, and prevailed."

Its progressiveness was another feature of the growth of the seed. "First the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear." The kingdom grew slowly, as the seed grows unto the harvest; and that kingdom is still growing from less to more, until the time when God shall accomplish the number of his elect, and "the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ." We must be patient, as the husbandman is patient, "waiting for the precious fruit of the earth." Even in our own generation, what a marvellous growth and spreading of the kingdom have we seen! People that sat in darkness have seen a great light. The Bible is printed in scores of tongues unknown a century ago. The love of man is supplanting devotion to sect, and the members of the one family in Christ Jesus are beginning to form a sacred union. And yet, the kingdom of God is still a coming kingdom. The "full corn in the ear" may not be gathered soon. Still we may hope for what we cannot see, and wait God's time in patience.

As concerns the growth of the seed in the individual soul, there, also, is it mysterious. We cannot tell how it springs up at first; at any rate, not always. Affliction may have ploughed the heart; the hammer of judgment may have pulverized the rock; the fire of divine love may have burnt up the weeds, briars, and thorns which infested the soil, and some unknown hand may have dropped the good seed therein. A word may have fallen from the lips of teacher or preacher; some mother's loving accents may have uttered it, and like a winged seed it floated lightly down and fell softly into some quiet corner of the heart; and there in mystery and darkness it grew, pushing forth its vital germs, till at last the green blade peeped above the surface and exhibited itself in the life.

Then, too, in the individual as in the world, the seed must grow of itself and bring forth fruit; that is, its growth must be by virtue of the divine life planted in it by God. "Paul may plant, Apollos water, but God giveth the increase." We need to be patient here, also, both for ourselves and others. Resting in the assurance that if we go forth, even weeping, bearing precious seed, we shall doubtless come again with joy, bringing our sheaves with us. And since progressiveness is another characteristic of the growth of the seed, we have another reason for patience and hope. Natural, steady, progressive growth should be our aim—never hasting, never resting, but waiting for all sweet influences from heaven to nourish the seed. For let us never forget that if we are fruitless plants it is our fault, not God's. He has scattered the good seeds by his Word and all the means of grace; he has neglected no means of culture; and if the seed has not grown it is because we have resisted his culture and his ministry. Nevertheless, "He abideth faithful."

THE GOOD SHEPHERD.

"I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."—John x. 11–16.

In the land of Palestine the life of a shepherd differs greatly from the life of one in our own country. No man here is supposed to feel any particular interest in his flock beyond finding a market for them. The animal is a representative to him of so many dollars, more or less. But it was different in the land of our Saviour. There the shepherd was continually with his flock, sharing in all their dangers, and leading them into green pastures and beside the still waters. And thus it would be very natural for a strong friendship to spring up between him and those under his care; stronger, in fact, than that feeling which we sometimes have for a faithful dog or horse who has shared our dangers with us. If we had been among those to whom our Lord addressed the words of the parable, we should have understood him perfectly, at a glance we could have taken in the whole scene; He the faithful and good shepherd, we the sheep of his fostering care.

One of the first characteristics by which the true shepherd is distinguished, is his relation not only to the flock as a whole, but to the individuals of the flock. "He calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out." He does not merge us all into one vast concourse, but singles us out by some endearing appellation, and we hear his voice and follow him. We are too apt to measure Christ's mind and love by our own finite capacities; and as in our large circle of acquaintances or friends we can select but one or two who shall be specially dear to us, so we imagine that Christ's kingdom is too extensive, his subjects too many, for him to look after each individual. But the parable, and, still more, the practice of our Lord, teaches us the opposite. Follow his footsteps as he goes through Nazareth, and we find him on many occasions singling out individuals, and giving them a loving word—whether it were Matthew at the receipt of custom, or James and John by the seaside; Nathanael, the Israelite without guile, or Zacchæus the publican; the woman who touched the hem of his garment, or the one who anointed his feet with ointment. And so he loves each of his disciples now, and calls each one by name, as surely as he loved Peter, and Thomas, and Mary, and Martha; and until we feel this nearness of Christ to us we shall never understand one-half the blessed mystery of his death and passion, the merits of which must be appropriated by us individually. Then, too, "He leadeth the sheep," another proof of his tenderness; there is no compulsion. The Eastern shepherd did not, like our shepherds, go behind his sheep and drive them on, but called them to follow him. And we see how consistent it must be with Christ's character to draw and not to drive his disciples.

Christ was the Good Shepherd because he gave his life for the sheep. In a country where the flocks were liable at any time to be devastated by wolves or other wild beasts, a man must be prepared to risk his life in defence of his charge. This would not be done by a mere hireling, one whose wages were the only inducement to him to serve as a shepherd, but by one who felt such a deep and personal attachment to the flock that no risk was too great to be run for their sakes. The life of each sheep must be as dear

A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

And by chance there came down a certain priest that way: and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. But a certain samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him.

to him as his own life. Here we see how Jesus was the Good Shepherd. The wolf, Satan, is constant in his attacks upon the flock, but Christ has not left them in his power. The Saviour's life, laid down once for all, has vanquished the enemy, and over those who are Christ's he has no power. When the furious assault was made by priests and people our Lord did not flee. Had he been a mere hireling then was the time to have proved him; and it did prove him. There was no parleying, no tampering with the truth, no compliance with prejudice; the time had come when his life or that of the Church was at stake, and we know which it was that suffered —"the Good Shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

But one of the chief proofs of our Lord's right to be called the Good Shepherd is the fact that he knows the sheep: "I know my sheep and am known of mine; as the Father knoweth even so know I the Father;" the last sentence reads more correctly, "as the Father knoweth me and as I know the Father." The thought is, that Christ's knowledge of us and our knowledge of him is just the same as the mutual knowledge existing between him and the Father. Now, what does our Lord mean when he says, "I know my sheep"—simply, I know who they are? We need not be told that. The truth lies deeper; He knows what they are, all their sorrows and cares, all their hopes and aspirations, their temptations and trials; so that there is not one poor man or woman, so oppressed by want or affliction that they may not feel that the Saviour is ready and willing to help. Yes, Christ knows the wants of his people better than they do themselves. He knows them and loves them with the same knowledge and affection that exist between the Father and himself.

And let us not forget the grand truth embodied in the words, "I lay down my life for the sheep." Not a day passes, perhaps, in which we do not think of the Saviour's dying for us, yet what practical effect has the doctrine had on our lives? Does His great sacrifice make us less selfish and more self-sacrificing? In the last day our Lord will not ask us simply if we have been orthodox in our creed, but will say, "What have you done unto one of the least of these my brethren? Have you cared for the homeless and the orphan, as I cared for you when like sheep ye were gone astray? Have you fed with the bread of heaven those committed to your care? Have you checked the harsh word as it sprang to the lips? Have you stifled the unkind thought which a wounded self-love prompted? Have you, in a word, shown by all the actions of your life that they were prompted by the remembrance of my dying love?" and on the answer to such questions will depend the position which the Good Shepherd will give to us at the last day, whether among the sheep or the goats.

THE GOOD SAMARITAN.

"A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, who stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead."—Luke x. 30–37.

THE occasion of this parable was the question put to our Lord by the "lawyer," as he is called—a man who was the expounder and teacher of the sacred Scriptures of the Old Testament. He had come to Jesus, "tempting him"—not as we use the word often, in a bad sense, but simply "trying" him—and asked, "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" It was a serious question, but the words do and inherit make it possible that there was such misunderstanding in his mind as to the method of salvation as we often find among people in these days, who ought to be well instructed. Many seem to think that salvation is half of themselves and half of God's mercy and grace. Their good deeds, and self-sacrifices, and holy life, though perhaps not sufficient of themselves to save them, are to make them fit to be saved by the blood of Jesus. Christ in his answer bids the lawyer try the law, keep it if he can, that his failures may teach him how useless such a method would be. To the Saviour's question as to his understanding of the law he gives a very satisfactory answer, and receives in return the reply, "Thou hast answered right; this do, and thou shalt live." There may have been something in our Lord's manner of speaking which touched the lawyer's conscience, and made him say to himself, "I have not really kept the whole law, and it is hard for me to do so." But too proud to confess his inability, and "willing to justify himself," to escape from the difficulty, he immediately asks, "And who is my neighbor?" This beautiful and touching parable is the Saviour's answer to that question.

The Saviour was on his way to Bethany, the village of Martha and Mary. Bethany was the mountain hamlet which stood at the head of that great descent from Jerusalem to Jericho which is the scene of this parable. If, as we may suppose, he was advancing up the road leading from the deep valley of the Jordan to the high country of Judea, the country which lay before him would easily suggest the story. It is a steep mountain pass, descending for nearly 4000 feet, enlivened by no verdure, cheered by no spring of living water. Bethany is the last human habitation before you descend into that deep abyss of bare precipice and rugged mountain. Jerusalem at the head of the pass, and Jericho at its foot, were both important seats of government, of religion, and of commerce.

It was along this road, then, that "a certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho," and met the fate which so often befell the solitary traveller. He "fell among thieves" (as we should say, "among robbers,"), the Arabs, whose hand is against every man, and every man's hand against them. They overpowered him, stripped off his clothes, beat him cruelly, and vanished amid the desert rocks, leaving him half dead in the Syrian sun, reflected from the white cliffs of the mountain pass on this side and on that. The man lies helpless and alone, his life perhaps ebbing away as the blood trickles from his wounds. But two new characters soon appear. One is a priest from Jerusalem, on his way to join the station of his brethren in Judea. Far off he must have seen the bleeding sufferer; but "when he saw him," he determined not to be delayed; he "passed by on the other side," and continued his journey to the distant city. Then, from the opposite quarter, so it would seem, from the deep valley below, another traveller wound his way up to the fatal spot. He, when he was at the place, came and looked on the wounded man; the sight awakened in him a momentary pity; but he, too, had other business to discharge. He was a Levite, on his way to the holy city. He, too, passed on his way, and was lost to view.

And now a third traveller was seen approaching; and, if the failing sight of the wounded man could enable him to recognize the dress and aspect of the new-comer, his reviving hope must have sunk again; for the stranger was a Samaritan, and the Samaritans have no dealings with the Jews, and those who were Jews would not speak or give so much as a cup of cold water to those who were Samaritans. But the Samaritan rode on to the spot; he did not deliberately turn away like the priest, or start aside at the sight like the Levite, but he came where the wounded man was; and "when he saw him" only one feeling arose in his mind—not the thought of his own inconvenience or the danger of delay, but "he had compassion on him." He dismounted, he went up to him, he applied the usual Eastern remedies to the wounds, he mounted the sick man on his own beast; and when they reached the inn that breaks the solitude of the long journey, he halted there with him, he attended upon him, and, when on the morrow he went forth on his journey, he commended him to the charge of the host until he came again.

It is a beautiful story, for all its simplicity and seeming homeliness of style, and contains an important lesson for all. Who was this Samaritan in the story? We are not told—he was "a certain Samaritan," that is all we hear. But though man does not know his name it is written in God's "book of remembrance." On him, as a Samaritan, the wounded man had no claim. Probably the wounded man, in his health and strength, would have heaped scorn and derision on his benefactor. No hatred could exceed that which a Jew bore to one of the despised name. "Say we not well," they once cried to our Lord, as they gnashed their teeth against him, "that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?" And yet it was to one of this race that the priest and Levite left their wounded countryman. It may be that they, too, "had compassion" on the sufferer, but no account is made of that, any more than we count the blooms of the orchard that wither without fruitage. It is only fruit, good deeds, that are entered on the book of judgment. "I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; . . . naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me." The good Samaritan does his work thoroughly; it might have ended with his simply taking him to the inn, and putting him in the care of the Jewish host. Even then it would have been an admirable deed. But he will well finish what he has so nobly begun. He must go his way, but before he departs he will see that the sufferer's expenses are paid. "Two pence," the sum left, may seem very small; but the value of money was different then from what it is now, and so humane a man would certainly not be stingy. So the kind man leaves, followed by the blessings of "him that was ready to perish," perhaps poorer in one sense, but richer in another, and little dreaming that his good deed would be known to uncounted generations.

Our illustration represents Jesus as the Good Samaritan; and it is a rue picture. Viewed in this light the story gains its sweetest and deepest gnificance. Man goes down from Jerusalem, his holy and happy state,) that place of wretchedness so aptly represented by Jericho, against hich the armies of the living God waged war. The enemy of souls is ell typified by the cruel robbers that spring upon the unguarded travel- r, strip him, wound him, and leave him to die. Satan was "a murderer om the beginning." The law, with its works, finds its type in the priest id Levite. It can do nothing to save man, and these its representatives pass by on the other side." "By the deeds of the law shall no flesh be stified." The law is wanting in the heart of mercy that prompts to elp the suffering traveller, and in the oil and wine to heal his wounds id give strength. But in the Good Samaritan, Jesus Christ, and in his nished work, the sin-smitten sufferer finds the help he needs. There is alm in Gilead, and a physician is there.

A word or two of simple practical comment will finish all we have to y. How many are the sufferers who have fallen among misfortunes ong the wayside of life! By "chance" we come that way; chance, cident, Providence, call it by what name we will, has thrown them our path. What are our feelings and actions toward them? The iest and Levite may have had good reasons for hurrying on; they may ave been hastening to services which they could not postpone, to duties hich would not allow them to endanger their lives. The parable blames em not. It leaves us to ask whether we should have done likewise, it aves us to determine who are most to be admired: they who did as we ould all naturally do, they who would not be put out of their way, who ought it imprudent to mix themselves up with a matter which was no ncern of theirs;—or he who had compassion on the wounded man, he ho administered comfort and support, he who broke off his journey, who r the sake of a stranger did that which kinsmen decline to do. The iest and Levite are types of men as they commonly are, thinking much themselves and little of others. But let us not judge them more harshly an we judge ourselves. Let us remember that there is a higher standard the true Christian traveller than theirs. The good deed of the Good maritan has still a fragrant odor in all the world; may it be ours, if God rows like opportunities in our paths, to be enabled to share his blessing, id "go and do likewise."

THE TWO DEBTORS.

"There was a certain creditor which had two debtors; the one owed five hundred nce, and the other fifty."—Luke vii. 41–43.

A PHARISEE, having perhaps formed a favorable opinion of Jesus, and shing to learn more of his doctrine, invites our Lord to supper at his use. The mode of sitting at table in the time of the Saviour was pecu- r. The feast was spread in the middle of the hall or large room, and on ch side of the table was stretched a continuous row of couches, what ght be called sofas. On these were the guests, not sitting upright as do, with feet under the table, but reclining with their feet projecting a tle behind, the sandals having previously been removed for greater com- rt and coolness. So it was easy for any one who entered the room, and shed to speak to any particular guest, to do so without disturbing the st. As the company sat at meat, a woman of notoriously bad character the town, enters the room, and, approaching Jesus, stands behind him eeping, till the tears rain on his feet, when she wipes them with the hair her head and anoints them with a costly ointment. This entrance of e woman was not considered, as it would have been at one of our modern sts, an act of intrusion. Even at this day it is said to be common in e East for persons not invited to enter the guest-chamber during the ogress of the meal, and to sit on seats placed against the wall, convers- g on any subject they please with the guests sitting at the table.

"Now, when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spoke within nself, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what nner of woman this is that toucheth him." It was an acknowledged n of a true prophet to be a discoverer of hearts. Simon had this test fore his mind, and was applying it to determine the claims of Jesus. e reasoned in this manner: Either Jesus knows what sort of a woman is is, or he does not. If he does not know, he is not a prophet, because cannot discern spirits; if he knows, he is not a prophet, for he does not st the disreputable person away. On either alternative, therefore, he is t a prophet. Then Jesus, by his omniscient power, reading the Phar- e's thoughts, narrates the parable of the two debtors, the spiritual aning of which is as follows:

The creditor is God, who giveth us all things richly to enjoy, and to whom an account for all our privileges must one day be rendered. The debtors are sinful men, whose debts are the sins they have committed. There is a great disproportion between the two debts mentioned in the parable. In the one case the sum owed is five hundred pence, and in the other fifty, one-tenth as large; evidently intended to show us, not how much the guilt of one man may exceed that of another in God's sight, but the estimate which each man made of his own indebtedness and shortcomings. Simon the Pharisee kept an account of his own debt to God—his sins of omission and commission—and balanced them from time to time against a column of merits which he possessed. The balance he confesses against himself, but sets it down as expressed by fifty. The woman, on the contrary, had, during a long course of wicked living, lost all reckoning both of her own sins and God's mercies. But lately her heart had been touched, we know not how; perhaps she had formed one of the crowd when Jesus was preaching on some occasion, and the arrow of conviction had reached her.

The point of the story, as it is constructed by Jesus for the reproof and correction of Simon, lies here: The love of both the debtors to their master is caused, and therefore measured, by the forgiveness which they have received. The one who had been forgiven a small amount loved but little; the other, having obtained acquittal from a large debt, loved the forgiver much.

The words which Jesus speaks unto Simon, in applying the parable, have often been misunderstood: "Wherefore I say unto thee, her sins which are many are forgiven; for she loved much." They have been preached upon, times without number, as if the woman's love was the cause of her forgiveness, instead of being the consequence of it. This error springs, perhaps, from the awkward construction of the English sentence, or from the ambiguity of meaning of the word "for." If the sentence should read, "The woman loves much, for she has been forgiven much," it would express the idea of Jesus, and so be in perfect accord with the parable he had just spoken, and with Simon's answer when our Lord asked, "Which of them will love him most?" Simon's reply was, "I suppose that he to whom he forgave most;" and that is what we find illustrated in this woman who was a sinner and who felt that her many sins had been freely forgiven.

THE FRIEND AT MIDNIGHT.

"And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves?" etc.—Luke xi. 5–10.

THERE are two parables upon prayer found in this Gospel which are not found in the others. They are alike in form and in purpose. They teach that prayer, to prevail, must be importunate. One parable is about the unjust judge and the widow, that teaches us to pray for ourselves. This present one, of the friend at midnight, teaches us to pray for others. It is a simple, homely story. A friend in his journey, or, as we read in the margin, out of the way, comes unexpectedly to our door at midnight. Perhaps he does not tell his condition, but we see instinctively that he is in need. There is absolutely nothing in the house; a not unlikely condition for a family to be in. Even if our own children wished something to eat they would have to wait till morning for it, when we could go and buy it. Yet we must find something for our guest, and so we go out to one of the neighbors, late as it is, and beg him to supply our need. God is that neighbor. Begging of him is prayer. Do not put it off; go to him at once.

But it is very late, and the neighbor in the parable objects to being roused, and would have the asker go away and trouble him not. But importunity cannot be abashed or put off. At first it may seem to fail to reach God's ear. But still it calls until he answers. There is nothing which has puzzled and saddened devout minds more than God's seeming regardlessness of their prayers. "I cannot rise and give thee." Have we not all of us so interpreted the delay of answers to our supplications? But even if that were God's character, what is the lesson the Saviour gives us here, but to pray and pray again? There is, however, a deeper lesson than this: Jesus does not mean to imply that God is ever an unwilling giver, that he ever lets us go away empty. If we have this false view of him our prayer is hindered. Many a man is tempted, in his haste, to become impatient and to say, "It is of no use to pray." But to charge God with unfaithfulness is simply to indulge a rebellious spirit, which is sin. The truth is, we have not really prayed, we have not humbled ourselves before God, and desired above all things his glory; and such prayer, in such a state, he despises. We need first a broken and contrite heart; and when the answer to our prayer is delayed, we shall search and discover why we are not blessed, and learn that while God despiseth the proud, he giveth grace to the humble.

Moreover, importunity must be specific. Look at the man in the parable, and notice how particular he is in stating his case: "A friend of mine, out of his way, is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him." While we pray for the world, the government, the Church, for all large and general objects, it is a good thing to pray specifically for "a friend of mine." Such a one is always at your door. Then make the petition as definite as the statement of the case. "Lend me three loaves." The supply was large; as a quaint writer says, "One for the friend, one for himself, and one to spare." Earnest prayer is always specific and definite. Hezekiah went "and spread the letter before the Lord," told to him the whole story, item by item. Such prayer always prevails. After an extensive revival in a certain church, it was remarked that there was not a single known convert who had not been the subject of concerted, intercessory prayer.

Expect answers to prayer. "Believe that ye receive, and ye shall have." This man in the parable cannot admit the possibility of going home unsatisfied, without gaining his wishes. It makes no difference to him that the man of the house says, "Do not trouble me. My children are with me in bed. At this late hour I cannot rise and give thee." There was nowhere else to go, so he kept on knocking and calling. The neighbors may have been disturbed, and have tried to make him desist, telling him it was of no use. He would not be convinced; he still persevered, till the man within arose and supplied his need. His importunity has prevailed.

There are examples in the Scriptures of thirty-four special prayers, every one of which was answered. There is our encouragement. It is not promised that the answer shall come speedily; very likely the tenor of Scripture would lead us to the opposite conclusion. We may have to ask, and seek, and knock, before we obtain. But the answer which is best for us will surely come in God's good time, though it may not be how and when we wish it.

THE RICH FOOL.

"And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully."—Luke xii. 16–21.

A YOUNG man came to Jesus asking him to settle a dispute which had arisen concerning some property. A question as to the proper division of the inheritance between himself and his brother was to be decided. The young man, of course, well knew that Jesus had no civil authority to constrain his brother; it was moral influence that he counted upon to accomplish his purpose: "Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me."

But Jesus had not come upon earth to settle questions of property, or government, or any of those matters which are rightfully to be referred to ordinary earthly tribunals. His mission was to establish the principles of truth and equity and righteousness in the hearts of men, so that they could settle these vexed questions for themselves, according to divine and eternal laws. So our Lord simply answers the young man, "Who made me a judge or a divider over you?" and having discerned the principle by which the youth was actuated in his question, Jesus turns to the multitude with the warning, "Take heed and beware of covetousness;" this was the bosom sin which prompted the request to divide the inheritance, and it was this sin which Jesus exemplified in the parable which followed.

"The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully." This was according to the nature of things, of God's eternal laws. He caused his sun to shine and his rain to fall, and the earth brought forth its crops, filling the rich man's garners with all manner of store. The prosperous man had a right to all this, no law, human or divine, could challenge that right. But mark the effect which such bountiful prosperity produced. He had considered how rich he was getting, and congratulated himself upon it. Between himself and his soul a sort of conversation (dialogue in the original) took place. This was eminently proper. When riches increase it is fitting that consultation should be held as to their employment. This man asked his soul, "What shall I do, I have no room where to bestow my fruits." His prosperity had been so immense that it put him to inconvenience; and so his question, "What shall I do?" was a very natural one under the circumstances, and he himself was just the person to answer it correctly. What that answer was we now learn: "He said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater," etc. This is the hinge of the parable on which its teaching turns. Was there no one but himself whom all his prosperity could benefit? Were there no poor, no widows or orphans, whose meanly-furnished store could be replenished from the overflowings of his cup? When God's gifts were showered upon him in such overwhelming abundance, he should have dug channels through which they might overflow to bless others also. It is for such reason that God gives plenty and prosperity to those who stand on the high places of the earth—that they may give freely of their abundance to their poorer brethren beneath them. But this man cared for nothing and nobody but self. He was the centre of the universe to himself; everything was created for him; and so he proposed to pull down his barns, already too small, and build large storehouses which could contain his crops. He goes on: "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years," etc. He speaks of the future as if it were all his own, as much at his disposal as his houses and lands. Many years! These are in the unseen future, perhaps in the already near eternity; the man has permitted an uncertain element to enter into his computations. It is simply an illustration of the manner in which the god of this world blinds the minds and hearts of them that do not believe. "Take thine ease, my soul; eat, drink, and be merry." The matter is settled; the man and his soul agree that a long and merry time on earth shall be their portion, when another thrilling word is added to the dialogue, by one whom they had not invited, and who breaks in upon the colloquy "God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee; then, whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?" This is a different and more terrible way of estimating the man. His neighbors probably congratulated and envied him as a rich and prosperous man; his word was law, his judgment on most matters eagerly sought after, as being the wisest that could be obtained; but God calls him "Fool!"

This parable of our Lord seems almost a cruel one, yet he never inflicted pain without having a beneficial and healing tendency in view. The wise surgeon does not shrink from using the knife when the cancer is deep-seated, and the patient is gradually succumbing to its destructive power. The man who sets his heart on his barns, and storehouses, and money-bags, is indeed a "fool," for in these things which perish there is no lasting good; "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (ver. 15); these are not his true life, and when they are lost, if a man has lived only in them, all is lost. Riches are truly and wisely enjoyed only when employed in good and useful works; otherwise they are a burden to their possessor which crushes his soul.

By way of contrast, the Saviour speaks of another kind of treasure which satisfies now and is everlasting. The man who is "rich toward God" is rich indeed, and all others are poor; and this treasure, which is found in Christ Jesus, is offered freely and to all.

THE BARREN FIG-TREE.

"A certain man had a fig-tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none."—Luke xiii. 6–9.

THE Pharisees had the notion that peculiar sufferings or misfortunes in this life were proof of peculiar guilt on the part of the sufferer; and they had referred to the massacre of the Galileans by Pilate as a case in point. Jesus denies the truth of their notion, and cites another analogous case—the sudden death of some men through the fall of a tower. He does not touch the general question that men do suffer for sin, but simply declares that peculiar misfortunes or calamities are no proof that special sin has been the cause of them; for, if such were unavoidably the case, there would be no need of judgment in the future life. The Saviour warns these Jews that they would suffer a sudden and unexpected destruction like that of the Galileans, unless they repented in time, and secured salvation from the judgment that sin entailed. Then, as a further enforcement of his lesson, the present parable is spoken.

"A certain man had a fig-tree planted in his vineyard." It is important to notice that this was not a tree that had sprung up by accident, as a seedling, and was suffered to grow through carelessness. The precise language indicates that it had been deliberately planted where it was growing; and that, very likely, special pains had been taken in its selection and nurture. Of course, when the tree had reached the proper age it was expected to bear fruit, and more especially after the care bestowed upon it. But for the first, second, and third years the owner is disappointed. Naturally he deems the tree of no use, and as he could utilize the place which it occupied, he gives orders to cut it down. The man who has the care of the vineyard, and who may have taken special interest in that particular tree since it was planted, cannot bear to hear the sentence pronounced, so he begs that another trial may be given, just one year more; possibly everything has not been done for the tree that ought to be; if under the most energetic and careful treatment it remains barren at the end of the year, then let the sentence against it be executed.

Afterward came also the other virgins saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.

The parable is short, but its lesson is very tender and touching, and easily to be comprehended. Its first application is to the Church at large. God is the owner of the vineyard and the fig-tree. Christ is the Dresser of the vineyard, the one who intercedes for the barren tree. Abraham's seed, natural and mystical, are the fig-tree, according to many teachings of the Old Testament. They were "planted in a very fruitful hill," fenced, watered, and watched with peculiar care. They were protected by special providences in their history, and cherished by all the ordinances of grace; but in vain did God seek such fruit as he ought to have found. There is no special meaning to be found in the number of years ("three") in the parable. It was, perhaps, a reasonable period to wait, not too long nor short; and God waited for Israel till the fulness of the time had come.

But the special lesson of the parable can be more profitably applied to individuals than to the Church at large, especially to those who bask in the bright beams of Christian civilization and live in the enjoyment of all the privileges which the Gospel bestows. God in whom we live has conferred all these blessings upon us that we may bear fruit; and if we remain barren we shall surely be cut down. As the fig-tree greedily drank in the riches of earth and air, and wasted all in leaves, so the unconverted enjoy God's mercies with unthankful hearts and unfruitful lives. Why should they not be cut down?

But here an intercessor appears, who cares for man and prevails with God. It is Christ alone, who stands between the unfruitful and condemned on earth and the punishment which is their due. He claims a brief space for repentance; but he does more than this. Further means shall be tried to bring that repentance about, and to call forth the fruit of good living. By the sunshine of his love, by the dews of his grace, by the pruning of affliction, it may be, by trials of different sorts, the Lord cares for the tree. The hard soil is broken up about its roots, and it begins to bloom and to bear. But what if it do not bear after all this patient nurture? What if man shall neglect and despise God and Christ till the very end? "After that thou shalt cut it down." Love intercedes for a period of trial, an opportunity of turning. If this avail not, love can ask no more; and the tree that is cut down is fit only for the burning. Truly, "now is the accepted time."

THE GREAT SUPPER.

"And when one of them that sat at meat with him heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God. Then said he unto him, A certain man made a great supper and bade many."—Luke xiv. 15–24.

THIS parable bears a striking resemblance to that of the marriage of the king's son, but the difference is also sufficiently marked to make it worthy of special study.

"A certain man made a great supper, and bade many." This is a common example of hospitality exercised by a rich and influential citizen. In this parable, as also in the one analogous with it, it is assumed that, according to custom, the invitations to the feast had been issued some days before the entertainment took place; and also that those invited should be reminded a second time by a messenger as the day drew near. Thus, at supper-time, the guests received notice that everything was ready. It is probable that the feast was not a supper, in our sense of the word, but a dinner at an early hour; for, if the man who had bought the field really intended to go and see it, and the man who had bought the oxen intended to try them, their excuses would not have been plausible unless they carried out their intentions on the very day of the feast, and so the feast must have been at an early hour. The men had accepted the first invitation, either expressly or tacitly, and the giver of the supper had consequently prepared as if they were to be present. But when the moment arrived they did not care to go; their own affairs occupied them so closely that the supper had no attractions for them. When the servant saw them separately to remind them of the approaching feast, "with one consent" they all made excuses, which, though different in appearance, were the same in essence, springing from the same root of carnal selfishness. Naturally, the master was angry on hearing his servant's report, and immediately invited all the poor of the neighborhood to the supper, the very dregs and outcasts of society, declaring that none of those who scorned his invitation should have any participation in the feast.

The spiritual meaning of the parable is easily arrived at. God has provided a great feast in the Gospel. The Jewish Church at one time, and the Christian Church at all times, are a privileged class, who enjoy a standing invitation, one perpetually offered. But the charge which the parable brings against them is that they do not avail themselves of their privileges, being simply content with the outward name and profession, clinging to the form of godliness, but denying the power thereof. Not they who are invited, but they who come to the feast and partake of it, are blessed.

The servant who carried the message of invitation obviously represents the ministry of the Gospel in all ages, while the message, in the first instance, is carried to those "that were bidden." Begin at Jerusalem, was Christ's command, and afterwards go to the heathen. Our Lord came in person to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, and it was when the Jews rejected the Gospel that its messengers turned to the Gentiles. And in the experience of every generation and every individual that is within hearing of the messenger's voice that gracious message is repeated.

To "make excuse" does not necessarily mean to invent an excuse which has no reality in fact; it is simply to plead to be excused. The grounds on which the plea is urged may be either true or false: in the parable it is very likely that the grounds stated were in themselves facts. And yet a secret unwillingness to go to the supper may have induced these men so to time their purchases that they could have a good excuse at hand, if it were needed. The reason men do not accept the Gospel invitation is because they do not really care for it in their hearts; in comparison with earthly business the affairs of the immortal soul must take the inferior place. Where there is a will there is a way. If men really love God, and desire to receive his unspeakable gift, they may visit their lands or prove their oxen on the following day, feeling that in matters of the soul "now is the accepted time." We allow that earthly affairs must be attended to: the field must be bought, and the oxen must be used, family affections must be cherished, but it is to our eternal loss if we allow these to occupy our hearts and minds to the exclusion of God's claims upon our time.

THE LOST SHEEP.

"What man of you having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, till he find it?"—Matt. xviii. 12–14; Luke xv. 3–7.

THIS parable was spoken, and also the two which follow it, as a rebuke to the Pharisees, who complained that Jesus received sinners and ate with them, and in it we find a declaration of the design, the method, and the terms of the Redeemer in his intercourse with those whom he came to save. The one sheep which has strayed from the flock is missed by the shepherd. As we said in our remarks on the parable of The Good Shepherd, the knowledge and care of the Redeemer for his people is a personal and individual knowledge. He knows not only the flock, but each member of it. And so he misses any who wander.

The shepherd left the remainder of the flock for the sake of the one that had wandered. In doing this neither unkindness nor kindness was shown towards those who were left on the pasture, the shepherd's act had no bearing at all on them. Nor is it necessary to discover who are meant by the ninety and nine; our whole attention is meant to be attracted to the specific act of the shepherd towards the lost one; the work of Jesus in his incarnation, ministry, death, and resurrection has respect to the unworthy, and not to the worthy. Our Lord teaches us here that sinners are the objects whom a Saviour should follow and find, precisely because they are sinners.

How does the shepherd act when he overtakes the wanderer? He does not punish, or even upbraid it, for straying. All he cares for is just to get it back to the flock. The Lord has drawn this picture for us, that in it every trembling sinner may behold his yearning love over the wandering and lost. And not only love but joy; he flings it over his shoulder rejoicing. The doctrine expressed by this act is one of the clearest of revealed truths, and yet the human heart often seems unwilling to receive it—the work of saving, instead of being done grudgingly, is a present delight to Jesus; and if we could habitually realize this it would make us trust him fully and always. When the shepherd gets home, and his neighbors rejoice with him, our Lord likens their joy to that of the angels in heaven over the one sinner saved, more than over the ninety and nine just persons who need no repentance. The exact expression is that there is joy "in heaven in presence of the angels"—before their faces, literally. The question really is, Who rejoices there? and in what manner? Obviously in the manner in which the rejoicing took place after the strayed sheep was brought home. He who sought and found the lost rejoiced; but not wishing to be selfish in his joy he invited his friends to join with him. In like manner joy in heaven begins and spreads. He who saved the sinner knows that the sinner is saved; rejoicing in the fact, He makes it known to the attendant angels, and invites them to share His joy.

Who are the just persons that need no repentance? This parable was spoken specifically to rebuke the Pharisees, who thought the only ones that needed repentance were the publicans and sinners, not just persons like themselves. He could not tell them plainly that they were deceiving themselves in regard to justifying righteousness, for that would have been to drive them away. So He hints to them by this story that even though they were as righteous as they deemed themselves to be, the recovery of a lost one would afford the Redeemer a greater joy than the retention of the virtuous. It is, after all, the sick child who has cost the mother the most care and suffering whom she loves the most dearly.

THE LOST PIECE OF MONEY.

"Either what woman having ten pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, doth not light candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it?"—Luke xv. 8.

THIS parable pictures God as the Redeemer of man in three different attitudes or modes of feeling. The first division of the picture represents God as contemplating as a loss to himself the man who has fallen into a state of sin. Let us glance at the picture. It is the interior of a human household. The mistress of the house is in a state of anxiety and excitement. She has lost a piece of money, and is oppressed by a sense of her loss. Now, this lost piece represents man perverted from the truth, weighed down in the dust of sin, hid, useless, degraded, lost, and the excited, anxious woman represents God. It is certainly a very startling representation. Man's sin has certainly brought loss upon himself. It has allured him from the paths of joy, and led him into the valley of the shadow of death. Sin has entailed fearful loss upon man. But the great Teacher, if rightly read, discloses to us a truth which is equally certain, and infinitely more touching, namely, that man's fall has brought loss to God; God mourns it as a treasure of which sin has robbed him.

In the second part of the picture God is represented as striving to recover man from the sin and misery into which he has fallen. The woman has lighted a candle, and is searching diligently through the house for her lost piece. God will not let his human treasure go without an effort to recover it. This is the gospel which has been ringing clear above the world's sin and trouble for ages. There is no one point more urgently insisted upon in Christ's teaching than this idea of the Father seeking for his child. One of the great temptations to which man is exposed when smitten with a sense of sin, is the danger of thinking that God has abandoned him, has turned his back upon him. Christ sets himself to dispel this distressing and disabling illusion. He shows us a God wounded by man's sin, and yet feeling a personal loss; while the more one looks at this parable, the more one feels how determined God is not to let his human treasure go without an effort to recover it. This is the key to the true history of the world.

Look at the picture again, still the same household. We still see the mistress of the house, but not now in a state of anxiety. The troubled look has disappeared from her face. Her open eye beams with gladness, for she has found the piece of money, and sympathizing neighbors have come to rejoice with her. In her changed condition that woman of the parable stands for God, and her neighbors represent the good angels who rejoice with their Maker over the recovery of the treasure—over man restored to his true life and ancient home. The Father rejoices first, and with an alert and subtle sympathy the angels catch the influence of the divine joy, as the high mountain-tops catch the early rays of the rising sun. See how the separate parts of the picture answer to one another. There is the housekeeper weeping for her lost piece, then searching for it, then rejoicing over its recovery; that is to say, God contemplating man's fall as a personal loss, God putting forth effort for man's recovery, and God rejoicing over that recovery, and the empty place in his divine heart filled again.

THE PRODIGAL SON.

Luke xv. 11–32.

THE first two parables in this chapter refer to a dumb animal and an inanimate coin, and, as such, cannot possibly take such a strong grasp upon our sympathies as this third one which relates to a human being. And if we agree with the pagan poet when he says, "I am a man, and nothing human is foreign to my sympathy," we shall, by placing ourselves in the position of this wandering younger son, comprehend more fully the beauty and spirituality of our Lord's words here narrated.

We have first his separation from home. He demands (not asks) from his father the portion of goods which would naturally fall to him in the event of that father's death. He is tired of waiting for his father to die, tired of home, and its pure but insipid joys, and longs to see the world. He would be his own master. His father grants his desire, and gives him the portion. According to Jewish law, if a man had two sons, as in this case, his property would be divided into three parts, the older son taking two-thirds, and the other son the remainder. We are told that the young man goes into a "far country." He gets into bad company. Devoured by harlots, his portion is soon spent. Compelled by necessity, he adopts the meanest of employment, the tending of the unclean animals which a Jew had been taught to loathe. He is in danger of starving, he who had given so many gay banquets to others, and at last is forced to stay his hunger with swine-husks. Fit type of the sinner who departs from God, he is sunk to the position of the meanest slave.

But at last he "came to himself." He had been mad before, "beside himself." He had left the best of fathers; among his vile companions and so-called "friends" there were none to love him as that father had done. And as this young man dwells upon the scenes which he had left, and contrasts them with his present condition; as he sees himself, the youngest-born, the pet of the household, whose slightest wish was obeyed by his father's servants, now in his turn the servant of a hard master, we cannot wonder that in agony he cries out—"How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, while I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father," etc.

"When he was a great way off," it is said, "his father saw him." Had he sat, for many a weary day, in the porch of his desolate home, yearning for a sight of the wanderer, hoping to see him come across the fields? We may reasonably suppose so. And when at last he does see him, wounded affection or dignity does not say—"Let him first come to me, and ask my forgiveness." No. His one thought is, "This is my son, my poor boy;" his one feeling, an impulse of love which leads him to rush forth to meet the wanderer, and fold him in his arms, and cover his cheek with the kisses of parental affection.

And this is God, our Father, as he is drawn by the hand and seen in the image of Him who came to seek and to save us, to bring us poor prodigals back; the God who is not willing that any should perish, and who awaits our coming. "Therefore will the Lord wait, that He may be gracious unto you, and therefore," as was fulfilled by Jesus on the cross, "will He be exalted that He may have mercy upon you." The kiss is the sign of reconciliation, the past is forgotten, old griefs are buried. The father conducts the wanderer home. The news spreads like wild-fire. The servants hurry to the welcome sound, and at the father's command they bring forth the best robe for the returned prodigal. They strip off his rags, and put the rich garment on him, and there he stands, fit type of the sinner invested with the righteousness and imputed merits of his Saviour. "Put a ring on his hand," is the next command. In those times rings were used as seals, a symbol of the graces whereby the Holy Spirit seals believers unto the day of redemption. This ring may signify the marriage between Christ and His Church, the passport of those who go in to the marriage supper of the Lamb. "Put shoes on his feet." The naked foot, in those days, was typical of servitude; none but members of the family were permitted to wear shoes. The son was taught that all his ancient home rights and privileges were restored to him. Nor does it end here; a banquet is ordered—"Kill the fatted calf, and let us eat and be merry; for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found." So the feast is spread, plenty abounds, joy beams in every countenance, and the walls of the banquet-room re-echo to the music and the shouts of the dancers. A great contrast, this, to his late forlorn condition as a swineherd! Instead of husks, the richest food, the sweetest cordials!

And such is our heavenly Father's reception of his wandering sons. There need be no ground for fear lest such a picture of God should make any think lightly of sin. God forgives offences, but the penitent sinner never forgets them. The prodigal does not forget his sins so soon as they are freely, kindly forgiven. On the contrary, while the father's arms are about his neck, and the father's kiss warm upon his cheek, in full assurance of forgiveness, he still confesses his sin, with the truest and deepest repentance of all. When we experience God's kindness, then we feel the deepest sorrow. When God says, "I will establish with thee an everlasting covenant," He adds, "then shalt thou remember thy ways, and be ashamed." When Jesus turned the look of mourning love upon Peter, after his denial, then, pierced to the heart, the disciple went out and wept bitterly.

A certain man had two sons:

And the younger of them said to his father: Father give me the portion of goods that falleth to me" And he divided unto them his living.

And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance in riotous living.

THE UNJUST STEWARD.

"And he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man which had a steward: and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods."—Luke xvi. 1-9.

THE present parable has two lessons which we state as briefly as possible. The first lesson is contained in the 8th verse. "The lord commended the unjust steward because he had done wisely; for the children of this world are wiser," etc. The lord, that is, the master of the steward, commended him. Not, of course, his immorality, but his worldly prudence. Christ is here painting a picture of life as it is in the world, in order to convey a spiritual truth. For the moment, therefore, he leaves out the question of morality, and fixes our attention on the wisdom of the man simply, looking at it from a worldly point of view. So that Christ's teaching becomes this—The men of this world are, in this world's affairs, wiser then than the children of light in their heavenly matters. He thus wished to intimate, that the earnestness of men who are absorbed in the pursuit of earthly gain should be a living lesson to those who would lay hold on the kingdom of heaven. He meant that we should never see such men without learning from their conquering zeal our own folly in being so indifferent about our everlasting inheritance.

From this Christ proceeds to convey a higher lesson in the prudence of the steward. "I say unto you, Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness, that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations." These words have been thought to mean, "So employ your wealth in good works that it shall return to you in everlasting joy." But we can regard them in a loftier sense than that, and find in them a broader meaning, for all Christ's teachings have a reference to eternity. Consider the condition of the steward. His wealth is about to pass away; or, rather, his means of acquiring wealth; but while he remains in office he so uses his position as to secure a lasting benefit; those whom he had favored would not readily forget him when he was in trouble. What does his conduct teach us? All worldly wealth must pass, but while we possess it let us so use it that it may become a constant training for immortality. The broad meaning of the parable is: If the money, the riches of life, which are only one and a comparatively petty circumstance in man's earthly history, may prepare him for eternity, then it would seem to follow that every circumstance of life, our wealth or our poverty, our work or our rest, may help to train us and fit us for immortality, and, if rightly used, be the means of blessing.

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS.

"There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day."—Luke xvi. 19-31.

THE rich man had lived known on earth; his name had been on all men's lips. Could he not afford all the luxuries and extravagances of life? Could he not at his sumptuous board entertain with splendid hospitality? And must he not, therefore, have been well known and highly appreciated? The destitute lay at his gate. Perhaps he thought that poverty is a crime, and ought to be punished by refusal of assistance. And yet we may thank God that real misfortune will never be left without sympathy. The dogs licked the sores of Lazarus; even the dumb animals had consideration for the poor man; and thus we learn that, even in its deepest distress, God will not forsake suffering humanity. The poor man died, and angels carried the soul and name of Lazarus to the realms of bliss. The rich man also died, and was buried. He could not carry his riches with him; they gave him no position, not even a name, in the scene to which he passed.

We are told that the rich man being "in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment." In accordance with the use of the word in classic Greek, we may assume that the word "hell" (Hades) simply indicates generally the world of spirits, the invisible abode of the departed till the resurrection; while the expression, "being in torment," serves to determine the specific region or condition in the world to which the rich man was consigned. Both were now in the world of spirits; but the beggar in that world was in Abraham's bosom, and the rich man in torment. Each went to his own place as certainly and as necessarily as vapor rises up and water flows down. In the midst of his agony the rich man cries out, "Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue." The agonizing request shows the intensity of the suffering; and the answer of Abraham shows that beyond the boundary of this life no hope of relief is held out to man. Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners: it was to this world he came; but we are not told that any saviour goes to that other world to win back the lost who may have permitted the day of grace to run out. And then, too, as regards the rich man's intercession for his brothers, even if we are to understand (what is by no means a certain thing) that the dead are permitted to intercede for those whom they have left behind, a prayer like this of the man in torment is utterly futile. He asks that one shall be sent from the dead to produce conviction and repentance in his brethren. His heart of unbelief speaks out, showing that he did not and would not believe in God, in judgment, and in eternity. His heart had been so obdurate that the natural agencies to produce conviction in the human breast had not affected him; and he argues with himself that if God had used some supernatural means it would have brought conviction to him; it would so have arrested his heart that by the supernatural visitation he would have been terrified into repentance. What is the answer to all this which we have from Christ's lips?—"If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rose from the dead."

Conviction is the forerunner of conversion. No man's heart can be turned to God, repentant for the past and prayerful for the future, which is not first penetrated with belief. That we are justified by faith only is a most wholesome doctrine and very full of comfort. Christ declares that he came not to destroy but to fulfil. The great duties of life, the great principles of all true religion, were distinctly established long before Christ. Moses and the prophets had proclaimed the fundamental spirit of religion and the duties and obligations laid upon man. These once proclaimed by God are eternal, because uttered in perfect wisdom and unchanging truth.

If the natural—what is evident to us, what conscience dictates, what Christ by his life, his doctrine, fulfils and exhorts—if these will not produce conviction, and so lead us forward to conversion and repentance, then the supernatural, even if it were permitted to be brought into exercise, far from making us repent, would not even lead us to believe. "If we hear not Moses and the prophets," if God's own precepts will not guide us, if the greater wonders of his forbearance, his mercy and his love will not constrain us, if the natural and eternal incentives to conviction and conversion will not inspire us, neither would supernatural but inferior agencies to God himself make us believe. No; we would not be persuaded though one rose from the dead.

THE UNJUST JUDGE.

"And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint."—Luke xviii. 1-8.

IN Oriental countries it is very easy to find an official who answers to the description of the judge in this parable. Men vested with unlimited power, responsible only to themselves, in many cases, do not hesitate to abuse power for their own self-gratification. The present condition of Turkey and Egypt, the many instances of oppression which are notorious in countries where heathenism bears chief sway, and which retain many of the habits of ancient times, help us to understand how it was in the time of our Saviour, and how readily he might find an example, such as he gives us here, of an unjust judge.

The meaning of the parable is very plain. The widow represents God's own chosen and suppliant people. Like her, they are ready, suffering and weak. Their wrongs need redress. The Judge of all the earth has promised to right them. He stands pledged to hear his people when they cry unto him. In themselves they have no resources, but must fly for succor to One who is mighty. The Saviour did not speak this parable to teach men simply the duty of prayer, nor did he ever inculcate that duty in so many words. He took it for granted, just as he assumed the existence of God and of future life. So here the duty of prayer is assumed, not enjoined. Neither does the parable prescribe what men should ask in prayer, nor on whom they shall depend. The one sole thing taught is the duty of perseverance in prayer, persistent reiteration, when the thing asked for does not come, and until it does come. It is expected that there may be a delay in the answer to prayer; that is expressly implied in the words "though he bear long with them," that is, resists their pressure for aid.

There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus which was laid at his gate, full of sores.

And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table: moreover, the dogs came and licked his sores.

But the questions naturally arise, Why does God not answer at once his children's cry? Why does he so often delay relief, that the hope of succor deferred makes the heart sick? The Scriptures satisfy these questions of the tired heart. In the case of the widow, the selfishness, the love of his own ease, which was a master-passion with the unjust judge, left her claims unheeded. He held out against her as long as he could, and then found that it would trouble him less to grant her petition than to continue deaf to it. But God's action resembles that of the unjust judge only in the matter of delay; and even in this He withholds the answer from His children only for their good. God must have loved the apostle Paul, and yet the petition for relief from the thorn in the flesh was offered up three times without obtaining any response. The thorn was left as a needed discipline for Paul, until in God's own time the answer came: "My grace is sufficient for thee."

The lesson of this story is so plain that it cannot be missed, even by the most careless reader. As the Lord loveth a cheerful giver, so he loveth an earnest, untiring asker. "The kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force." "Open your mouth wide, and I will fill it." We know that it is Jesus who speaks to us with authority, and that he came to declare to us the Father. To reveal the Father's heart he spake this parable, and to show how God would have his children come or keep coming to him. "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint."

THE PHARISEE AND THE PUBLICAN.

"And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others."—Luke xviii. 9–14.

"Two men went up into the temple to pray;" to the acknowledged place of prayer appointed by God, and at the regular hour, a time when all true Israelites prayed, looking towards the temple if they happened to be distant from it. One of these men was a Pharisee, and the other a publican, each sharply distinguished from the other, alike only in one respect, that both were sinners before God; the essential distinction between the men turning not on the enormities of the sins they had severally committed, but on the opposite grounds on which they severally placed their trust. They stood while they prayed, the ordinary attitude of prayer, though kneeling and prostration were both practised at different times. It is the state of the heart in prayer, not the attitude of the body, which God looks upon. "The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee," etc. Those critics are probably right who connect "with himself" with the word "stood" rather than "prayed;" it is not intended to intimate that he prayed by himself, but rather that he stood by himself when praying; he belonged to the aristocracy of God's kingdom, and must not be mingled with the crowd. Then as regards the Pharisee's prayer, the error of it does not lie in its form or matter. It is really a song of praise to God, and it may have been true in its statements. The sin and error of the prayer consists in his presuming to give thanks not for the mercies he has received, but for what he is and does; the leaven of self-conceit and self-righteousness taints the whole prayer.

"The publican standing afar off," etc. Here we begin to find the external marks of an inward penitence. He knew his own heart, and condemned himself. In his humility he esteemed other men better than he was. Getting a sight of his own vileness before God, he felt that his brother man would be contaminated by his presence. He "smote upon his breast," as a sign of deepest contrition, and said, "God be merciful to me, the sinner," not simply "a sinner," as the common version weakly renders it; for as the Pharisee, comparing himself with all mankind, concluded that he alone was good, so this publican, in the depth of his humility, counts himself as the only sinner.

Our Saviour's moral from this scene is an instructive one. "I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other for: every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." The entrance to God's kingdom is not a difficult one; the way of life is very simple, if the heart be rightly set to find it. Coming to God as if we were deserving of his favor, and better than other men, we shall find the wall of his righteousness blocking up our path. Coming to him conscious of our deep unworthiness, counting ourselves as less than nothing, and altogether undeserving of the least of his mercies, we shall find an abundant entrance into his heavenly joy administered to us by his loving hand. But if we feel strong and self-reliant, if we feel that we could not go wrong, then let us begin to be anxious, for danger is near.

THE POUNDS.

"And as they heard these things, he added and spake a parable, because he was nigh to Jerusalem, and because they thought that the kingdom of God should immediately appear."—Luke xix. 11–27.

Our Lord was approaching Jerusalem for the last time, and it was expected by the people that great things would happen when he arrived at the capital. An excited multitude surrounded him, the cause of the excitement being the expectation that the kingdom of God should immediately appear. Jesus spoke this parable to correct the popular impression so far as it was erroneous, and to turn it to account so far as it contained any truth. They looked for Jesus to proclaim himself king; he teaches them by this parable that his kingdom is not of this world—that he, the king, will depart from his subjects for a while, and that it is their duty to occupy their talents and opportunities until his coming again.

The nobleman's errand, when he went abroad, was not to seek the kingdom in a foreign place, but to obtain from a foreign power authority to rule in his own land; this is implied in the objection of his own fellow-citizens, who sent after him the message, "We will not have this man to reign over us." In our Lord's time both the Jews and other nations subject to Rome were familiar with the transaction which forms the basis of this parable. Before setting out on the journey he summons his ten servants and makes arrangements with them concerning the use of his property, naturally desirous that it should be productive during his absence. His method of action is the same as we have seen in the parable of the talents, only in that case the property entrusted was unequally while here it is equally divided. The opposition of his fellow-citizens had no effect in hindering him from obtaining the kingdom, so in time he returns successful; his first business is to reward his servants according to their merits, and his second, to order the punishment of the rebellious citizens. This is, in brief, the statement of the parable, from which we will try to extract the spiritual meaning.

Our Lord himself is represented by the nobleman. He had not obtained full possession of the kingdom during his earthly ministry. His departure for a season was necessary, and this was his death, resurrection, and ascension. Two classes remained in the country while the prince was absent, his servants and his adversaries; and so, spiritually speaking, there are only two classes now, those who serve Christ, and those who, being enemies of God, are rebels against his Son. The parable has not much to say of the latter class, except as it declares their doom; but the services and rewards of the disciples of the Lord are more fully touched upon. The servants are those who, at least by profession, are Christ's disciples, and the pounds are the faculties, of whatever sort, which they possess, and the opportunities which they enjoy. One may invest his Master's capital in one, and another in a different way; both may be equally faithful, equally successful, and so different disciples may in diverse manners serve the Lord. Each man must do the best he can. When the king returns, or the servants are summoned one by one through death to meet their master, they are tried as to their faithfulness. One by investing his pound gained two, and another five. Both are equally approved as faithful, but unequally rewarded; each receives the recompense he has fairly won; and by this we learn two spiritual principles, one, that the disciples of Christ vary as to their efficiencies and success; another, that reward is proportioned according to a man's work. All the faithful are made great; but the greatest worker is the greatest winner when the accounts are closed. The case of the servant who did not invest his pound for the master's benefit does not differ from that of the faithless servant in the parable of the talents, except in one thing: here the pound is simply taken from him, there the slothful servant was cast into outer darkness. But the lesson is the same in each case—not only those who do positive evil, but those who fail to do any good, are counted guilty in God's sight.

The closing lesson of the parable is the judgment and punishment inflicted on the rebels against the king. It is a solemn warning to all who refuse to admit Christ's claims, and to enrol themselves among his servants. He shall rule them with a rod of iron, and break them in pieces like a potter's vessel. Their only safety is submission now, while it is the accepted time, for in the day of his coming and his kingdom sinners shall find no refuge. Are any disposed to resist, rebel and disobey? Cast, cast yourselves at His feet; cast yourselves where you must otherwise lie; embrace those feet while you bow before them, that you be not trodden beneath them: wash them with your tears, that they may not at last trample you.

REVISERS' PREFACE.

THE English version of the New Testament here presented to the reader is a Revision of the Translation published in the year of Our Lord 1611, and commonly known by the name of the Authorised Version.

That Translation was the work of many hands and of several generations. The foundation was laid by William Tyndale. His translation of the New Testament was the true primary version. The Versions that followed were either substantially reproductions of Tyndale's translation in its final shape or revisions of Versions that had been themselves almost entirely based on it. Three successive stages may be recognised in this continuous work of authoritative revision: first, the publication of the Great Bible of 1539–41 in the reign of Henry VIII; next, the publication of the Bishops' Bible of 1568 and 1572 in the reign of Elizabeth; and lastly, the publication of the King's Bible of 1611 in the reign of James I. Besides these, the Genevan Version of 1560, itself founded on Tyndale's translation, must here be named; which, though not put forth by authority, was widely circulated in this country and largely used by King James' Translators. Thus the form in which the English New Testament has now been read for 270 years was the result of various revisions made between 1525 and 1611; and the present Revision is an attempt, after a long interval, to follow the example set by a succession of honoured predecessors.

I. Of the many points of interest connected with the Translation of 1611, two require special notice; first, the Greek Text which it appears to have represented; and secondly, the character of the Translation itself.

1. With regard to the Greek Text, it would appear that, if to some extent the Translators exercised an independent judgement, it was mainly in choosing amongst readings contained in the principal editions of the Greek Text that had appeared in the sixteenth century. Wherever they seem to have followed a reading which is not found in any of those editions, their rendering may probably be traced to the Latin Vulgate. Their chief guides appear to have been the later editions of Stephanus and of Beza, and also, to a certain extent, the Complutensian Polyglott. All these were founded for the most part on manuscripts of late date, few in number, and used with little critical skill. But in those days it could hardly have been otherwise. Nearly all the more ancient of the documentary authorities have become known only within the last two centuries; some of the most important of them, indeed, within the last few years. Their publication has called forth not only improved editions of the Greek Text, but a succession of instructive discussions on the variations which have been brought to light, and on the best modes of distinguishing original readings from changes introduced in the course of transcription. While therefore it has long been the opinion of all scholars that the commonly received text needed thorough revision, it is but recently that materials have been acquired for executing such a work with even approximate completeness.

2. The character of the Translation itself will be best estimated by considering the leading rules under which it was made, and the extent to which these rules appear to have been observed.

The primary and fundamental rule was expressed in the following terms:—'The ordinary Bible read in the Church, commonly called the Bishops' Bible, to be followed, and as little altered as the truth of the Original will permit.' There was, however, this subsequent provision:—'These translations to be used, when they agree better with the text than the Bishops' Bible: Tindale's, Matthew's, Coverdale's, Whitchurch's, Geneva.' The first of these rules, which was substantially the same as that laid down at the revision of the Great Bible in the reign of Elizabeth, was strictly observed. The other rule was but partially followed. The Translators made much use of the Genevan Version. They do not however appear to have frequently returned to the renderings of the other Versions named in the rule, where those Versions differed from the Bishops' Bible. On the other hand, their work shews evident traces of the influence of a Version not specified in the rules, the Rhemish, made from the Latin Vulgate, but by scholars conversant with the Greek Original.

Another rule, on which it is stated that those in authority laid great stress, related to the rendering of words that admitted of different interpretations. It was as follows:—'When a word hath divers significations, that to be kept which hath been most commonly used by the most of the ancient fathers, being agreeable to the propriety of the place and the analogy of the faith.' With this rule was associated the following, on which equal stress appears to have been laid:—'The old ecclesiastical words to be kept; viz., the word Church not to be translated Congregation, &c.' This latter rule was for the most part carefully observed; but it may be doubted whether, in the case of words that admitted of different meanings, the instructions were at all closely followed. In dealing with the more difficult words of this class, the Translators appear to have paid much regard to traditional interpretations, and especially to the authority of the Vulgate; but, as to the large residue of words which might properly fall under the rule, they used considerable freedom. Moreover they profess in their Preface to have studiously adopted a variety of expression which would now be deemed hardly consistent with the requirements of faithful translation. They seem to have been guided by the feeling that their Version would secure for the words they used a lasting place in the language: and they express a fear lest they should 'be charged (by scoffers) with some unequal dealing towards a great num- of good English words,' which, without this liberty on their part, would not have a place in the pages of the English Bible. Still it cannot be doubted that they carried this liberty too far, and that the studied avoidance of uniformity in the rendering of the same words, even when occurring in the same context, is one of the blemishes in their work.

A third leading rule was of a negative character, but was rendered necessary by the experience derived from former Versions. The words of the rule are as follows:—'No marginal notes at all to be affixed, but only for the explanation of the Hebrew or Greek words which cannot without some circumlocution so briefly and fitly be expressed in the text.' Here again the Translators used some liberty in their application of the rule. Out of more than 760 marginal notes originally appended to the Authorised Version of the New Testament, only a seventh part consists of explanations or literal renderings; the great majority of the notes being devoted to the useful and indeed necessary purpose of placing before the reader alternative renderings which it was judged that the passage or the words would fairly admit. The notes referring to variations in the Greek Text amount to about thirty-five.

Of the remaining rules it may be sufficient to notice one, which was for the most part consistently followed:—'The names of the prophets and the holy writers, with the other names of the text, to be retained, as nigh as may be, accordingly as they were vulgarly used.' The Translators had also the liberty, in 'any place of special obscurity,' to consult those who might be qualified to give an opinion.

Passing from these fundamental rules, which should be borne in mind by any one who would rightly understand the nature and character of the Authorised Version, we must call attention to the manner in which the actual work of the translation was carried on. The New Testament was assigned to two separate Companies, the one consisting of eight members, sitting at Oxford, the other consisting of seven members, sitting at Westminster. There is no reason to believe that these Companies ever sat together. They communicated to each other, and likewise to the four Companies to which the Old Testament and the Apocrypha had been committed, the results of their labours; and perhaps afterwards reconsidered them: but the fact that the New Testament was divided between two separate bodies of men involved a grave inconvenience, and was beyond all doubt the cause of many inconsistencies. These probably would have been much more serious, had it not been provided that there should be a final supervision of the whole Bible, by selected members from Oxford, Cambridge, and Westminster, the three centres at which the work had been carried on. These supervisors are said by one authority to have been six in number, and by another twelve. When it is remembered that this supervision was completed in nine months, we may wonder that the incongruities which remain are not more numerous.

The Companies appear to have been occupied in the actual business of revision about two years and three quarters.

Such, so far as can be gathered from the rules and modes of procedure, is the character of the time-honoured version which we have been called upon to revise. We have had to study this great Version carefully and minutely, line by line; and the longer we have been engaged upon it the more we have learned to admire its simplicity, its dignity, its power, its happy turns of expression, its general accuracy, and, we must not fail to add, the music of its cadences, and the felicities of its rhythm. To render a work that had reached this high standard of excellence still more excellent, to increase its fidelity without destroying its charm, was the task committed to us. Of that task, and of the conditions under which we have attempted its fulfillment, it will now be necessary for us to speak.

II. The present Revision had its origin in action taken by the Convocation of the Province of Canterbury in February 1870, and it has been conducted throughout on the plan laid down in Resolutions of both Houses of the Province, and, more particularly, in accordance with Principles and Rules drawn up by a special Committee of Convocation in the following May. Two Companies, the one for the revision of the Authorised Version of the Old Testament, and the other for the revision of the same Version of the New Testament, were formed in the manner specified in the Resolutions, and the work was commenced on the twenty-second day of June 1870. Shortly afterwards, steps were taken, under a resolution passed by both houses of Convocation, for inviting the co-opera-ion of American scholars; and eventually two Committees were formed in America for the purpose of acting with he two English Companies, on the basis of the Principles nd Rules drawn up by the Committee of Convocation.

The fundamental Resolutions adopted by the Convo- ation of Canterbury on the third and fifth days of May 870 were as follows:—

'1. That it is desirable that a revision of the Author- ed Version of the Holy Scriptures be undertaken.

'2. That the revision be so conducted as to comprise oth marginal renderings and such emendations as it may e found necessary to insert in the text of the Authorised ersion.

'3. That in the above resolutions we do not contem- late any new translation of the Bible, or any alteration f the language, except where in the judgment of the ost competent scholars such change is necessary.

'4. That in such necessary changes, the style of the nguage employed in the existing Version be closely llowed.

'5. That it is desirable that Convocation should nomi- ate a body of its own members to undertake the work revision, who shall be at liberty to invite the co-oper- ion of any eminent for scholarship, to whatever nation religious body they may belong.'

The Principles and Rules agreed to by the Committee Convocation on the twenty-fifth day of May 1870 were follows:—

'1. To introduce as few alterations as possible into e Text of the Authorised Version consistently with ithfulness.

'2. To limit, as far as possible, the expression of such erations to the language of the Authorised and earlier nglish Versions.

'3. Each Company to go twice over the portion to be vised, once provisionally, the second time finally, and principles of voting as hereinafter is provided.

'4. That the Text to be adopted be that for which the vidence is decidedly preponderating; and that when e Text so adopted differs from that from which the uthorised Version was made, the alteration be indicated the margin.

'5. To make or retain no change in the Text on the cond final revision by each Company, except two thirds those present approve of the same, but on the first vision to decide by simple majorities.

'6. In every case of proposed alteration that may have ven rise to discussion, to defer the voting thereupon l the next Meeting, whensoever the same shall be quired by one third of those present at the Meeting, ch intended vote to be announced in the notice for the xt Meeting.

'7. To revise the headings of chapters and pages, ragraphs, italics, and punctuation.

'8. To refer, on the part of each Company, when considered desirable, to Divines, Scholars, and Literary Men, whether at home or abroad, for their opinions.'

These rules it has been our endeavour faithfully and consistently to follow. One only of them we found ourselves unable to observe in all particulars. In accordance with the seventh rule, we have carefully revised the paragraphs, italics, and punctuation. But the revision of the headings of chapters and pages would have involved so much of indirect, and indeed frequently of direct interpretation, that we judged it best to omit them altogether.

Our communications with the American Committee have been of the following nature. We transmitted to them from time to time each several portion of our First Revision, and received from them in return their criticisms and suggestions. These we considered with much care and attention during the time we were engaged on our Second Revision. We then sent over to them the various portions of the Second Revision as they were completed, and received further suggestions, which, like the former, were closely and carefully considered. Last of all, we forwarded to them the Revised Version in its final form; and a list of those passages in which they desire to place on record their preference of other readings and renderings will be found at the end of the volume. We gratefully acknowledge their care, vigilance, and accuracy; and we humbly pray that their labours and our own, thus happily united, may be permitted to bear a blessing to both countries, and to all English-speaking people throughout the world.

The whole time devoted to the work has been ten years and a half. The First Revision occupied about six years; the Second, about two years and a half. The remaining time has been spent in the consideration of the suggestions from America on the Second Revision, and of many details and reserved questions arising out of our own labours. As a rule, a session of four days has been held every month (with the exception of August and September) in each year from the commencement of the work in June 1870. The average attendance for the whole time has been sixteen each day; the whole Company consisting at first of twenty-seven, but for the greater part of the time of twenty-four members, many of them residing at great distances from London. Of the original number four have been removed from us by death.

At an early stage in our labours, we entered into an agreement with the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge for the conveyance to them of our copyright in the work. This arrangement provided for the necessary expenses of the undertaking; and procured for the Revised Version the advantage of being published by Bodies long connected with the publication of the Authorised Version.

III. We now pass onward to give a brief account of the particulars of the present work. This we propose to do under the four heads of Text, Translation, Language, and Marginal Notes.

1. A revision of the Greek text was the necessary foundation of our work; but it did not fall within our province to construct a continuous and complete Greek text. In many cases the English rendering was considered to represent correctly either of two competing readings in the Greek, and then the question of the text was usually not raised. A sufficiently laborious task remained in deciding between the rival claims of various readings which might properly affect the translation. When these were adjusted, our deviations from the text presumed to underlie the Authorised Version had next to be indicated, in accordance with the fourth rule; but it proved inconvenient to record them in the margin. A better mode however of giving them publicity has been found, as the University Presses have undertaken to print them in connection with complete Greek texts of the New Testament.

In regard of the readings thus approved, it may be observed that the fourth rule, by requiring that 'the text to be adopted' should be 'that for which the evidence is decidedly preponderating,' was in effect an instruction to follow the authority of documentary evidence without deference to any printed text of modern times, and therefore to employ the best resources of criticism for estimating the value of evidence. Textual criticism, as applied to the Greek New Testament, forms a special study of much intricacy and difficulty, and even now leaves room for considerable variety of opinion among competent critics. Different schools of criticism have been represented among us, and have together contributed to the final result. In the early part of the work every various reading requiring consideration was discussed and voted on by the Company. After a time the precedents thus established enabled the process to be safely shortened; but it was still at the option of every one to raise a full discussion on any particular reading, and the option was freely used. On the first revision, in accordance with the fifth rule, the decisions were arrived at by simple majorities. On the second revision, at which a majority of two thirds was required to retain or introduce a reading at variance with the reading presumed to underlie the Authorised Version, many readings previously adopted were brought again into debate, and either re-affirmed or set aside.

Many places still remain in which, for the present, it would not be safe to accept one reading to the absolute exclusion of others. In these cases we have given alternative readings in the margin, wherever they seem to be of sufficient importance or interest to deserve notice. In the introductory formula, the phrases 'many ancient authorities,' 'some ancient authorities,' are used with some latitude to denote a greater or lesser proportion of those authorities which have a distinctive right to be called ancient. These ancient authorities comprise not only Greek manuscripts, some of which were written in the fourth and fifth centuries, but versions of a still earlier date in different languages, and also quotations by Christian writers of the second and following centuries.

2. We pass now from the Text to the Translation. The character of the Revision was determined for us from the outset by the first rule, 'to introduce as few alterations as possible, consistently with faithfulness.' Our task was revision, not re-translation.

In the application however of this principle to the many and intricate details of our work, we have found ourselves constrained by faithfulness to introduce changes which might not at first sight appear to be included under the rule.

The alterations which we have made in the Authorised Version may be roughly grouped in five principal classes. First, alterations positively required by change of reading in the Greek Text. Secondly, alterations made where the Authorised Version appeared either to be incorrect, or to have chosen the less probable of two possible renderings. Thirdly, alterations of obscure or ambiguous renderings into such as are clear and express in their import. For it has been our principle not to leave any translation, or any arrangement of words, which could adapt itself to one or other of two interpretations, but rather to express as plainly as was possible that interpretation which seemed best to deserve a place in the text, and to put the other in the margin.

There remain yet two other classes of alterations which we have felt to be required by the same principle of faithfulness. These are,—Fourthly, alterations of the Authorised Version in cases where it was inconsistent with itself in the rendering of two or more passages confessedly alike or parallel. Fifthly, alterations rendered necessary by consequence, that is, arising out of changes already made, though not in themselves required by the general rule of faithfulness. Both these classes of alterations call for some further explanation.

The frequent inconsistencies in the Authorised Version have caused as much embarrassment from the fact already referred to, namely, that a studied variety of rendering, even in the same chapter and context, was a kind of principle with our predecessors, and was defended by them on grounds that have been mentioned above. The problem we had to solve was to discriminate between varieties of rendering which were compatible with fidelity to the true meaning of the text, and varieties which involved inconsistency, and were suggestive of differences that had no existence in the Greek. This problem we ave solved to the best of our power and for the most art in the following way.

Where there was a doubt as to the exact shade of eaning, we have looked to the context for guidance. If ie meaning was fairly expressed by the word or phrase iat was before us in the Authorised Version, we made o change, even where rigid adherence to the rule of anslating, as far as possible, the same Greek word by ie same English word might have prescribed some odification.

There are however numerous passages in the Author- ed Version in which, whether regard be had to the currence (as in the first three Gospels) of identical auses and sentences, to the repetition of the same word the same passage, or to the characteristic use of rticular words by the same writer, the studied variety lopted by the Translators of 1611 has produced a de- ee of inconsistency that cannot be reconciled with the inciple of faithfulness. In such cases we have not esitated to introduce alterations, even though the sense ight not seem to the general reader to be materially fected.

The last class of alterations is that which we have de- ribed as rendered necessary by consequence; that is, y reason of some foregoing alteration. The cases in hich these consequential changes have been found neces- ry are numerous and of very different kinds. Some- mes the change has been made to avoid tautology; some- mes to obviate an unpleasing alliteration or some other felicity of sound; sometimes, in the case of smaller ords, to preserve the familiar rhythm; sometimes for a nvergence of reasons which, when explained, would at ce be accepted, but until so explained might never be rmised even by intelligent readers.

This may be made plain by an example. When a rticular word is found to recur with characteristic fre- ency in any one of the Sacred Writers, it is obviously sirable to adopt for it some uniform rendering. Again, here, as in the case of the first three Evangelists, pre- sely the same clauses or sentences are found in more an one of the Gospels, it is no less necessary to trans- te them in every place in the same way. These two inciples may be illustrated by reference to a word that rpetually recurs in St. Mark's Gospel, and that may be anslated either 'straightway,' 'forthwith,' or 'immedi- ely.' Let it be supposed that the first rendering is osen, and that the word, in accordance with the first of e above principles, is in that Gospel uniformly trans- ted 'straightway.' Let it be further supposed that one the passages of St. Mark in which it is so translated is und, word for word, in one of the other Gospels, but iat there the rendering of the Authorised Version hap- ns to be 'forthwith' or 'immediately.' That rendering ust be changed on the second of the above principles; and yet such a change would not have been made but for this concurrence of two sound principles, and the consequent necessity of making a change on grounds extraneous to the passage itself.

This is but one of many instances of consequential alterations which might at first sight appear unnecessary, but which nevertheless have been deliberately made, and are not at variance with the rule of introducing as few changes in the Authorised Version as faithfulness would allow.

There are some other points of detail which it may be here convenient to notice. One of these, and perhaps the most important, is the rendering of the Greek aorist. There are numerous cases, especially in connexion with particles ordinarily expressive of present time, in which the use of the indefinite past tense in Greek and English is altogether different; and in such instances we have not attempted to violate the idiom of our language by forms of expression which it could not bear. But we have often ventured to represent the Greek aorist by the English preterite, even where the reader may find some passing difficulty in such a rendering, because we have felt convinced that the true meaning of the original was obscured by the presence of the familiar auxiliary. A remarkable illustration may be found in the seventeenth chapter of St. John's Gospel, where the combination of the aorist and the perfect shews, beyond all reasonable doubt, that different relations of time were intended to be expressed.

Changes of translation will also be found in connexion with the aorist participle, arising from the fact that the usual periphrasis of this participle in the Vulgate, which was rendered necessary by Latin idiom, has been largely reproduced in the Authorised Version by 'when' with the past tense (as for example in the second chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel), even where the ordinary participial rendering would have been easier and more natural in English.

In reference to the perfect and the imperfect tenses but little needs to be said. The correct translation of the former has been for the most part, though with some striking exceptions, maintained in the Authorised Version: while with regard to the imperfect, clear as its meaning may be in the Greek, the power of expressing it is so limited in English, that we have been frequently compelled to leave the force of the tense to be inferred from the context. In a few instances, where faithfulness imperatively required it, and especially where, in the Greek, the significance of the imperfect tense seemed to be additionally marked by the use of the participle with the auxiliary verb, we have introduced the corresponding form in English. Still, in the great majority of cases we have been obliged to retain the English preterite, and to rely either on slight changes in the order of the words, or on prominence given to the accompanying temporal particles, for the indication of the meaning which, in the Greek, the imperfect tense was designed to convey.

On other points of grammar it may be sufficient to speak more briefly.

Many changes, as might be anticipated, have been made in the case of the definite article. Here again it was necessary to consider the peculiarities of English idiom, as well as the general tenor of each passage. Sometimes we have felt it enough to prefix the article to the first of a series of words to all of which it is prefixed in the Greek, and thus, as it were, to impart the idea of definiteness to the whole series, without running the risk of overloading the sentence. Sometimes, conversely, we have had to tolerate the presence of the definite article in our Version, when it is absent from the Greek, and perhaps not even grammatically latent; simply because English idiom would not allow the noun to stand alone, and because the introduction of the indefinite article might have introduced an idea of oneness or individuality, which was not in any degree traceable in the original. In a word, we have been careful to observe the use of the article wherever it seemed to be idiomatically possible: where it did not seem to be possible, we have yielded to necessity.

As to the pronouns and the place they occupy in the sentence, a subject often overlooked by our predecessors, we have been particularly careful; but here again we have frequently been baffled by structural or idiomatical peculiarities of the English language which precluded changes otherwise desirable.

In the case of the particles we have met with less difficulty, and have been able to maintain a reasonable amount of consistency. The particles in the Greek Testament are, as is well known, comparatively few, and they are commonly used with precision. It has therefore been the more necessary here to preserve a general uniformity of rendering, especially in the case of the particles of causality and inference, so far as English idiom would allow.

Lastly, many changes have been introduced in the rendering of the prepositions, especially where ideas of instrumentality or of mediate agency, distinctly marked in the original, had been confused or obscured in the translation. We have, however, borne in mind the comprehensive character of such prepositions as 'of' and 'by,' the one in reference to agency and the other in reference to means, especially in the English of the seventeenth century; and have rarely made any change where the true meaning of the original as expressed in the Authorised Version would be apparent to a reader of ordinary intelligence.

3. We now come to the subject of Language.

The second of the rules, by which the work has been governed, prescribed that the alterations to be introduced should be expressed, as far as possible, in the language of the Authorised Version or of the Versions that preceded it.

To this rule we have faithfully adhered. We have habitually consulted the earlier Versions; and in our sparing introduction of words not found in them or in the Authorised Version we have usually satisfied ourselves that such words were employed by standard writers of nearly the same date, and had also that general hue, which justified their introduction into a Version which has held the highest place in the classical literature of our language. We have never removed any archaisms, whether in structure or in words, except where we were persuaded either that the meaning of the words was not generally understood, or that the nature of the expression led to some misconception of the true sense of the passage. The frequent inversions of the strict order of the words, which add much to the strength and variety of the Authorised Version, and give an archaic colour to many felicities of diction, have been seldom modified. Indeed, we have often adopted the same arrangement in our own alterations; and in this, as in other particulars, we have sought to assimilate the new work to the old.

In a few exceptional cases we have failed to find any word in the older stratum of our language that appeared to convey the precise meaning of the original. There, and there only, we have used words of a later date; but not without having first assured ourselves that they are to be found in the writings of the best authors of the period to which they belong.

In regard of Proper Names no rule was prescribed to us. In the case of names of frequent occurrence we have deemed it best to follow generally the rule laid down for our predecessors. That rule, it may be remembered, was to this effect, 'The names of the prophets and the holy writers, with the other names of the text, to be retained, as nigh as may be, accordingly as they were vulgarly used.' Some difficulty has been felt in dealing with names less familiarly known. Here our general practice has been to follow the Greek form of names, except in the case of persons and places mentioned in the Old Testament: in this case we have followed the Hebrew.

4. The subject of the Marginal Notes deserves special attention. They represent the results of a large amount of careful and elaborate discussion, and will, perhaps, by their very presence, indicate to some extent the intricacy of many of the questions that have almost daily come before us for decision. These Notes fall into four main groups: first, notes specifying such differences of reading as were judged to be of sufficient importance to require a particular notice; secondly, notes indicating the exact rendering of words to which, for the sake of English liom, we were obliged to give a less exact rendering in ıe text; thirdly, notes, very few in number, affording ›me explanation which the original seemed to require; urthly, alternative renderings in difficult or debatable ıssages. The notes of this last group are numerous, ıd largely in excess of those which were admitted by ır predecessors. In the 270 years that have passed way since their labours were concluded, the Sacred Text ıs been minutely examined, discussed in every detail, ıd analysed with a grammatical precision unknown in ıe days of the last Revision. There has thus been acımulated a large amount of materials that have prepared ıe way for different renderings, which necessarily came nder discussion. We have therefore placed before the ader in the margin other renderings than those which ere adopted in the text, wherever such renderings eemed to deserve consideration. The rendering in the xt, where it agrees with the Authorised Version, was ıpported by at least one third, and, where it differs from ıe Authorised Version, by at least two thirds of those ho were present at the second revision of the passage ı question.

A few supplementary matters have yet to be menoned. These may be thus enumerated,—the use of alics, the arrangement into Paragraphs, the mode of rinting Quotations from the Poetical Books of the Old estament, the Punctuation, and, last of all, the Titles of ıe different Books that make up the New Testament,— l of them particulars on which it seems desirable to add few explanatory remarks.

(a) The determination, in each place, of the words to printed in italics has not been by any means easy; or can we hope to be found in all cases perfectly consistent. In the earliest editions of the Authorised Version the use of a different type to indicate supplementary words not contained in the original was not very frequent, nd cannot easily be reconciled with any settled principle. A review of the words so printed was made, after a ıpse of some years, for the editions of the Authorised ersion published at Cambridge in 1629 and 1638. urther, though slight, modifications were introduced at ıtervals between 1638 and the more systematic revisions ndertaken respectively by Dr. Paris in the Cambridge dition of 1762, and by Dr. Blayney in the Oxford dition of 1769. None of them however rest on any igher authority than that of the persons who from time time superintended the publication. The last attempt to ring the use of italics into uniformity and consistency as made by Dr. Scrivener in the Paragraph Bible pubshed at Cambridge in 1870–73. In succeeding to these ıbours, we have acted on the general principle of printng in italics words which did not appear to be necesarily involved in the Greek. Our tendency has been to diminish rather than to increase the amount of italic printing; though, in the case of difference of readings, we have usually marked the absence of any words in the original which the sense might nevertheless require to be present in the Version; and again, in the case of inserted pronouns, where the reference did not appear to be perfectly certain, we have similarly had recourse to italics. Some of these cases, especially when there are slight differences of reading, are of singular intricacy, and make it impossible to maintain rigid uniformity.

(b) We have arranged the Sacred Text in paragraphs, after the precedent of the earliest English Versions, so as to assist the general reader in following the current of narrative or argument. The present arrangement will be found, we trust, to have preserved the due mean between a system of long portions which must often include several separate topics, and a system of frequent breaks which, though they may correctly indicate the separate movements of thought in the writer, often seriously impede a just perception of the true continuity of the passage. The traditional division into chapters, which the Authorised Version inherited from Latin Bibles of the later middle ages, is an illustration of the former method. These paragraphs, for such in fact they are, frequently include several distinct subjects. Moreover they sometimes, though rarely, end where there is no sufficient break in the sense. The division of chapters into verses, which was introduced into the New Testament for the first time in 1551, is an exaggeration of the latter method, with its accompanying inconveniences. The serious obstacles to the right understanding of Holy Scripture, which are interposed by minute subdivision, are often overlooked; but if any one will consider for a moment the injurious effect that would be produced by breaking up a portion of some great standard work into separate verses, he will at once perceive how necessary has been an alteration in this particular. The arrangement by chapters and verses undoubtedly affords facilities for reference: but this advantage we have been able to retain by placing the numerals on the inside margin of each page.

(c) A few words will suffice as to the mode of printing quotations from the Poetical Books of the Old Testament. Wherever the quotation extends to two or more lines, our practice has been to recognise the parallelism of their structure by arranging the lines in a manner that appears to agree with the metrical divisions of the Hebrew original. Such an arrangement will be found helpful to the reader; not only as directing his attention to the poetical character of the quotation, but as also tending to make its force and pertinence more fully felt. We have treated in the same way the hymns in the first two chapters of the Gospel according to St. Luke.

(d) Great care has been bestowed on the punctuation. Our practice has been to maintain what is sometimes called the heavier system of stopping, or, in other words, that system which, especially for convenience in reading aloud, suggests such pauses as will best ensure a clear and intelligent setting forth of the true meaning of the words. This course has rendered necessary, especially in the Epistles, a larger use of colons and semicolons than is customary in modern English printing.

(e) We may in the last place notice one particular to which we were not expressly directed to extend our revision, namely, the titles of the Books of the New Testament. These titles are no part of the original text; and the titles found in the most ancient manuscripts are of too short a form to be convenient for use. Under these circumstances, we have deemed it best to leave unchanged the titles which are given in the Authorised Version as printed in 1611.

We now conclude, humbly commending our labours to Almighty God, and praying that his favour and blessing may be vouchsafed to that which has been done in his name. We recognised from the first the responsibility of the undertaking; and through our manifold experience of its abounding difficulties we have felt, more and more, as we went onward, that such a work can never be accomplished by organized efforts of scholarship and criticism, unless assisted by Divine help.

We know full well that defects must have their place in a work so long and so arduous as this which has now come to an end. Blemishes and imperfections there are in the noble Translation which we have been called upon to revise; blemishes and imperfections will assuredly be found in our own Revision. All endeavours to translate the Holy Scriptures into another tongue must fall short of their aim, when the obligation is imposed of producing a Version that shall be alike literal and idiomatic, faithful to each thought of the original, and yet, in the expression of it, harmonious and free. While we dare to hope that in places not a few of the New Testament the introduction of slight changes has cast a new light upon much that was difficult and obscure, we cannot forget how often we have failed in expressing some finer shade of meaning which we recognized in the original, how often idiom has stood in the way of a perfect rendering, and how often the attempt to preserve a familiar form of words, or even a familiar cadence, has only added another perplexity to those which already beset us.

Thus, in the review of the work which we have been permitted to complete, our closing words must be words of mingled thanksgiving, humility, and prayer. Of thanksgiving, for the many blessings vouchsafed to us throughout the unbroken progress of our corporate labours; of humility, for our failings and imperfections in the fulfilment of our task; and of prayer to Almighty God, that the Gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ may be more clearly and more freshly shewn forth to all who shall be readers of this Book.

HISTORY OF HEROD, KING OF THE JEWS.

By Rev G. F. Maclear, D.D.

ANTIPATER appointed his eldest son, Phasael, Governor of Judæa, and conferred the tetrarchy of Galilee on his youngst son, Herod. Of the two sons thus appointed to prominent positions, the younger, Herod, soon began to display uncommon abilities, and the most unbounded ambition. Though only twenty-five years of age, the new governor of Galilee turned his energies at once to the efficient management of his province. Numerous robber-bands, which infested the confines of Syria, were resolutely attacked; their chief, Hezekias, was put to death, and security was restored. Such decision won the praises of multitudes in the towns and cities of Syria.

Two years later, B.C. 44, Cæsar was assassinated at Rome, and Antipater addressed himself to the task of meeting the new situation, unexpected even by his sagacity. Cassius, the chief conspirator in the murder of Cæsar, became pro-consul of Syria, and arriving in Judæa, enforced upon the country the enormous tribute of seven hundred talents of silver. Antipater commissioned Herod to collect the quota from Galilee, while Malichus, a powerful Jew, and an adherent of Hyrcanus, was directed to obtain the rest. Herod, with characteristic energy, employed himself in raising two hundred talents for Galilee, and so gained the favour of Cassius, while the people of Lydda, Gophna, and Emmaus, being backward in their contributions, were sold into slavery; but so incensed was the pro-consul at Malichus for his dilatoriness, that he would have put him to death, had it not been for the intervention of Antipater, who advanced one hundred talents on his account. Herod was now confirmed in the government of Cœle-Syria, and Cassius even promised him the kingdom of Judæa, if the arms of the Republic proved triumphant.

An unexpected power appeared in the country, and Judæa became the victim of the strife for empire between Rome and Parthia. While Antonius was wasting his time in the society of Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, the Parthians, under Pacorus, having been bribed by Antigonus, advanced through Syria, and made themselves masters of Sidon, Ptolemais, and all the coast except Tyre. Hence a division of the Parthian forces marched against Jerusalem, and their leader, admitted within the walls, proposed to act as umpire between the rival claimants for the throne of Judæa.

Meanwhile the Parthians had obtained possession of Jerusalem. Antigonus was made king, and Hyrcanus and Phasael were delivered into his power. The latter, knowing his death was certain, beat out his brains against the walls of his prison. Thus Jerusalem was left in the hands of a foreign army, who committed the greatest excesses.

Herod in the meantime had not been idle. On arriving at Rome he found Antonius at the summit of power. The triumvir received him with the utmost distinction, and introduced him to Octavius, who at once recalled the services which the Idumean had rendered to the great Julius. A Parthian campaign was at this time being diligently planned by Antonius, and he found in Herod a useful ally. Within seven days, therefore, he procured a decree of the senate, nominating him king of Judæa, and Herod, successful beyond his most sanguine hopes, walked in procession between Octavius and Antonius, preceded by the consuls and other magistrates, to the Capitol, where the usual sacrifices were offered, and the decree investing him with royal power was enrolled.

Herod did not remain long at Rome. Everything depended on the celerity of his movements. The close of the week, therefore, saw him appointed king, and hurrying to Brundusium. Thence he took ship for Ptolemais, and arrived there after an absence of barely three months. Collecting a body of troops, he speedily won over all Galilee, where the recollection of his energy as governor was still fresh. Then he set out to attack Antigonus, who had unsuccessfully laid siege to Masâda, in the hope of obtaining possession of Mariamne. Joppa next fell into his hands; and having raised the siege of Masâda, and liberated his relatives, he proceeded, in conjunction with the Roman general Silo, to lay siege to Jerusalem, B.C. 37, and recommenced the siege, aided by Sosius, at the head of 50,000 troops.

But his progress was still slow. Forty days were spent in taking the first wall, fifteen in taking the second. Then the outer court of the Temple and the lower city were reduced. At last the signal for the assault was given, and an indiscriminate massacre ensued. Multitudes were cut down in the narrow streets, many more while crowded together in their houses. The fury of the legions was roused, and the massacre was only stayed by the repeated solicitations of Herod, who stood with a drawn sword before the entrance of the Holy of Holies, and threatened to cut down any one of the Roman soldiers who attempted to enter.

Herod had now attained the highest object of his ambition. By Roman aid, and under the influence of Roman supremacy, he had become sole ruler of Palestine, and he maintained his power unchallenged until his death. The eventful year, B.C. 31, was drawing on. The rival potentates of Judæa and Egypt had long been watching and fencing with each other, when the battle of Actium ended all their intrigues, and both found themselves obliged to petition for existence from the conqueror. Herod had raised a body of troops to assist Antonius, but the designs of Cleopatra had involved him in a war with Malchus, an Arabian prince. In the first campaign he had been signally defeated, owing to the unwillingness of the Jews to undertake a war against a nation with whom they had no quarrel. But in the spring of B.C. 31, a sudden earthquake convulsed the cities of southern Palestine, and the Arabs, taking advantage of the consternation, slew the Jewish ambassadors who had come to treat for peace. The news of their barbarity roused the whole people, and enabled Herod to win a decisive victory over his foes at Philadelphia, and to gain something like popular favour from his subjects. Thus, successful beyond all his expectations, Herod returned to Jerusalem with greater power secured to him than he had ever enjoyed before.

Herod's return to his capital was the signal for fresh cruelties. The secret orders entrusted to the guardian of Mariamne had been a second time divulged; she persisted in refusing the monarch's affection, and reproached him bitterly with his cruelty towards her family. At length, carried away by rage and jealousy, Herod executed not only Mariamne's guardian, Soemus, but his queen herself. Mariamne submitted to the axe of the executioner with calmness and intrepidity, B.C. 29, and showed herself in death worthy of the noble race of which she came. The horrible reality of the deed, and a sense of his own loss, wrung his spirit to madness. It was long before he recovered fully from the mental derangement which came on.

By the tribute he paid to Rome year by year he acknowledged the tenure on which he held his power. He filled Jerusalem with edifices built in the Greek taste. He inaugurated public exhibitions, and spectacles of all kinds. A theatre rose within, an amphitheatre without, the walls of Jerusalem. Quinquennial games were celebrated on a scale of the utmost magnificence. Shows of gladiators and combats of wild beasts were exhibited within the City of David itself.

He had already built two castles in the southern part of Jerusalem, erected a palace on the impregnable hill of Sion, restored and enlarged the Baris, and called it Antonia, in memory of his former patron. He now converted other places into strong fortresses. South-western Galilee needed a defence against Phœnicia, and his kingdom required a naval harbour and a maritime city. Thirty miles south of Mount Carmel a convenient point offered itself for the latter purpose, at a spot called Strato's Tower. This he converted into a magnificent city, called Cæsarea, with a harbour equal in size to the Piræus at Athens. West of Mount Tabor he built Gabatha; east of the Jordan he fortified the ancient Heshbon; while Samaria, which had been destroyed by John Hyrcanus, rose once more from its ruins, not only considerably increased, but also adorned with a new and magnificent temple, and called Sebaste or Augusta, in honour of the Roman Emperor.

While thus rebuilding the ruined cities of his kingdom, Herod repeatedly endeavoured, by acts of munificence and liberality, to conciliate the good-will of his subjects. Thus, when in B.C. 24, the crops in Palestine failed for the second time, he not only opened his own private stores, but sent to Petronius, the Roman governor of Egypt, a personal friend, and obtained permission to export corn from that country, with which he not only supplied the wants of his own people, but was even able to send seed into Syria. In this way, and by remitting more than once a great part of the heavy taxation, he earned for himself general gratitude, both from his heathen and Jewish subjects.

At length he resolved to take a step which should ingratiate himself with all classes. He determined to rival Solomon, and rebuild the Temple. Since the restoration of the second Temple by Zorobabel, that structure had fallen in many places into ruin, and had suffered much during the recent wars. He announced his intention, about the year B.C. 20, on the occasion of the Feast of the Passover. But his proposition roused the greatest mistrust, and he found himself obliged to proceed with the utmost caution, and to use every means to allay suspicion. Two years were spent in bringing together the materials, and vast preparations were made before a single stone of the old building was touched. At last, in the year B.C. 18, the foundations of the Temple of Zorobabel were removed, and on those laid centuries before by Solomon, the new pile arose, built of hard white stones of enormous size. Eighteen months were spent in building the Porch, the Holy Place, and the Holy of Holies. Eight years more elapsed before the courts and cloisters and other extensive and splendid buildings around the sacred structure were completed.

On the highest level of the rocky platform of Moriah rose the Naos, or Temple proper, erected solely by priestly hands, divided, as in the days of Solomon, into a Holy Place and a Holy of Holies by a veil or curtain of the finest work. "No figures, no sculpture, as in Persian and Egyptian temples, adorned the front. Golden vines and clusters of grapes, the typical plant and fruit of Israel, ran along the wall; and the greater and lesser lights of heaven were wrought into the texture of the veil. The whole façade was covered with plates of gold, which, when the sun shone upon them in the early day, sent back his rays with an added glory, so great that gazers standing on Olivet had to shade their eyes when turning towards the Temple mount."

The pavement was inlaid with marble of many colours. The most beautiful gateways led into this court, of great height, and ornamented with the utmost skill. One of these, on the eastern side, looking towards the Mount of Olives, was known as "Solomon's Porch;" close by it was another, the pride of the Temple area, as one writer says, "more like the gopura of an Indian temple than anything we are acquainted with in architecture." This, in all probability, was the one called the "Beautiful Gate" in the New Testament.

The Sanctuary was completed in the year B.C. 16, the anniversary of Herod's inauguration, and was celebrated with a magnificent feast and the most lavish sacrifices. Immediately afterwards Herod undertook a journey to Rome to fetch home his two sons, Alexander and Aristobulus. He was received with every mark of attention by Augustus, and returned to his capital about the spring of B.C. 15. Agrippa was now on a visit to Asia, to inspect these provinces of the empire for his master. Herod thereupon invited him to visit Judæa. Agrippa consented, and escorted by Herod, passed through his new cities of Sebaste and Cæsarea.

Returning from Asia Minor, B.C. 14, Herod landed at his new port of Cæsarea, and proceeding to Jerusalem, recounted the privileges he had secured for the nation, and remitted a fourth of the year's tribute. It might have been hoped that the close of his reign would make some atonement for the atrocities of earlier years; but a scene of bloodshed was now to be enacted far more awful than any which had darkened his reign, as if to show that the "spirit of the injured Mariamne hovered over Herod's devoted house, and, involving the innocent as well as the guilty in the common ruin, designated the dwelling of her murderous husband as the perpetual scene of misery and bloodshed."

On the return of the young princes, Alexander and Aristobulus, they were received by the populace with the utmost enthusiasm, in spite of their education in a foreign land. Their grace and beauty, their engaging manners, above all their descent from the ancient Asmonean line, made them objects of hope and joy on the part of the nation. But the keenest hatred of Pherôras and Salome was now aroused, and they began to whisper into Herod's ear that the young men were bent on avenging their mother's death. The king had given them in marriage, Alexander to Galphyra, the daughter of Archelaus, king of Cappadocia; Aristobulus to Mariamne, a daughter of Salome. Proud of the popularity his sons had acquired, Herod for some time refused to attach any credence to these vile insinuations. At length he adopted an expedient which led to the most disastrous results. By an earlier wife, named Doris, he had a son Antipater. After his alliance with the Asmonean princess he had put Doris away. Now he recalled her and her son, and made the young man a sort of spy over his two step-brothers. Cunning, ambitious, and unscrupulous, Antipater threw himself heart and soul into all the plots of Pherôras and Salome, and continued to make the two princes objects of more and more suspicion to their father.

The arrival at Jerusalem of Archelaus, king of Cappadocia, and father-in-law of Alexander, caused a temporary lull. This monarch succeeded in reinstating the young prince in his father's favour; but the reconciliation was only on the surface. His brother Pherôras, Salome, and, worst of all, Antipater, again filled Herod's mind with apprehensions and suspicions, and he determined once more to seek the advice of Augustus. Accordingly he set out for Rome in B.C. 8, and preferred his complaints against his sons before the emperor. Augustus advised that he should hold a court of arbitration, and recommended Berytus, in Phœnicia, as the place of meeting. There one hundred and fifty princes therefore assembled together, with Saturninus and Volumnius, the prefects of Syria. Before this tribunal Herod laid his complaints, pleaded his cause, and publicly accused his sons. After hearing the charge Saturninus advised that mercy should be extended towards the young men; Volumnius and the majority urged their condemnation, and eventually they were strangled at Samaria, at the very same place where their father had celebrated his marriage with their mother.

But the execution of those unfortunate princes did but little towards removing the elements of discord in Herod's household. Repeated dissensions had arisen between him and his brother Pherôras, who was at length ordered to retire to his own tetrarchy of Peræa. There he sickened and died, and his widow was accused of having poisoned him. The investigation that ensued revealed a new and still more formidable conspiracy, which Antipater and Pherôras had formed against Herod's life. Antipater was absent at Rome, but he was allowed to return to Cæsarea, and on reaching Jerusalem was instantly seized, and brought to trial before the Roman governor of Syria, Quintilius Varus. The charge was proved, and he was condemned to death, but his execution was respited till the will of the emperor could be ascertained.

Herod was now upwards of seventy years of age, and already felt the approach of his last mortal malady. Removing for change of air to Jericho, he resolved to make the final alterations in his will. Passing over Archelaus and Philip, whom Antipater had accused of treachery, he nominated Antipas, a son by Malthace, a Samaritan, his successor in the kingdom; and left magnificent bequests to Cæsar, to Cæsar's wife Julia, to her sons, and to the members of his own family.

Before Herod left for Jericho, and while he was still residing in the magnificent palace he had built on Zion, his fears and suspicions were still further increased by the visit to his capital of certain magi from the East, bearing the strange intelligence that they had seen in the East the star of a new-born King of the Jews, and had come to worship Him.

The inquiry respecting an hereditary King of the Jews roused the alarm of the Idumean tyrant, and, hastily convening an assemdly of the chief priests and scribes, he inquired where, according to their prophetical books, the long-expected Messiah was to be born. Without any hesitation they pointed to the words of the prophet Micah, which declared that Bethlehem, in Judæa, was the favoured spot. Concealing his wicked intentions, the monarch therefore bade the magi repair to Bethlehem, bidding them let him know as soon as they had found the young child, that he, too, might come and do Him reverence.

Thus advised, the magi set out, and at Bethlehem they found "the young Child, and Mary his Mother, and they fell down and worshipped Him." For true it was that while Herod's blood-stained reign was drawing near its close, and when, after a life of tyranny and unsurpation, he was sinking "into the jealous decrepitude of his savage old age," a lowly Virgin had at Bethlehem brought "forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger." The advent of this true King of kings, "in great humility," had moved all heaven to its centre; and while Herod's palaces were the scenes of jealousies, suspicion, and murders, and his subjects were groaning under the yoke of his iron rule, the heavenly song had floated over the hills of Bethlehem, and shepherds keeping watch over their flocks had heard the words, breaking the stillness of the night, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men."

After they had offered their homage and their gifts to the heavenly Child, the magi would naturally have returned to Herod; but warned of God in a dream of peril awaiting them if they did so, they returned to their own land another way. Thus foiled, the jealousy of Herod assumed a more malignant aspect, and, unable to identify the royal Infant of the seed of David, he issued an edict that all the children of Bethlehem and its neighbourhood, from two years old and under, should be slain.

"Herod's whole career was red with the blood of murder. He had massacred priests and nobles; he had decimated the Sanhedrin; he had caused the high priest, his brother-in-law, the young and noble Aristobulus, to be drowned in pretended sport before his eyes; he had ordered the strangulation of his favourite wife, the beautiful Asmonean princess Mariamne, though she seems to have been the only human being whom he passionately loved. His sons Alexander, Aristobulus, and Antipater; his uncle Joseph; Antigonus and Alexander, the uncle and father of his wife; his mother-in-law Alexandra; his kinsman Cortobanus; his friends Dositheus and Gadias were but a few of the multitudes who fell victims to his sanguinary, suspicious, and guilty terrors. His reign which was so cruel that, in the energetic language of the Jewish ambassadors to the Emperor Augustus, 'the survivors during his lifetime were even more miserable than the sufferers.'"

Herod's disorder increased with the utmost violence. He lay in the magnificent palace which he had built for himself under the palm-trees of Jericho, racked with pain, and tormented with thirst. Still cherishing hopes of recovery, he now caused himself to be conveyed across the Jordan to Callirrhoë, not far from the Dead Sea, hoping to obtain relief from its warm bituminous springs. But the use of the waters produced no effect. He was conveyed back to Jericho, where he ordered the chiefs of the nation, under pain of death, to assemble. As they arrived they were shut up in the Hippodrome, and Herod charged Salome and Alexas, immediately upon his decease, to put them to death. Scarcely had he given these orders when a dispatch arrived from Rome, announcing the ratification by the emperor of the sentence pronounced upon Antipater. Thereupon the tyrant's desire for life instantly returned, but a paroxysm of racking pain coming on, he called for an apple and a knife, and in an unguarded moment tried to stab himself. His cousin Achiab stayed his hand, and Antipater, hearing the clamour from a neighbouring apartment, and thinking his father was dead, made a determined effort to escape by bribing his guards. No sooner did Herod hear of this, than, though almost insensible, he raised himself on his elbow, and ordered one of the spearmen to dispatch his son on the spot. Thus Antipater paid the penalty of his life of treachery and hypocrisy. Herod now once more amended his will, nominating his eldest son Archelaus as his successor on the throne, and appointing Herod Antipas tetrarch of Galilee and Peræa; Herod Philip, tetrarch of Auranitis, Trachonitis and Batanæa; and Salome mistress of Jamnia, Azotus, and some other towns.

Five days more of excruciating agony remained for the miserable monarch, and then, "choking as it were with blood, devising massacres in its very delirium, the soul of Herod passed forth into the night." Archelaus at once assumed the direction of affairs at Jerusalem, and proceeded to give his father a magnificent funeral. First, clad in armour, advanced a numerous force of troops, with their generals and officers; then followed five hundred of Herod's domestics and freedmen, bearing aromatic spices. Next came the body, covered with purple, with a diadem on the head, and a sceptre in the right hand, and lying on a bier of gold studded with precious stones. After the bier, which was surrounded by Herod's son and relatives, came his body-guard; then his foreign mercenaries, men from Thrace, Germany, and Gaul, "whose stalwart and ruddy persons were at this time familiar in Jerusalem." In this order the procession advanced slowly from Jericho to Herodium, not far from Tekōa, a distance of about twenty-five miles, where the late monarch had erected a fortress. Here, in the tower-crowned citadel to which he had given his name, and not far from the spot where He was born whom the Idumean king had sought to cut off with the innocents of Bethlehem, Herod was buried.

SYNAGOGUES AND FORMS OF WORSHIP.

The word synagogue, which means a "congregation," is used in the New stament to signify a recognized place of worship. A knowledge of the history d worship of the synagogues is of importance to the student, since they are the eat characteristic institutions of the later phase of Judaism. More even than e temple and its services, in the time of which the New Testament treats, they once represented and determined the religious life of the people. We cannot parate them from the most intimate connection with our Lord's life and ministry. them he worshiped in his youth and in his manhood. Whatever we can learn the ritual which then prevailed tells us of a worship which he recognized and nctioned, which for that reason, if for no other—though, like the statelier ser-es of the temple, it was destined to pass away—is worthy of our respect and nor. They were the scenes, too, of no small portion of his work. In them were ought some of his mightiest works of healing. In them were spoken some of e most glorious of his recorded words; many more, beyond all reckoning, which e not recorded.

We know too little of the life of Israel, both before and under the monarchy, be able to say with certainty whether there was anything at all corresponding the synagogues of later date. They appear to have arisen during the exile, in e abeyance of the temple-worship, and to have received their full development the return of the Jews from captivity. The whole history of Ezra presupposes e habit of solemn, probably of periodic, meetings. The "ancient days" of which James speaks may, at least, go back so far. After the Maccabean struggle for dependence, we find almost every town or village had its one or more synagogues. here the Jews were not in sufficient numbers to be able to erect and fill a build-g, there was the Proseucha, or place of prayer, sometimes open, sometimes vered in, commonly by a running stream or on the sea-shore, in which devout ws and proselytes met to worship, and perhaps to read.

It is hardly possible to overestimate the influence of the system thus developed. it we may ascribe the tenacity with which, after the Maccabean struggle, the ws adhered to the religion of their fathers and never again relapsed into idol-y. The people were now in no danger of forgetting the law and the external linances that hedged it round. If pilgrimages were still made to Jerusalem at great feasts, the habitual religion of the Jews in, and yet more out of, Pales-e was connected much more intimately with the synagogue than with the temple. simple edifying devotion, into which mind and heart could alike enter, attracted heathen proselytes who might have been repelled by the sacrifices of the tem-, or would certainly have been driven from it unless they could make up their nds to submit to circumcision. Here, too, there was an influence tending to minish, and ultimately almost to destroy, the authority of the hereditary priest-od. The services of the synagogue required no sons of Aaron, gave them noth-; more than a complimentary precedence. The way was silently prepared for a v and higher order, which should rise in "the fullness of time" out of the decay l abolition of both the priesthood and temple. In another way, too, the syna-gues everywhere prepared the way for that order. Not "Moses" only, but "the ophets," were read in them every Sabbath day, and thus the Messianic hopes of ael, the expectation of a kingdom of heaven, were universally diffused.

The size of a synagogue, like that of a church or chapel, varied with the pulation. We have no reason for believing that there were any fixed laws of portion for its dimensions, like those which are traced in the tabernacle and the ple. Its position was, however, determinate. It stood, if possible, on the highest and, in or near the city to which it belonged. Failing this, a tall pole rose from roof to render it conspicuous. And its direction too was fixed. Jerusalem the Kibleh of Jewish devotion; and the synagogue was so constructed that the shipers as they entered and as they prayed looked toward it. The building s commonly erected at the cost of the district, whether by a church-rate levied the purpose or by free gifts must remain uncertain. Sometimes it was built by ich Jew, or even, as in Luke 7 : 5, by a friendly proselyte. In the later stages Eastern Judaism it was often erected, like the mosques of Mohammedans, near tombs of famous rabbis or holy men. When the building was finished, it was apart, as the temple had been, by a special prayer of dedication. From that ie it had a consecrated character. The common acts of life—eating, drinking, koning up accounts—were forbidden in it. No one was to pass through it as a ort cut. Even if it ceased to be used, the building was not to be applied to any e purpose—might not be turned into a bath, a laundry or a tannery.

In the internal arrangement of the synagogue we trace an obvious logy to the type of the tabernacle. At the upper or Jerusalem end stood the , the chest which, like the older and more sacred ark, contained the book of the . This part of the synagogue was naturally the place of honor. Here were "chief seats" after which Pharisees and scribes strove so eagerly, to which wealthy and honored worshiper was invited. Here, too, in front of the ark, l reproducing the type of the tabernacle, was the eight-branched lamp, lighted y on the greater festivals. Besides this, there was one lamp kept burning per-ually. Others, brought by devout worshipers, were lighted at the beginning the Sabbath—i. e., on Friday evening. A little farther toward the middle of the lding was a raised platform, on which several persons could stand at once, and in middle of this rose a pulpit, in which the reader stood to read the lesson or sat wn to teach. The congregation were divided, men on one side, women on the er. Within the ark, as above stated, were the rolls of the sacred books. The lers round which they were wound were often elaborately decorated, the cases them embroidered or enameled, according to their material. Such cases were tomary offerings from the rich when they brought their infant children, on the t anniversary of their birthday, to be blessed by the rabbi of the synagogue. part of the fittings we have also to note (1) another chest for the Haphtaroth, rolls of the prophets; (2) alms-boxes at or near the door, after the pattern of se at the temple, one for the poor at Jerusalem, the other for local charities; notice-boards, on which were written the names of offenders who had been ut out of the synagogue;" (4) a chest for trumpets and other musical instru-nts used at the New Years, Sabbaths and other festivals.

The most prominent functionary in a large synagogue was known as the Shĕliach (= legatus), the officiating minister, who acted as the delegate of the congregation, and was therefore the chief reader of prayers, etc., in their name. The conditions laid down for this office remind us of St. Paul's rule for the choice of a bishop. He was to be active, of full age, the father of a family, not rich or engaged in business, possessing a good voice, apt to teach. In him we find the prototype of the "angel of the church" of Rev. 1 : 20; 2 : 1, etc.

The Chazzân, or servant of the synagogue, had duties of a lower kind, resembling those of the Christian deacon or sub-deacon. He was to open the door, to get the building ready for service. For him, too, there were conditions like those for the legatus. Like the legatus and the elders, he was appointed by the imposition of hands. Practically, he often acted during the week as schoolmaster of the town or village, and in this way came to gain a prominence which placed him nearly on the same level as the legatus.

Besides these, there were ten men attached to every synagogue, known as the Batlanim (= Otiosi), and no synagogue was complete without them. They were to be men of leisure, not obliged to labor for their livelihood, able, therefore, to attend the week-day as well as the Sabbath services.

The ritual of the synagogue was to a large extent the reproduction (here also, as with the fabric, with many inevitable changes) of the statelier liturgy of the temple. It will be enough in this place to notice in what way the ritual, no less than the organization, was connected with the facts of the New Testament history and with the life and order of the Christian Church. Here, too, we meet with multiplied coincidences. It would hardly be an exaggeration to say that the worship of the Church was identical with that of the synagogue, modified (1) by the new truths, (2) by the new institution of the Supper of the Lord, (3) by the spiritual Charismata.

From the synagogue came the use of fixed forms of prayer. To that the first disciples had been accustomed from their youth. They had asked their Master to give them a distinctive one, and he had complied with their request, as the Baptist had done before for his disciples, as every rabbi did for his. The forms might be, and were, abused, but for the disciples this was as yet the true pattern of devotion, and their Master sanctioned it. To their minds there would seem nothing inconsistent with true heart-worship in the recurrence of a fixed order, of the same prayers, hymns, doxologies, such as all liturgical study leads us to think of as existing in the apostolic age.

The large admixture of a didactic element in Christian worship—that by which it was distinguished from all Gentile forms of adoration—was derived from the older order. "Moses" was "read in the synagogues every Sabbath-day," the whole law being read consecutively, so as to be completed, according to one cycle, in three years, or according to that which ultimately prevailed and determined the existing divisions of the Hebrew text, in the fifty-two weeks of a single year. The writings of the prophets were read as second lessons in a corresponding order. They were followed by the Derash, "the word of exhortation," the exposition, the sermon of the synagogue. The first Christian synagogues, we must believe, followed this order with but little deviation. It remained for them before long to add "the other Scriptures," which they had learned to recognize as more precious even than the law itself, the "prophetic word" of the New Testament. The synagogue use of Psalms, again, on the plan of selecting those which had a special fitness for special times, answered to that which appears to have prevailed in the Church of the first three centuries.

The conformity extends also to the times of prayer. In the hours of service this was obviously the case. The third, sixth and ninth hours were in the times of the New Testament, and had been probably for some time before, the fixed times of devotion. The same hours, it is well known, were recognized in the Church of the second, probably in that of the first, century also. The sacred days belonging to the two systems seem at first to present a contrast rather than a resemblance, but here too there is a symmetry which points to an original connection. The solemn days of the synagogue were the second, the fifth and the seventh, the last, or Sabbath, being the conclusion of the whole. In whatever way the change was brought about, the transfer of the sanctity of the Sabbath to the Lord's day involved a corresponding change in the order of the week, and the first, the fourth and the sixth became to the Christians what the other days had been to the Jews.

The language of the New Testament shows that the officers of the synagogue exercised in certain cases a judicial power. The synagogue itself was the place of trial—even, strange as it may seem, of the actual punishment of scourging. They do not appear to have had the right of inflicting any severer penalty, unless under this head we may include that of excommunication, or "putting a man out of the synagogue," placing him under an anathema, "delivering him to Satan." In some cases they exercised the right, even outside the limits of Palestine, of seizing the persons of the accused and sending them in chains to take their trial before the supreme council at Jerusalem.

It is not quite so easy, however, to define the nature of the tribunal and the precise limits of its jurisdiction. In two of the passages referred to they are carefully distinguished from the councils, yet both appear as instruments by which the spirit of religious persecution might fasten on its victims. The explanation commonly given, that the council sat in the synagogue, and was thus identified with it, is hardly satisfactory. It seems more probable that the council was the larger tribunal of twenty-three, which sat in every city, identical with that of the seven, with two Levites as assessors to each, which Josephus describes as acting in the smaller provincial towns, and that under the term synagogue we are to understand a smaller court, probably that of the ten judges mentioned in the Talmud, consisting either of the elders, the chazzân and the legatus, or otherwise of the ten Batlanim or Otiosi.

Here, also, we trace the outline of a Christian institution. The church, either by itself or by appointed delegates, was to act as a court of arbitration in all disputes among its members. The elders of the church were not, however, to descend to the trivial disputes of daily life.

S. MATTHEW.

CHAPTER I.

The Genealogy of Christ.

THE book of the [a]generation of Jesus Christ, [b]the son of Da'vid, [c]the son of A'bra-ham.

2 [d]A'bra-ham begat I'saac; and [e]I'saac begat Ja'cob; and [f]Ja'cob begat Ju'das and his brethren;

3 And [g]Ju'das begat Pha'res and Za'ra of Tha'mar; and [h]Pha'res begat Es'rom; and Es'rom begat A'ram;

4 And A'ram begat A-min'a-dab; and A-min'a-dab begat Na-as'son; and Na-as'son begat Sal'mon;

5 And Sal'mon begat Bo'oz of Ra'chab; and Bo'oz begat O'bed of Ruth; and O'bed begat Jes'se;

6 And [i]Jes'se begat Da'vid the king; and [k]Da'vid the king begat Sol'o-mon of her that had been the wife of U-ri'as;

7 And [l]Sol'o-mon begat Rob'o-am; and Rob'o-am begat A-bi'a; and A-bi'a begat A'sa;

8 And A'sa begat Jos'a-phat; and Jos'a-phat begat Jo'ram; and Jo'ram begat O-zi'as;

9 And O-zi'as begat Jo'a-tham; and Jo'a-tham begat A'chaz; and A'chaz begat Ez-e-ki'as;

10 And [m]Ez-e-ki'as begat Ma-nas'ses; and Ma-nas'ses begat A'mon; and A'mon begat Jo-si'as;

11 And ‖ [n]Jo-si'as begat Jech-o-ni'as and his brethren, about the time they were [o]carried away to Bab'y-lon:

12 And after they were brought to Bab'y-lon, [p]Jech-o-ni'as begat Sa-la'thi-el; and Sa-la'thi-el begat [q]Zo-rob'a-bel;

13 And Zo-rob'a-bel begat A-bi'ud; and A-bi'ud begat E-li'a-kim; and E-li'a-kim begat A'zor;

14 And A'zor begat Sa'doc; and Sa'doc begat A'chim; and A'chim begat E-li'ud;

15 And E-li'ud begat E-le-a'zar; and E-le-a'zar begat Mat'than; and Mat'than begat Ja'cob;

16 And Ja'cob begat Jo'seph the husband of Ma'ry, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from A'bra-ham to Da'vid are fourteen generations; and from Da'vid until the carrying away into Bab'y-lon are fourteen generations; and from the carrying away into Bab'y-lon unto Christ are fourteen generations.

18 ¶Now the [r]birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Ma'ry was espoused to Jo'seph, before they came together, she was found with child [s]of the Holy Ghost.

19 Then Jo'seph her husband, being a just man, and not willing [t]to make her a public example, was minded to put her away privily.

20 But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Jo'seph, thou son of Da'vid, fear not to take unto thee Ma'ry thy wife: [u]for that which is †conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.

21 [x]And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name ‖ JESUS: for [y]he shall save his people from their sins.

22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying,

23 [z]Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and ‖ they shall call his name Em-man'u-el, which being interpreted is, God with us.

24 Then Jo'seph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife:

25 And knew her not till she had brought forth [a]her first-born son; and he called his name JESUS.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. MATTHEW.

1 [1]The book of the [2]generation of Jesus Christ, the son of Da'vid the son of A'bra-ham.

2 A'bra-ham begat I'saac; and I'saac begat Ja'cob;
3 and Ja'cob begat Ju'dah and his brethren; and Ju'dah begat Pe'rez and Ze'rah of Ta'mar; and Pe'rez
4 begat Hez'ron; and Hez'ron begat [3]Ram; and [3]Ram begat Am-min'a-dab; and Am-min'a-dab begat Nah'-
5 shon; and Nah'shon begat Sal'mon; and Sal'mon begat Bo'az of Ra'hab; and Bo'az begat O'bed of 6 Ruth; and O'bed begat Jes'se; and Jes'se begat Da'vid the king.

And Da'vid begat Sol'o-mon of her that had been 7 the wife of U-ri'ah; and Sol'o-mon begat Re-ho-bo'am; and Re-ho-bo'am begat A-bi'jah; and A-bi'jah begat
8 [4]A'sa; and [4]A'sa begat Je-hosh'a-phat; and Je-hosh'a-
9 phat begat Jo'ram; and Jo'ram begat Uz-zi'ah; and Uz-zi'ah begat Jo'tham; and Jo'tham begat A'haz;
10 and A'haz begat Hez-e-ki'ah; and Hez-e-ki'ah begat Ma-nas'seh; and Ma-nas'seh begat [5]A'mon; and 11 [5]A'mon begat Jo-si'ah; and Jo-si'ah begat Jech-o-ni'ah and his brethren, at the time of the [6]carrying away to Bab'y-lon.

12 And after the [6]carrying away to Bab'y-lon, Jech-o-ni'ah begat [7]She-al'ti-el; and [7]She-al'ti-el begat Ze-rub'-
13 ba-bel; and Ze-rub'ba-bel begat A-bi'ud; and A-bi'ud
14 begat E-li'a-kim; and E-li'a-kim begat A'zor; and A'zor begat Sa'doc; and Sa'doc begat A'chim; and 15 A'chim begat E-li'ud; and E-li'ud begat E-le-a'zar; and E-le-a'zar begat Mat'than; and Mat'than begat
16 Ja'cob; and Ja'cob begat Jo'seph the husband of Ma'ry, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from A'bra-ham unto Da'vid are fourteen generations; and from Da'vid unto the [6]carrying away to Bab'y-lon fourteen generations; and from the [6]carrying away to Bab'y-lon unto the Christ fourteen generations.

18 Now the [8]birth [9]of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When his mother Ma'ry had been betrothed to Jo'-
19 seph, before they came together she was found with child of the [10]Holy Ghost. And Jo'seph her husband, being a righteous man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put 20 her away privily. But when he thought on these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Jo'seph, thou son of Da'vid, fear not to take unto thee Ma'ry thy wife: for that which is [11]conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.
21 And she shall bring forth a son; and thou shalt call his name JESUS; for it is he that shall save his 22 people from their sins. Now all this is come to pass, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying,
23 Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son,
And they shall call his name [12]Im-man'u-el;
24 which is, being interpreted, God with us. And Jo'seph arose from his sleep, and did as the angel of the Lord commanded him, and took unto him his 25 wife; and knew her not till she had brought forth a son; and he called his name JESUS.

CHAPTER II.

The wise men directed to Christ.

The Fourth Year before the Common Account called Anno Domini

NOW when [a]Jesus was born in Beth'le-hem of Ju-de'a in the days of Her'od the king, behold, there came wise men [b]from the east to Je-ru'sa-lem,

2 Saying, [c]Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen [d]his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

3 When Her'od the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Je-ru'sa-lem with him.

4 And when he had gathered all [e]the chief priests and [f]scribes of the people together, [g]he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

5 And they said unto him, In Beth'le-hem of Ju-de'a: for thus it is written by the prophet,

6 [h]And thou Beth'le-hem, in the land of Ju'da, art not the least among the princes of Ju'da: for out of thee shall come a Governor, [i]that shall ‖ rule my people Is'ra-el.

7 Then Her'od, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

8 And he sent them to Beth'le-hem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

9 When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

11 ¶And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Ma'ry his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, [k]they ‖ presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

12 And being warned of God [l]in a dream that they should not return to Her'od, they departed into their own country another way.

13 And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Jo'seph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into E'gypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Her'od will seek the young child to destroy him.

14 When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into E'gypt:

15 And was there until the death of Her'od: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, [m]Out of E'gypt have I called my son.

16 ¶Then Her'od, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Beth'le-hem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men.

17 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by [n]Jer'e-my the prophet, saying,

18 In Ra'ma was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Ra'chel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not.

19 ¶But when Her'od was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Jo'seph in E'gypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Is'ra-el: for they are dead which sought the young child's life.

21 And he arose, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Is'ra-el.

22 But when he heard that Ar-che-la'us did reign in Ju-de'a in the room of his father Her'od, he was afraid to go thither: notwithstanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aside [o]into the parts of Gal'i-lee:

23 And he came and dwelt in a city called [p]Naz'a-reth: that it might be fulfilled [q]which was spoken by the prophets, He shall be called a Naz'a-rene.

2 Now when Jesus was born in Beth'le-hem of Ju-dæ'a in the days of Her'od the king, behold, [1]wise men
2 from the east came to Je-ru'sa-lem, saying, [2]Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we saw his star in the east, and are come to worship him.
3 And when Her'od the king heard it, he was 4 troubled, and all Je-ru'sa-lem with him. And gathering together all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ should 5 be born. And they said unto him, In Beth'le-hem of Ju-dæ'a: for thus it is written [3]by the prophet,

6 And thou Beth'le-hem, land of Ju'dah,
Art in no wise least among the princes of Ju'dah:
For out of thee shall come forth a governor,
Which shall be shepherd of my people Is'ra-el.

7 Then Her'od privily called the [1]wise men, and learned
8 of them carefully [4]what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Beth'le-hem, and said, Go and search out carefully concerning the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word, that I also may 9 come and worship him. And they, having heard the king, went their way; and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came
10 and stood over where the young child was. And when they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceed-
11 ing great joy. And they came into the house and saw the young child with Ma'ry his mother; and they fell down and worshipped him; and opening their treasures they offered unto him gifts, gold and 12 frankincense and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Her'od, they departed into their own country another way.
13 Now when they were departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth to Jo'seph in a dream, saying, Arise and take the young child and his mother, and flee into E'gypt, and be thou there until I tell thee: for Her'od will seek the young child to destroy him.
14 And he arose and took the young child and his 15 mother by night, and departed into E'gypt; and was there until the death of Her'od: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, Out of E'gypt did I call my son.
16 Then Her'od, when he saw that he was mocked of the [1]wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth'le-hem, and in all the borders thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had carefully
17 learned of the [1]wise men. Then was fulfilled that which was spoken [3]by Jer-e-mi'ah the prophet, saying,

18 A voice was heard in Ra'mah,
Weeping and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children;
And she would not be comforted, because they are not.

19 But when Her'od was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Jo'seph in E'gypt,
20 saying, Arise and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Is'ra-el: for they 21 are dead that sought the young child's life. And he arose and took the young child and his mother,
22 and came into the land of Is'ra-el. But when he heard that Ar-che-la'us was reigning over Ju-dæ'a in the room of his father Her'od, he was afraid to go thither; and being warned of God in a dream, he 23 withdrew into the parts of Gal'i-lee, and came and dwelt in a city called Naz'a-reth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken [3]by the prophets, that he should be called a Naz'a-rene.

CHAPTER III.

The preaching of John the Baptist.

IN those days came [a]John the Baptist, preaching [b]in the wilderness of Ju-de'a,
2 And saying, Repent ye: for [c]the kingdom of heaven is at hand.
3 For this is he that was spoken of by the prophet E-sa'ias, saying, [d]The voice of one crying in the wilderness, [e]Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.
4 And [f]the same John [g]had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins; and his meat was [h]locusts and [i]wild honey.
5 [k]Then went out to him Je-ru'sa-lem, and all Ju-de'a, and all the region round about Jor'dan,
6 [l]And were baptized of him in Jor'dan, confessing their sins.
7 ¶But when he saw many of the Phar'i-sees and Sad'du-cees come to his baptism, he said unto them, [m]O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from [n]the wrath to come?
8 Bring forth therefore fruits ||meet for repentance:
9 And think not to say within yourselves, [o]We have A'bra-ham to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto A'bra-ham.
10 And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: [p]therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.
11 [q]I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance: but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: [r]he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire:
12 [s]Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and gather his wheat into the garner; but he will [t]burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.
13 ¶[u]Then cometh Jesus [z]from Gal'i-lee to Jor'dan unto John, to be baptized of him.
14 But John forbade him, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?
15 And Jesus answering said unto him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he suffered him.
16 [v]And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw [z]the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him:
17 [a]And lo a voice from heaven, saying, [b]This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

CHAPTER IV.

Christ's fasting and temptation.

THEN was [a]Jesus led up of [b]the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil.
2 And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward a hungered.
3 And when the tempter came to him, he said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread.
4 But he answered and said, It is written, [c]Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.
5 Then the devil taketh him up [d]into the holy city, and setteth him on a pinnacle of the temple,
6 And saith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written, [e]He shall give his angels charge concerning thee: and in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.
7 Jesus said unto him, It is written again, [f]Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.
8 Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high

A. D. 26.

3 And in those days cometh John the Baptist,
2 preaching in the wilderness of Ju-dæ'a, saying, Repent ye; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.
3 For this is he that was spoken of [1]by I-sa'iah the prophet, saying,
The voice of one crying in the wilderness,
Make ye ready the way of the Lord,
Make his paths straight.
4 Now John himself had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins; and his food
5 was locusts and wild honey. Then went out unto him Je-ru'sa-lem, and all Ju-dæ'a, and all the region
6 round about Jor'dan; and they were baptized of him
7 in the river Jor'dan, confessing their sins. But when he saw many of the Phar'i-sees and Sad'du-cees coming to his baptism, he said unto them, Ye offspring of vipers, who warned you to flee from the wrath
8 to come? Bring forth therefore fruit worthy of 9 [2]repentance: and think not to say within yourselves, We have A'bra-ham to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children
10 unto A'bra-ham. And even now is the axe laid unto the root of the trees: every tree therefore that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast
11 into the fire. I indeed baptize you [3]with water unto repentance: but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not [4]worthy to bear: he shall baptize you [3]with the Holy Ghost and with 12 fire: whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly cleanse his threshing-floor; and he will gather his wheat into the garner, but the chaff he will burn up with unquenchable fire.
13 Then cometh Jesus from Gal'i-lee to the Jor'dan
14 unto John, to be baptized of him. But John would have hindered him, saying, I have need to be bap-
15 tized of thee, and comest thou to me? But Jesus answering said unto him, Suffer [5]it now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he 16 suffereth him. And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway from the water: and lo, the heavens were opened [6]unto him and he saw the Spirit of God descending as a dove, and coming 17 upon him; and lo, a voice out of the heavens, saying, [7]This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

4 Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wil-
2 derness to be tempted of the devil. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he afterward
3 hungered. And the tempter came and said unto him, If thou art the son of God, command that
4 these stones become [8]bread. But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth
5 of God. Then the devil taketh him into the holy city;
6 and he set him on the [9]pinnacle of the temple, and saith unto him, If thou art the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written,
He shall give his angels charge concerning thee:
And on their hands they shall bear thee up,
Lest haply thou dash thy foot against a stone.

8 shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. Again the devil taketh him unto an exceeding high

12 ¶ [i]Now when Jesus had heard that John was ‖ cast into prison, he departed into Gal'i-lee;

13 And leaving Naz'a-reth, he came and dwelt in Ca-per'-na-um, which is upon the sea coast, in the borders of Zab'u-lon and Neph'tha-lim:

23 ¶ And Jesus went about all Gal'i-lee, [t]teaching in their synagogues, and preaching [u]the gospel of the kingdom, [x]and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.

24 And his fame went throughout all Syr'i-a: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.

Sermon on the mount.

AND seeing the multitudes, [a]he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 [b]Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

4 [c]Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5 [d]Blessed are the meek: for [e]they shall inherit the earth.

the boat with Zeb'e-dee their father, mending their 22 nets; and he called them. And they straightway left the boat and their father, and followed him.

23 And [5]Jesus went about in all Gal'i-lee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the [6]gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of disease and all 24 manner of sickness among the people. And the report of him went forth into all Syr'i-a: and they brought unto him all that were sick, holden with divers diseases and torments, [7]possessed with devils, and epileptic, and palsied; and he healed them.
25 And there followed him great multitudes from Gal'i-lee and De-cap'o-lis and Je-ru'sa-lem and Ju-dæ'a and from beyond Jor'dan.

5 And seeing the multitudes, he went up into the 8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be

10 Blessed are they that have been persecuted

11 dom of heaven. Blessed are ye when men shall reproach you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

12 [n]Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for [o]so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 ¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: [p]but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 [q]Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid.

15 Neither do men [r]light a candle, and put it under ‖a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, [s]that they may see your good works, and [t]glorify your Father which is in heaven.

17 ¶ [u]Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.

18 For verily I say unto you, [w]Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

19 [x]Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed [y]the righteousness of the scribes and Phar'i-sees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said ‖ by them of old time, [z]Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:

22 But I say unto you, That [a]whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, ‖ [b]Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.

23 Therefore, [c]if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught against thee;

24 [d]Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 [e]Agree with thine adversary quickly, [f]while thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

27 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, [g]Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever [h]looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 [i]And if thy right eye ‖ offend thee, [k]pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath been said, [l]Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:

32 But I say unto you, That [m]whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.

33 ¶ Again, ye have heard that [n]it hath been said by them of old time, [o]Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but [p]shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:

34 But I say unto you, [q]Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is [r]God's throne:

35 Nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Je-ru'sa-lem; for it is [s]the city of the great King.

A. D. 31.

12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost its savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out
14 and trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid.
15 Neither do men light a lamp, and put it under the bushel, but on the stand; and it shineth unto all 16 that are in the house. Even so let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

17 Think not that I came to destroy the law or the 18 prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass away

22 shall be in danger of the judgement: but I say unto you, that every one who is angry with his brother [1]shall be in danger of the judgement; and whosoever shall say to his brother, [2]Raca, shall be in danger of the council; and whosoever shall say, [3]Thou fool, shall be in danger [4]of the [5]hell of fire.
23 If therefore thou art offering thy gift at the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught
24 against thee, leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way, first be reconciled to thy brother,
25 and then come and offer thy gift. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art with him in the way; lest haply the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge [6]deliver thee to the officer, and 26 thou be cast into prison. Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou have paid the last farthing.

27 Ye have heard that it was said, Thou shalt not 28 commit adultery: but I say unto you, that every one that looketh on a woman to lust after her hath commited adultery with her already in his heart.

30 thy whole body be cast into [7]hell. And if thy right hand causeth thee to stumble, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not thy whole body
31 go into [7]hell. It was said also, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorce-
32 ment: but I say unto you, that every one that putteth away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, maketh her an adulteress: and whosoever shall marry her when she is put away committeth adultery.

33 Again, ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:

36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.
37 [t]But let your communication be, Yea, yea; nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil.
38 ¶Ye have heard that it hath been said, [u]An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:
39 But I say unto you, [x]That ye resist not evil: [y]but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.
40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.
41 And whosoever [z]shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.
42 Give to him that asketh thee, and [a]from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.
43 ¶Ye have heard that it hath been said, [b]Thou shalt love thy neighbour, [c]and hate thine enemy.
44 But I say unto you, [d]love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray [e]for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;
45 That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for [f]he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.
46 [g]For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?
47 And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?
48 [h]Be ye therefore perfect, even [i]as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

CHAPTER VI.

Of alms, prayer, forgiveness, &c.

TAKE heed that ye do not your ‖alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward ‖of your Father which is in heaven.
2 Therefore [a]when thou doest thine alms, ‖do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:
4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself [b]shall reward thee openly.
5 ¶And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
6 But thou, when thou prayest, [c]enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.
7 But when ye pray, [d]use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: [e]for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.
8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.
9 After this manner therefore pray ye: [f]Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdom come. [g]Thy will be done in earth, [h]as it is in heaven.
11 Give us this day our [i]daily bread.
12 And [k]forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.
13 [l]And lead us not into temptation, but [m]deliver us from evil: [n]For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.
14 [o]For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:
15 But [p]if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.
16 ¶Moreover [q]when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, for thou canst
37 not make one hair white or black. [1]But let your speech be, Yea, yea; nay, nay: and whatsoever is more than these is of [2]the evil one.
38 Ye have heard that it was said, An eye for an 39 eye, and a tooth for a tooth: but I say unto you, Resist not [3]him that is evil: but whosoever smiteth thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.
40 And if any man would go to law with thee, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke also.
41 And whosoever shall [4]compel thee to go one mile,
42 go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.
43 Ye have heard that it was said, Thou shalt love
44 thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy: but I say unto you, Love your enemies, and pray for them
45 that persecute you; that ye may be sons of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on 46 the just and the unjust. For if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye? do not even the 47 [5]publicans the same? And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even 48 the Gentiles the same? Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

6 Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them: else ye have no reward with your Father which is in heaven.
2 When therefore thou doest alms, sound not a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have
3 received their reward. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand
4 doeth: that thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret shall recompense thee.
5 And when ye pray, ye shall not be as the hypocrites: for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They
6 have received their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thine inner chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret shall 7 recompense thee. And in praying use not vain repetitions, as the Gentiles do: for they think that
8 they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not therefore like unto them: for [6]your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask 9 him. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven,
11 so on earth. Give us this day [7]our daily bread.
12 And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven
13 our debtors. And bring us not into temptation, but 14 deliver us from [8]the evil one.[9] For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also 15 forgive you. But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.
16 Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may be seen of men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have received their reward.

17 But thou, when thou fastest, [r]anoint thine head, and wash thy face;
18 That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.
19 ¶ [s]Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:
20 [t]But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:
21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.
22 [u]The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.
23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!
24 ¶ [x]No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. [y]Ye cannot serve God and mammon.
25 Therefore I say unto you, [z]Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?
26 [a]Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?
27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?
28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin:
29 And yet I say unto you, That even Sol'o-mon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?
31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?
32 (For after all these things do the Gen'tiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.
33 But [b]seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.
34 Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

CHAPTER VII.

Christ endeth his sermon.

JUDGE [c]not, that ye be not judged.
2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: [b]and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.
3 [c]And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?
4 Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye?
5 Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.
6 ¶ [d]Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.
7 ¶ [e]Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you:
8 For [f]every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
9 [g]Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?
10 Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?
11 If ye then, [h]being evil, know how to give good gifts

A. D. 31.

17 But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thy head, and 18 wash thy face; that thou be not seen of men to fast, but of thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall recompense thee.
19 Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth consume, and 20 where thieves [1]break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do
21 not [1]break through nor steal: for where thy treasure
22 is, there will thy heart be also. The lamp of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single,
23 thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be dark-
24 ness, how great is the darkness! No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.
25 Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than the food, and the body than the 26 raiment? Behold the birds of the heaven, that they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; and your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are not 27 ye of much more value than they? And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit unto his 28 [2]stature? And why are ye anxious concerning raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they 29 grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: yet I say unto you, that even Sol'o-mon in all his glory was 30 not arrayed like one of these. But if God doth so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much 31 more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Be not therefore anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be 32 clothed? For after all these things do the Gen'tiles seek; for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye 33 have need of all these things. But seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness; and all these 34 things shall be added unto you. Be not therefore anxious for the morrow: for the morrow will be anxious for itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

1 Or, dig through

2 Or, age

7 [1]Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what
2 judgement ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured unto 3 you. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that
4 is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me cast out the mote out of thine eye;
5 and lo, the beam is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.
6 Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast your pearls before the swine, lest haply they trample them under their feet, and turn and rend you.
7 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall 8 find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you; for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
9 Or what man is there of you, who, if his son
10 shall ask him for a loaf, will give him a stone; or if he shall ask for a fish, will give him a serpent?
11 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?

A. D. 31.

12 Therefore all things [t]whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for [k]this is the law and the prophets.

13 ¶[l]Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat:

14 ‖Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

15 ¶[m]Beware of false prophets, [n]which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are [o]ravening wolves.

16 [p]Ye shall know them by their fruits. [q]Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?

17 Even so [r]every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 [s]Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

20 Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

21 ¶Not every one that saith unto me, [t]Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we [u]not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And [x]then will I profess unto them? I never knew you: [y]depart from me, ye that work iniquity.

24 ¶Therefore [z]whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock:

25 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock.

26 And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand:

27 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.

28 And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, [a]the people were astonished at his doctrine:

29 [b]For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

CHAPTER VIII.

Christ's miracles.

WHEN he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him.

2 [c]And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

3 And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

4 And Jesus saith unto him, [b]See thou tell no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that [c]Mo'ses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

5 ¶[d]And when Jesus was entered into Ca-per'na-um, there [e]ame unto him a centurion, beseeching him,

6 And saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

7 And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.

8 The centurion answered and said, Lord, [e]I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but [f]speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

10 When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them 12 that ask him? All things therefore whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them: for this is the law and the prophets.

13 Enter ye in by the narrow gate: for wide [1]is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruc-
14 tion, and many be they that enter in thereby. [2]For narrow is the gate, and straitened the way, that leadeth unto life, and few be they that find it.

15 Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are ravening wolves.
16 By their fruits ye shall know them. Do men gather
17 grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but the corrupt
18 tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring 19 forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.
20 21 Therefore by their fruits ye shall know them. Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the 22 will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy by thy name, and by thy name cast out [3]devils,
23 and by thy name do many [4]mighty works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you:
24 depart from me, ye that work iniquity. Every one therefore which heareth these words of mine, and doeth them, shall be likened unto a wise man, which
25 built his house upon the rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded 26 upon the rock. And every one that heareth these words of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the 27 sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and smote upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall thereof.

28 And it came to pass, when Jesus ended these words, the multitudes were astonished at his teach-29 ing: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

8 And when he was come down from the mountain,
2 great multitudes followed him. And behold, there came to him a leper and worshipped him, saying,
3 Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou made clean. And straightway
4 his leprosy was cleansed. And Jesus saith unto him, See thou tell no man: but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Mo'ses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

5 And when he was entered into Ca-per'na-um, there
6 came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my [5]servant lieth in the house sick of the 7 palsy, grievously tormented. And he saith unto him,
8 I will come and heal him. And the centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not [6]worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but only say [7]the 9 word, and my [5]servant shall be healed. For I also am a man [8]under authority, having under myself soldiers: and I say to this one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my [9]servant, Do this, and he doeth it. And that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Is'ra-el.

11 And I say unto you, That [o]many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with A'bra-ham, and I'saac, and Ja'cob, in the kingdom of heaven:

12 But [h]the children of the kingdom [i]shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour.

14 ¶ [k]And when Jesus was come into Pe'ter's house, he saw [l]his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever.

15 And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto [l]them.

16 ¶ [m]When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by E-sa'ias the prophet, saying, [n]Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18 ¶ Now when Jesus saw great multitudes about him, he gave commandment to depart unto the other side.

19 [o]And a certain scribe came, and said unto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.

20 And Jesus saith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head.

21 [p]And another of his disciples said unto him, Lord, [q]suffer me first to go and bury my father.

22 But Jesus said unto him, Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead.

23 ¶ And when he was entered into a ship, his disciples followed him.

24 [r]And, behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, insomuch that the ship was covered with the waves: but he was asleep.

25 And his disciples came to him, and awoke him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish.

26 And he saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then [s]he arose and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm.

27 But the men marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ [t]And when he was come to the other side, into the country of the Ger'ge-senes, there met him two possessed with devils, coming out of the tombs, exceeding fierce, so that no man might pass by that way.

29 And, behold, they cried out, saying, What have we to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God? art thou come hither to torment us before the time?

30 And there was a good way off from them a herd of many swine feeding.

31 So the devils besought him, saying, If thou cast us out, suffer us to go away into the herd of swine.

32 And he said unto them, Go. And when they were come out, they went into the herd of swine: and, behold, the whole herd of swine ran violently down a steep place into the sea, and perished in the waters.

33 And they that kept them fled and went their ways into the city, and told every thing; and what was befallen to the possessed of the devils.

34 And, behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus: and when they saw him, [u]they besought him that he would depart out of their coasts.

CHAPTER X.

Christ sendeth his apostles to do miracles.

AND [a]when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power ||against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease.
2 Now the names of the twelve apostles are these; The first, Si'mon, [b]who is called Pe'ter, and An'drew his brother; James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his brother;
3 Phil'ip, and Bar-thol'o-mew; Thom'as, and Mat'thew the publican; James the son of Al-phe'us, and Leb-be'us, whose surname was Thad-de'us;
4 [c]Si'mon the Ca'naan-ite, and Ju'das [d]Is'car-i-ot, who also betrayed him.
5 These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, [e]Go not into the way of the Gen'tiles, and into any city of [f]the Sa-mar'i-tans enter ye not:
6 [g]But go rather to the [h]lost sheep of the house of Is'ra-el.
7 [i]And as ye go, preach, saying, [k]The kingdom of heaven is at hand.
8 Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: [l]freely ye have received, freely give.
9 [m]||Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor [n]brass in your purses;
10 Nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet †staves: [o]for the workman is worthy of his meat.
11 [p]And into whatsoever city or town ye shall enter, inquire who in it is worthy; and there abide till ye go thence.
12 And when ye come into a house, salute it.
13 [q]And if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it: [r]but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you.
14 [s]And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, when ye depart out of that house or city, [t]shake off the dust of your feet.
15 Verily I say unto you, [u]It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sod'om and Go-mor'rah in the day of judgment, than for that city.
16 ¶ [z]Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: [y]be ye therefore wise as serpents, and [z]||harmless as doves.
17 But beware of men,: for [a]they will deliver you up to the councils, and [b]they will scourge you in their synagogues;
18 And [c]ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gen'tiles.
19 [d]But when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye shall speak: for [e]it shall be given you in that same hour what ye shall speak.
20 [f]For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.
21 [g]And the brother shall deliver up the brother to death,

30 And their eyes were opened. And Jesus [1]strictly charged them, saying, See that no man know it.
31 But they went forth, and spread abroad his fame in all that land.
32 And as they went forth, behold, there was brought 33 to him a dumb man possessed with a [2]devil. And when the [2]devil was cast out, the dumb man spake: and the multitudes marvelled, saying, It was never so 34 seen in Is'ra-el. But the Phar'i-sees said, [3]By the prince of the [4]devils casteth he out [4]devils.
35 And Jesus went about all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner
36 of disease and all manner of sickness. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion for them, because they were distressed and 37 scattered, as sheep not having a shepherd. Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is 38 plenteous, but the labourers are few. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth
10 labourers into his harvest. And he called unto him his twelve disciples, and gave them authority over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of disease and all manner of sickness.
2 Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: The first, Si'mon, who is called Pe'ter, and An'drew his brother; James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his
3 brother; Phil'ip, and Bar-thol'o-mew; Thom'as, and Mat'thew the publican; James the son of Al-phæ'us,
4 and Thad-dæ'us; Si'mon the [5]Ca-nan-æ'an, and Ju'das
5 Is-car'i-ot, who also [6]betrayed him. These twelve Jesus sent forth, and charged them, saying,
Go not into any way of the Gen'tiles, and enter 6 not into any city of the Sa-mar'i-tans: but go rather 7 to the lost sheep of the house of Is'ra-el. And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at 8 hand. Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out [4]devils: freely ye received, freely
9 give. Get you no gold, nor silver, nor brass in 10 your [7]purses; no wallet for your journey, neither two coats, nor shoes, nor staff: for the labourer is worthy 11 of his food. And into whatsoever city or village ye shall enter, search out who in it is worthy; and 12 there abide till ye go forth. And as ye enter 13 into the house, salute it. And if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it: but if it be 14 not worthy, let your peace return to you. And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, as ye go forth out of that house or that city,
15 shake off the dust of your feet. Verily I say unto you, It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sod'om and Go-mor'rah in the day of judgement, than for that city.
16 Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and 17 [8]harmless as doves. But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to councils, and in their syna-
18 gogues they will scourge you; yea and before governors and kings shall ye be brought for my sake,
19 for a testimony to them and to the Gen'tiles. But when they deliver you up, be not anxious how or what ye shall speak: for it shall be given you in that 20 hour what ye shall speak. For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father that speaketh in 21 you. And brother shall deliver up brother to death,

Christ's testimony of John.

AND it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities.

2 [a]Now when John had heard [b]in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples,

3 And said unto him, Art thou [c]he that should come, or do we look for another?

4 Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see:

5 [d]The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and [e]the poor have the gospel preached to them.

20 ¶[s]Then began he to upbraid the cities wherein most of his mighty works were done, because they repented not.
21 Woe unto thee, Cho-ra'zin! woe unto thee Beth-sa'i-da! for if the mighty works, which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Si'don, they would have repented long ago [t]in sackcloth and ashes.
22 But I say unto you, [u]It shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Si'don at the day of judgment, than for you.
23 And thou, Ca-per'na-um, [x]which art exalted unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works, which have been done in thee, had been done in Sod'om, it would have remained until this day.
24 But I say unto you, [y]That it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sod'om in the day of judgment, than for thee.
25 ¶[z]At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because [a]thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, [b]and hast revealed them unto babes.
26 Even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight.
27 [c]All things are delivered unto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Son, but the Father; [d]neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him.
28 ¶Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

CHAPTER XII.

The nature of the sabbath.

AT that time [a]Jesus went on the sabbath day through the corn; and his disciples were a hungered, and began to pluck the ears of corn, and to eat.
2 But when the Phar'i-sees saw it, they said unto him, Behold, thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do upon the sabbath day.
3 But he said unto them, Have ye not read [b]what Da'vid did when he was a hungered, and they that were with him;

9 soft raiment are in king's houses. [1]But wherefore went ye out? to see a prophet? Yea, I say unto 10 you, and much more than a prophet. This is he, of whom is written,

Behold, I send my messenger before thy face,
Who shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not arisen a greater than John the Baptist: yet he that is [2]but little in the kingdom
12 of heaven is greater than he. And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and men of violence take it by 13 force. For all the prophets and the law prophesied
14 until John. And if ye are willing to receive [3]it, this 15 is E-li'jah which is to come. He that hath ears [4]to 16 hear, let him hear. But whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like unto children sitting in marketplaces, which call unto their fellows, and 19 a [6]devil. The Son of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a gluttonous man, and a winebibber, a friend of publicans and sinners! And wisdom [7]is justified by her [8]works.

20 Then began he to upbraid the cities wherein most of his [9]mighty works were done, because they
21 repented not. Woe unto thee, Cho-ra'zin! woe unto thee, Beth-sa'i-da! for if the [9]mighty works had been done in Tyre and Si'don which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth
22 and ashes. Howbeit I say unto you, it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Si'don in the day of judge-
23 ment, than for you. And thou, Ca-per'na-um, shalt thou be exalted unto heaven? thou shalt [10]go down unto Ha'des: for if the [9]mighty works had been done in Sod'om which were done in thee, it would have 24 remained until this day. Howbeit I say unto you, that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sod'om in the day of judgement, than for thee.
25 At that season Jesus answered and said, I [11]thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou didst hide these things from the wise and under-26 standing, and didst reveal them unto babes: yea, Father, [12]for so it was well-pleasing in thy sight.
27 All things have been delivered unto me of my Father: and no one knoweth the Son, save the Father; neither doth any know the Father, save the Son, and he to 28 whomsoever the Son willeth to reveal him. Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and 29 I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and 30 ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.

12 At that season Jesus went on the sabbath day through the corn fields; and his disciples were an hungred, and began to pluck ears of corn, and to
2 eat. But the Phar'i-sees, when they saw it said unto him, Behold thy disciples do that which it is not 3 lawful to do upon the sabbath. But he said unto them, Have ye not read what Da'vid did, when he shewbread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, [d]but only for the priests?

5 Or have ye not read in the [e]law how that on the sabbath days the priests in the temple profane the sabbath, and are blameless?

6 But I say unto you, That in this place is [f]one greater than the temple.

7 But if ye had known what this meaneth, [g]I will have mercy, and not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltless.

8 For the Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath day.

9 [h]And when he was departed thence, he went into their synagogue:

10 ¶And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, [i]Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and [k]if it fall into a pit on the sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out?

12 How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath days.

13 Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other.

14 ¶Then [l]the Phar'i-sees went out, and || held a council against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But when Jesus knew it, [m]he withdrew himself from thence: [n]and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all;

16 And [o]charged them that they should not make him known:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by E-sa'ias the prophet, saying,

18 [p]Behold my servant, whom I have chosen; my beloved, [q]in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my Spirit upon him, and he shall shew judgment to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not strive, nor cry; neither shall any man hear his voice in the streets.

20 A bruised reed shall he not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench, till he send forth judgment unto victory.

21 And in his name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶[r]Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the Son of Da'vid?

24 [s]But when the Phar'i-sees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by †Be-el'ze-bub the prince of the devils.

25 And Jesus [t]knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand:

26 And if Sa'tan cast out Sa'tan, he is divided against himself; how then shall his kingdom stand?

27 And if I by Be-el'ze-bub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges.

28 But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then [u]the kingdom of God is come unto you.

29 [x]Or else, how can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.

30 He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad.

31 ¶Wherefore I say unto you, [v]All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men: [z]but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men.

32 And whosoever [a]speaketh a word against the Son of man, [b]it shall be forgiven him: but whosoever speaketh against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.

15 might destroy him. And Jesus perceiving it withdrew from thence: and many followed him; and he 16 healed them all, and charged them that they should 17 not make him known: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken [2]by I-sa'iah the prophet, saying,

18 Behold, my servant whom I have chosen;
My beloved in whom my soul is well pleased:
I will put my Spirit upon him,
And he shall declare judgement to the Gentiles.
19 He shall not strive, nor cry aloud;
Neither shall any one hear his voice in the streets.
20 A bruised reed shall he not break,
And smoking flax shall he not quench,
Till he send forth judgement unto victory.
21 And in his name shall the Gentiles hope.

22 Then was brought unto him [3]one possessed with a devil, blind and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch
23 that the dumb man spake and saw. And all the multitudes were amazed, and said, Is this the son of 24 Da'vid? But when the Phar'i-sees heard it, they said, This man doth not cast out [4]devils, but [5]by Be-el'ze-
25 bub the prince of the [4]devils. And knowing their thoughts he said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city
26 or house divided against itself shall not stand: and if Sa'tan casteth out Sa'tan, he is divided against him-
27 self; how then shall his kingdom stand? And if I [5]by Be-el'ze-bub cast out [4]devils, [5]by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your 28 judges. But if I [5]by the Spirit of God cast out [4]devils, then is the kingdom of God come upon you.
29 Or how can one enter into the house of the strong man, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.
30 He that is not with me is against me; and he that 31 gathereth not with me scattereth. Therefore I say unto you, Every sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven [6]unto men; but the blasphemy against the Spirit shall 32 not be forgiven. And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him; but whosoever shall speak against the Holy Spirit, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this [7]world, nor 33 in that which is to come. Either make the tree good, and its fruit good; or make the tree corrupt, and its fruit corrupt: for the tree is known by its fruit.

CHAPTER XIII.

Of the sower and the seed.

THE same day went Jesus out of the house, [a]and sat by the sea side.

2 [b]And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that [c]he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 And he spake many things unto them in parables, saying, [d]Behold, a sower went forth to sow;

4 And when he sowed, some seeds fell by the way side, and the fowls came and devoured them up:

5 Some fell upon stony places, where they had not much earth: and forthwith they sprung up, because they had no deepness of earth:

6 And when the sun was up, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away.

7 And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprung up, and choked them:

8 But other fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, some [e]a hundredfold, some sixtyfold, some thirtyfold.

9 [f]Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

10 And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables?

11 He answered and said unto them, Because [g]it is given

34 Ye offspring of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of 35 the heart the mouth speaketh. The good man out of his good treasure bringeth forth good things: and the evil man out of his evil treasure bringeth
36 forth evil things. And I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give 37 account thereof in the day of judgement. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 Then certain of the scribes and Phar'i-sees answered him, saying, [1]Master, we would see a sign from thee.
39 But he answered and said unto them, An evil and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given to it but the sign of Jo'nah the 40 prophet: for as Jo'nah was three days and three nights in the belly of the [2]whale; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of 41 the earth. The men of Nin'e-veh shall stand up in the judgement with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jo'nah; and behold, [3]a greater than Jo'nah is here.
42 The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgement with this generation, and shall condemn it: for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Sol'o-mon; and behold, [3]a greater than
43 Sol'o-mon is here. But the unclean spirit, when [4]he is gone out of the man, passeth through waterless
44 places, seeking rest, and findeth it not. Then [4]he saith, I will return into my house whence I came out; and when [4]he is come, [4]he findeth it empty, 45 swept, and garnished. Then goeth [4]he, and taketh with [5]himself seven other spirits more evil than [5]himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man becometh worse than the first. Even so shall it be also unto this evil generation.

46 While he was yet speaking to the multitudes, behold, his mother and his brethren stood without,
47 seeking to speak to him. [6]And one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without,
48 seeking to speak to thee. But he answered and said unto him that told him, Who is my mother? and who 49 are my brethren? And he stretched forth his hand towards his disciples, and said, Behold, my mother
50 and my brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, he is my brother, and sister, and mother.

13 On that day went Jesus out of the house, and sat
2 by the sea side. And there were gathered unto him great multitudes, so that he entered into a boat, and
3 sat, and all the multitude stood on the beach. And he spake to them many things in parables, saying,
4 Behold, the sower went forth to sow; and as he sowed, some seeds fell by the way side, and the birds
5 came and devoured them: and others fell upon the rocky places, where they had not much earth: and straightway they sprang up, because they had no unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.

12 [h]For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath.

13 Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing, see not; and hearing, they hear not; neither do they understand.

14 And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of E-sa'ias, which saith, [i]By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive:

15 For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears [k]are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

16 But [l]blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear.

17 For verily I say unto you, [m]That many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

18 ¶[n]Hear ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 When any one heareth the word [o]of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the way side.

20 But he that received the seed into stony places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon [p]with joy receiveth it;

21 Yet hath he not root in himself, but dureth for a while: for when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, by and by [q]he is offended.

22 [r]He also that received seed [s]among the thorns is he that heareth the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful.

23 But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.

24 ¶Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field:

25 But while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29 But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but [t]gather the wheat into my barn.

31 ¶Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, [u]The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field:

32 Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof.

to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, 12 but to them it is not given. For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have abundance:
but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken 13 away even that which he hath. Therefore speak I to them in parables; because seeing they see not, and hearing they hear not, neither do they under-14 stand. And unto them is fulfilled the prophecy of
I-sa'iah, which saith,

By hearing ye shall hear, and shall in no wise understand:
And seeing ye shall see, and shall in no wise perceive:
15 For this people's heart is waxed gross,
And their ears are dull of hearing.
And their eyes they have closed;
Lest haply they should perceive with their eyes,
And hear with their ears,
And understand with their heart,
And should turn again,
And I should heal them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your 17 ears, for they hear. For verily I say unto you, that many prophets and righteous men desired to see the things which ye see, and saw them not; and to hear 18 the things which ye hear, and heard them not. Hear 19 then ye the parable of the sower. When any one heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the evil one, and snatcheth away that which hath been sown in his heart. This is he 20 that was sown by the way side. And he that was sown upon the rocky places, this is he that heareth 21 the word, and straightway with joy receiveth it; yet hath he not root in himself, but endureth for a while;
and when tribulation or persecution ariseth because 22 of the word, straightway he stumbleth. And he that was sown among the thorns, this is he that heareth the word; and the care of the [1]world, and the deceit-fulness of riches, choke the word, and he becometh 23 unfruitful. And he that was sown upon the good ground, this is he that heareth the word, and under-standeth it; who verily beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.
24 Another parable set he before them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man that sowed 25 good seed in his field: but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed [2]tares also among the wheat, and 26 went away. But when the blade sprang up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.
27 And the [3]servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst thou not sow good seed in thy 28 field? whence then hath it tares? And he said unto them, [4]An enemy hath done this. And the [3]servants say unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather 29 them up? But he saith, Nay; lest haply while ye gather up the tares, ye root up the wheat with them.
30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of the harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather up first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.
31 Another parable set he before them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a grain of mustard 32 seed, which a man took and sowed in his field: which indeed is less than all seeds; but when it is grown, it is greater than the herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the heaven come and lodge in the branches thereof.
33 Another parable spake he unto them; The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took,

34 [v]All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them:

35 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, [s]I will open my mouth in parables; [a]I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then Jesus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field.

37 He answered and said unto them, He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man;

38 [b]The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are [c]the children of the wicked one;

39 The enemy that sowed them is the devil; [d]the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels.

40 As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Son of man shall send forth his angels, [e]and they shall gather out of his kingdom all ‖things that offend, and them which do iniquity;

42 [f]And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: [g]there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 [h]Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. [i]Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

44 ¶Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and [k]selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchantman seeking goodly pearls:

46 Who, when he had found [m]one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net that was cast into the sea, and [n]gathered of every kind:

48 Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and [o]sever the wicked from among the just.

50 [p]And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven, is like unto a man that is a householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure [q]things new and old.

53 ¶And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these parables, he departed thence.

54 [r]And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?

55 [s]Is not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Ma'ry? and [t]his brethren, [u]James, and Jo'ses, and Si'mon, and Ju'das?

56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things?

57 And they [x]were offended in him. But Jesus said unto them, [y]A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house.

58 And [z]he did not many mighty works there, because of their unbelief.

34 All these things spake Jesus in parables unto the multitudes; and without a parable spake he nothing 35 unto them: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken [2]by the prophet, saying,

I will open my mouth in parables;
I will utter things hidden from the foundation [3]of the world.

36 Then he left the multitudes, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Explain unto us the parable of the tares of the field.
37 And he answered and said, He that soweth the good
38 seed is the Son of man; and the field is the world; and the good seed, these are the sons of the king-
39 dom; and the tares are the sons of the evil one; and the enemy that sowed them is the devil: and the harvest is [4]the end of the world; and the reapers
40 are angels. As therefore the tares are gathered up and burned with fire; so shall it be in [4]the end of the 41 world. The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things
42 that cause stumbling, and them that do iniquity, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall 43 be the weeping and gnashing of teeth. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He that hath ears, let him hear.
44 The kingdom of heaven is like unto a treasure hidden in the field; which a man found, and hid; and [5]in his joy he goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.
45 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man
46 that is a merchant seeking goodly pearls: and having found one pearl of great price, he went and sold all that he had, and bought it.
47 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a [6]net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered of every 48 kind: which, when it was filled, they drew up on the beach; and they sat down, and gathered the good
49 into vessels, but the bad they cast away. So shall it be in [4]the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the right-
50 eous, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be the weeping and gnashing of teeth.
51 Have ye understood all these things? They say
52 unto him, Yea. And he said unto them, Therefore every scribe who hath been made a disciple to the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is a householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old.
53 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished
54 these parables, he departed thence. And coming into his own country he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these 55 [7]mighty works? Is not this the carpenter's son? Is not his mother called Ma'ry? and his brethren, 56 James, and Jo'seph, and Si'mon, and Ju'das? And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then 57 hath this man all these things? And they were [8]offended in him. But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honour, save in his own coun-
58 try, and his own house. And he did not many [7]mighty works there because of their unbelief.

14 At that season Her'od the tetrarch heard the re-
2 port concerning Jesus, and said unto his servants, This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead; and therefore do these powers work in him.

[k] John 6. 16.

23 [i] And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: [k] and when the evening was come, he was there alone.
24 But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary.
25 And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea.

[l] Job. 9. 8.

26 And when the disciples saw him [l] walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear.
27 But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid.
28 And Pe'ter answered him and said, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water.
29 And he said, Come. And when Pe'ter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

30 But when he saw the wind ‖ boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me.

31 And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?
32 And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.
33 Then they that were in the ship came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth [m] thou art the Son of God.

3 For Her'od had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of He-ro'di-as, his
4 brother Phil'ip's wife. For John said unto him, It
5 is not lawful for thee to have her. And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multi-
6 tude, because they counted him as a prophet. But when Her'od's birthday came, the daughter of He-ro'di-as danced in the midst, and pleased Her'od.
7 Whereupon he promised with an oath to give her
8 whatsoever she should ask. And she, being put forward by her mother, saith, Give me here in a
9 charger the head of John the Baptist. And the king was grieved; but for the sake of his oaths, and of them that sat at meat with him, he commanded 10 it to be given; and he sent, and beheaded John in 11 the prison. And his head was brought in a charger, and given to the damsel: and she brought it to her 12 mother. And his disciples came, and took up the corpse, and buried him; and they went and told Jesus.
13 Now when Jesus heard it, he withdrew from thence in a boat to a desert place apart: and when the multitudes heard thereof, they followed him [1] on 14 foot from the cities. And he came forth, and saw a great multitude, and he had compassion on them, 15 and healed their sick. And when even was come, the disciples came to him, saying, The place is desert, and the time is already past; send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages, and 16 buy themselves food. But Jesus said unto them, They have no need to go away; give ye them to 17 eat. And they say unto him, We have here but 18 five loaves, and two fishes. And he said, Bring 19 them hither to me. And he commanded the multitudes to [2] sit down on the grass; and he took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, he blessed, and brake and gave the loaves to the disciples, and the disciples [t] o the multitudes.
20 And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up that which remained over of the broken pieces,
21 twelve baskets full. And they that did eat were about five thousand men, besides women and children.
22 And straightway he constrained the disciples to enter into the boat, and to go before him unto the other side, till he should send the multitudes away.
23 And after he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into the mountain apart to pray: and when even 24 was come, he was there alone. But the boat [3] was now in the midst of the sea, distressed by the waves;
25 for the wind was contrary. And in the fourth watch of the night he came unto them, walking upon the 26 sea. And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is an appari-27 tion; and they cried out for fear. But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it
28 is I; be not afraid. And Pe'ter answered him and said, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee 29 upon the waters. And he said, Come. And Pe'ter went down from the boat, and walked upon the 30 waters, [4] to come to Jesus. But when he saw the wind, [5] he was afraid: and beginning to sink, he 31 cried out, saying, Lord, save me. And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and took hold of him, and saith unto him, O thou of little faith, where-
32 fore didst thou doubt? And when they were gone
33 up into the boat, the wind ceased. And they that were in the boat worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God.

CHAPTER XV.

God's commandments.

THEN ᵃcame to Jesus scribes and Phar'i-sees, which were of Je-ru'sa-lem, saying,
2 ᵇWhy do thy disciples trangress ᶜthe tradition of the ders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.
3 But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also ansgress the commandment of God by your tradition?
4 For God commanded, saying, ᵈHonour thy father and other: and, ᵉHe that curseth father or mother, let him die e death.
5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother,
It is a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me;
6 And honour not his father or his mother, he shall be free.
hus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect
y your tradition.
7 ᵍ*Ye* hypocrites, well did E-sa'ias prophesy of you, saying,
8 ʰThis people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and onoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me.
9 But in vain do they worship me, ⁱteaching for doctrines
e commandments of men.
10 ¶ᵏAnd he called the multitude, and said unto them,
ear, and understand:
11 ˡNot that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man;
it that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man.
12 Then came his disciples, and said unto him, Knowest thou at the Phar'i-sees were offended, after they heard this saying?
13 But he answered and said, ᵐEvery plant, which my avenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.
14 Let them alone: ⁿthey be blind leaders of the blind.
nd if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.
15 ᵒThen answered Pe'ter and said unto him, Declare unto this parable.
16 And Jesus said, ᵖAre ye also yet without understanding?
17 Do not ye yet understand, that ᵍwhatsoever entereth in at e mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?
18 But ʳthose things which proceed out of the mouth come rth from the heart; and they defile the man.
19 ˢFor out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, ulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:
20 These are the things which defile a man: but to eat
th unwashen hands defileth not a man.
21 ¶ᵗThen Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts
Tyre and Si'don.
22 And, behold, a woman of Ca'naan came out of the same asts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O ord, thou son of Da'vid; my daughter is grievously vexed
th a devil.
23 But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came d besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.
24 But he answered and said, ᵘI am not sent but unto the st sheep of the house of Is'ra-el.
25 Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, lp me.
26 But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the ildren's bread and to cast it to ˣdogs.
27 And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the umbs which fall from their masters' table.
28 Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, eat is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And r daughter was made whole from that very hour.

34 And when they had crossed over, they came to the 35 land, unto Gen-nes'a-ret. And when the men of that place knew him, they sent into all that region round about, and brought unto him all that were sick; 36 and they besought him that they might only touch the border of his garment: and as many as touched were made whole.

15 Then there come to Jesus from Je-ru'sa-lem Phar'i-
2 sees and scribes, saying, Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they 3 wash not their hands when they eat bread. And he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God because of 4 your tradition? For God said, Honour thy father and thy mother: and, He that speaketh evil of 5 father or mother, let him [1]die the death. But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother, That wherewith thou mightest have been 6 profited by me is given to God; he shall not honour his father[2]. And ye have made void the 7 [3]word of God because of your tradition. Ye hypocrites, well did I-sa'iah prophesy of you, saying,
8 This people honoureth me with their lips;
But their heart is far from me.
9 But in vain do they worship me,
Teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men.
10 And he called to him the multitude, and said unto 11 them, Hear, and understand: Not that which enter-eth into the mouth defileth the man; but that which proceedeth out of the mouth, this defileth the man.
12 Then came the disciples, and said unto him, Know-est thou that the Phar'i-sees were [4]offended, when 13 they heard this saying? But he answered and said, Every [5]plant which my heavenly Father 14 planted not, shall be rooted up. Let them alone:
they are blind guides. And if the blind guide the 15 blind, both shall fall into a pit. And Pe'ter answered and said unto him, Declare unto us the 16 parable. And he said, Are ye also even yet with-17 out understanding? Perceive ye not, that whatsoever goeth into the mouth passeth into the belly, 18 and is cast out into the draught? But the things which proceed out of the mouth come forth out of 19 the heart; and they defile the man. For out of the heart come forth evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, 20 fornications, thefts, false witness, railings: these are the things which defile the man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not the man.
21 And Jesus went out thence, and withdrew into 22 the parts of Tyre and Si'don. And, behold, a Canaan-i'tish woman came out from those borders, and cried, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of Da'vid; my daughter is grievously vexed with a 23 [6]devil. But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her 24 away; for she crieth after us. But he answered and said, I was not sent but unto the lost sheep of the 25 house of Is'ra-el. But she came and worshipped 26 him, saying, Lord, help me. And he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's 27 [7]bread and cast it to the dogs. But she said,
Yea, Lord: for even the dogs eat of the crumbs 28 which fall from their masters' table. Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it done unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was healed from that hour.

A. D. 32.

29 [v]And Jesus departed from hence, and came nigh [s]unto the sea of Gal'i-lee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there.

30 [a]And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them:

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Is'ra-el.

32 ¶[b]Then Jesus called his disciples unto him, and said, I have compassion on the multitude, because they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 [c]And his disciples say unto him, Whence should we have so much bread in the wilderness, as to fill so great a multitude?

34 And Jesus saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven, and a few little fishes.

35 And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground.

36 And [d]he took the seven loaves and the fishes, and [e]gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the broken meat that was left seven baskets full.

38 And they that did eat were four thousand men, besides women and children.

39 [f]And he sent away the multitude, and took ship, and came into the coasts of Mag'da-la.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Pharisees require a sign.

THE [a]Phar'i-sees also with the Sad'du-cees came, and tempting desired him that he would shew them a sign from heaven.

2 He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red.

3 And in the morning, It will be foul weather to-day: for the sky is red and lowering. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?

4 [b]A wicked and adulterous nation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given unto it, but the sign of the prophet Jo'nas. And he left them, and departed.

5 And [c]when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread.

6 ¶Then Jesus said unto them, [d]Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Phar'i-sees and of the Sad'du-cees.

7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have taken no bread.

8 Which when Jesus perceived, he said unto them, O ye of little faith, why reason ye among yourselves, because ye have brought no bread?

9 [e]Do ye not yet understand, neither remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets ye took up?

10 [f]Neither the seven loaves of the four thousand, and how many baskets ye took up?

11 How is it that ye do not understand that I spake it not to you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leaven of the Phar'i-sees and of the Sad'du-cees?

12 Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Phar'i-sees and of the Sad'du-cees.

13 ¶When Jesus came unto the coasts of Ces-a-re'a Phi-lip'pi, he asked his disciples, saying, [g]Whom do men say that I, the Son of man, am?

14 And they said, [h]Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some, E-li'as; and others, Jer-e-mi'as, or one of the prophets.

15 He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 And Si'mon Pe'ter answered and said, [i]Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

29 And Jesus departed thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Gal'i-lee; and he went up into the mount-
30 ain, and sat there. And there came unto him great multitudes, having with them the lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and they cast them down at his feet; and he healed them:
31 insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb speaking, the maimed whole, and the lame walking, and the blind seeing: and they glorified the God of Is'ra-el.

32 And Jesus called unto him his disciples, and said, I have compassion on the multitude, because they continue with me now three days and have nothing to eat: and I would not send them away fasting, lest 33 haply they faint in the way. And the disciples say unto him, Whence should we have so many loaves in a desert place, as to fill so great a multitude?
34 And Jesus saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven, and a few small 35 fishes. And he commanded the multitude to sit 36 down on the ground; and he took the seven loaves and the fishes; and he gave thanks and brake, and gave to the disciples, and the disciples to the multi-37 tudes. And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up that which remained over of the 38 broken pieces, seven baskets full. And they that did eat were four thousand men, beside women and 39 children. And he sent away the multitudes, and entered into the boat, and came into the borders of Mag'a-dan.

16 And the Phar'i-sees and Sad'du-cees came, and tempting him asked him to shew them a sign from heaven.
2 But he answered and said unto them, [1]When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the
3 heaven is red. And in the morning, It will be foul weather to-day: for the heaven is red and lowring. Ye know how to discern the face of the heaven; but 4 ye cannot discern the signs of the times. An evil and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given unto it, but the sign of Jo'nah. And he left them, and departed.

5 And the disciples came to the other side and for-
6 got to take [2]bread. And Jesus said unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Phar'i-sees and 7 Sad'du-cees. And they reasoned among themselves,
8 saying, [3]We took no [2]bread. And Jesus perceiving it said, O ye of little faith, why reason ye among 9 yourselves, because ye have no [2]bread? Do ye not yet perceive, neither remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many [4]baskets ye took 10 up? Neither the seven loaves of the four thousand,
11 and how many [4]baskets ye took up? How is it that ye do not perceive that I spake not to you concerning [2]bread? But beware of the leaven of the 12 Phar'i-sees and Sad'du-cees. Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of [2]bread, but of the teaching of the Phar'i-sees and Sad'du-cees.

13 Now when Jesus came into the parts of Cæs-a-re'a Phi-lip'pi, he asked his disciples, saying, Who do men
14 say [5]that the Son of man is? And they said, Some say John the Baptist; some, E-li'jah: and others, Jer-e-mi'ah, 15 or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But who 16 say ye that I am? And Si'mon Pe'ter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

20 [q]Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

21 ¶From that time forth began Jesus [r]to shew unto his disciples, how that he must go unto Je-ru'sa-lem, and suffer many thing of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day.

CHAPTER XVII.

The transfiguration of Christ—He healeth the lunatic.

AND [a]after six days Jesus taketh Pe'ter, James, and John his brother, and bringeth them up into a high mountain apart,

2 And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light.

3 And, behold, there appeared unto them Mo'ses and E-li'as talking with him.

4 Then answered Pe'ter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Mo'ses, and one for E-li'as.

5 [b]While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, [c]This is my beloved Son, [d]in whom I am well pleased; [e]hear ye him.

6 [f]And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid.

7 And Jesus came and [g]touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid.

8 And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only.

9 And as they came down from the mountain, [h]Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man be risen again from the dead.

10 And his disciples asked him, saying, [i]Why then say the scribes that E-li'as must first come?

11 And Jesus answered and said unto them, E-li'as truly shall first come, and [k]restore all things:

12 [l]But I say unto you, that E-li'as is come already, and they knew him not, but [m]have done unto him whatsoever they listed. Likewise [n]shall also the Son of man suffer of them.

13 [o]Then the disciples understood that he spake unto them of John the Baptist.

14 ¶[p]And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man kneeling down to him, and saying,

17 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Si'mon Bar-Jo'nah: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in

21 From that time began [3]Jesus to shew unto his disciples, how that he must go unto Je-ru'sa-lem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and the third day be

24 not the things of God, but the things of men. Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross,
25 and follow me. For whosoever would save his [5]life shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his [5]life for 28 Verily I say unto you, There be some of them that stand here, which shall in no wise taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.

15 Lord, have mercy on my son; for he is lunatic, and sore vexed: for ofttimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water.
16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

26 Pe'ter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Christ teacheth to be humble—Touching offences, and forgiving one another.

AT [a]the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?
2 And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them,
3 And said, Verily I say unto you, [b]Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.
4 [c]Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.
5 And whoso [d]shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me.
6 [e]But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.
7 ¶ Woe unto the world because of offences! for [f]it must needs be that offences come; but [g]woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!
8 [h]Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.
9 And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire.
10 Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you, That in heaven [i]their angels do always [k]behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.

13 And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14 Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

15 ¶Moreover [n]if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, [o]thou hast gained thy brother.

16 But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in [p]the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

17 And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as a [q]heathen man and a publican.

18 Verily I say unto you, [r]Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

19 [s]Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, [t]it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

21 ¶Then came Pe'ter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? [u]till seven times?

22 Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: [x]but, Until seventy times seven.

23 ¶Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants.

24 And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which owed him ten thousand ||talents.

25 But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him [y]to be sold, and his wife and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made.

26 The servant therefore fell down, and ||worshipped him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellow servants, which owed him a hundred ||pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 And his fellow servant fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

30 And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 So when his fellow servants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done.

32 Then his lord, after that he had called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me:

33 Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellow servant, even as I had pity on thee?

34 And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him.

35 [z]So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

Christ answereth touching divorcement—How to attain everlasting life.

AND it came to pass, [a]that when Jesus had finished these sayings, he departed from Gal'i-lee, and came into the coasts of Ju-de'a, beyond Jor'dan;

2 [b]And great multitudes followed him; and he healed them there.

3 ¶The Phar'i-sees also came unto him, tempting him,

15 And if thy brother sin [3]against thee, go, shew him his fault between thee and him alone: if he hear
16 thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he hear thee not, take with thee one or two more, that at the mouth of two witnesses or three every word may be
17 established. And if he refuse to hear them, tell it unto the [4]church: and if he refuse to hear the [4]church also, let him be unto thee as the Gentile and the 18 publican. Verily I say unto you, What things soever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and what things soever ye shall loose on earth shall be 21 Then came Pe'ter, and said to him, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him?

22 until seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times; but, Until [5]seventy 23 times seven. Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would make a 24 reckoning with his [6]servants. And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which 25 owed him ten thousand [7]talents. But forasmuch as he had not wherewith to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife and children, and all
26 that he had, and payment to be made. The [8]servant therefore fell down and worshipped him, saying, Lord,
27 have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. And the lord of that [8]servant, being moved with compas-
28 sion, released him, and forgave him the [9]debt. But that [8]servant went out, and found one of his fellow-servants, which owed him a hundred [10]pence: and he laid hold on him, and took him by the throat, saying,
29 Pay what thou owest. So his fellow-servant fell down and besought him, saying, Have patience with me, 30 and I will pay thee. And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay that which 31 was due. So when his fellow-servants saw what was done, they were exceeding sorry, and came and told 32 unto their lord all that was done. Then his lord called him unto him, and saith to him, Thou wicked [8]servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou
33 besoughtest me: shouldest not thou also have had mercy on thy fellow-servant, even as I had mercy on 34 thee? And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was 35 due. So shall also my heavenly Father do unto you, if ye forgive not every one his brother from your hearts.

19 And it came to pass when Jesus had finished these words, he departed from Gal'i-lee, and came 2 into the borders of Ju-dæ'a beyond Jor'dan; and great multitudes followed him; and he healed them there.

and saying unto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?

4 And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, [c]that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female,

5 And said, [d]For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and [e]they twain shall be one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.

7 They say unto him, [f]Why did Mo'ses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away?

8 He saith unto them, Mo'ses because of the hardness of your hearts suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 [g]And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery.

10 ¶His disciples say unto him, [h]If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry.

11 But he said unto them, [i]All men cannot receive this saying, save they to whom it is given.

12 For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and [k]there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it.

13 ¶[l]Then were there brought unto him little children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said, Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for [m]of such is the kingdom of heaven.

15 And he laid his hands on them, and departed thence.

16 ¶[n]And, behold, one came and said unto him, [o]Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?

17 And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.

18 He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, [p]Thou shalt do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, 19 [q]Honour thy father and thy mother: and, [r]Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

20 The young man saith unto him, All these things have I kept from my youth up: what lack I yet?

21 Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, [s]go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me.

22 But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 ¶Then said Jesus unto his disciples, Verily I say unto you, That [t]a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven.

24 And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

25 When his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but [u]with God all things are possible.

27 ¶[x]Then answered Pe'ter and said unto him, Behold, [y]we have forsaken all, and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?

28 And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, That ye which have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of his glory, [z]ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Is'ra-el.

So that they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. They say unto him, Why then did Mo'ses command to give a bill of divorcement, and to put her away? He saith unto them, Mo'ses for your hardness of heart suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it hath not been so. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, [2]except for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: [3]and he that marrieth her when she is put away committeth adultery. The disciples say unto him, If the case of the man is so with his wife, it is not expedient to marry. But he said unto them, All men cannot receive this saying, but they to whom it is given. And behold, one came to him and said, [4] [5]Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, [6]Why askest thou me concerning that which is good? One there is who is good: but if thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments. He saith unto him, Which? And Jesus said, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Honour thy father and thy mother: and, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. The young man saith unto him, All these things have I observed: what lack I yet? Jesus said unto him, If thou wouldest be perfect, go, sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me. But when the young man heard the saying, he went away sorrowful: for he was one that had great possessions.

And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. And when the disciples heard it, they were astonished exceedingly, saying, Who then can be saved? And Jesus looking upon them said to them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible. Then answered Pe'ter and said unto him, Lo, we have left all, and followed thee; what then shall we have? CHAPTER XX.

Of the labourers in the vineyard.

FOR the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is a householder, which went out early in the morning to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And when he had agreed with the labourers for a || penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

4 And said unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard; and whatsoever is right I will give you. And they went their way.

5 Again he went out about the sixth and ninth hour, and did likewise.

6 And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing idle, and saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard; and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receive.

8 So when even was come, the lord of the vineyard saith unto his steward, Call the labourers, and give them their hire, beginning from the last unto the first.

9 And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a penny.

10 But when the first came, they supposed that they should have received more: and they likewise received every man a penny.

11 And when they had received it, they murmured against the goodman of the house,

12 Saying, These last ||have wrought but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day.

13 But he answered one of them, and said, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst not thou agree with me for a penny?

14 Take that thine is, and go thy way: I will give unto this last, even as unto thee.

15 [c]Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? [b]Is thine eye evil, because I am good?

16 [c]So the last shall be first, and the first last: [d]for many be called, but few chosen.

17 ¶ [e]And Jesus going up to Je-ru'sa-lem took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said unto them,

18 [f]Behold, we go up to Je-ru'sa-lem; and the Son of man shall be betrayed unto the chief priests and unto the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,

19 [g]And shall deliver him to the Gentiles to mock, and to scourge, and to crucify him: and the third day he shall rise again.

20 ¶ [h]Then came to him the mother of [i]Zeb'e-dee's children, with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.

21 And he said unto her, What wilt thou? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons [k]may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom.

22 But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of [l]the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with [m]the baptism that I am baptized with? They say unto him, We are able.

23 And he saith unto them, [n]Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to [o]give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 [p]And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation against the two brethren.

29 And every one that hath left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, [1]or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive [2]a hun-
30 dredfold, and shall inherit eternal life. But many shall be last that are first; and first that are last.

20 For the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is a householder, which went out early in the 2 morning to hire labourers into his vineyard. And when he had agreed with the labourers for a [3]penny
3 a day, he sent them into his vineyard. And he went out about the third hour, and saw others stand-
4 ing in the marketplace idle; and to them he said, Go ye also into the vineyard, and whatsoever is right I will give you. And they went their way.
5 Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth
6 hour, and did likewise. And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing; and he saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day
7 idle? They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, Go ye also into the 8 vineyard. And when even was come, the lord of the vineyard said unto his steward, Call the labourers, and pay them their hire, beginning from the last 9 unto the first. And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every 10 man a [3]penny. And when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they like-
11 wise received every man a [3]penny. And when they received it, they murmured against the householder, 12 saying, These last have spent but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden of the day and the [4]scorching heat.
13 But he answered and said to one of them, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst not thou agree with me
14 for a [3]penny? Take up that which is thine, and go thy way; it is my will to give unto this last, even 15 as unto thee. Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? or is thine eye evil, because I 16 am good? So the last shall be first, and the first last.

17 And as Jesus was going up to Je-ru'sa-lem, he took the twelve disciples apart, and in the way he said
18 unto them, Behold, we go up to Je-ru'sa-lem; and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief priests and scribes; and they shall condemn him to death,
19 and shall deliver him unto the Gentiles to mock, and to scourge, and to crucify: and the third day he shall be raised up.

20 Then came to him the mother of the sons of Zeb'e-dee with her sons, worshipping him, and asking 21 a certain thing of him. And he said unto her, What wouldest thou? She saith unto him, Command that these my two sons may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left hand, in thy king-
22 dom. But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I am about to drink? They say unto him, We 23 are able. He saith unto them, My cup indeed ye shall drink: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left hand, is not mine to give, but it is for them for whom it hath been prepared of my Fa-
24 ther. And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation concerning the two brethren.

27 [s]And whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant:

CHAPTER XXI.

Christ's entry into Jerusalem.

AND [c]when they drew nigh unto Je-ru'sa-lem, and were come to Beth'pha-ge, unto [b]the mount of Olives, then sent Jesus two disciples,

2 Saying unto them, Go into the village over against you, and straightway ye shall find an ass tied, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them unto me.

3 And if any man say aught unto you, ye shall say, The Lord hath need of them; and straightway he will send them.

4 All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying,

5 [c]Tell ye the daughter of Si'on, Behold, thy King cometh unto thee, meek, and sitting upon an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass.

6 [d]And the disciples went, and did as Jesus commanded them,

7 And brought the ass, and the colt, and [e]put on them their clothes, and they set him thereon.

8 And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; [f]others cut down branches from the trees, and strewed them in the way.

9 And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying, [g]Hosanna to the Son of Da'vid: [h]Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.

10 [i]And when he was come into Je-ru'salem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?

11 And the multitude said, This is Jesus [k]the prophet of Naz'a-reth of Gal'i-lee.

12 ¶[l]And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the [m]money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, 13 And said unto them, It is written, [n]My house shall be called the house of prayer; [o]but ye have made it a den of thieves.

14 And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple; and he healed them.

15 And when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Son of Da'vid; they were sore displeased,

16 And said unto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Jesus saith unto them, Yea; have ye never read, [p]Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?

17 ¶And he left them, and went out of the city into [q]Beth'a-ny; and he lodged there.

6 And the disciples went, and did even as Jesus ap-

8 And the most part of the multitude spread their garments in the way; and others cut branches from children, his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

25 Now there were with us seven brethren: and the first, when he had married a wife, deceased; and, having no issue, left his wife unto his brother:
26 Likewise the second also, and the third, unto the †seventh.
27 And last of all the woman died also.
28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seven? for they all had her.
29 Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, [o]not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God.
30 For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but [p]are as the angels of God in heaven.
31 But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying,
32 [q]I am the God of A'bra-ham, and the God of I'saac, and the God of Ja'cob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.
33 And when the multitude heard this, [r]they were astonished at his doctrine.
34 ¶ [s]But when the Phar'i-sees had heard that he had put the Sad'du-cees to silence, they were gathered together.
35 Then one of them which was [t]a lawyer asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,
36 Master, which is the great commandment in the law?
37 Jesus said unto him, [u]Thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.
38 This is the first and great commandment.
39 And the second is like unto it, [x]Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
40 [y]On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.
41 ¶ [z]While the Phar'i-sees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 Saying, What think ye of Christ? whose son is he? They say unto him, The son of Da'vid.
43 He saith unto them, How then doth Da'vid in spirit call him Lord, saying,
44 [a]The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?
45 If Da'vid then call him Lord, how is he his son?
46 [b]And no man was able to answer him a word, [c]neither durst any man from that day forth ask him any more questions.

CHAPTER XXIII.

The destruction of Jerusalem foretold.

THEN spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples:
2 Saying, [d]The scribes and the Phar'i-sees sit in Mo'ses' seat.
3 All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works: for [b]they say, and do not.
4 [c]For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers.
5 But [d]all their works they do for to be seen of men: [e]they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the borders of their garments,
6 [f]And love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues,
7 And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi.
8 [g]But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren.
9 And call no man your father upon the earth: [h]for one is your Father, which is in heaven.
10 Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ.
11 But [i]he that is greatest among you shall be your servant.
12 [k]And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted.

children, his brother [1]shall marry his wife, and raise 25 up seed unto his brother. Now there were with us seven brethren: and the first married and deceased, and having no seed left his wife unto his 26 brother; in like manner the second also, and the 27 third, unto the [2]seventh. And after them all the 28 woman died. In the resurrection therefore whose wife shall she be of the seven? for they all had her.
29 But Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God.
30 For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as angels [3]in heaven.
31 But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by 32 God, saying, I am the God of A'bra-ham, and the God of I'saac, and the God of Ja'cob? God is not 33 the God of the dead, but of the living. And when the multitudes heard it, they were astonished at his teaching.
34 But the Phar'i-sees, when they heard that he had put the Sad'du-cees to silence, gathered themselves
35 together. And one of them, a lawyer, asked him a 36 question, tempting, him, [4]Master, which is the great 37 commandment in the law? And he said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy 38 mind. This is the great and first commandment.
39 [5]And [x]a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love
40 thy neighbour as thyself. On these two commandments hangeth the whole law, and the prophets.
41 Now while the Phar'i-sees were gathered together, 42 Jesus asked them a question, saying, What think ye of the Christ? whose son is he? They say unto 43 him, The son of Da'vid. He saith unto them, How then doth Da'vid in the Spirit call him Lord, saying,
44 The Lord said unto my Lord,
Sit thou on my right hand,
Till I put thine enemies underneath thy feet?
45 If Da'vid then calleth him Lord, how is he his son?
46 And no one was able to answer him a word, neither durst any man from that day forth ask him any more questions.

23 Then spake Jesus to the multitudes and to his
2 disciples, saying, The scribes and the Phar'i-sees sit
3 on Mo'ses' seat: all things therefore whatsoever they bid you, these do and observe: but do not ye
4 after their works; for they say, and do not. Yea, they bind heavy burdens [6]and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they them-
5 selves will not move them with their finger. But all their works they do for to be seen of men: for they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the 6 borders of their garments, and love the chief place at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues,
7 and the salutations in the market-places, and to be
8 called of men, Rabbi. But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your teacher, and all ye are brethren.
9 And call no man your father on the earth: for one 10 is your Father, [7]which is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters: for one is your master, even the 11 Christ. But he that is [8]greatest among you shall be 12 your [9]servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be humbled; and whosoever shall humble himself shall be exalted.

13 ¶ But [l]woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in.

14 Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! [m]for ye devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation.

15 Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte; and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves.

16 Woe unto you, [n]ye blind guides, which say, [o]Whosoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing; but whosoever shall swear by the gold of the temple, he is a debtor!

17 Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gold, [p]or the temple that sanctifieth the gold?

18 And, Whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing; but whosoever sweareth by the gift that is upon it, he is || guilty.

19 Ye fools, and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or [q]the altar that sanctifieth the gift?

20 Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.

21 And whoso shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it, and by [r]him that dwelleth therein.

22 And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by [s]the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! [t]for ye pay tithe of mint and †anise and cummin, and [u]have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

24 Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel.

25 Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! [x]for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess.

26 Thou blind Phar'i-see, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.

27 Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! [y]for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness.

28 Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.

29 [z]Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.

31 Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves, that [a]ye are the children of them which killed the prophets.

32 [b]Fill ye up then the measure of your fathers.

33 Ye serpents, ye [c]generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?

34 ¶ [d]Wherefore, behold, I send unto you prophets, and wise men, and scribes: and [e]some of them ye shall kill and crucify; and [f]some of them shall ye scourge in your synagogues, and persecute them from city to city:

35 [g]That upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, [h]from the blood of righteous A'bel, unto [i]the blood of Zach-a-ri'as, son of Bar-a-chi'as, whom ye slew between the temple and the altar.

36 Verily I say unto you, All these things shall come upon this generation.

37 [k]O Je-ru'sa-lem, Je-ru'sa-lem, thou that killest the prophets, [l]and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would [m]I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens [n]under her wings, and ye would not!

38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.

39 For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, [o]Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Christ foretelleth the destruction of the temple.

AND [a]Jesus went out, and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him for to shew him the buildings of the temple.

2 And Jesus said unto them, See ye not all these things? verily I say unto you, [b]There shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

3 ¶And as he sat upon the mount of Olives, [c]the disciples came unto him privately, saying, [d]Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?

4 And Jesus answered and said unto them, [e]Take heed that no man deceive you.

5 For [f]many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; [g]and shall deceive many.

6 And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.

7 For [h]nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places.

8 All these are the beginning of sorrows.

9 [i]Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake.

10 And then shall many [k]be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And [l]many false prophets shall rise, and [m]shall deceive many.

12 And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold.

13 [n]But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved.

14 And this [o]gospel of the kingdom [p]shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come.

15 [q]When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by [r]Dan'iel the prophet, stand in the holy place, ([s]whoso readeth, let him understand,)

16 Then let them which be in Ju-de'a flee into the mountains:

17 Let him which is on the housetop not come down to take any thing out of his house:

18 Neither let him which is in the field return back to take his clothes.

19 And [t]woe unto them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days!

20 But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath day:

21 For [u]then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be.

22 And except those days be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: [x]but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened.

23 [v]Then if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there; believe it not.

24 For [z]there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, [a]if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect.

25 Behold, I have told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shall say unto you, Behold, he is in the desert; go not forth: behold, he is in the secret chambers; believe it not.

27 [b]For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

28 [c]For wheresoever the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together.

29 ¶[d]Immediately after the tribulation of those days [e]shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken:

A. D. 33.

24 And Jesus went out from the temple, and was going on his way; and his disciples came to him to
2 shew him the buildings of the temple. But he answered and said unto them, See ye not all these things? verily I say unto you, There shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.
3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives, the disciples came unto him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of 4 thy [1]coming, and of [2]the end of the world? And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that
5 no man lead you astray. For many shall come in my name, saying, I am the Christ; and shall lead
6 many astray. And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for these things must needs come to pass; but the end is not yet.
7 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines and 8 earthquakes in divers places. But all these things
9 are the beginning of travail. Then shall they deliver you up unto tribulation, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all the nations for my name's sake.
10 And then shall many stumble, and shall deliver up
11 one another, and shall hate one another. And many false prophets shall arise, and shall lead many astray.
12 And because iniquity shall be multiplied, the love
13 of the many shall wax cold. But he that endureth
14 to the end, the same shall be saved. And [3]this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole [4]world for a testimony unto all the nations; and then shall the end come.
15 When therefore ye see the abomination of desolation, which was spoken of [5]by Dan'iel the prophet, standing in [6]the holy place (let him that readeth
16 understand), then let them that are in Ju-dæ'a flee
17 unto the mountains: let him that is on the housetop not go down to take out the things that are in 18 his house: and let him that is in the field not re-
19 turn back to take his cloke. But woe unto them that are with child and to them that give suck in 20 those days! And pray ye that your flight be not 21 in the winter, neither on a sabbath: for then shall be great tribulation, such as hath not been from the beginning of the world until now, no, nor ever shall 22 be. And except those days had been shortened, no flesh would have been saved: but for the elect's
23 sake those days shall be shortened. Then if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is the Christ, or,
24 Here; believe [7]it not. For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; so as to lead astray, if possible,
25 even the elect. Behold, I have told you before-
26 hand. If therefore they shall say unto you, Behold, he is in the wilderness; go not forth: Behold, he is 27 in the inner chambers; believe [8]it not. For as the lightning cometh forth from the east, and is seen even unto the west; so shall be the [1]coming of the 28 Son of man. Wheresoever the carcase is, there will the [9]eagles be gathered together.
29 But immediately, after the tribulation of those days, the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken:

30 [f]And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: [g]and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, [h]and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

31 [i]And he shall send his angels || with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

32 Now learn [k]a parable of the fig tree; When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh:

33 So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know [l]that || it is near, even at the doors.

34 Verily I say unto you, [m]This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled.

35 [n]Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

36 ¶ [o]But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, [p]but my Father only.

37 But as the days of No'e were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

38 [q]For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that No'e entered into the ark,

39 And knew not until the flood came, and took them all away: so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

40 [r]Then shall two be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

41 Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

42 ¶ [s]Watch therefore; for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come.

43 [t]But know this, that if the goodman of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up.

44 [u]Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh.

45 [x]Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season?

46 [y]Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing.

47 Verily I say unto you, that [z]he shall make him ruler over all his goods.

48 But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming;

49 And shall begin to smite his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken;

50 The lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of,

51 And shall || cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: [a]there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

CHAPTER XXV.

Parables of the ten virgins, etc.

THEN shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet [a]the bridegroom.

2 [b]And five of them were wise, and five were foolish.

3 They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them:

4 But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

5 While the bridegroom tarried, [c]they all slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight [d]there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and [e]trimmed their lamps.

8 And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are || gone out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.

30 and then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

31 And he shall send forth his angels [1]with [2]a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

32 Now from the fig tree learn her parable: when her branch is now become tender, and putteth forth

33 its leaves, ye know that the summer is nigh; even so ye also, when ye see all these things, know ye

34 that [3]he is nigh, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass away, till

35 all these things be accomplished. Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not

36 pass away. But of that day and hour knoweth no one, not even the angels of heaven, [4]neither

37 the Son, but the Father only. And as were the days of No'ah, so shall be the [5]coming of the Son

38 of man. For as in those days which were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that No'ah

39 entered into the ark, and they knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall be the 40 [5]coming of the Son of man. Then shall two men

41 be in the field; one is taken, and one is left: two women shall be grinding at the mill; one is taken,

42 and one is left. Watch therefore: for ye know not

43 on what day your Lord cometh. [6]But know this, that if the master of the house had known in what watch the thief was coming, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be [7]broken

44 through. Therefore be ye also ready: for in an hour that ye think not the Son of man cometh.

45 Who then is the faithful and wise [8]servant, whom his lord hath set over his household, to give them

46 their food in due season? Blessed is that [8]servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing.

47 Verily I say unto you, that he will set him over all

48 that he hath. But if that evil [8]servant shall say in

49 his heart, My lord tarrieth; and shall begin to beat his fellow-servants, and shall eat and drink with the

50 drunken; the lord of that [8]servant shall come in a day when he expecteth not, and in an hour when 51 he knoweth not, and shall [9]cut him asunder, and appoint his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be the weeping and gnashing of teeth.

25 Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their [10]lamps, and went forth

2 to meet the bridegroom. And five of them were

3 foolish, and five were wise. For the foolish, when they took their [10]lamps, took no oil with them:

4 but the wise took oil in their vessels with their

5 [10]lamps. Now while the bridegroom tarried, they

6 all slumbered and slept. But at midnight there is a cry, Behold, the bridegroom! Come ye forth

7 to meet him. Then all those virgins arose, and

8 trimmed their [10]lamps. And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our [10]lamps are go-

9 ing out. But the wise answered, saying, Peradventure there will not be enough for us and you: go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut.
11 Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.
12 But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not.
13 Watch therefore; for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh.
14 ¶ For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods.
15 And unto one he gave five ‖ talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey.
16 Then he that had received the five talents, went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents.
17 And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two.
18 But he that had received one went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money.
19 After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth with them.
20 And so he that had received five talents came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me five talents: behold, I have gained besides them five talents more.
21 His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.
22 He also that had received two talents came and said, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents besides them.
23 His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.
24 Then he which had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art a hard man, reaping where thou hast not sown, and gathering where thou hast not strewed:
25 And I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, there thou hast that is thine.
26 His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strewed:
27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury.
28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents.
29 For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.
30 And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.
31 ¶ When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory:
32 And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats:
33 And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left.
34 Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:
35 For I was a hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:
36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

11 to the marriage feast: and the door was shut. Afterward come also the other virgins, saying, Lord,
12 Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily
13 I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour.
14 For it is as when a man, going into another country, called his own [1]servants, and delivered unto 15 them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, to another one; to each according to his several ability; and he went on his journey.
16 Straightway he that received the five talents went and traded with them, and made other five talents.
17 In like manner he also that received the two gained 18 other two. But he that received the one went away and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money.
19 Now after a long time the lord of those [1]servants
20 cometh, and maketh a reckoning with them. And he that received the five talents came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me five talents: lo, I have gained other five
21 talents. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful [2]servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things: enter

25 where thou didst not scatter: and I was afraid, and went away and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, thou
26 hast thine own. But his lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful [2]servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather 27 where I did not scatter; thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the bankers, and at my coming I should have received back mine own with 28 interest. Take ye away therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him that hath the ten talents.
29 For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not, even that which he hath shall be taken away.
30 And cast ye out the unprofitable [2]servant into the outer darkness: there shall be the weeping and gnashing of teeth.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The rulers conspire against Christ—Judas selleth him—The passover.

AND it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said unto his disciples,
2 [a]Ye know that after two days is the feast of the passover, and the Son of man is betrayed to be crucified.
3 [b]Then assembled together the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders of the people, unto the palace of the high priest, who was called Ca'ia-phas,
4 And consulted that they might take Jesus by subtilty, and kill him.
5 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar among the people.
6 ¶ [c]Now when Jesus was in [d]Beth'a-ny, in the house of Si'mon the leper,
7 There came unto him a woman having an alabaster box of very precious ointment, and poured it on his head as he sat at meat.
8 [e]But when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, To what purpose is this waste?
9 For this ointment might have been sold for much, and given to the poor.
10 When Jesus understood it, he said unto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good work upon me.
11 [f]For ye have the poor always with you; but [g]me ye have not always.
12 For in that she hath poured this ointment on my body, she did it for my burial.
13 Verily I say unto you, Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her.
14 ¶ [h]Then one of the twelve, called [i]Ju'das Is-car'i-ot, went unto the chief priests,
15 And said unto them, [k]What will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they covenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver.
16 And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him.
17 ¶ [l]Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover?
18 And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Master saith, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at thy house with my disciples.

40 in prison, and came unto thee? And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my 41 brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me. Then shall [1]he say also unto them on the left hand, [1]Depart from me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels:
42 for I was an hungred, and ye gave me no meat:
43 I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me not in; naked, and ye clothed me not; sick, and in prison, and ye vis-

46 unto me. And these shall go away into eternal punishment: but the righteous into eternal life.

[1] Or, Depart from me under a curse

26 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all
2 these words, he said unto his disciples, Ye know that after two days the passover cometh, and the 3 Son of man is delivered up to be crucified. Then were gathered together the chief priests, and the elders of the people, unto the court of the high
4 priest, who was called Ca'ia-phas; and they took counsel together that they might take Jesus by 5 subtilty, and kill him. But they said, Not during the feast, lest a tumult arise among the people.
6 Now when Jesus was in Beth'a-ny, in the house of 7 Si'mon the leper, there came unto him a woman having [2]an alabaster cruse of exceeding precious ointment, and she poured it upon his head, as he 8 sat at meat. But when the disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, To what purpose is this 9 waste? For this ointment might have been sold for 10 much, and given to the poor. But Jesus perceiving it said unto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for 11 she hath wrought a good work upon me. For ye have the poor always with you; but me ye have not 12 always. For in that she [3]poured this ointment upon 13 my body, she did it to prepare me for burial. Verily I say unto you, Wheresoever [4]this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, that also which this woman hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.
14 Then one of the twelve, who was called Ju'das
15 Is-car'i-ot, went unto the chief priests, and said, What are ye willing to give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they weighed unto him thirty 16 pieces of silver. And from that time he sought opportunity to deliver him unto them.
17 Now on the first day of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus saying, Where wilt thou that 18 we make ready for thee to eat the passover? And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The [5]Master saith, My time is at hand; I keep the passover at thy house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover.

20 [m]Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve.

21 And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began every one of them to say unto him, Lord, is it I?

23 And he answered and said, [n]He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me.

24 The Son of man goeth [o]as it is written of him: but [p]woe unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been born.

25 Then Ju'das, which betrayed him, answered and said, Master, is it I? He said unto him, Thou hast said.

26 ¶[q]And as they were eating, [r]Jesus took bread, and ||blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; [s]this is my body.

27 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, [t]Drink ye all of it;

28 For [u]this is my blood [x]of the new testament, which is shed [y]for many for the remission of sins.

29 But [z]I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, [a]until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.

30 [b]And when they had sung a ||hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 Then saith Jesus unto them, [c]All ye shall [d]be offended because of me this night: for it is written, [e]I will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad.

32 But after I am risen again, [f]I will go before you into Gal'i-lee.

33 Pe'ter answered and said unto him, Though all men shall be offended because of thee, yet will I never be offended.

34 Jesus said unto him, [g]Verily I say unto thee, That this night, before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

35 Pe'ter said unto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶[h]Then cometh Jesus with them unto a place called Geth-sem'a-ne, and saith unto the disciples, Sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder.

37 And he took with him Pe'ter and [i]the two sons of Zeb'e-dee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy.

38 Then saith he unto them, [k]My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death: tarry ye here, and watch with me.

39 And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and [l]prayed, saying, [m]O my Father, if it be possible, [n]let this cup pass from me: nevertheless, [o]not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Pe'ter, What, could ye not watch with me one hour?

41 [p]Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.

42 He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy will be done.

43 And he came and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy.

44 And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then cometh he to his disciples and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that doth betray me.

47 ¶And [s]while he yet spake, lo, Ju'das, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, gave them a sign, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he; hold him fast.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus appointed them; and 20 they made ready the passover. Now when even was come, he was sitting at meat with the twelve 21 [1]disciples; and as they were eating, he said, Verily
I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.
22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began to 23 say unto him every one, Is it I, Lord? And he answered and said, He that dipped his hand with me 24 in the dish, the same shall betray me. The Son of man goeth, even as it is written of him: but woe unto that man through whom the Son of man is betrayed! good were it [2]for that man if he had not 25 been born. And Ju'das, which betrayed him, answered and said, Is it I, Rabbi? He saith unto him, 26 Thou hast said. And as they were eating, Jesus took [3]bread, and blessed, and brake it; and he gave to the 27 disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took [4]a cup, and gave thanks, and gave to them, 28 saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of [5]the [6]covenant, which is shed for many unto remis-
29 sion of sins. But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.
30 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out unto the mount of Olives.
31 Then saith Jesus unto them, All ye shall be [7]offended in me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be 32 scattered abroad. But after I am raised up, I will 33 go before you into Gal'i-lee. But Pe'ter answered and said unto him, If all shall be [7]offended in thee, I will 34 never be [7]offended. Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, that this night, before the cock crow, 35 thou shalt deny me thrice. Pe'ter saith unto him,
Even if I must die with thee, yet will I not deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.
36 Then cometh Jesus with them unto [8]a place called Geth-sem'a-ne, and saith unto his disciples, Sit ye here, 37 while I go yonder and pray. And he took with him
Pe'ter and the two sons of Zeb'e-dee, and began to be 38 sorrowful and sore troubled. Then saith he unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto 39 death: abide ye here, and watch with me. And he went forward a little, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but 40 as thou wilt. And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Pe'ter, What, 41 could ye not watch with me one hour? [9]Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the 42 spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak. Again a second time he went away, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cannot pass away, except I drink 43 it, thy will be done. And he came again and found 44 them sleeping, for their eyes were heavy. And he left them again, and went away, and prayed a third 45 time, saying again the same words. Then cometh he to the disciples, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed unto the hands of 46 sinners. Arise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.
47 And while he yet spake, lo, Ju'das, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the 48 people. Now he that betrayed him gave them a sign, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that is he: take him.

A. D. 33.

49 And forthwith he came to Jesus, and said, Hail, Master; [r]and kissed him.
50 And Jesus said unto him, [s]Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Jesus, and took him.
51 And, behold, [t]one of them which were with Jesus stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high priest, and smote off his ear.
52 Then said Jesus unto him, Put up again thy sword into his place: [u]for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.
53 Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me [x]more than twelve legions of angels?
54 But how then shall the Scriptures be fulfilled, [y]that thus it must be?
55 In that same hour said Jesus to the multitudes, Are ye come out as against a thief with swords and staves for to take me? I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and ye laid no hold on me.
56 But all this was done, that the [z]Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled. Then [a]all the disciples forsook him, and fled.
57 ¶ [b]And they that had laid hold on Jesus led him away to Ca'ia-phas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.
58 But Pe'ter followed him afar off unto the high priest's palace, and went in, and sat with the servants, to see the end.
59 Now the chief priests, and elders, and all the council, sought false witness against Jesus, to put him to death;
60 But found none: yea, though [c]many false witnesses came, yet found they none. At the last came [d]two false witnesses,
61 And said, This fellow said, [e]I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build it in three days.
62 [f]And the high priest arose, and said unto him, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which these witness against thee?
63 But [g]Jesus held his peace. And the high priest answered and said unto him, [h]I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God.
64 Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless I say unto you, [i]Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man [k]sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.
65 [l]Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, now ye have heard his blasphemy.
66 What think ye? They answered and said, [m]He is guilty of death.
67 [n]Then did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and [o]others smote him with ‖ the palms of their hands,
68 Saying, [p]Prophesy unto us, thou Christ, Who is he that smote thee?
69 ¶ [q]Now Pe'ter sat without in the palace: and a damsel came unto him, saying, Thou also wast with Jesus of Gal'i-lee.
70 But he denied before them all, saying, I know not what thou sayest.
71 And when he was gone out into the porch, another maid saw him, and said unto them that were there, This fellow was also with Jesus of Naz'a-reth.
72 And again he denied with an oath, I do not know the man.
73 And after a while came unto him they that stood by, and said to Pe'ter, Surely thou also art one of them; for thy [r]speech bewrayeth thee.
74 Then [s]began he to curse and to swear, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cock crew.
75 And Pe'ter remembered the word of Jesus, which said unto him, [t]Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. And he went out, and wept bitterly.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Christ delivered to Pilate—Judas hangeth himself—Christ is crucified.

WHEN the morning was come, [a]all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death:

2 And when they had bound him they led him away, and [b]delivered him to Pon'ti-us Pi'late the governor.

3 ¶ [c]Then Ju'das, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,

4 Saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see thou to that.

5 And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, [d]and departed, and went and hanged himself.

6 And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.

8 Wherefore that field was called, [e]The field of blood, unto this day.

9 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jer'e-my the prophet, saying, [f]And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was valued, || whom they of the children of Is'ra-el did value;

10 And gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.

11 And Jesus stood before the governor: [g]and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, [h]Thou sayest.

12 And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, [i]he answered nothing.

13 Then saith Pi'late unto him, [k]Hearest thou not how many things they witness against thee?

14 And he answered him to never a word; insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly.

15 [l]Now at that feast the governor was wont to release unto the people a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner, called Ba-rab'bas.

17 Therefore when they were gathered together, Pi'late said unto them, Whom will ye that I release unto you? Ba-rab'bas, or Jesus which is called Christ?

18 For he knew that for envy they had delivered him.

19 ¶ When he was set down on the judgment seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that just man: for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of him.

20 [m]But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitude that they should ask Ba-rab'bas, and destroy Jesus.

21 The governor answered and said unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I release unto you? They said, Ba-rab'bas.

22 Pi'late saith unto them, What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all say unto him, Let him be crucified.

23 And the governor said, Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried out the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 ¶ When Pi'late saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he [n]took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it.

25 Then answered all the people and said, [o]His blood be on us, and on our children.

26 ¶ Then released he Ba-rab'bas unto them: and when [p]he had scourged Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified.

27 [q]Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the ||common hall, and gathered unto him the whole band of soldiers.

28 And they stripped him, and [r]put on him a scarlet robe.

29 ¶ [s]And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand: and they bowed the knee before him, and mocked him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!

30 And [t]they spit upon him, and took the reed, and smote him on the head.

31 And after that they had mocked him, they took the robe off from him, and put his own raiment on him, [u]and led him away to crucify him.

32 [x]And as they came out, [y]they found a man of Cy-re'ne, Si'mon by name: him they compelled to bear his cross.

33 ¶ [z]And when they were come unto a place called Gol'go-tha, that is to say, A place of a skull, 34 [a]They gave him vinegar to drink mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.

35 [b]And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, [c]They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots.

36 [d]And sitting down they watched him there;

37 And [e]set up over his head his accusation written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

38 [f]Then were there two thieves crucified with him; one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 ¶ And [g]they that passed by reviled him, wagging their heads,

40 And saying, [h]Thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, save thyself. [i]If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross.

41 Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said, 42 He saved others, himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Is'ra-el, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him.

43 [k]He trusted in God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Son of God.

44 [l]The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.

45 [m]Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour.

46 And about the ninth hour [n]Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, E'li, E'li, la'ma sa-bach-tha'ni? that is to say, [o]My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, This man calleth for E-li'as.

48 And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, [p]and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

49 The rest said, Let be, let us see whether E-li'as will come to save him.

50 ¶ [q]Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.

51 And, behold, [r]the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent;

52 And the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arose,

53 And came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many.

54 [s]Now when the centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earthquake and those things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God.

55 And many women were there beholding afar off, [t]which followed Jesus from Gal'i-lee, ministering unto him:

56 [u]Among which was Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and Ma'ry the mother of James and Jo'ses, and the mother of Zeb'e-dee's children.

57 [x]When the even was come, there came a rich man of Ar-i-ma-the'a, named Jo'seph, who also himself was Jesus' disciple:

58 He went to Pi'late, and begged the body of Jesus. Then Pi'late commanded the body to be delivered.

59 And when Jo'seph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth,

43 believe on him. He trusteth on God; let him deliver him now, if he desireth him: for he said, I am 44 the Son of God. And the robbers also that were crucified with him cast upon him the same reproach.
45 Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over 46 all the [4]land until the ninth hour. And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, E'li, E'li, la'ma sa-bach-tha'ni? that is, My God, my 61 And there was Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and the other Ma'ry, sitting over against the sepulchre.

62 ¶Now the next day, that followed the day of the preparation, the chief priests and Phar'i-sees came together unto Pi'late, 63 Saying, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet alive, [z]After three days I will rise again.

64 Command therefore that the sepulchre be made sure until the third day, lest his disciples come by night, and steal him away, and say unto the people, He is risen from the dead: so the last error shall be worse than the first.

65 Pi'late said unto them, Ye have a watch: go your way, make it as sure as ye can.

66 So they went, and made the sepulchre sure, [a]sealing the stone, and setting a watch.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Christ's resurrection declared—Sendeth his disciples to teach and baptize.

IN the [a]end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne [b]and the other Ma'ry to see the sepulchre.

2 And, behold, there ‖was a great earthquake: for [c]the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

3 [d]His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

4 And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

5 And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

6 He is not here: for he has risen, [e]as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

7 And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, [f]he goeth before you into Gal'i-lee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

8 And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

9 ¶And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, [g]Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell [h]my brethren that they go into Gal'i-lee, and there shall they see me.

11 ¶Now when they were going, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and shewed unto the chief priests all the things that were done.

12 And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave large money unto the soldiers, 13 Saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and secure you.

15 So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

16 ¶Then the eleven disciples went away into Gal'i-lee, into a mountain [i]where Jesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Jesus came, and spake unto them, saying, [k]All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.

19 ¶[l]Go ye therefore, and [m]‖teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:

20 [n]Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen.

60 and laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock: and he rolled a great stone
61 to the door of the tomb, and departed. And Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne was there, and the other Ma'ry, sitting over against the sepulchre.

62 Now on the morrow, which is the day after the Preparation, the chief priests and the Phar'i-sees were 63 gathered together unto Pi'late, saying, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet alive,
64 After three days I rise again. Command therefore that the sepulchre be made sure until the third day, lest haply his disciples come and steal him away, and say unto the people, He is risen from the dead: and the last error will be worse than the first.
65 Pi'late said unto them, [1]Ye have a guard: go your 66 way, [2]make it as sure as ye can. So they went, and made the sepulchre sure, sealing the stone, the guard being with them.

28 Now late on the sabbath day, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne and the other Ma'ry to see the sepulchre.
2 And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came
3 and rolled away the stone, and sat upon it. His appearance was as lightning, and his raiment white
4 as snow: and for fear of him the watchers did
5 quake, and became as dead men. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which hath been 6 crucified. He is not here; for he is risen, even as he said. Come, see the place [3]where the Lord lay.
7 And go quickly, and tell his disciples, He is risen from the dead; and lo, he goeth before you into Gal'i-lee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.
8 And they departed quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring his disciples word.
9 And behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and took hold of his feet, and worshipped 10 him. Then saith Jesus unto them, Fear not: go tell my brethren that they depart into Gal'i-lee, and there shall they see me.

11 Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city, and told unto the chief 12 priests all the things that were come to pass. And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave large money unto the 13 soldiers, saying, Say ye, His disciples came by 14 night, and stole him away while we slept. And if this [4]come to the governor's ears, we will persuade 15 him, and rid you of care. So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying was spread abroad among the Jews, and continueth until this day.

16 But the eleven disciples went into Gal'i-lee, unto the mountain where Jesus had appointed them.
17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but 18 some doubted. And Jesus came to them and spake unto them, saying, All authority hath been given 19 unto me in heaven and on earth. Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of 20 the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you [5]alway, even unto [6]the end of the world.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. MARK.

CHAPTER I.

Jesus baptized—He is tempted—Calleth Peter and others, and cureth many.

[a]THE beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, [a]the Son of God;

2 As it is written in the prophets, [b]Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 [c]The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 [d]John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of repentance ‖ for the remission of sins.

5 [e]And there went out unto him all the land of Ju-de'a, and they of Je-ru'sa-lem, and were all baptized of him in the river of Jor'dan, confessing their sins.

6 And John was [f]clothed with camel's hair, and with a girdle of skin about his loins; and he did eat [g]locusts and wild honey;

7 And preached, saying, [h]There cometh one mightier than I after me, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose.

8 [i]I indeed have baptized you with water: but he shall baptize you [k]with the Holy Ghost.

9 [l]And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Naz'a-reth of Gal'i-lee, and was baptized of John in Jor'dan.

10 [m]And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens ‖opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him:

11 And there came a voice from heaven, saying, [n]Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

12 [o]And immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness.

13 And he was there in the wilderness forty days tempted of Sa'tan; and was with the wild beasts; [p]and the angels ministered unto him.

14 [q]Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Gal'i-lee, [r]preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God,

15 And saying, [s]The time is fulfilled, and [t]the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel.

16 [u]Now as he walked by the sea of Gal'i-lee, he saw Si'mon and An'drew his brother casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers.

17 And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.

18 And straightway [x]they forsook their nets, and followed him.

19 [y]And when he had gone a little further thence, he saw James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets.

20 And straightway he called them: and they left their father Zeb'e-dee in the ship with the hired servants, and went after him.

21 [z]And they went into Ca-per'na-um; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught.

22 [a]And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes.

23 [b]And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out,

24 Saying, Let us alone; [c]what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Naz'a-reth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.

25 And Jesus [d]rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And when the unclean spirit [e]had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. MARK.

A. D. 26.

1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, [1]the son of God.

2 Even as it is written [2]in I-sa'iah the prophet,
Behold, I send my messenger before thy face,
Who shall prepare thy way;

3 The voice of one crying in the wilderness,
Make ye ready the way of the Lord,
Make his paths straight;

4 John came, who baptized in the wilderness and preached the baptism of repentance unto remission
5 of sins. And there went out unto him all the country of Ju-dæ'a, and all they of Je-ru'sa-lem; and they were baptized of him in the river Jor'dan, con-
6 fessing their sins. And John was clothed with camel's hair, and had a leathern girdle about his
7 loins, and did eat locusts and wild honey. And he preached, saying, There cometh after me he that is mightier than I, the latchet of whose shoes I am not 8 [3]worthy to stoop down and unloose. I baptize you [4]with water; but he shall baptize you [4]with the [5]Holy Ghost.

9 And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Naz'a-reth of Gal'i-lee, and was baptized
10 of John [6]in the Jor'dan. And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens rent asunder, and the Spirit as a dove descending upon 11 him: and a voice came out of the heavens, Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I am well pleased.

12 And straightway the Spirit driveth him forth into 13 the wilderness. And he was in the wilderness forty days tempted of Sa'tan; and he was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered unto him.

14 Now after that John was delivered up, Jesus came into Gal'i-lee, preaching the gospel of God,
15 and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe in the gospel.

16 And passing along by the sea of Gal'i-lee, he saw Si'mon and An'drew the brother of Si'mon casting 17 a net in the sea: for they were fishers. And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make 18 you to become fishers of men. And straightway
19 they left the nets, and followed him. And going on a little further, he saw James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his brother, who also were in the 20 boat mending the nets. And straightway he called them: and they left their father Zeb'e-dee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after him.

21 And they go into Ca-per'na-um; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue and 22 taught. And they were astonished at his teaching: for he taught them as having authority, and not as 23 the scribes. And straightway there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried
24 out, saying, What have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Naz'a-reth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.
25 And Jesus rebuked [7]him, saying, Hold thy peace, and 26 come out of him. And the unclean spirit, [8]tearing him and crying with a loud voice, came out of him.

A. D. 31.

27 And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Gal'i-lee.

[f] Matt. 8. 14. Luke 4. 38.

29 [f] And forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Si'mon and An'drew, with James and John.

30 But Si'mon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever; and anon they tell him of her.

31 And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them.

[g] Matt. 8. 16. Luke 4. 40.

32 [g] And at even, when the sun did set, they brought unto him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And all the city was gathered together at the door.

[h] ch. 3. 12. Luke 4. 41. See Acts 16. 17, 18. || Or, to say that they knew him.

34 And he healed many that were sick of divers diseases, and cast out many devils; and [h] suffered not the devils || to speak, because they knew him.

[i] Luke 4. 42.

35 And [i] in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Si'mon and they that were with him followed after him.

37 And when they had found him, they said unto him, All men seek for thee.

38 And he said unto them, [k] Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also: for [l] therefore came I forth.

[m] Matt. 4. 23. Luke 4. 44.

39 [m] And he preached in their synagogues throughout all Gal'i-lee, and cast out devils.

[n] Matt. 8. 2. Luke 5. 12.

40 [n] And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down to him, and saying unto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

41 And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him, and saith unto him, I will; be thou clean.

42 And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed.

43 And he straitly charged him, and forthwith sent him away;

44 And saith unto him, See thou say nothing to any man: but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things [o] which Mo'ses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

[o] Lev. 14. 3, 4, 10. Luke 5. 14.

45 [p] But he went out, and began to publish it much, and to blaze abroad the matter, insomuch that Jesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: [q] and they came to him from every quarter.

[q] ch. 2. 13.

CHAPTER II.

Christ healeth one sick of the palsy.

[a] Matt. 9. 1. Luke 5. 18.

AND again [a] he entered into Ca-per'na-um after some days; and it was noised that he was in the house.

2 And straightway many were gathered together, insomuch that there was no room to receive them, no, not so much as about the door: and he preached the word unto them.

3 And they come unto him, bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four.

4 And when they could not come nigh unto him for the press, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed wherein the sick of the palsy lay.

5 When Jesus saw their faith, he said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, thy sins be forgiven thee.

6 But there were certain of the scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

[b] Joh 14. 4. Isa. 43. 25.

7 Why doth this man thus speak blasphemies? [b] who can forgive sins but God only?

[c] Matt. 9. 4.

8 And immediately, [c] when Jesus perceived in his spirit that they so reasoned within themselves, he said unto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

[d] Matt. 9. 5.

9 [d] Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?

27 And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What is this? a new teaching! with authority he commandeth even 28 the unclean spirits, and they obey him. And the report of him went out straightway everywhere into all the region of Gal'i-lee round about.

29 And straightway, [1] when they were come out of the synagogue, they came into the house of Si'mon
30 and An'drew, with James and John. Now Si'mon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever; and straightway 31 they tell him of her: and he came and took her by the hand, and raised her up; and the fever left her, and she ministered unto them.

32 And at even, when the sun did set, they brought unto him all that were sick, and them that were [2] pos-
33 sessed with devils. And all the city was gathered 34 together at the door. And he healed many that were sick with divers diseases, and cast out many [3] devils; and he suffered not the [3] devils to speak, because they knew him [4].

35 And in the morning, a great while before day, he rose up and went out, and departed into a desert
36 place, and there prayed. And Si'mon and they that 37 were with him followed after him; and they found
38 him, and say unto him, All are seeking thee. And he saith unto them, Let us go elsewhere into the next towns, that I may preach there also; for to 39 this end came I forth. And he went into their synagogues throughout all Gal'i-lee, preaching and casting out [3] devils.

40 And there cometh to him a leper, beseeching him, [5] and kneeling down to him, and saying unto 41 him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And being moved with compassion, he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, and saith unto him, I 42 will; be thou made clean. And straightway the leprosy departed from him, and he was made clean.
43 And he [6] strictly charged him, and straightway sent 44 him out, and saith unto him, See thou say nothing to any man: but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing the things which Mo'ses
45 commanded, for a testimony unto them. But he went out, and began to publish it much, and to spread abroad the [7] matter, insomuch that [8] Jesus could no more openly enter into [9] a city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

2 And when he entered again into Ca-per'na-um after some days, it was noised that he was [10] in the house.
2 And many were gathered together, so that there was no longer room for them, no, not even about the
3 door: and he spake the word unto them. And they come, bringing unto him a man sick of the palsy,
4 borne of four. And when they could not [11] come nigh unto him for the crowd, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed whereon the sick of the 5 palsy lay. And Jesus seeing their faith saith unto the sick of the palsy, [12] Son, thy sins are forgiven.
6 But there were certain of the scribes sitting there,
7 and reasoning in their hearts, Why doth this man thus speak? he blasphemeth: who can forgive sins
8 but one, even God? And straightway Jesus, perceiving in his spirit that they so reasoned within themselves, saith unto them, Why reason ye these 9 things in your hearts? Whether is easier, to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins are forgiven; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?

A. D. 31.

10 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (he saith to the sick of the palsy,)
11 I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house.
12 And immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went forth before them all; insomuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion.
13 [c]And he went forth again by the sea side; and all the multitude resorted unto him, and he taught them.
14 [f]And as he passed by, he saw Le'vi the son of Al-phe'us sitting ||at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.
15 [g]And it came to pass, that, as Jesus sat at meat in his house, many publicans and sinners sat also together with Jesus and his disciples; for there were many, and they followed him.
16 And when the scribes and Phar'i-sees saw him eat with publicans and sinners, they said unto his disciples, How is it that he eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?
17 When Jesus heard it, he saith unto them, [h]They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.
18 [i]And the disciples of John and of the Phar'i-sees used to fast: and they come, and say unto him, Why do the disciples of John and of the Phar'i-sees fast, but thy disciples fast not?
19 And Jesus said unto them, Can the children of the bride-chamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? as long as they have the bridegroom with them, they can not fast.
20 But the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast in those days.
21 No man also seweth a piece of ||new cloth on an old garment; else the new piece that filled it up taketh away from the old, and the rent is made worse.
22 And no man putteth new wine into old bottles; else the new wine doth burst the bottles, and the wine is spilled, and the bottles will be marred: but new wine must be put into new bottles.
23 [k]And it came to pass, that he went through the corn-fields on the sabbath day; and his disciples began, as they went, [l]to pluck the ears of corn.
24 And the Phar'i-sees said unto him, Behold, why do they on the sabbath day that which is not lawful?
25 And he said unto them, Have ye never read [m]what Da'vid did, when he had need, and was a hungered, he, and they that were with him?
26 How he went into the house of God in the days of A-bi'a-thar the high priest, and did eat the shewbread, [n]which is not lawful to eat but for the priests, and gave also to them which were with him?
27 And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath:
28 Therefore, [o]the Son of man is Lord also of the sabbath.

CHAPTER III.

The twelve apostles chosen.

AND [a]he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there which had a withered hand.
2 And they watched him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath day, that they might accuse him.
3 And he saith unto the man which had the withered hand, †Stand forth.
4 And he saith unto them, Is it lawful to do good on the sabbath days, or to do evil? to save life, or to kill? But they held their peace.
5 And when he had looked round about on them with anger, being grieved for the ||hardness of their hearts, he saith unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored whole as the other.
6 [b]And the Phar'i-sees went forth, and straightway took counsel with [c]the He-ro'di-ans against him, how they might destroy him.

10 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath [1]power on earth to forgive sins (he saith to the sick 11 of the palsy), I say unto thee, Arise, take up thy bed,
12 and go unto thy house. And he arose, and straightway took up the bed, and went forth before them all; insomuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion.
13 And he went forth again by the sea side; and all the multitude resorted unto him, and he taught them.
14 And as he passed by, he saw Le'vi the son of Alphæ'us sitting at the place of toll, and he saith unto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.
15 And it came to pass, that he was sitting at meat in his house, and many [2]publicans and sinners sat down with Jesus and his disciples: for there were many,
16 and they followed him. And the scribes [3]of the Phar'i-sees, when they saw that he was eating with the sinners and publicans, said unto his disciples, [4]He eateth [5]and drinketh with publicans and sinners.
17 And when Jesus heard it, he saith unto them, They that are [6]whole have no need of a physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners.
18 And John's disciples and the Phar'i-sees were fasting: and they come and say unto him, Why do John's disciples and the disciples of the Phar'i-sees 19 fast, but thy disciples fast not? And Jesus said unto them, Can the sons of the bride-chamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? as long as they have 20 the bridegroom with them, they can not fast. But the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then will they fast in 21 that day. No man seweth a piece of undressed cloth on an old garment: else that which should fill it up taketh from it, the new from the old, and a worse
22 rent is made. And no man putteth new wine into old [7]wine-skins: else the wine will burst the skins, and the wine perisheth, and the skins: but they put new wine into fresh wine-skins.
23 And it came to pass, that he was going on the sabbath day through the cornfields; and his disciples
24 [8]began, as they went, to pluck the ears of corn. And the Phar'i-sees, said unto him, Behold, why do they 25 on the sabbath day that which is not lawful? And he said unto them, Did ye never read what Da'vid did, when he had need, and was an hungred, he, and 26 they that were with him? How he entered into the house of God [9]when A-bi'a-thar was high priest, and did eat the shewbread, which it is not lawful to eat save for the priests, and gave also to them that were 27 with him? And he said unto them, The sabbath
28 was made for man, and not man for the sabbath: so that the Son of man is lord even of the sabbath.

3 And he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there which had his hand withered.
2 And they watched him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath day; that they might accuse him.
3 And he saith unto the man that had his hand withered,
4 [10]Stand forth. And he saith unto them, Is it lawful on the sabbath day to do good, or to do harm? to save a life, or to kill? But they held their peace.
5 And when he had looked round about on them with anger, being grieved at the hardening of their heart, he saith unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he stretched it forth: and his hand was restored.
6 And the Phar'i-sees went out, and straightway with the He-ro'di-ans took counsel against him, how they might destroy him.

7 But Jesus withdrew himself with his disciples to the sea; and a great multitude from Gal'i-lee followed him, [d]and from Ju-de'a,
8 And from Je-ru'sa-lem, and from I-du-me'a, and from beyond Jor'dan; and they about Tyre and Si'don, a great multitude, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him.
9 And he spake to his disciples, that a small ship should wait on him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.
10 For he had healed many; insomuch that they ||pressed upon him for to touch him, as many as had plagues.
11 [e]And unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down before him, and cried, saying, [f]Thou art the Son of God.
12 And [g]he straitly charged them that they should not make him known.
13 [h]And he goeth up into a mountain, and calleth unto him whom he would: and they came unto him.
14 And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach,
15 And to have power to heal sicknesses, and to cast out devils:
16 And Si'mon [i]he surnamed Pe'ter;
17 And James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John the brother of James: and he surnamed them, Bo-a-ner'ges, which is, The sons of thunder:

29 But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation:
30 Because they said, He hath an unclean spirit.
31 ¶[q]There came then his brethren and his mother, and, standing without, sent unto him, calling him.
32 And the multitude sat about him, and they said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren without seek for thee.
33 And he answered them, saying, Who is my mother, or my brethren?

13 And he goeth up into the mountain, and calleth unto him whom he himself would: and they went

20 And he cometh [8]into a house. And the multitude cometh together again, so that they could not 21 so much as eat bread. And when his friends heard it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said,
22 He is beside himself. And the scribes which came down from Je-ru'sa-lem said, He hath Be-el'ze-bub, and, [9]By the prince of the [5]devils casteth he out the

28 Verily I say unto you, All their sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and their blasphemies
29 wherewith soever they shall blaspheme: but whosoever shall blaspheme against the Holy Spirit hath never forgiveness, but is guilty of an eternal sin:

31 And there come his mother and his brethren; and, standing without, they sent unto him, calling 32 him. And a multitude was sitting about him; and they say unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy

34 ren? And looking round on them which sat round about him, he saith, Behold, my mother and my 35 brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.

4 And again he began to teach by the sea side. And there is gathered unto him a very great multitude, so that he entered into a boat, and sat in the sea; and all the multitude were by the sea on the land.

2 And he taught them many things by parables, [b]and said unto them in his doctrine,

[b]ch. 12. 38.

3 Hearken; Behold, there went out a sower to sow:

4 And it came to pass, as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the fowls of the air came and devoured it up.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth; and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth:

6 But when the sun was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered away.

7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit.

8 And other fell on good ground, [c]and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased, and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some a hundred.

9 And he said unto them, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

[d]Matt. 13. 10. Luke 8. 9, &c.

10 [d]And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelve asked of him the parable.

11 And he said unto them, Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God: but unto [e]them that are without, all these things are done in parables:

37 And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep on a pillow: and they awake him, and say unto him, Master, carest thou not that we perish?

39 And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.

CHAPTER V.

A legion of devils cast out.

AND [a]they came over unto the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gad'a-renes.

2 And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit,

3 Who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains:

4 Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him.

5 And always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting himself with stones.

6 But when he saw Jesus afar off, he ran and worshipped him,

7 And cried with a loud voice and said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of the most high God? I adjure thee by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For he said unto him, Come out of the man, thou unclean spirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And he besought him much that he would not send them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there nigh unto the mountains a great herd of swine feeding.

12 And all the devils besought him, saying, Send us into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And forthwith Jesus gave them leave. And the unclean spirits went out, and entered into the swine; and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the sea, (there were about two thousand,) and were choked in the sea.

14 And they that fed the swine fled, and told it in the city, and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they come to Jesus, and see him that was possessed with the devil, and had the legion, sitting, and clothed, and in his right mind; and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it told them how it befell to him that was possessed with the devil, and also concerning the swine.

17 And [b]they began to pray him to depart out of their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, [c]he that had been possessed with the devil prayed him that he might be with him.

28 For she said, If I may touch but his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of that plague.

30 And Jesus, immediately knowing in himself that [g]virtue had gone out of him, turned him about in the press, and said, Who touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said unto him, Thou seest the multitude thronging thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me?

32 And he looked round about to see her that had done this thing.

33 But the woman fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.

34 And he said unto her, Daughter, [h]thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.

35 [i]While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house certain which said, Thy daughter is dead; why troublest thou the Master any further?

36 As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him, save Pe'ter, and James, and John the brother of James.

38 And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And when he was come in, he saith unto them, Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but [k]sleepeth.

40 And they laughed him to scorn. [l]But when he had put them all out, he taketh the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and entereth in where the damsel was lying.

41 And he took the damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Tal'i-tha cu'mi: which is, being interpreted, Damsel, (I say unto thee,) arise.

42 And straightway the damsel arose, and walked; for she was of the age of twelve years. And they were astonished with a great astonishment.

43 And [m]he charged them straitly that no man should know it; and commanded that something should be given her to eat.

CHAPTER VI.

The apostles sent to preach.

AND [o]he went out from thence, and came into his own country; and his disciples follow him.

2 And when the sabbath day was come, he began to teach in the synagogue: and many hearing him were astonished, saying, [p]From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this which is given unto him, that even such mighty works are wrought by his hands?

3 Is not this the carpenter, the son of Ma'ry, [q]the brother of James, and Jo'ses, and of Ju'da, and Si'mon? and are how great things Jesus had done for him: and all men did marvel.

21 And when Jesus had crossed over again in the boat unto the other side, a great multitude was 22 gathered unto him: and he was by the sea. And there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Ja-i'rus by name; and seeing him, he falleth at his feet,
23 and beseecheth him much, saying, My little daughter is at the point of death: I pray thee, that thou come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be [1]made 24 whole, and live. And he went with him; and a great multitude followed him, and they thronged him.
25 And a woman, which had an issue of blood twelve 26 years, and had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was 27 nothing bettered, but rather grew worse, having heard the things concerning Jesus, came in the 28 crowd behind, and touched his garment. For she said, If I touch but his garments, I shall be [1]made 29 whole. And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was 30 healed of her [2]plague. And straightway Jesus, perceiving in himself that the power proceeding from him had gone forth, turned him about in the crowd, 31 and said, Who touched my garments? And his disciples said unto him, Thou seest the multitude thronging thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me?
32 And he looked round about to see her that had 33 done this thing. But the woman fearing and trembling, knowing what had been done to her, came and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.
34 And he said unto her, Daughter, thy faith hath [3]made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy [2]plague.
35 While he yet spake, they come from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying, Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the [4]Master any further?
36 But Jesus, [5]not heeding the word spoken, saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Fear not, only believe.
37 And he suffered no man to follow with him, save Pe'ter, and James, and John the brother of James.
38 And they come to the house of the ruler of the synagogue; and he beholdeth a tumult, and many
39 weeping and wailing greatly. And when he was entered in, he saith unto them, Why make ye a tumult, and weep? the child is not dead, but sleep-
40 eth. And they laughed him to scorn. But he, having put them all forth, taketh the father of the child and her mother and them that were with him,
41 and goeth in where the child was. And taking the child by the hand, he saith unto her, Tal'i-tha cu'mi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee,
42 Arise. And straightway the damsel rose up, and walked; for she was twelve years old. And they were amazed straightway with a great amazement.
43 And he charged them much that no man should know this: and he commanded that something should be given her to eat.

6 And he went out from thence; and he cometh into his own country; and his disciples follow
2 him. And when the sabbath was come, he began to teach in the synagogue: and [6]many hearing him were astonished, saying, Whence hath this man these things? and, What is the wisdom that is given unto this man, and what mean such

6 And [g]he marvelled because of their unbelief. [h]And he went round about the villages, teaching.

12 And they went out, and preached that men should repent.

13 And they cast out many devils, [o]and anointed with oil many that were sick, and healed them.

14 [p]And king Her'od heard of him; (for his name was spread abroad;) and he said, That John the Baptist was risen from the dead, and therefore mighty works do shew forth themselves in him.

15 [q]Others said, That it is E-li'as. And others said, That it is a prophet, or as one of the prophets.

16 [r]But when Her'od heard thereof, he said, It is John, whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Her'od himself had sent forth and laid hold upon John, and bound him in prison for He-ro'di-as' sake, his brother Phil'ip's wife; for he had married her.

18 For John had said unto Her'od, [s]It is not lawful for thee to have thy brother's wife.

19 Therefore He-ro'di-as had ‖ a quarrel against him, and would have killed him; but she could not:

21 [u]And when a convenient day was come, that Her'od [x]on his birthday made a supper to his lords, high captains, and chief estates of Gal'i-lee;

22 And when the daughter of the said He-ro'di-as came in, and danced, and pleased Her'od and them that sat with him, the king said unto the damsel, Ask of me whatsoever thou wilt, and I will give it thee.

23 And he sware unto her, [v]Whatsoever thou shalt ask of me, I will give it thee, unto the half of my kingdom.

24 And she went forth, and said unto her mother, What shall I ask? And she said, The head of John the Baptist.

25 And she came in straightway with haste unto the king, and asked, saying, I will that thou give me by and by in a charger the head of John the Baptist.

26 [z]And the king was exceeding sorry; yet for his oath's sake, and for their sakes which sat with him, he would not reject her.

27 And immediately the king sent ‖ an executioner, and commanded his head to be brought: and he went and beheaded him in the prison,

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the damsel; and the damsel gave it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard of it, they came and took up his corpse, and laid it in a tomb.

And king Her'od heard thereof; for his name had become known: and [6]he said, John [7]the Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore do these powers work in him. But others said, It is E-li'jah. And others said, It is a prophet, even as one of the prophets. But Her'od when he heard thereof, said, John, whom I beheaded, he is risen. For Her'od himself had sent forth and laid hold upon John, and bound him in prison for the sake of He-ro'di-as his brother Phil'ip's wife: for he had married her. Jesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 [b]And he said unto them, Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while: for [c]there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat.

32 [d]And they departed into a desert place by ship privately.

33 And the people saw them departing, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and outwent them, and came together unto him.

34 [e]And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd: and [f]he began to teach them many things.

35 [g]And when the day was now far spent, his disciples came unto him, and said, This is a desert place, and now the time is far passed:

36 Send them away, that they may go into the country round about, and into the villages, and buy themselves bread: for they have nothing to eat.

37 He answered and said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they say unto him, [h]Shall we go and buy two hundred ‖ pennyworth of bread and give them to eat.

38 He saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? go and see. And when they knew, they say, [i]Five, and two fishes.

39 And he commanded them to make all sit down by companies upon the green grass.

40 And they sat down in ranks, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And when he had taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to heaven, [k]and blessed, and brake the loaves, and gave them to his disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided he among them all.

42 And they did all eat, and were filled.

43 And they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that did eat of the loaves were about five thousand men.

45 [l]And straightway he constrained his disciples to get into the ship, and to go to the other side before ‖ unto Beth-sa'i-da, while he sent away the people.

46 And when he had sent them away, he departed into a mountain to pray.

47 [m]And when even was come, the ship was in the midst of the sea, and he alone on the land,

48 And he saw them toiling in rowing; for the wind was contrary unto them: and about the fourth watch of the night he cometh unto them, walking upon the sea, and [n]would have passed by them.

50 For they all saw him, and were troubled. And immediately he talked with them, and saith unto them, Be of good cheer: it is I; be not afraid.

51 And he went up unto them into the ship; and the wind ceased: and they were sore amazed in themselves beyond measure, and wondered.

52 For [o]they considered not the miracle of the loaves; for their [p]heart was hardened.

53 [q]And when they had passed over, they came into the land of Gen-nes'a-ret, and drew to the shore.

54 And when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him,

55 And ran through that whole region round about, and began to carry about in beds those that were sick, where they heard he was.

56 And whithersoever he entered, into villages, or cities, or country, they laid the sick in the streets, and besought him that [r]they might touch if it were but the border of his garment: and as many as touched ‖ him were made whole.

CHAPTER VII.

Meat defileth not.

THEN [a]came together unto him the Phar'i-sees, and certain of the scribes, which came from Je-ru'sa-lem.
2 And when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with ||defiled, that is to say, with unwashen hands, they found fault.
3 For the Phar'i-sees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands ||oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the elders.
4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing of cups, and ||pots, and brazen vessels, and of ||tables.
5 [b]Then the Phar'i-sees and scribes asked him, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashen hands?
6 He answered and said unto them, Well hath E-sa'ias prophesied of you hyprocrites, as it is written, [c]This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.
7 Howbeit in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.
8 For laying aside the commandment of God, ye hold the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and cups: and many other such like things ye do.
9 And he said unto them, Full well ye ||reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your own tradition.
10 For Mo'ses said, [d]Honour thy father and thy mother; and, [e]Whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death:
11 But ye say, If a man shall say to his father or mother, It is [f]Cor'ban, that is to say, a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me; he shall be free.
12 And ye suffer him no more to do aught for his father or his mother;
13 Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things do ye.
14 ¶ [g]And when he had called all the people unto him, he said unto them, Hearken unto me every one of you, and understand:
15 There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man.
16 [h]If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.
17 [i]And when he was entered into the house from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.
18 And he saith unto them, Are ye so without understanding also? Do ye not perceive, that whatsoever thing from without entereth into the man, it can not defile him;
19 Because it entereth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, purging all meats?
20 And he said that which cometh out of the man, that defileth the man.
21 [k]For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders,
22 Thefts, †covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness;
23 All these evil things come from within, and defile the man.
24 ¶ [l]And from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Si'don, and entered into a house, and would have no man know it: but he could not be hid.
25 For a certain woman, whose young daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feet:
26 The woman was a ||Greek, a Sy-ro-phe-ni'ci-an by nation; and she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter.
27 But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's bread, and cast it unto the dogs.
28 And she answered and said unto him, Yes, Lord: yet the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.
29 And he said unto her, For this saying go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

[k] Matt. 15. 21.
[l] Or, Gentile.

7 And there are gathered together unto him the Phar'i-sees, and certain of the scribes, which had
2 come from Je-ru'sa-lem, and had seen that some of his disciples ate their bread with [1]defiled, that is,
3 unwashen, hands. For the Phar'i-sees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands [2]diligently, eat
4 not, holding the tradition of the elders: and when they come from the marketplace, except they [3]wash themselves, they eat not: and many other things there be, which they have received to hold, [4]washings of cups, and pots, and brasen vessels.[5]
5 And the Phar'i-sees and the scribes ask him, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat their bread with [1]defiled hands?
6 And he said unto them, Well did I'sa-iah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written,

This people honoureth me with their lips,
But their heart is far from me.
7 But in vain do they worship me,
Teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men.

8 Ye leave the commandment of God, and hold fast
9 the tradition of men. And he said unto them, Full well do ye reject the commandment of God, that 10 ye may keep your tradition. For Mo'ses said, Honour thy father and thy mother; and, He that speaketh evil of father or mother, let him [6]die the 11 death: but ye say, If a man shall say to his father or his mother, That wherewith thou mightest have been profited by me is Cor'ban, that is to say, Given 12 to God; ye no longer suffer him to do aught for 13 his father or his mother; making void the word of God by your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things ye do.
14 And he called to him the multitude again, and said unto them, Hear 15 me all of you, and understand: there is nothing from without the man, that going into him can defile him: but the things which proceed out of the 17 man are those that defile the man.[7] And when he was entered into the house from the multitude, his 18 disciples asked of him the parable. And he saith unto them, Are ye so without understanding also? Perceive ye not, that whatsoever from without goeth
19 into the man, it can not defile him; because it goeth not into his heart, but into his belly, and goeth out into the draught? This he said, making all meats
20 clean. And he said, That which proceedeth out of 21 the man, that defileth the man. For from within, out of the heart of men, [8]evil thoughts proceed,
22 fornications, thefts, murders, adulteries, covetings, wickednesses, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, rail-
23 ing, pride, foolishness: all these evil things proceed from within, and defile the man.
24 And from thence he arose, and went away into the borders of Tyre [9]and Si'don. And he entered into a house, and would have no man know it: and 25 he could not be hid. But straightway a woman, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, having 26 heard of him, came and fell down at his feet. Now the woman was a [10]Greek, a Sy-ro-phœ-ni'ci-an by race. And she besought him that he would cast forth the 27 [11]devil out of her daughter. And he said unto her, Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's [12]bread and cast it to the dogs.
28 But she answered and saith unto him, Yea, Lord: even the dogs under the table eat of the children's 29 crumbs. And he said unto her, For this saying go thy way; the [11]devil is gone out of thy daughter.

[t] Matt. 15. 32.

IN those days [t] the multitude being very great, and having nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples unto him, and saith unto them,

2 I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now been with me three days, and have nothing to eat:

3 And if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they will faint by the way: for divers of them came from far.

4 And his disciples answered him, From whence can a man satisfy these men with bread here in the wilderness?

[u] Matt. 15. 34. See ch. 6. 38.

5 [u] And he asked them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven.

6 And he commanded the people to sit down on the ground: and he took the seven loaves, and gave thanks, and brake, and gave to his disciples to set before them; and they did set them before the people.

[v] Matt. 14. 19. ch. 6. 41.

7 And they had a few small fishes; and [v] he blessed, and commanded to set them also before them.

8 So they did eat, and were filled: and they took up of the broken meat that was left seven baskets.

9 And they that had eaten were about four thousand: and he sent them away.

[4] Or, It is because we have no bread.

[5] Basket in ver. 19 and 20 represents different Greek words.

23 And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town; and when [n]he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw aught.

24 And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking.

25 After that he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up; and he was restored, and saw every man clearly.

26 And he sent him away to his house, saying, Neither go into the town, [o]nor tell it to any in the town.

27 ¶[p]And Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the towns of Ces-a-re'a Phi-lip'pi: and by the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, Whom do men say that I am?

28 And they answered, [q]John the Baptist: but some say, E-li'as: and others, One of the prophets.

29 And he saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Pe'ter answereth and saith unto him, [r]Thou art the Christ.

30 [s]And he charged them that they should tell no man of him.

31 And [t]he began to teach them, that the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders, and of the chief priests, and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.

32 And he spake that saying openly. And Pe'ter took him, and began to rebuke him.

33 But when he had turned about and looked on his disciples, he rebuked Pe'ter, saying; Get thee behind me, Sa'tan: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but the things that be of men.

34 ¶And when he had called the people unto him with his disciples also, he said unto them, [u]Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.

35 For [x]whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it.

36 For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?

37 Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

38 [y]Whosoever therefore [z]shall be ashamed of me and of my words, in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels.

CHAPTER IX.

The transfiguration of Christ.

AND he said unto them, [a]Verily I say unto you, That there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen [b]the kingdom of God come with power.

2 ¶[c]And after six days Jesus taketh with him Pe'ter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into a high mountain apart by themselves; and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment became shining, exceeding [d]white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them.

4 And there appeared unto them E-li'as with Mo'ses: and they were talking with Jesus.

5 And Pe'ter answered and said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Mo'ses, and one for E-li'as.

6 For he wist not what to say; for they were sore afraid.

7 And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.

8 And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more save Jesus only with themselves.

9 [e]And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead.

A. D. 32.

21 And he said unto them, Do ye not yet understand?

22 And they come unto Beth-sa'i-da. And they bring to him a blind man, and beseech him to touch him.

23 And he took hold of the blind man by the hand, and brought him out of the village; and when he had spit on his eyes, and laid his hands upon him, he 24 asked him, Seest thou aught? And he looked up, and said, I see men; for I behold them as trees,

25 walking. Then again he laid his hands upon his eyes; and he looked stedfastly, and was restored,

26 and saw all things clearly. And he sent him away to his home, saying, Do not even enter into the village.

27 And Jesus went forth, and his disciples, into the villages of Cæs-a-re'a Phi-lip'pi: and in the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, Who do men

28 say that I am? And they told him, saying, John the Baptist: and others, E-li'jah; but others, One of 29 the prophets. And he asked them, But who say ye that I am? Pe'ter answereth and saith unto him,

36 [1]life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it. For what doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world,

37 and forfeit his [1]life? For what should a man give 38 in exchange for his [1]life? For whosoever shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of man also shall be ashamed of him, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels.

9 And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, There be some here of them that stand by, which shall in no wise taste of death, till they see the kingdom of God come with power.

2 And after six days Jesus taketh with him Pe'ter, and James, and John, and bringeth them up into a high mountain apart by themselves: and he was

3 transfigured before them: and his garments became glistening, exceeding white; so as no fuller on earth

4 can whiten them. And there appeared unto them E-li'jah with Mo'ses: and they were talking with

5 Jesus. And Pe'ter answereth and saith to Jesus, Rabbi, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three [2]tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Mo'ses, and one

10 And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean.
11 ¶ And they asked him, saying, Why say the scribes [f]that E-li'as must first come?
12 And he answered and told them, E-li'as verily cometh first, and restoreth all things; and [g]how it is written of the Son of man, that he must suffer many things, and [h]be set at nought.
13 But I say unto you, That [i]E-li'as is indeed come, and they have done unto him whatsoever they listed, as it is written of him.
14 ¶ [k]And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the scribes questioning with them.
15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were greatly amazed, and running to him saluted him.
16 And he asked the scribes, What question ye ||with them?
17 And [l]one of the multitude answered and said, Master, I have brought unto thee my son, which hath a dumb spirit;
18 And wheresoever he taketh him, he ||teareth him; and he foameth, and gnasheth with his teeth, and pineth away; and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out; and they could not.
19 He answereth him, and saith, O faithless generation. how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him unto me.
20 And they brought him unto him: and [m]when he saw him, straightway the spirit tare him; and he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming.
21 And he asked his father, How long is it ago since this came unto him? And he said, Of a child.
22 And ofttimes it hath cast him into the fire, and into the waters to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us.
23 Jesus said unto him, [n]If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth.
24 And straightway the father of the child cried out, and said with tears, Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief.
25 When Jesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.
26 And the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead.
27 But Jesus took him by the hand, and lifted him up; and he arose.
28 [o]And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him privately, Why could not we cast him out?
29 And he said unto him, This kind can come forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting.
30 ¶ And they departed thence, and passed through Gal'i-lee; and he would not that any man should know it.
31 [p]For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him; and after that he is killed, he shall rise the third day.
32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask him.
33 ¶ [q]And he came to Ca-per'na-um: and being in the house he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among yourselves by the way?
34 But they held their peace: for by the way they had disputed among themselves, who should be the greatest.
35 And he sat down, and called the twelve, and saith unto them, [r]If any man desire to be first the same shall be last of all, and servant of all.
36 And [s]he took a child, and set him in the midst of them: and when he had taken him in his arms, he said unto them,
37 Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me: and [t]whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

10 And they kept the saying, questioning among themselves what the rising again from the dead should 11 mean. And they asked him, saying, [1]The scribes
12 say that E-li'jah must first come. And he said unto them, E-li'jah indeed cometh first, and restoreth all things: and how is it written of the Son of man, that he should suffer many things and be set at 13 nought? But I say unto you, that E-li'jah is come, and they have also done unto him whatsoever they listed, even as it is written of him.
14 And when they came to the disciples, they saw a great multitude about them, and scribes questioning
15 with them. And straightway all the multitude, when they saw him, were greatly amazed, and running to 16 him saluted him. And he asked them, What ques-
17 tion ye with them? And one of the multitude answered him, [2]Master, I brought unto thee my son,
18 which hath a dumb spirit; and wheresoever it taketh him, it [3]dasheth him down: and he foameth, and grindeth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast it out; and they 19 were not able. And he answereth them and saith, O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I bear with you? bring him unto me.
20 And they brought him unto him: and when he saw him, straightway the spirit [4]tare him grievously; and 21 he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming. And he asked his father, How long time is it since this hath come unto him? And he said, From a child.
22 And oft-times it hath cast him both into the fire and into the waters, to destroy him: but if thou canst do anything, have compassion on us, and help us.
23 And Jesus said unto him, If thou canst! All things
24 are possible to him that believeth. Straightway the father of the child cried out, and said[5], I believe; help
25 thou mine unbelief. And when Jesus saw that a multitude came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I command thee, come out of him, and 26 enter no more into him. And having cried out, and [4]torn him much, he came out: and the child became as one dead; insomuch that the more part said, He 27 is dead. But Jesus took him by the hand, and 28 raised him up; and he arose. And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him pri-
29 vately, [6]saying, We could not cast it out. And he said unto them, This kind can come out by nothing, save by prayer[7].
30 And they went forth from thence, and passed through Gal'i-lee; and he would not that any man
31 should know it. For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man is delivered up into the hands of men, and they shall kill him; and when he is killed, after three days he shall rise again.
32 But they understood not the saying, and were afraid to ask him.
33 And they came to Ca-per'na-um: and when he was in the house he asked them, What were ye reason-
34 ing in the way? But they held their peace: for they had disputed one with another in the way, who was 35 the [8]greatest. And he sat down, and called the twelve; and he saith unto them, If any man would be first, he shall be last of all, and minister of all.
36 And he took a little child, and set him in the midst of them: and taking him in his arms, he said unto 37 them, Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my name, receiveth me: and whosoever receiveth me receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

38 ¶[a]And John answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy name, and he followeth not us; and we forbade him, because he followeth not us.

39 But Jesus said, Forbid him not: [z]for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can lightly speak evil of me.

40 For [y]he that is not against us is on our part.

41 [x]For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 [w]And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea.

CHAPTER X.

Christ disputeth with the Pharisees touching divorcement.

A. D. 33.

AND [e]he arose from thence, and cometh into the coasts of Ju-de'a by the farther side of Jor'dan: and the people resort unto him again; and as he was wont, he taught them again.

2 ¶[b]And the Phar'i-sees came to him, and asked him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? tempting him.

3 And he answered and said unto them, What did Mo'ses command you?

4 And they said, [c]Mo'ses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away.

5 And Jesus answered and said unto them, For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept:

6 But from the beginning of the creation [d]God made them male and female.

7 [e]For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife;

8 And they twain shall be one flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh.

9 What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him again of the same matter.

11 And he saith unto them, [f]Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her.

12 And if a woman shall put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adultery.

13 ¶[g]And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them; and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for [h]of such is the kingdom of God.

15 Verily I say unto you, [i]Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶[k]And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him,

39 cause he followed not us. But Jesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man which shall do a [3]mighty work in my name, and be able quickly to speak evil
40 of me. For he that is not against us is for us.
41 For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink, [4]because ye are Christ's, verily I say unto you,
42 he shall in no wise lose his reward. And whosoever shall cause one of these little ones that believe [5]on me to stumble, it were better for him if [6]a great millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast
43 into the sea. And if thy hand cause thee to stumble, cut it off: it is good for thee to enter into life maimed, rather than having thy two hands to go into [7]hell,
45 into the unquenchable fire.[8] And if thy foot cause thee to stumble, cut it off: it is good for thee to enter into life halt, rather than having thy two feet
47 to be cast into [7]hell. And if thine eye cause thee to stumble, cast it out: it is good for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than 48 having two eyes to be cast into [7]hell; where their

31 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, why then did ye not believe him?

32 But if we shall say, Of men; they feared the people: for [t]all men counted John, that he was a prophet indeed.

33 And they answered and said unto Jesus, We cannot tell. And Jesus answering saith unto them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

CHAPTER XII.

Parable of the vineyard—Paying of tribute—The Sadducees confuted, &c.

AND [a]he began to speak unto them by parables. A certain man planted a vineyard, and set a hedge about it, and digged a place for the winefat, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country.

2 And at the season he sent to the husbandmen a servant, that he might receive from the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

3 And they caught him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And again he sent unto them another servant; and at him they cast stones, and wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

to it, he found nothing but leaves; for it was not 14 the season of figs. And he answered and said unto it, No man eat fruit from thee henceforward for ever. And his disciples heard it.

15 And they come to Je-ru'sa-lem: and he entered into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and them that bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of 16 them that sold the doves; and he would not suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the 17 temple. And he taught, and said unto them, Is it not written, My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations? but ye have made it a den of 18 robbers. And the chief priests and the scribes heard it, and sought how they might destroy him: for they feared him, for all the multitude was astonished at his teaching.

19 And [1]every evening [2]he went forth out of the city.
20 And as they passed by in the morning, they saw
21 the fig tree withered away from the roots. And Pe'ter calling to remembrance saith unto him, Rabbi, behold, the fig tree which thou cursedst is withered
22 away. And Jesus answering saith unto them, Have 23 faith in God. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou taken up and cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that what he saith cometh to pass;
24 he shall have it. Therefore I say unto you, All things whatsoever ye pray and ask for, believe that ye have received them, and ye shall have them.
25 And whensoever ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have aught against any one; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.[3]

27 And they come again to Je-ru'sa-lem: and as he was walking in the temple, there come to him the 28 chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders: and they said unto him, By what authority doest thou these things? or who gave thee this authority to do
29 these things? And Jesus said unto them, I will ask of you one [4]question, and answer me, and I will 30 tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or from men?

32 Why then did ye not believe him? [5]But should we say, From men—they feared the people: [6]for all 33 verily held John to be a prophet. And they answered Jesus and say, We know not. And Jesus saith unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

12 And he began to speak unto them in parables. A man planted a vineyard, and set a hedge about it, and digged a pit for the wine-press, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and
2 went into another country. And at the season he sent to the husbandmen a [7]servant, that he might receive from the husbandmen of the fruits
3 of the vineyard. And they took him, and beat
4 him, and sent him away empty. And again he sent unto them another [7]servant; and him they wounded in the head, and handled shamefully.

7 But those husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

20 Now there were seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and dying left no seed.

21 And the second took her, and died, neither left he any seed: and the third likewise.

22 And the seven had her, and left no seed: last of all the woman died also.

23 In the resurrection therefore, when they shall rise, whose wife shall she be of them? for the seven had her to wife.

[2] See marginal note on Matt. xviii. 28.

18 And there come unto him Sad'du-cees, which say that there is no resurrection; and they ask him,
19 saying, [1]Master, Mo'ses wrote unto us, If a man's brother die, and leave a wife behind him, and leave no child, that his brother should take his wife, and 20 raise up seed unto his brother. There were seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and dying left 21 no seed; and the second took her, and died, leaving no seed behind him; and the third likewise:
22 and the seven left no seed. Last of all the woman
23 also died. In the resurrection whose wife shall she 24 be of them? for the seven had her to wife. Jesus said unto them, Is it not for this cause that ye err, that ye know not the scriptures, nor the power of 25 God? For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage; but are as 26 angels in heaven. But as touching the dead, that they are raised; have ye not read in the book of Mo'ses, in the place concerning the Bush, how God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of A'bra-ham,
27 and the God of I'saac, and the God of Ja'cob? He is not the God of the dead, but of the living: ye do greatly err.

28 And one of the scribes came, and heard them questioning together, and knowing that he had answered them well, asked him, What commandment is 29 the first of all? Jesus answered, The first is, Hear, O Is'ra-el; [3]The Lord our God, the Lord is one:

[3] Or, The Lord is our God; the Lord is one

A. D. 33.

30 And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, namely this, [m]Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself: there is none other commandment greater than these.

32 And the scribe said unto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; [n]and there is none other but he:

33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himself, [o]is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. [p]And no man after that durst ask him any question.

35 ¶ [q]And Jesus answered and said, while he taught in the temple, How say the scribes that Christ is the son of Da'vid?

36 For Da'vid himself said [r]by the Holy Ghost, [s]The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Da'vid therefore himself calleth him Lord; and whence is he then his son? And the common people heard him gladly.

38 ¶ And [t]he said unto them in his doctrine, [u]Beware of the scribes, which love to go in long clothing, and [x]love salutations in the marketplaces,

39 And the chief seats in the synagogues, and the uppermost rooms at feasts:

40 [y]Which devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayers: these shall receive greater damnation.

41 ¶ [z]And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast ‖money [a]into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.

42 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two ‖mites, which make a farthing.

43 And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That [b]this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury:

44 For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, [c]even all her living.

CHAPTER XIII.

Christ foretelleth the destruction of the temple—What signs should go before, &c.

AND [a]as he went out of the temple, one of his disciples saith unto him, Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!

2 And Jesus answering, said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? [b]there shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat upon the mount of Olives, over against the temple, Pe'ter and James and John and An'drew asked him privately,

4 [c]Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Jesus answering them began to say, [d]Take heed lest any man deceive you:

6 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am [e]christ; and shall deceive many.

7 And when ye shall hear of wars, and rumours of wars, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be; but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be earthquakes in divers places, and there shall be famines, and troubles: [f]these are the beginnings ‖of sorrows.

30 and thou shalt love the Lord thy God [1]with all thy heart, and [1]with all thy soul, and [1]with all thy 31 mind, and [1]with all thy strength. The second is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than 32 these. And the scribe said unto him, Of a truth, [2]Master, thou hast well said that he is one; and there 33 is none other but he: and to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himself, is much more than all whole burnt offerings and 34 sacrifices. And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst ask him any question.

35 And Jesus answered and said, as he taught in the temple, How say the scribes that the Christ is the 36 son of Da'vid? Da'vid himself said in the Holy Spirit,

The Lord said unto my Lord,
Sit thou on my right hand,
Till I make thine enemies [3]the footstool of thy feet.

37 Da'vid himself calleth him Lord; and whence is he his son? And [4]the common people heard him gladly.

38 And in his teaching he said, Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and to have salu-39 tations in the marketplaces, and chief seats in the 40 synagogues, and chief places at feasts: they which devour widows' houses, [5]and for a pretence make long prayers; these shall receive greater condemnation.

41 And he sat down over against the treasury, and beheld how the multitude cast [6]money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.
42 And there came [7]a poor widow, and she cast in two 43 mites, which make a farthing. And he called unto him his disciples, and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, This poor widow cast in more than all 44 they which are casting into the treasury: for they all did cast in of their superfluity; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.

13 And as he went forth out of the temple, one of his disciples saith unto him, [2]Master, behold, what manner of stones and what manner of build-
2 ings! And Jesus said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left here one stone upon another, which shall not be thrown down.
3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives over against the temple, Pe'ter and James and John and An'drew
4 asked him privately, Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when these things
5 are all about to be accomplished? And Jesus began to say unto them, Take heed that no man lead you
6 astray. Many shall come in my name, saying, I am
7 he; and shall lead many astray. And when ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars, be not troubled: these things must needs come to pass; but 8 the end is not yet. For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: there shall be earthquakes in divers places; there shall be famines: these things are the beginning of travail.

25 light, and the stars shall be falling from heaven, and the powers that are in the heavens shall be shaken.
26 And then shall they see the Son of man coming in 27 clouds with great power and glory. And then shall he send forth the angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of the earth to the uttermost part of heaven.
28 Now from the fig tree learn her parable: when her branch is now become tender, and putteth forth its 29 leaves, ye know that the summer is nigh; even so ye also, when ye see these things coming to pass,
30 know ye that [3]he is nigh, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass away,
31 until all these things be accomplished. Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass
32 away. But of that day or that hour knoweth no one, not even the angels in heaven, neither the Son,
33 but the Father. Take ye heed, watch [4]and pray:
34 for ye know not when the time is. It is as when a man, sojourning in another country, having left his house, and given authority to his [5]servants, to each one his work, commanded also the porter to watch.
35 Watch therefore: for ye know not when the lord of the house cometh, whether at even, or at midnight,
36 or at cockcrowing, or in the morning; lest coming 37 suddenly he find you sleeping. And what I say unto yon I say unto all, Watch.

CHAPTER XIV.

Conspiracy against Christ—Judas betrayeth him—The last supper.

[a]Matt. 26. 2. Luke 22.1. John 11. 55. & 13. 1.

AFTER [a]two days was the feast of the passover, and of unleavened bread: and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar of the people.

[b]Matt. 26. 6. John 12. 1, 3. See Luke 7. 37.

3 ¶ [b]And being in Beth'a-ny, in the house of Si'mon the leper, as he sat at meat, there came a woman having an alabaster box of ointment of ‖spikenard very precious; and she brake the box, and poured it on his head.

‖Or, pure nard, or, liquid nard.

4 And there were some that had indignation within themselves, and said, Why was this waste of the ointment made?

‖See Matt. 18. 28.

5 For it might have been sold for more than three hundred ‖pence, and have been given to the poor. And they murmured against her.

6 And Jesus said, Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good work on me.

[c]Deut. 15. 11.

7 For [c]ye have the poor with you always, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good: but me ye have not always.

8 She hath done what she could: she is come aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verily I say unto you, Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.

[d]Matt. 26. 14. Luke 22. 3, 4.

10 ¶ [d]And Ju'das Is-car'i-ot, one of the twelve, went unto the chief priests, to betray him unto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. And he sought how he might conveniently betray him.

[e]Matt. 26. 17. Luke 22.7.

12 ¶ [e]And the first day of unleavened bread, when they ‖killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare that thou mayest eat the passover?

‖Or, sacrificed.

13 And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.

16 And his disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

[f]Matt. 26. 20, &c.

17 [f]And in the evening he cometh with the twelve.

18 And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me.

19 And they began to be sorrowful, and to say unto him one by one, Is it I? and another said, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve, that dippeth with me in the dish.

[g]Matt. 26. 24. Luke 22. 22.

21 [g]The Son of man indeed goeth, as it is written of him: but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! good were it for that man if he had never been born.

[h]Matt. 26. 26. Luke 22. 19. 1 Cor. 11. 23.

22 ¶ [h]And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.

23 And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it.

24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

A. D. 33.

14 Now after two days was the feast of the passover and the unleavened bread: and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take him 2 with subtilty, and kill him: for they said, Not during the feast, lest haply there shall be a tumult of the people.

3 And while he was in Beth'a-ny in the house of Si'mon the leper, as he sat at meat, there came a woman having [1]an alabaster cruse of ointment of [2]spikenard very costly; and she brake the cruse, and 4 poured it over his head. But there were some that had indignation among themselves, saying, To what purpose hath this waste of the ointment been made? 5 For this ointment might have been sold for above three hundred [3]pence, and given to the poor. And 6 they murmured against her. But Jesus said, Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought 7 a good work on me. For ye have the poor always with you, and whensoever ye will ye can do them 8 good: but me ye have not always. She hath done what she could: she hath anointed my body afore- 9 hand for the burying. And verily I say unto you, Wheresoever the gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, that also which this woman hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.

10 And Ju'das Is-car'i-ot, [4]he that was one of the twelve, went away unto the chief priests, that he might de- 11 liver him unto them. And they, when they heard it, were glad, and promised to give him money. And he sought how he might conveniently deliver him unto them.

12 And on the first day of unleavened bread, when they sacrificed the passover, his disciples say unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and make ready 13 that thou mayest eat the passover? And he sendeth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a 14 pitcher of water: follow him; and wheresoever he shall enter in, say to the goodman of the house, The [5]Master saith, Where is my guest-chamber, where I 15 shall eat the passover with my disciples? And he will himself shew you a large upper room furnished 16 and ready: and there make ready for us. And the disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

17 And when it was evening he cometh with the 18 twelve. And as they [6]sat and were eating, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you shall betray 19 me, even he that eateth with me. They began to be sorrowful, and to say unto him one by one, Is it I? 20 And he said unto them, It is one of the twelve, he 21 that dippeth with me in the dish. For the Son of man goeth, even as it is written of him: but woe unto that man through whom the Son of man is betrayed! good were it [7]for that man if he had not been born.

22 And as they were eating, he took [8]bread, and when he had blessed, he brake it, and gave to them, and 23 said, Take ye: this is my body. And he took a cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave to them: 24 and they all drank of it. And he said unto them, This is my blood of [9]the [10]covenant, which is shed 25 for many. Verily I say unto you, I will no more drink of the fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

A. D. 33.

26 ¶ [t]And when they had sung a ||hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

27 [k]And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, [l]I will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.

28 But [m]after that I am risen, I will go before you into Gal'i-lee.

29 [n]But Pe'ter said unto him, Although all shall be offended, yet will not I.

30 And Jesus saith unto him, Verily I say unto thee, That this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice.

31 But he spake the more vehemently, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wise. Likewise also said they all.

32 [o]And they came to a place which was named Geth-sem'a-ne: and he saith to his disciples, Sit ye here while I shall pray.

33 And he taketh with him Pe'ter and James and John, and began to be sore amazed, and to be very heavy;

34 And saith unto them, [p]my soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death: tarry ye here, and watch.

35 And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him.

36 And he said [q]Abba, Father, [r]all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: [s]nevertheless, not what I will, but what thou wilt.

37 And he cometh and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Pe'ter, Si'mon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour?

38 Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. [t]The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak.

39 And again he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And when he returned, he found them asleep again, (for their eyes were heavy,) neither wist they what to answer him.

41 And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, [u]the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.

42 [x]Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth me is at hand.

43 ¶ [y]And immediately, while he yet spake, cometh Ju'das, one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.

44 And he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he; take him, and lead him away safely.

45 And as soon as he was come, he goeth straightway to him, and saith, Master, Master; and kissed him.

46 ¶ And they laid their hands on him, and took him.

47 And one of them that stood by drew a sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

48 [z]And Jesus answered and said unto them, Are ye come out as against a thief, with swords and with staves to take me?

49 I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and ye took me not: but [a]the scriptures must be fulfilled.

50 [b]And they all forsook him, and fled.

51 And there followed him a certain young man having a linen cloth cast about his naked body; and the young men laid hold on him.

52 And he left the linen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 ¶ [c]And they led Jesus away to the high priest: and with him were assembled all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.

54 And Pe'ter followed him afar off, even into the palace of the high priest: and he sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

A. D. 33.

26 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out unto the mount of Olives.

27 And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be [1]offended: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the 28 sheep shall be scattered abroad. Howbeit, after I 29 am raised up, I will go before you into Gal'i-lee. But Pe'ter said unto him, Although all shall be [1]offended, 30 yet will not I. And Jesus saith unto him, Verily I say unto thee, that thou to-day, even this night, be- 31 fore the cock crow twice, shalt deny me thrice. But he spake exceeding vehemently, If I must die with thee, I will not deny thee. And in like manner also said they all.

32 And they come unto [2]a place which was named Geth-sem'a-ne: and he saith unto his disciples, Sit ye 33 here, while I pray. And he taketh with him Pe'ter and James and John, and began to be greatly amazed, 34 and sore troubled. And he saith unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful even unto death: abide 35 ye here, and watch. And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed that, if it were 36 possible, the hour might pass away from him. And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; remove this cup from me: howbeit not what 37 I will, but what thou wilt. And he cometh, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Pe'ter, Si'mon, sleepest thou? couldest thou not watch one hour? 38 [3]Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak. 39 And again he went away, and prayed, saying the 40 same words. And again he came, and found them sleeping, for their eyes were very heavy; and they 41 wist not what to answer him. And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough; the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of 42 sinners. Arise, let us be going: behold, he that betrayeth me is at hand.

43 And straightway, while he yet spake, cometh Ju'das, one of the twelve, and with him a multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the 44 scribes and the elders. Now he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that is he; take him, and lead him away safely. 45 And when he was come, straightway he came to 46 him, and saith, Rabbi; and [4]kissed him. And they 47 laid hands on him, and took him. But a certain one of them that stood by drew his sword, and smote the [5]servant of the high priest, and struck off his ear. 48 And Jesus answered and said unto them, Are ye come out as against a robber, with swords and staves 49 to seize me? I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and ye took me not: but this is done that 50 the scriptures might be fulfilled. And they all left him, and fled.

51 And a certain young man followed with him, having a linen cloth cast about him, over his naked 52 body: and they lay hold on him; but he left the linen cloth, and fled naked.

53 And they led Jesus away to the high priest: and there come together with him all the chief priests 54 and the elders and the scribes. And Pe'ter had followed him afar off, even within, into the court of the high priest; and he was sitting with the officers, and warming himself in the light of the fire.

CHAPTER XV.

Christ brought before Pilate.

AND [a]straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pi'late.
2 [b]And Pi'late asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answering said unto him, Thou sayest it.
3 And the chief priests accused him of many things; but he answered nothing.
4 [c]And Pi'late asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.
5 [d]But Jesus yet answered nothing; so that Pi'late marvelled.
6 Now [e]at that feast he released unto them one prisoner, whomsoever they desired.
7 And there was one named Ba-rab'bas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.
8 And the multitude crying aloud began to desire him to do as he had ever done unto them.
9 But Pi'late answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto you the King of the Jews?
10 For he knew that the chief priests had delivered him for envy.

55 Now the chief priests and the whole council sought witness against Jesus to put him to death; and 56 found it not. For many bare false witness against 57 him, and their witness agreed not together. And there stood up certain, and bare false witness against 58 him, saying, We heard him say, I will destroy this [1]temple that is made with hands, and in three days I
59 will build another made without hands. And not 60 even so did their witness agree together. And the high priest stood up in the midst, and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which 61 these witness against thee? But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him, and saith unto him, Art thou the Christ, the 62 Son of the Blessed? And Jesus said, I am: and ye shall see the Son of man sitting at the right hand of power, and coming with the clouds of heaven.
63 And the high priest rent his clothes, and saith,
64 What further need have we of witnesses? Ye have heard the blasphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be [2]worthy of death.
65 And some began to spit on him, and to cover his face, and to buffet him, and to say unto him, Prophesy: and the officers received him with [3]blows of their hands.
66 And as Pe'ter was beneath in the court, there
67 cometh one of the maids of the high priest; and seeing Pe'ter warming himself, she looked upon him, and saith, Thou also wast with the Naz'a-rene, even 68 Jesus. But he denied, saying, [4]I neither know, nor understand what thou sayest: and he went out into 69 the [5]porch; [6]and the cock crew. And the maid saw him, and began again to say to them that stood by,
70 This is one of them. But he again denied it. And after a little while again they that stood by said to Pe'ter, Of a truth thou art one of them; for thou art
71 a Gal-i-læ'an. But he began to curse, and to swear, I
72 know not this man of whom ye speak. And straightway the second time the cock crew. And Pe'ter called to mind the word, how that Jesus said unto him, Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice. [7]And when he thought thereon, he wept.

15 And straightway in the morning the chief priests with the elders and scribes, and the whole council, held a consultation, and bound Jesus, and carried
2 him away, and delivered him up to Pi'late. And Pi'late asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answering saith unto him, Thou sayest.
3 And the chief priests accused him of many things.
4 And Pi'late again asked him, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they accuse thee
5 of. But Jesus no more answered anything; insomuch that Pi'late marvelled.
6 Now at [8]the feast he used to release unto them
7 one prisoner, whom they asked of him. And there was one called Ba-rab'bas, lying bound with them that had made insurrection, men who in the in-
8 surrection had committed murder. And the multitude went up and began to ask him to do as 9 he was wont to do unto them. And Pi'late answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto 10 you the King of the Jews? For he perceived that for envy the chief priests had delivered him up.

[8] Or, a feast

A. D. 33.

11 But [f]the chief priests moved the people, that he should rather release Ba-rab'bas unto them.
12 And Pi'late answered and said again unto them, What will ye then that I shall do unto him whom ye call the King of the Jews?
13 And they cried out again, Crucify him.
14 Then Pi'late said unto them, Why, what evil hath he done? And they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucify him.
15 ¶ [g]And so Pi'late, willing to content the people, released Ba-rab'bas unto them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.
16 [h]And the soldiers led him away into the hall, called Pre-to'ri-um; and they call together the whole band.
17 And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head,
18 And began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews!
19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and did spit upon him, and bowing their knees worshipped him.
20 And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.
21 [i]And they compel one Si'mon a Cy-re'ni-an, who passed by, coming out of the country, the father of Al-ex-an'der and Ru'fus, to bear his cross.
22 [k]And they bring him unto the place Gol'go-tha, which is being interpreted, The place of a skull.
23 [l]And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.
24 And when they had crucified him, [m]they parted his garments, casting lots upon them, what every man should take.
25 And [n]it was the third hour, and they crucified him.
26 And [o]the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS.
27 And [p]with him they crucify two thieves; the one on his right hand, and the other on his left.
28 And the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, [q]And he was numbered with the transgressors.
29 And [r]they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, [s]thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days,
30 Save thyself, and come down from the cross.
31 Likewise also the chief priests mocking said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save.
32 Let Christ the King of Is'ra-el descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And [t]they that were crucified with him reviled him.
33 And [u]when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.
34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, [x]E-lo'i, E-lo'i, la'ma sa-bach'tha-ni? which is, being interpreted, My God, My God, Why hast thou forsaken me?
35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth E-li'as.
36 And [y]one ran and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and [z]gave him to drink, saying, Let alone; let us see whether E-li'as will come to take him down.
37 [a]And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost.
38 And [b]the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom.
39 ¶ And [c]when the centurion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God.
40 [d]There were also women looking on [e]afar off: among whom was Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and Ma'ry the mother of James the less and of Jo'ses, and Sa-lo'me;
41 Who also, when he was in Gal'i-lee, [f]followed him, and ministered unto him; and many other women which came up with him unto Je-ru'sa-lem.

11 But the chief priests stirred up the multitude, that 12 he should rather release Ba-rab'bas unto them. And Pi'late again answered and said unto them, What then shall I do unto him whom ye call the King
13 of the Jews? And they cried out again, Crucify
14 him. And Pi'late said unto them, Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried out exceedingly, 15 Crucify him. And Pi'late, wishing to content the multitude, released unto them Ba-rab'bas, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.
16 And the soldiers led him away within the court, which is the [1]Præ-to'ri-um; and they call together the 17 whole [2]band. And they clothe him with purple, and plaiting a crown of thorns, they put it on him;
18 and they began to salute him, Hail, King of the 19 Jews! And they smote his head with a reed, and did spit upon him, and bowing their knees wor-
20 shipped him. And when they had mocked him, they took off from him the purple, and put on him his garments. And they lead him out to crucify him.
21 And they [3]compel one passing by, Si'mon of Cyre'ne, coming from the country, the father of Al-exan'der and Ru'fus, to go with them, that he might 22 bear his cross. And they bring him unto the place Gol'go-tha, which is, being interpreted, The 23 place of a skull. And they offered him wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.
24 And they crucify him, and part his garments among them, casting lots upon them, what each 25 should take. And it was the third hour, and 26 they crucified him. And the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF 27 THE JEWS. And with him they crucify two robbers; one on his right hand, and one on his left.[4]
29 And they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ha! thou that destroyest
30 the [5]temple, and buildest it in three days, save
31 thyself, and come down from the cross. In like manner also the chief priests mocking him among themselves with the scribes said, He saved others;
32 [6]himself he cannot save. Let the Christ, the King of Is'ra-el, now come down from the cross, that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him reproached him.
33 And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole [7]land until the ninth hour.
34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, E-lo'i, E-lo'i, la'ma sa-bach'tha-ni? which is, being interpreted, My God, My God, [8]why hast thou for-35 saken me? And some of them that stood by, when 36 they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth E-li'jah. And one ran, and filling a sponge full of vinegar, put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let be; let us see whether E-li'jah cometh to take him down.
37 And Jesus uttered a loud voice, and gave up the 38 ghost. And the veil of the [5]temple was rent in 39 twain from the top to the bottom. And when the centurion, which stood by over against him, saw that he [9]so gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this 40 man was [10]the Son of God. And there were also women beholding from afar: among whom were both Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and Ma'ry the mother of 41 James the [11]less and of Jo'ses, and Sa-lo'me; who, when he was in Gal'i-lee, followed him, and ministered unto him; and many other women which came up with him unto Je-ru'sa-lem.

43 Jo'seph of Ar-i-ma-the'a, an honourable counsellor, which also [h]waited for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly unto Pi'late, and craved the body of Jesus.

44 And Pi'late marvelled if he were already dead: and calling unto him the centurion, he asked him whether he had been any while dead.

45 And when he knew it of the centurion, he gave the body to Jo'seph.

46 [i]And he bought fine linen, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linen, and laid him in a sepulchre which was hewn out of a rock, and rolled a stone unto the door of the sepulchre.

CHAPTER XVI.

An angel declareth the resurrection of Christ to three women.

AND [o]when the sabbath was past, Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and Ma'ry the mother of James, and Sa-lo'me, [b]had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

2 [c]And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.

5 [d]And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

6 [e]And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: ye seek Jesus of Naz'a-reth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.

7 But go your way, tell his disciples and Pe'ter, that he goeth before you into Gal'i-lee: there shall ye see him, [f]as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled, and were amazed: [g]neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid.

9 ¶ Now when Jesus was risen early, the first day of the week, [h]he appeared first to Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, [i]out of whom he had cast seven devils.

10 [k]And she went and told them that had been with him, as they mourned and wept.

11 [l]And they, when they had heard that he was alive, and had been seen of her, believed not.

12 ¶ After that he appeared in another form [m]unto two of them, as they walked, and went into the country.

13 And they went and told it unto the residue: neither believed they them.

14 ¶ [n]Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat ‖ at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

15 [o]And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, [p]and preach the gospel to every creature.

16 [q]He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; [r]but he that believeth not shall be damned.

17 And these signs shall follow them that believe: [s]In my name shall they cast out devils; [t]they shall speak with new tongues;

18 [u]They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; [x]they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.

19 ¶ So then, [y]after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was [z]received up into heaven, and [a]sat on the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, [b]and confirming the word with signs following. Amen.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. LUKE.

CHAPTER I.

Conception of John Baptist, and of Christ—Prophecy of Zacharias.

FORASMUCH as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us,

2 [a]Even as they delivered them unto us, which [b]from the beginning were eyewitnesses, and ministers of the word;

3 [c]It seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee [d]in order, [e]most excellent The-oph'i-lus,

4 [f]That thou mightest know the certainty of those things whereir thou hast been instructed.

5 ¶THERE was [g]in the days of Her'od, the king of Ju-de'a, a certain priest named Zach-a-ri'as, [h]of the course of A-bi'a: and his wife was of the daughters of Aa'ron, and her name was E-lis'a-beth.

6 And they were both [i]righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.

7 And they had no child, because that E-lis'a-beth was barren; and they both were now well stricken in years.

8 And it came to pass, that, while he executed the priest's office before God [k]in the order of his course,

9 According to the custom of the priest's office, his lot was [l]to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.

10 [m]And the whole multitude of the people were praying without at the time of incense.

11 And there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of [n]the altar of incense.

12 And when Zach-a-ri'as saw him, [o]he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

13 But the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zach-a-ri'as: for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife E-lis'a-beth shall bear thee a son, and [p]thou shalt call his name John.

14 And thou shalt have joy and gladness; and [q]many shall rejoice at his birth.

15 For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and [r]shall drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, [s]even from his mother's womb.

16 [t]And many of the children of Is'ra-el shall he turn to the Lord their God.

17 [u]And he shall go before him in the spirit and power of E-li'as, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient || to the wisdom of the just; to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 And Zach-a-ri'as said unto the angel, [v]Whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years.

19 And the angel answering said unto him, I am [x]Ga'bri-el, that stand in the presence of God; and am sent to speak unto thee, and to shew thee these glad tidings.

20 And, behold, [a]thou shalt be dumb, and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 And the people waited for Zach-a-ri'as, and marvelled that he tarried so long in the temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple; for he beckoned unto them, and remained speechless.

23 And it came to pass that, as soon as [b]the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house.

24 And after those days his wife E-lis'a-beth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked on me, to [c]take away my reproach among men.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

1 Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to draw up a narrative concerning those matters which have
2 been [1]fulfilled among us, even as they delivered them unto us, which from the beginning were eyewitnesses
3 and ministers of the word, it seemed good to me also, having traced the course of all things accurately from the first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent
4 The-oph'i-lus; that thou mightest know the certainty concerning the [2]things [3]wherein thou wast instructed.

5 There was in the days of Her'od, king of Ju-dæ'a, a certain priest named Zach-a-ri'as, of the course of A-bi'jah: and he had a wife of the daughters of Aa'ron, 16 from his mother's womb. And many of the children of Is'ra-el shall he turn unto the Lord their God.

17 And he shall [8]go before his face in the spirit and power of E-li'jah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to walk in the wisdom of the just; to make ready for the Lord a people
18 prepared for him. And Zach-a-ri'as said unto the angel, Whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man,
19 and my wife [9]well stricken in years. And the angel answering said unto him, I am Ga'bri-el, that stand in the presence of God; and I was sent to speak un-
20 to thee, and to bring thee these good tidings. And behold, thou shalt be silent and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall come to pass, because thou believedst not my words, which shall

Before the Account called Anno Domini the Sixth Year.

26 And in the sixth month the angel Ga'bri-el was sent from God unto a city of Gal'i-lee, named Naz'a-reth,
27 To a virgin [d]espoused to a man whose name was Jo'seph, of the house of Da'vid; and the virgin's name was Ma'ry.
28 And the angel came in unto her, and said, [e]Hail, thou that art ||highly favoured, [f]the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.
29 And when she saw him, [g]she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this should be.
30 And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Ma'ry: for thou hast found favour with God.
31 [h]And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and [i]shalt call his name JESUS.
32 He shall be great, [k]and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and [l]the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father Da'vid:
33 [m]And he shall reign over the house of Ja'cob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.
34 Then said Ma'ry unto the angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?
35 And the angel answered and said unto her, [n]The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee, shall be called [o]the Son of God.
36 And, behold, thy cousin E-lis'a-beth, she hath also conceived a son in her old age; and this is the sixth month with her, who was called barren.
37 For [p]with God nothing shall be impossible.
38 And Ma'ry said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her.
39 And Ma'ry arose in those days, and went into the hill country with haste, [q]into a city of Ju'da;
40 And entered into the house of Zach-a-ri'as, and saluted E-lis'a-beth.
41 And it came to pass, that, when E-lis'a-beth heard the salutation of Ma'ry, the babe leaped in her womb; and E-lis'a-beth was filled with the Holy Ghost:
42 And she spake out with a loud voice, and said, [r]Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb.
43 And whence is this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?
44 For, lo, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.
45 And blessed is she ||that believed: for there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord.
46 And Ma'ry said, [s]My soul doth magnify the Lord,
47 And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour.
48 For [t]he hath regarded the low estate of his handmaiden: for, behold, from henceforth [u]all generations shall call me blessed.
49 For he that is mighty [w]hath done to me great things; and [x]holy is his name.
50 And [y]his mercy is on them that fear him, from generation to generation.
51 [z]He hath shewed strength with his arm; [a]he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
52 [b]He hath put down the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree.
53 [c]He hath filled the hungry with good things; and the rich he hath sent empty away.
54 He hath holpen his servant Is'ra-el, [d]in remembrance of his mercy;
55 [e]As he spake to our fathers, to A'bra-ham, and to his seed for ever.
56 And Ma'ry abode with her about three months, and returned to her own house.
57 Now E-lis'a-beth's full time came that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son.
58 And her neighbours and her cousins heard how the

Before the Account called Anno Domini the Sixth Year.

26 Now in the sixth month the angel Ga'bri-el was sent 27 from God unto a city of Gal'i-lee, named Naz'a-reth, to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Jo'seph, of the house of Da'vid; and the virgin's name was 28 Ma'ry. And he came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou
29 that art [1]highly favoured, the Lord is with thee.[2] But she was greatly troubled at the saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this might be.
30 And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Ma'ry: for thou
31 hast found [3]favour with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt 32 call his name JESUS. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Most High: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father Da'vid:
33 and he shall reign over the house of Ja'cob [4]for ever;
34 and of his kingdom there shall be no end. And Ma'ry said unto the angel, How shall this be, seeing 35 I know not a man? And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Most High shall overshadow thee: wherefore also [5]that which [6]is to be born [7]shall 36 be called holy, the Son of God. And behold, E-lis'a-beth thy kinswoman, she also hath conceived a son in her old age: and this is the sixth month with her
37 that [8]was called barren. For no word from God
38 shall be void of power. And Ma'ry said, Behold, the [9]handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her.
39 And Ma'ry arose in these days and went into the 40 hill country with haste, into a city of Ju'dah; and entered into the house of Zach-a-ri'as and saluted
41 E-lis'a-beth. And it came to pass, when E-lis'a-beth heard the salutation of Ma'ry, the babe leaped in her womb; and E-lis'a-beth was filled with the Holy Ghost;
42 and she lifted up her voice with a loud cry, and said, Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the 43 fruit of thy womb. And whence is this to me, that 44 the mother of my Lord should come unto me? For behold, when the voice of thy salutation came into mine ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.
45 And blessed is she that [10]believed; for there shall be a fulfilment of the things which have been spoken
46 to her from the Lord. And Ma'ry said,
My soul doth magnify the Lord,
47 And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour.
48 For he hath looked upon the low estate of his [11]handmaiden:
For behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me blessed.
49 For he that is mighty hath done to me great things;
And holy is his name.
50 And his mercy is unto generations and generations
On them that fear him.
51 He hath shewed strength with his arm;
He hath scattered the proud [12]in the imagination of their heart.
52 He hath put down princes from their thrones,
And hath exalted them of low degree.
53 The hungry he hath filled with good things;
And the rich he hath sent empty away.
54 He hath holpen his servant Is'ra-el his servant,
That he might remember mercy
55 (As he spake unto our fathers)
Toward A'bra-ham and his seed for ever.
56 And Ma'ry abode with her about three months, and returned unto her house.
57 Now E-lis'a-beth's time was fulfilled that she should 58 be delivered; and she brought forth a son. And her neighbours and her kinsfolk heard that the

CHAPTER III.

John's testimony of Christ—Christ is baptized.

NOW in the fifteenth year of the reign of Ti-be'ri-us Ce'sar, Pon'ti-us Pi'late being governor of Ju-de'a, and Her'od being tetrarch of Gal'i-lee, and his brother Phil'ip tetrarch of It-u-re'a and of the region of Trach-o-ni'tis, and Ly-sa'ni-as the tetrarch of Ab-i-le'ne,

2 [q]An'nas and Ca'ia-phas being the high priests, the word of God came unto John the son of Zach-a-ri'as in the wilderness.

3 [b]And he came into all the country about Jor'dan, preaching the baptism of repentance [c]for the remission of sins;

4 As it is written in the book of the words of E-sa'ias the prophet, saying, [d]The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth;

6 And [e]all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 Then said he to the multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, [f]O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits ||worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have A'bra-ham to our father: for I say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto A'bra-ham.

9 And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: [g]every tree therefore which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

10 And the people asked him, saying, [h]What shall we do then?

11 He answereth and saith unto them, [i]He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise.

38 And coming up at that very hour she gave thanks unto God, and spake of him to all them that were 39 looking for the redemption of Je-ru'sa-lem. And when they had accomplished all things that were according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Gal'i-lee, to their own city Naz'a-reth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong, [1]filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon him.
41 And his parents went every year to Je-ru'sa-lem at 42 the feast of the passover. And when he was twelve years old, they went up after the custom of the feast;
43 and when they had fulfilled the days, as they were returning, the boy Jesus tarried behind in Je-ru'sa-
44 lem; and his parents knew it not; but supposing him to be in the company, they went a day's journey; and they sought for him among their kinsfolk
45 and acquaintance: and when they found him not,
46 they returned to Je-ru'sa-lem, seeking for him. And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the [2]doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions:
47 and all that heard him were amazed at his under-
48 standing and his answers. And when they saw him, they were astonished: and his mother said unto him, [3]Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? be-49 hold, thy father and I sought thee sorrowing. And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be [4]in my Father's house?
50 And they understood not the saying which he 51 spake unto them. And he went down with them, and came to Naz'a-reth; and he was subject unto them: and his mother kept all these [5]sayings in her heart.

52 And Jesus advanced in wisdom and [6]stature, and in [7]favour with God and men.

3 Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Ti-be'ri-us Cæ'sar, Pon'ti-us Pi'late being governor of Ju-dæ'a, and Her'od being tetrarch of Gal'i-lee, and his brother Phil'ip tetrarch of the region of It-u-ræ'a and Trach-
2 o-ni'tis, and Ly-sa'ni-as tetrarch of Ab-i-le'ne, in the high-priesthood of An'nas and Ca'ia-phas, the word of God came unto John the son of Zach-a-ri'as in the 3 wilderness. And he came into all the region round about Jor'dan, preaching the baptism of repentance
4 unto remission of sins; as it is written in the book of the words of I-sai'ah the prophet,

The voice of one crying in the wilderness,
Make ye ready the way of the Lord,
Make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled,
And every mountain and hill shall be brought low;
And the crooked shall become straight,
And the rough ways smooth;

6 And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 He said therefore to the multitudes that went out to be baptized of him, Ye offspring of vipers, who
8 warned you to flee from the wrath to come? Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of [8]repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have A'bra-ham to our father: for I say unto you that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto A'bra-ham.
9 And even now is the axe also laid unto the root of the trees: every tree therefore that bringeth not forth
10 good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. And the multitudes asked him, saying, What then must 11 we do? And he answered and said unto them, He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath food, let him do likewise.

12 Then [k]came also publicans to be baptized, and said unto him, Master, what shall we do?

13 And he said unto them, [l]Exact no more than that which is appointed you.

21 Now when all the people were baptized, [q]it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened,

CHAPTER IV.

Christ's temptation—Overcometh the devil—Beginneth to preach.

AND [a]Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jor'dan, and [b]was led by the Spirit into the wilderness,
2 Being forty days tempted of the devil. And [c]in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungered.
3 And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread.
4 And Jesus answered him, saying, [d]It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.
5 And the devil, taking him up into a high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.
6 And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for [e]that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will, I give it.
7 If thou therefore wilt || worship me, all shall be thine.
8 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Sa'tan: for [f]it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.
9 [g]And he brought him to Je-ru'sa-lem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence:
10 For [h]it is written, He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee:
11 And in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.
12 And Jesus answering, said unto him, [i]It is said, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.
13 And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him [k]for a season.
14 ¶[l]And Jesus returned [m]in the power of the Spirit into [n]Gal'i-lee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about.
15 And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all.
16 ¶And he came to [o]Naz'a-reth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, [p]he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read.
17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet E-sa'ias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written,
18 [q]The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,
19 To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.
20 And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.
21 And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.
22 And all bare him witness, and [r]wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, [s]Is not this Jo'seph's son?
23 And he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in [t]Ca-per'na-um, do also here in [u]thy country.
24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, No [x]prophet is accepted in his own country.

Miraculous draught of fishes—A leper cleansed—Palsy healed, &c.

[a]Matt. 4. 18. Mark 1. 16. AND [a]it came to pass, that, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Gen-nes'a-ret,
2 And saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.
3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Si'mon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.
[b]John 21. 6. 4 Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Si'mon, [b]Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.
5 And Si'mon answering, said unto him, Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing; nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net.
6 And when they had this done, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their net brake.

in the days of E-li'jah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when there came a great 26 famine over all the land; and unto none of them was E-li'jah sent, but only to [1]Zar'e-phath, in the land
27 of Si'don, unto a woman that was a widow. And there were many lepers in Is'ra-el in the time of E-li'sha the prophet; and none of them was cleansed,
28 but only Na'a-man the Syr'i-an. And they were all filled with wrath in the synagogue, as they heard 29 these things; and they rose up, and cast him forth out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might 30 throw him down headlong. But he passing through the midst of them went his way.
31 And he came down to Ca-per'na-um, a city of Gal'i-lee.
32 And he was teaching them on the sabbath day: and they were astonished at his teaching; for his word
33 was with authority. And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean [2]devil;
34 and he cried out with a loud voice, [3]Ah! what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Naz'a-reth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou
35 art, the Holy One of God. And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the [2]devil had thrown him down in the midst,
36 he came out of him, having done him no hurt. And amazement came upon all, and they spake together, one with another, saying, What is [4]this word? for with authority and power he commandeth the un-
37 clean spirits, and they come out. And there went forth a rumour concerning him into every place of the region round about.
38 And he rose up from the synagogue, and entered into the house of Si'mon. And Si'mon's wife's mother was holden with a great fever; and they be-39 sought him for her. And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she rose up and ministered unto them.
40 And when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and 41 healed them. And [5]devils also came out from many, crying out, and saying, Thou art the Son of God. And rebuking them, he suffered them not to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ.
42 And when it was day, he came out and went into a desert place: and the multiudes sought after him, and came unto him, and would have stayed him, that 43 he should not go from them. But he said unto them, I must preach the [6]good tidings of the kingdom of God to the other cities also: for therefore was I sent.
44 And he was preaching in the synagogues of [7]Gal'i-lee.

5 Now it came to pass, while the multitude pressed upon him and heard the word of God, that he was
2 standing by the lake of Gen-nes'a-ret; and he saw two boats standing by the lake: but the fishermen had gone out of them, and were washing their nets.
3 And he entered into one of the boats, which was Si'mon's, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And he sat down and taught the multitudes
4 out of the boat. And when he had left speaking, he said unto Si'mon, Put out into the deep, and let 5 down your nets for a draught. And Si'mon answered and said, Master, we toiled all night, and took nothing: but at thy word I will let down the other ship, that they should come and help them. And they came, and filled both the ships, so that they began to sink.

8 When Si'mon Pe'ter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, [c]Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord.

9 For he was astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fishes which they had taken:

10 And so was also James, and John, the sons of Zeb'edee, which were partners with Si'mon. And Jesus said unto Si'mon, Fear not; [d]from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought their ships to land, [e]they forsook all, and followed him.

12 ¶ [f]And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy; who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: Be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 [g]And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, [h]according as Mo'ses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: [i]and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

16 ¶ [k]And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Phar'i-sees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Gal'i-lee, and Ju-de'a, and Je-ru'sa-lem: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them.

18 ¶ [l]And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the housetop, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 [m]And the scribes and the Phar'i-sees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? [n]Who can forgive sins but God alone?

22 But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answering, said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to-day.

27 ¶ [o]And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Le'vi, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 [p]And Le'vi made him a great feast in his own house: and [q]there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.

30 But their scribes and Phar'i-sees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?

31 And Jesus answering said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth.

9 Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?

10 And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other.

21 [o]Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall be filled. [p]Blessed are ye that weep now: for ye shall laugh.
22 [q]Blessed are ye, when men shall hate you, and when they [r]shall separate you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of man's sake.
23 [s]Rejoice ye in that day, and leap for joy: for, behold, your reward is great in heaven: for [t]in the like manner did their fathers unto the prophets.
24 [u]But woe unto you [x]that are rich! for [y]ye have received your consolation.
25 [z]Woe unto you that are full! for ye shall hunger. [a]Woe unto you that laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep.
26 [b]Woe unto you, when all men shall speak well of you! for so did their fathers to the false prophets.
27 ¶[c]But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you,
28 Bless them that curse you, and [d]pray for them which despitefully use you.
29 [e]And unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other; [f]and him that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also.
30 [g]Give to every man that asketh of thee; and of him that taketh away thy goods ask them not again.
31 [h]And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.
32 [i]For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for sinners also love those that love them.
33 And if ye do good to them which do good to you, what thank have ye? for sinners also do even the same.
34 [k]And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.
35 But [l]love ye your enemies, and do good, and [m]lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and [n]ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil.
36 [o]Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.
37 [p]Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven:
38 [q]Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your [r]bosom. For [s]with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.
39 And he spake a parable unto them; [t]Can the blind lead the blind? shall they not both fall into the ditch?
40 [u]The disciple is not above his master: but every one || that is perfect shall be as his master.
41 [x]And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye?
42 Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, [y]cast out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to pull out the mote that is in thy brother's eye.
43 [z]For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.
44 For [a]every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they †grapes.
45 [b]A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil: for [c]of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

20 And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed are ye poor: for yours is the kingdom of God.
21 Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall be filled. Blessed are ye that weep now: for ye shall laugh.
22 Blessed are ye, when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the 23 Son of man's sake. Rejoice in that day, and leap for joy: for behold, your reward is great in heaven: for in the same manner did their fathers unto the prophets.
24 But woe unto you that are rich! for ye have received
25 your consolation. Woe unto you, ye that are full now! for ye shall hunger. Woe unto you, ye that 26 laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep. Woe unto you when all men shall speak well of you! for in the same manner did their fathers to the false prophets.
27 But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies,
28 do good to them that hate you, bless them that curse
29 you, pray for them that despitefully use you. To him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other; and from him that taketh away thy cloke
30 withhold not thy coat also. Give to every one that asketh thee; and of him that taketh away thy goods
31 ask them not again. And as ye would that men
32 should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. And if ye love them that love you, what thank have ye?
33 for even sinners love those that love them. And if ye do good to them that do good to you, what 34 thank have ye? for even sinners do the same. And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? even sinners lend to sinners, to 35 receive again as much. But love your enemies, and do them good, and lend, [1]never despairing; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be sons of the Most High: for he is kind toward the unthankful 36 and evil. Be ye merciful, even as your Father is 37 merciful. And judge not, and ye shall not be judged: and condemn not, and ye shall not be con-
38 demned: release, and ye shall be released: give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, shall they give into your bosom. For with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again.
39 And he spake also a parable unto them, Can the blind guide the blind? shall they not both fall into 40 a pit? The disciple is not above his [2]master: but every one when he is perfected shall be as his 41 [2]master. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam
42 that is in thine own eye? Or, how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me cast out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote
43 that is in thy brother's eye. For there is no good tree that bringeth forth corrupt fruit; nor again a
44 corrupt tree that bringeth forth good fruit. For each tree is known by its own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush 45 gather they grapes. The good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and the evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth that which is evil: for out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.
46 And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not 47 the things which I say? Every one that cometh unto me, and heareth my words, and doeth them I will shew you to whom he is like:

48 He is like a man which built a house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it; for it was founded upon a rock.

CHAPTER VII.

The centurion's faith—The widow's son raised.

NOW when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, [a]he entered into Ca-per'na-um.

[a]Matt. 8. 5.

2 And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die.

3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant.

4 And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this:

5 For he loveth our nation, and he hath built us a synagogue.

6 Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof:

7 Wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee: but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed.

8 For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say unto †one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

†Gr. this man.

9 When Jesus heard these things, he marvelled at him, and turned him about, and said unto the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Is'ra-el.

10 And they that were sent, returning to the house found the servant whole that had been sick.

11 ¶And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Na'in: and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

12 Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.

20 When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?

21 And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight.

22 [g]Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; [h]how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, [i]to the poor the gospel is preached.

49 been well builded. But he that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that built a house upon the earth without a foundation; against which the stream brake, and straightway it fell in; and the ruin of that house was great.

5 worthy that thou shouldest do this for him: for he loveth our nation, and himself built us our syna-

[7]Many ancient authorities read on the next day.

18 And the disciples of John told him of all these 19 things. And John calling unto him [8]two of his disciples sent them to the Lord, saying, Art thou
20 he that cometh, or look we for another? And when the men were come unto him they said, John the Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou
21 he that cometh, or look we for another? In that hour he cured many of diseases and [9]plagues and evil spirits; and on many that were blind he bestowed
22 sight. And he answered and said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; the blind receive their sight, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, the poor have [10]good tidings

CHAPTER VIII.

The parable of the sower, and of the candle—Devils cast out, &c.

AND it came to pass afterward, that he went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God: and the twelve were with him,

4 ¶ [c]And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spake by a parable:

5 A sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side; and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it.

6 And some fell upon a rock; and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture.

7 And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.

13 They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.

14 And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

15 But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

24 And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm.

8 thorns grew with it, and choked it. And other fell into the good ground, and grew and brought forth fruit a hundredfold. And as he said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

9 And his disciples asked him what this parable

10 might be. And he said, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to the rest in parables; that seeing they may not

11 see, and hearing they may not understand. Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.

12 And those by the way side are they that have heard; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word from their heart, that they may not believe and be

15 life, and bring no fruit to perfection. And that in the good ground, these are such as in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, hold it fast, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 And no man, when he hath lighted a lamp, covereth it with a vessel, or putteth it under a bed; but putteth it on a stand, that they which enter in may

17 see the light. For nothing is hid, that shall not be made manifest; nor anything secret, that shall not

18 be known and come to light. Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that which he [4]thinketh he hath.

22 Now it came to pass on one of those days, that he entered into a boat, himself and his disciples; and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side

23 of the lake: and they launched forth. But as they sailed he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filling with water, 24 and were in jeopardy. And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish. And he awoke, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm.

26 ¶[m]And they arrived at the country of the Gad'a-renes, which is over against Gal'i-lee.

27 And when he went forth to land, there met him out of the city a certain man, which had devils long time, and ware no clothes, neither abode in any house, but in the tombs.

28 When he saw Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God most high? I beseech thee, torment me not.

29 (For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For oftentimes it had caught him: and he was kept bound with chains, and in fetters; and he brake the bands, and was driven of the devil into the wilderness.)

30 And Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? And he said, Legion: because many devils were entered into him.

[n]Rev. 20.3.

31 And they besought him that he would not command them to go out [n]into the deep.

32 And there was there a herd of many swine feeding on the mountain: and they besought him that he would suffer them to enter into them. And he suffered them.

33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the lake, and were choked.

34 When they that fed them saw what was done, they fled, and went and told it in the city and in the country.

35 Then they went out to see what was done; and came to Jesus, and found the man out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also that saw it told them by what means he that was possessed of the devils was healed.

38 Now [q]the man, out of whom the devils were departed, besought him that he might be with him: but Jesus sent him away, saying,

39 Return to thine own house, and shew how great things God hath done unto thee. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done unto him.

But the man from whom the [2]devils were gone out prayed him that he might 39 be with him: but he sent him away, saying, Return to thy house, and declare how great things God hath done for thee. And Jesus said, Who is it that touched me? And when all denied, Pe'ter said, [7]and they that were with him, Master, the multitudes press thee and crush thee. 46 But Jesus said, Some one did touch me: for I per- 47 ceived that power had gone forth from me. And when the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and falling down before him declared in the presence of all the people for what cause she touched him, and how she was healed immediately. 48 And he said unto her, Daughter, thy faith hath [8]made thee whole; go in peace.

A. D. 32.

20 He said unto them, But whom say ye that I am? [p]Pe'ter answering said, The Christ of God.
21 [q]And he straitly charged them, and commanded them to tell no man that thing;
22 Saying, [r]The Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be slain, and be raised the third day.
23 ¶ [s]And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.
24 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.
25 [t]For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away?
26 [u]For whosoever shall be ashamed of me and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his own glory, and in his Father's, and of the holy angels.
27 [x]But I tell you of a truth, there be some standing here which shall not taste of death, till they see the kingdom of God.
28 ¶ [y]And it came to pass about an eight days after these ‖ sayings, he took Pe'ter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.
29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering.
30 And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Mo'ses and E-li'as:
31 Who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Je-ru'sa-lem.
32 But Pe'ter and they that were with him [z]were heavy with sleep: and when they were awake, they saw his glory, and the two men that stood with him.
33 And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Pe'ter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Mo'ses, and one for E-li'as: not knowing what he said.
34 While he thus spake, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them: and they feared as they entered into the cloud.
35 And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, [a]This is my beloved Son: [b]hear him.
36 And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone. [c]And they kept it close, and told no man in those days any of those things which they had seen.
37 ¶ [d]And it came to pass, that on the next day, when they were come down from the hill, much people met him.
38 And, behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, look upon my son; for he is mine only child.
39 And, lo, a spirit taketh him, and he suddenly crieth out; and it teareth him that he foameth again, and bruising him, hardly departeth from him.
40 And I besought thy disciples to cast him out; and they could not.
41 And Jesus answering said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you, and suffer you? Bring thy son hither.
42 And as he was yet a coming, the devil threw him down, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him again to his father.
43 ¶ And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God. But while they wondered every one at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples, 44 [e]Let these sayings sink down into your ears: for the Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.

41 not. And Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you,
42 and bear with you? bring hither thy son. And as he was yet a coming, the [9]devil [10]dashed him down, and [11]tare him grievously. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the boy, and gave him
43 back to his father. And they were all astonished at the majesty of God.
But while all were marvelling at all the things
44 which he did, he said unto his disciples, Let these words sink into your ears: for the Son of man shall 46 ¶[o]Then there arose a reasoning among them, which of them should be greatest.

47 And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a child, and set him by him, 49 ¶[k]And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy name; and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us.

50 And Jesus said unto him, Forbid him not: for [l]he that is not against us is for us.

51 ¶And it came to pass, when the time was come that [m]he should be received up, he steadfastly set his face to go to Je-ru'sa-lem, 52 And sent messengers before his face: and they went, and entered into a village of the Sa-mar'i-tans, to make ready for him.

53 And [n]they did not receive him, because his face was as though he would go to Je-ru'sa-lem.

AFTER these things, the Lord appointed other seventy also, and [a]sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come.

2 Therefore said he unto them, [b]the harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: [c]pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest.

3 Go your ways: [d]behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.

4 [e]Carry neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes: and [f]salute no man by the way.

5 [g]And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.

6 And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again.

7 [h]And in the same house remain, [i]eating and drinking such things as they give: for [k]the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house.

8 And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you:

9 [l]And heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, [m]The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

10 But into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,

11 [n]Even the very dust of your city, which cleaveth on us, we do wipe off against you: notwithstanding, be ye sure of this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

46 And there arose a reasoning among them, which 47 of them should be [1]greatest. But when Jesus saw the reasoning of their heart, he took a little child, 48 and set him by his side, and said unto them, Whosoever shall receive this little child in my name receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me receiveth him that sent me: for he that is [2]least among you all, the same is great.
49 And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out [3]devils in thy name; and we forbade him,
50 because he followeth not with us. But Jesus said unto him, Forbid him not: for he that is not against you is for you.
51 And it came to pass, when the days [4]were well-nigh come that he should be received up, he sted-
52 fastly set his face to go to Je-ru'sa-lem, and sent messengers before his face: and they went, and entered into a village of the Sa-mar'i-tans, to make 53 ready for him. And they did not receive him, because his face was as though he were going to Je-
54 ru'sa-lem. And when his disciples James and John saw this, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we bid fire to come down from heaven, and consume them[5]?
55 56 But he turned, and rebuked them[6]. And they went to another village.
57 And as they went in the way, a certain man said unto him, I will follow thee whithersoever thou
58 goest. And Jesus said unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven have [7]nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head.
59 And he said unto another, Follow me. But he said,
60 Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father. But he said unto him, Leave the dead to bury their own dead; but go thou and publish abroad the kingdom
61 of God. And another also said, I will follow thee, Lord; but first suffer me to bid farewell to them
62 that are at my house. But Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.

10 Now after these things the Lord appointed seventy[8] others, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself was
2 about to come. And he said unto them, The harvest is plenteous, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth
3 labourers into his harvest. Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs in the midst of wolves.
4 Carry no purse, no wallet, no shoes: and salute no
5 man on the way. And into whatsoever house ye
6 shall [9]enter, first say, Peace be to this house. And if a son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon [10]him: but if not, it shall turn to you again.
7 And in that same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house.
8 And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you:
9 and heal the sick that are therein, and say unto [r]them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.
10 But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they receive you not, go out into the streets thereof
11 and say, Even the dust from your city, that cleaveth to our feet, we do wipe off against you: howbeit know this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh.

12 But I say unto you, that [o]it shall be more tolerable in that day for Sod'om, than for that city.

13 [p]Woe unto thee, Cho-ra'zin! woe unto thee, Beth-sa'i-da! [q]for if the mighty works had been done in Tyre and Si'don, which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Si'don at the judgment, than for you.

15 [r]And thou, Ca-per'na-um, which art [s]exalted to heaven, [t]shalt be thrust down to hell.

16 [u]He that heareth you heareth me; and [x]he that despiseth you despiseth me; [y]and he that despiseth me despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶And [z]the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name.

18 And he said unto them, [a]I beheld Sa'tan as lightning fall from heaven.

19 Behold, [b]I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you.

20 Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because [c]your names are written in heaven.

21 ¶[d]In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes: even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight.

22 [e]||All things are delivered to me of my Father: and [f]no man knoweth who the Son is, but the Father; and who the Father is, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.

23 ¶And he turned him unto his disciples, and said privately, [g]Blessed are the eyes which see the things which ye see.

24 For I tell you, [h]that many prophets and kings have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

25 ¶And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, [i]Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

26 He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou?

27 And he answering said, [k]Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and [l]thy neighbour as thyself.

28 And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and [m]thou shalt live.

29 But he, willing to [n]justify himself, said unto Jesus, And who is my neigbour?

30 And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Je-ru'sa-lem to Jer'i-cho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31 And by chance there came down a certain priest that way; and when he saw him, [o]he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise a Le'vite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 But a certain [p]Sa-mar'i-tan, as he journeyed, came where he was; and when he saw him, he had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two ||pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him: and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.

CHAPTER XI.

Christ teacheth to pray.

A. D. 33.

[u] Matt. 6.9.

AND it came to pass, that, as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.
2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, [u]Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come.
‖ Or, for the day.
3 Give us ‖day by day our daily bread.
4 And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil.
5 And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves;
‖ Or, out of his way.
6 For a friend of mine ‖in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him?
7 And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee.
[b] ch. 18. 1, &c.
8 I say unto you, [b]Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.
[c] Matt. 7. 7. & 21. 22. Mark 11. 24. John 15. 7. Jam. 1. 6. 1 John 3. 22.
9 [c]And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.
10 For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
[d] Matt. 7.9.
11 [d]If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?
† Gr. give.
12 Or if he shall ask an egg, will he †offer him a scorpion?
13 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?
[e] Matt. 9. 32. & 12.22.
14 ¶[e]And he was casting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to pass, when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake; and the people wondered.
[f] Matt. 9. 34. & 12.24.

15 But some of them said, [f]He casteth out devils through †Be-el'ze-bub the chief of the devils.

16 And others, tempting him; [g]sought of him a sign from heaven.

[i] John 2.25.
17 [h]But [i]he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house falleth.
18 If Sa'tan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? because ye say that I cast out devils through Be-el'ze-bub.
19 And if I by Be-el'ze-bub cast out devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges.
[k] Ex. 8. 19.
20 But if I [k]with the finger of God cast out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come upon you.

21 [l]When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, his goods are in peace:
22 But [m]when a stronger than he shall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.

38 Now as they went on their way, he entered into a certain village: and a certain woman named Mar'tha
39 received him into her house. And she had a sister called Ma'ry, which also sat at the Lord's feet, and 40 heard his word. But Mar'tha was [1]cumbered about much serving; and she came up to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help

42 about many things: [3]but one thing is needful: for Ma'ry hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

A. D. 32.

11 And it came to pass, as he was praying in a certain place, that when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, even as John
2 also taught his disciples. And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, [4]Father, Hallowed be thy name.
3 Thy kingdom come.[5] Give us day by day [6]our 4 daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we ourselves also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And bring us not into temptation.[7]
5 And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say
6 to him, Friend, lend me three loaves; for a friend of mine is come to me from a journey, and I have
7 nothing to set before him; and he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I can-
8 not rise and give thee? I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will arise
9 and give him [8]as many as he needeth. And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened
10 unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that 11 knocketh it shall be opened. And of which of you that is a father shall his son ask [9]a loaf, and he give him a stone? or a fish, and he for a fish
12 give him a serpent? Or if he shall ask an egg,
13 will he give him a scorpion? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?
14 And he was casting out a [10]devil which was dumb. And it came to pass, when the [10]devil was gone out, the dumb man spake; and the multitudes marvelled.
15 But some of them said, [11]By Be-el'ze-bub the prince
16 of the [12]devils casteth he out [12]devils. And others, tempting him, sought of him a sign from heaven.
17 But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; [13]and a house divided against a house
18 falleth. And if Sa'tan also is divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? because ye 19 say that I cast out [12]devils [11]by Be-el'ze-bub. And if I [11]by Be-el'ze-bub cast out [12]devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be 20 your judges. But if I by the finger of God cast out [12]devils, then is the kingdom of God come upon 21 you. When the strong man fully armed guardeth
22 his own court, his goods are in peace: but when a stronger than he shall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him his whole armour wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.

23 [n]He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth.

24 [o]When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out.

25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in and dwell there: and [p]the last state of that man is worse than the first.

27 ¶And it came to pass, as he spake these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, [q]Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, [r]rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.

29 ¶[s]And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is an evil generation: they seek a sign; and there shall no sign be given it, but the sign of Jo'nas the prophet.

30 For as [t]Jo'nas was a sign unto the Nin'e-vites, so shall also the Son of man be to this generation.

31 [u]The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation, and condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth, to hear the wisdom of Sol'o-mon; and, behold, a greater than Sol'o-mon is here.

32 The men of Nin'e-veh shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for [x]they repented at the preaching of Jo'nas; and, behold, a greater than Jo'nas is here.

33 [y]No man, when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a ‖ bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light.

34 [z]The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee be not darkness.

36 If thy whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when †the bright shining of a candle doth give thee light.

37 ¶And as he spake a certain Phar'i-see besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down to meat.

38 And [a]when the Phar'i-see saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 [b]And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Phar'i-sees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but [c]your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.

40 Ye fools, did not he, that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 [d]But rather give alms ‖ of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you.

42 [e]But woe unto you, Phar'i-sees! for ye tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

43 [f]Woe unto you, Phar'i-sees! for ye love the uppermost seats in the synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 [g]Woe unto you, scribes and Phar'i-sees, hypocrites! [h]for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them are not aware of them.

45 ¶Then answered one of the lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus saying, thou reproachest us also.

46 And he said, Woe unto you also, ye lawyers! [i]for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 [k]Woe unto you! for ye build the sepulchres of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truly ye bear witness that ye allow the deeds of your fathers: for they indeed killed them, and ye build their sepulchres.

49 Therefore also said the wisdom of God, [l]I will send

23 He that is not with me is against me; and he that
24 gathereth not with me scattereth. The unclean spirit when [1]he is gone out of the man, passeth through waterless places, seeking rest; and finding none, [1]he saith, I will turn back unto my house
25 whence I came out. And when [1]he is come, [1]he 26 findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth [1]he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more evil than [2]himself; and they enter in and dwell there; and the last state of that man becometh worse than the first.

27 And it came to pass, as he said these things, a certain woman out of the multitude lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed is the womb that bare 28 thee, and the breasts which thou didst suck. But he said, Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.

29 And when the multitudes were gathering together unto him, he began to say, This generation is an evil generation: it seeketh after a sign; and there shall 30 no sign be given to it but the sign of Jo'nah. For even as Jo'nah became a sign unto the Nin'e-vites, so
31 shall also the Son of man be to this generation. The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgement with the men of this generation, and shall condemn them: for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Sol'o-mon; and behold, [3]a greater 32 than Sol'o-mon is here. The men of Nin'e-veh shall stand up in the judgement with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jo'nah; and behold, [3]a greater than Jo'nah is here.

33 No man, when he hath lighted a lamp, putteth it in a cellar, neither under the bushel, but on the stand,
34 that they which enter in may see the light. The lamp of thy body is thine eye: when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when 35 it is evil, thy body also is full of darkness. Look therefore whether the light that is in thee be not 36 darkness. If therefore thy whole body be full of light, having no part dark, it shall be wholly full of light, as when the lamp with its bright shining doth give thee light.

37 Now as he spake, a Phar'i-see asketh him to [4]dine with him: and he went in, and sat down to meat.
38 And when the Phar'i-see saw it, he marvelled that he 39 had not first washed before [4]dinner. And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Phar'i-sees cleanse the outside of the cup and of the platter; but your inward 40 part is full of extortion and wickedness. Ye foolish ones, did not he that made the outside make the in-41 side also? Howbeit give for alms those things which [5]are within; and behold, all things are clean unto you.

42 But woe unto you Phar'i-sees! for ye tithe mint and rue and every herb, and pass over judgement and the love of God: but these ought ye to have done, and 43 not to leave the other undone. Woe unto you Phar'i-sees! for ye love the chief seats in the synagogues, 44 and the salutations in the marketplaces. Woe unto you! for ye are as the tombs which appear not, and the men that walk over them know it not.

45 And one of the lawyers answering saith unto him,
46 [6]Master, in saying this thou reproachest us also. And he said, Woe unto you lawyers also! for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.
47 Woe unto you! for ye build the tombs of the 48 prophets, and your fathers killed them. So ye are witnesses and consent unto the works of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their tombs.
49 Therefore also said the wisdom of God, I will send

CHAPTER XII.

Christ teacheth to avoid hypocrisy.

IN [a]the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, insomuch that they trode one upon another, he began to say unto his disciples first of all, [b]Beware ye of the leaven of the Phar'i-sees, which is hypocrisy.

2 [c]For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.

3 Therefore, whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness shall be heard in the light; and that which ye have spoken in the ear in closets shall be proclaimed upon the housetops.

4 [d]And I say unto you [e]my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.

5 But I will[1] forewarn you whom ye shall fear: Fear him, which after he hath killed hath power to cast into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear him.

6 Are not five sparrows sold for two ||farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows.

8 [f]Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God:

9 But he that denieth me before men shall be denied before the angels of God.

10 And [g]whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that blasphemeth against the Holy Ghost it shall not be forgiven.

11 [h]And when they bring you unto the synagogues, and unto magistrates, and powers, take ye no thought how or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall say:

12 For the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour what ye ought to say.

13 ¶And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me.

14 And he said unto him, [i]Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you?

15 And he said unto them, [k]Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.

16 And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully:

17 And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?

18 And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul, [l]Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry.

20 But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night ||[m]thy soul shall be required of thee: [n]then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?

21 So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, [o]and is not rich toward God.

22 ¶And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, [p]Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on.

23 The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment.

24 Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouse nor barn; and [q]God feedeth them: how much more are ye better than the fowls?

25 And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit?

26 If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Sol'o-mon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

28 If then God so clothe the grass, which is to-day in the field, and to-morrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, ‖ neither be ye of doubtful mind.

30 For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

31 ¶[r]But rather seek ye the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you.

32 Fear not, little flock; for [s]it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

33 [t]Sell that ye have, and give alms; [u]provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

35 [x]Let your loins be girded about, and [y]your lights burning;

36 And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their lord, when he will return from the wedding; that, when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.

37 [z]Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them.

38 And if he shall come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.

39 [a]And this know, that if the goodman of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not have suffered his house to be broken through.

40 [b]Be ye therefore ready also: for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not.

41 ¶Then Pe'ter said unto him, Lord, speakest thou this parable unto us, or even to all?

42 And the Lord said, [c]Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?

43 Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing.

44 [d]Of a truth I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath.

45 [e]But and if that servant say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to beat the menservants, and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken;

46 The lord of that servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will ‖ cut him in sunder, and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers.

47 And [f]that servant which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 [g]But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required; and 21 So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

22 And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your [1]life, what ye shall eat; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on.

23 For the [1]life is more than the food, and the body

24 than the raiment. Consider the ravens, that they sow not, neither reap; which have no store-chamber nor barn; and God feedeth them: of how much

25 more value are ye than the birds! And which of you by being anxious can add a cubit unto his

26 [2]stature? If then ye are not able to do even that which is least, why are ye anxious concerning the 27 rest? Consider the lilies, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin; yet I say unto you, Even Sol'o-mon in all his glory was not arrayed like one 34 stroyeth. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

35 Let your loins be girded about, and your lamps

36 burning; and be ye yourselves like unto men looking for their lord, when he shall return from the marriage feast; that, when he cometh and knocketh,

37 they may straightway open unto him. Blessed are those [4]servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them sit down to meat,

38 and shall come and serve them. And if he shall come in the second watch, and if in the third, and

39 find them so, blessed are those servants. [5]But know this, that if the master of the house had known in what hour the thief was coming, he would have watched, and not have left his house to be [6]broken

40 through. Be ye also ready: for in an hour that ye think not the Son of man cometh.

41 And Pe'ter said, Lord, speakest thou this parable

42 unto us, or even unto all? And the Lord said, Who then is [7]the faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall set over his household, to give them

43 their portion of food in due season? Blessed is that [8]servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall

44 find so doing. Of a truth I say unto you, that

45 he will set him over all that he hath. But if that [8]servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to beat the menservants and the maidservants, and to eat and drink,

47 ful. And that [8]servant, which knew his lord's will, and made not ready, nor did according to his

48 will, shall be beaten with many stripes; but he that knew not, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. And to whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required: and

CHAPTER XIII.

Christ teacheth repentance.

THERE were present at that season some that told him of the Gal-i-le'ans, whose blood Pi'late had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus answering said unto them, Suppose ye that these Gal-i-le'ans were sinners above all the Gal-i-le'ans, because they suffered such things?

3 I tell you, Nay; but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Si-lo'am fell, and slew them, think ye that they were ||sinners above all men that dwelt in Je-ru'sa-lem?

5 I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ He spake also this parable; [q]A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he unto the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and find none: cut it down; why cumbereth it the ground?

8 And he answering said unto him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I shall dig about it and dung it:

9 And if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down.

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath.

11 ¶ And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself.

12 And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity.

13 [b]And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, [c]There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and [d]not on the sabbath day.

52 division: for there shall be from henceforth five in one house divided, three against two, and two 53 against three. They shall be divided, father against son, and son against father; mother against daughter, and daughter against her mother; mother in law against her daughter in law, and daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 And he said to the multitudes also, When ye see a cloud rising in the west, straightway ye say, There 55 cometh a shower; and so it cometh to pass. And when ye see a south wind blowing, ye say, There will be a [1]scorching heat; and it cometh to pass.
56 Ye hypocrites, ye know how to [2]interpret the face of the earth and the heaven; but how is it that ye
57 know not how to [2]interpret this time? And why even of yourselves judge ye not what is right?
58 For as thou art going with thine adversary before the magistrate, on the way give diligence to be quit of him; lest haply he hale thee unto the judge, and the judge shall deliver thee to the [3]officer, and

3 because they have suffered these things? I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all in like
4 manner perish. Or those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Si-lo'am fell, and killed them, think ye that they were [4]offenders above all the men that dwell in

6 And he spake this parable; A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came seek-
7 ing fruit thereon, and found none. And he said unto the vinedresser, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and find none: cut it
8 down; why doth it also cumber the ground? And he answering saith unto him, Lord, let it alone this 9 year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it: and if it bear fruit thenceforth, well; but if not, thou shalt cut it down.

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on 11 the sabbath day. And behold, a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years; and she was bowed together, and could in no wise lift herself up.
12 And when Jesus saw her, he called her, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity.
13 And he laid his hands upon her: and immediately
14 she was made straight and glorified God. And the ruler of the synagogue, being moved with indignation because Jesus had healed on the sabbath, answered and said to the multitude, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the day of the sabbath.

CHAPTER XIV.

The parable of the great supper.

AND it came to pass, as he went into the house of one of the chief Phar'i-sees to eat bread on the sabbath day, that they watched him.
2 And, behold, there was a certain man before him which had the dropsy.
3 And Jesus answering spake unto the lawyers and Phar'i-sees, saying, [a]Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath day?

CHAPTER XVI.

The unjust steward—Hypocrisy of the covetous Pharisees reproved, &c.

AND he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods.
2 And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward.
3 Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do? for my lord taketh away from me the stewardship: I cannot dig; to beg I am ashamed.
4 I am resolved what to do, that, when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.
5 So he called every one of his lord's debtors unto him, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my lord?
6 And he said, A hundred || measures of oil. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.
7 Then said he to another, And how much owest thou? And he said, A hundred || measures of wheat. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and write fourscore.
8 And the lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely: for the children of this world are in their generation wiser than [a]the children of light.
9 And I say unto you, [b]Make to yourselves friends of the || mammon of unrighteousness; that, when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.
10 [c]He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.

12 And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own?

19 ¶There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day:

23 And in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth A'bra-ham afar off, and Laz'a-rus in his bosom.

24 And he cried and said, Father A'bra-ham, have mercy on me, and send Laz'a-rus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and [m]cool my tongue; for I [n]am tormented in this flame.

CHAPTER XVII.

Avoid occasions of offence.

THEN said he unto the disciples, [a]It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come!

2 It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 ¶Take heed to yourselves: [b]If thy brother trespass against thee, [c]rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him.

4 And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him.

5 And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 [d]And the Lord said, If ye had faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye might say unto this sycamine tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the sea; and it should obey you.

7 But which of you, having a servant ploughing or feeding cattle, will say unto him by and by, when he is come from the field, Go and sit down to meat?

8 And will not rather say unto him, Make ready wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself, [e]and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward thou shalt eat and drink?

9 Doth he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not.

10 So likewise ye, when ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are [f]unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

11 ¶And it came to pass, [g]as he went to Je-ru'sa-lem, that he passed through the midst of Sa-ma'ri-a and Gal'i-lee.

9 And he spake this parable unto certain [e]which trusted in themselves ‖ that they were righteous, and despised others:
10 Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Phar'i-see, and the other a publican.
11 The Phar'i-see [f]stood and prayed thus with himself, [g]God, I thank thee that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican.
12 I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess.
13 And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner.
14 I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: [h]for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.
15 [i]And they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.
16 But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for [k]of such is the kingdom of God.
17 [l]Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein.
18 [m]And a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?
19 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good save one, that is, God.
20 Thou knowest the commandments, [n]Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, [o]Honour thy father and thy mother.
21 And he said, All these have I kept from my youth up.
22 Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: [p]sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me.
23 And when he heard this, he was very sorrowful: for he was very rich.
24 And when Jesus saw that he was very sorrowful, he said, [q]How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!
25 For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.
26 And they that heard it said, Who then can be saved?
27 And he said, [r]The things which are impossible with men are possible with God.
28 [s]Then Pe'ter said, Lo, we have left all, and followed thee.
29 And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, [t]There is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God's sake,
30 [u]Who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting.
31 ¶ [x]Then he took unto him the twelve, and said unto them, Behold, we go up to Je-ru'sa-lem, and all things [y]that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of man shall be accomplished.
32 For [z]he shall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and spitefully entreated, and spitted on:
33 And they shall scourge him, and put him to death; and the third day he shall rise again.
34 [a]And they understood none of these things: and this saying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were spoken.
35 ¶ [b]And it came to pass, that as he was come nigh unto Jer'i-cho, a certain blind man sat by the way side, begging:

CHAPTER XIX.

Of Zaccheus the publican.

AND Jesus entered and passed through Jer'i-cho.
2 And, behold, there was a man named Zac-che'us, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich.
3 And he sought to see Jesus who he was; and could not for the press, because he was little of stature.
4 And he ran before, and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see him; for he was to pass that way.
5 And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zac-che'us, make haste, and come down; for to-day I must abide at thy house.
6 And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully.

15 And it came to pass, that when he was returned, having received the kingdom, then he commanded these servants to be called unto him, to whom he had given the †money, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.
16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds.
17 And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been [k] Matt. 25. 21. ch. 16. 10. [k]faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities.
18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds.

8 And Zac-chæ'us stood, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have wrongfully exacted aught of any man,

CHAPTER XX.

Christ avoucheth his authority.

[a] Matt. 21. 23.

AND [a]it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes came upon him with the elders, am an austere man, taking up that I laid not down, 23 and reaping that I did not sow; then wherefore gavest thou not my money into the bank, and [1]I at my coming should have required it with interest?

24 And he said unto them that stood by, Take away from him the pound, and give it unto him that hath 25 the ten pounds. And they said unto him, Lord, he 26 hath ten pounds. I say unto you, that unto every one that hath shall be given; but from him that hath not, even that which he hath shall be taken 27 away from him. Howbeit these mine enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.
28 And when he had thus spoken, he went on before, going up to Je-ru'sa-lem.
29 And it came to pass, when he drew nigh unto Beth'pha-ge and Beth'a-ny, at the mount that is called the mount of Olives, he sent two of the disciples, 30 saying, Go your way into the village over against you; in the which as ye enter ye shall find a colt tied, whereon no man ever yet sat: loose him, and 31 bring him. And if any one ask you, Why do ye loose him? thus shall ye say, The Lord hath need 32 of him. And they that were sent went away, and 33 found even as he had said unto them. And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said unto 34 them, Why loose ye the colt? And they said, The 35 Lord hath need of him. And they brought him to Jesus: and they threw their garments upon the 36 colt, and set Jesus thereon. And as he went, they 37 spread their garments in the way. And as he was now drawing nigh, even at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all 38 the [2]mighty works which they had seen; saying,
Blessed is the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.
39 And some of the Phar'i-sees from the multitude said 40 unto him, [3]Master, rebuke thy disciples. And he answered and said, I tell you that, if these shall hold their peace, the stones will cry out.
41 And when he drew nigh, he saw the city and wept 42 over it, saying, [4]If thou hadst known in this day, even thou, the things which belong unto peace! but now 43 they are hid from thine eyes. For the days shall come upon thee, when thine enemies shall cast up a [5]bank about thee, and compass thee round, and 44 keep thee in on every side, and shall dash thee to the ground, and thy children within thee; and they shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation.
45 And he entered into the temple, and began to 46 cast out them that sold, saying unto them, It is written, And my house shall be a house of prayer:
but ye have made it a den of robbers.
47 And he was teaching daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the principal 48 men of the people sought to destroy him: and they could not find what they might do; for the people all hung upon him, listening.

20 And it came to pass, on one of the days, as he was teaching the people in the temple, and preaching the gospel, there came upon him the chief priests and the scribes with the elders;

A. D. 33.

2 And spake unto him, saying, Tell us [b]by what authority doest thou these things? or who is he that gave thee this authority?

[b] Acts 4. 7. & 7. 27.

3 And he answered and said unto them, I will also ask you one thing; and answer me:

4 The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then believed ye him not?

6 But and if we say, Of men; all the people will stone us: [c]for they be persuaded that John was a prophet.

[c] Matt. 14. 5. & 21. 26. ch. 7. 29.

7 And they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 And Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

9 Then began he to speak to the people this parable; [d]A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a far country for a long time.

[d] Matt. 21. 33. Mark 12. 1.

10 And at the season he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 And again he sent another servant: and they beat him also, and entreated him shamefully, and sent him away empty.

12 And again he sent a third: and they wounded him also, and cast him out.

13 Then said the lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: it may be they will reverence him when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do unto them?

16 He shall come and destroy these husbandmen, and shall give the vineyard to others. And when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 And he beheld them, and said, What is this then that is written, [e]The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner?

[e] Ps. 118. 22. Matt. 21. 42.

18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone, shall be broken; but [f]on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

[f] Dan. 2. 34, 35. Matt. 21. 44.

19 ¶ And the chief priests and the scribes the same hour sought to lay hands on him; and they feared the people: for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 [g]And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, that they might take hold of his words, that so they might deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor.

‖ See Matt. 18. 28.

25 And he said unto them, Render therefore unto Ce'sar the things which be Ce'sar's, and unto God the things which be God's.

26 And they could not take hold of his words before the people: and they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.

2 and they spake, saying unto him, Tell us: By what authority doest thou these things? or who is he
3 that gave thee this authority? And he answered and said unto them, I also will ask you a [1]question;
4 and tell me: The baptism of John, was it from 5 heaven, or from men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven;
6 he will say, Why did ye not believe him? But if we shall say, From men; all the people will stone us: for they be persuaded that John was a prophet.
7 And they answered, that they knew not whence it
8 was. And Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

9 And he began to speak unto the people this parable: A man planted a vineyard, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into another country for a
10 long time. And at the season he sent unto the husbandmen a [2]servant, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen
11 beat him, and sent him away empty. And he sent yet another [2]servant: and him also they beat, and handled him shamefully, and sent him away empty.
12 And he sent yet a third: and him also they wounded,
13 and cast him forth. And the lord of the vineyard said, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son:
14 it may be they will reverence him. But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned one with another, saying, This is the heir: let us kill him, that 15 the inheritance may be ours. And they cast him forth out of the vineyard, and killed him. What therefore will the lord of the vineyard do unto them?
16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will give the vineyard unto others. And when they 17 heard it, they said, [3]God forbid. But he looked upon them, and said, What then is this that is written,

The stone which the builders rejected,
The same was made the head of the corner?

18 Every one that falleth on that stone shall be broken to pieces; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will scatter him as dust.

19 And the scribes and the chief priests sought to lay hands on him in that very hour; and they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake this
20 parable against them. And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which feigned themselves to be righteous, that they might take hold of his speech, so as to deliver him up to the rule and to the au-
21 thority of the governor. And they asked him, saying, [4]Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, and acceptest not the person of any, but of 22 a truth teachest the way of God: Is it lawful for us
23 to give tribute unto Cæ'sar, or not? But he per-24 ceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Shew me a [5]penny. Whose image and superscription hath it?
25 And they said, Cæ'sar's. And he said unto them, Then render unto Cæ'sar the things that are Cæ'sar's, 26 and unto God the things that are God's. And they were not able to take hold of the saying before the people: and they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.
27 And there came to him certain of the Sad'du-cees, they which say that there is no resurrec-
28 tion; and they asked him, saying, [4]Master, Mo'ses wrote unto us, that if a man's brother die, having a wife, and he be childless, his brother should take the wife, and raise up seed unto his brother,

29 There were therefore seven brethren: and the first 30 took a wife, and died childless; and the second;
31 and the third took her; and likewise the seven also 32 left no children, and died. Afterward the woman
33 also died. In the resurrection therefore whose wife of them shall she be? for the seven had her to wife.
34 And Jesus said unto them, The sons of this [1]world

35 marry, and are given in marriage: but they that are accounted worthy to attain to that [1]world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are 36 given in marriage: for neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are 37 sons of God, being sons of the resurrection. But that the dead are raised, even Mo'ses shewed, in the place concerning the Bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of A'bra-ham, and the God of I'saac, and the 38 God of Ja'cob. Now he is not the God of the dead, 39 but of the living: for all live unto him. And certain of the scribes answering said, [2]Master, thou hast well
[2] Or, Teacher
40 said. For they durst not any more ask him any question.
41 And he said unto them, How say they that the 42 Christ is Da'vid's son? For Da'vid himself saith in the book of Psalms,
The Lord said unto my Lord,
Sit thou on my right hand,
43 Till I make thine enemies the footstool of thy feet.
44 Da'vid therefore calleth him Lord, and how is he his son?
45 And in the hearing of all the people he said unto 46 his disciples, Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love salutations in the marketplaces, and chief seats in the synagogues, and 47 chief places at feasts; which devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayers: these shall receive greater condemnation.

21 And he looked up, [3]and saw the rich men that [3] Or, and saw them that... treasury, and they were rich.
2 were casting their gifts into the treasury. And he saw a certain poor widow casting in thither two
3 mites. And he said, Of a truth I say unto you,
4 This poor widow cast in more than they all: for all these did of their superfluity cast in unto the gifts: but she of her want did cast in all the living that she had.
5 And as some spake of the temple, how it was adorned with goodly stones and offerings, he said,
6 As for these things which ye behold, the days will come, in which there shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.
7 And they asked him, saying, [2]Master, when therefore shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when these things are about to come to pass?
8 And he said, Take heed that ye be not led astray: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am he; and, The time is at hand: go ye not after them.
9 And when ye shall hear of wars and tumults, be not terrified: for these things must needs come to pass first; but the end is not immediately.
10 Then said he unto them, Nation shall rise against 11 nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be great earthquakes, and in divers places famines and pestilences; and there shall be ter-
12 rors and great signs from heaven. But before all these things, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues, and [k]into prisons, [l]being brought before kings and rulers [k]for my name's sake.

13 And [l]it shall turn to you for a testimony.

14 [m]Settle it therefore in your hearts, not to meditate before what ye shall answer:

15 For I will give you a mouth and wisdom, [n]which all your adversaries shall not be able to gainsay nor resist.

16 [o]And ye shall be betrayed both by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolks, and friends; and [p]some of you shall they cause to be put to death.

17 And [q]ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake.

18 [r]But there shall not a hair of your head perish.

19 In your patience possess ye your souls.

20 [s]And when ye shall see Je-ru'sa-lem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is nigh.

21 Then let them which are in Ju-de'a flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midst of it depart out; and let not them that are in the countries enter thereinto.

22 For these be the days of vengeance, that [t]all things which are written may be fulfilled.

23 [u]But woe unto them that are with child, and to them that give suck, in those days! for there shall be great distress in the land, and wrath upon this people.

24 And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations: and Je-ru'sa-lem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, [x]until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 ¶ [y]And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring;

26 Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: [z]for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Son of man [a]coming in a cloud with power and great glory.

28 And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for [b]your redemption draweth nigh.

29 [c]And he spake to them a parable; Behold the fig tree, and all the trees;

30 When they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your own selves that summer is now nigh at hand.

31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand.

32 Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass away, till all be fulfilled.

33 [d]Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away.

34 ¶ And [e]take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares.

35 For [f]as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 [g]Watch ye therefore, and [h]pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and [i]to stand before the Son of man.

37 [k]And in the daytime he was teaching in the temple; and [l]at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came early in the morning to him in the temple, for to hear him.

3 ¶ [c]Then entered Sa'tan into Jud'as surnamed Is-car'i-ot, being of the number of the twelve.
4 And he went his way, and communed with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray him unto them.
5 And they were glad, and [d]covenanted to give him money.
6 And he promised, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them ||in the absence of the multitude.
7 ¶ [e]Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the passover must be killed.
8 And he sent Pe'ter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat.
9 And they said unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare?
10 And he said unto them, Behold, when ye are entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the house where he entereth in.
11 And ye shall say unto the goodman of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the guestchamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?
12 And he shall shew you a large upper room furnished: there make ready.
13 And they went and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.
14 [f]And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve apostles with him.
15 And he said unto them, ||With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer:

28 But ye are they which have continued with me in 34 death. And he said, I tell thee, Pe'ter, the cock shall not crow this day, until thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest me.

A. D. 33.

35 [h]And he said unto them, When I sent you without purse, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing.

36 Then said he unto them, But now, he that hath a purse, let him take it, and likewise his scrip: and he that hath no sword, let him sell his garment, and buy one.

37 For I say unto you, that this that is written must yet be accomplished in me, [i]And he was reckoned among the transgressors; for the things concerning me have an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said unto them, It is enough.

39 ¶ [k]And he came out, and [l]went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his disciples also followed him.

40 [m]And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation.

41 [n]And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou be †willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless, [o]not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared [p]an angel unto him from heaven, strengthening him.

44 [q]And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

45 And when he rose up from prayer, and was come to his disciples, he found them sleeping for sorrow, 46 And said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and [r]pray, lest ye enter into temptation.

47 ¶ And while he yet spake, [s]behold a multitude, and he that was called Ju'das, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jesus to kiss him.

48 But Jesus said unto him, Ju'das, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

49 When they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said unto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 ¶ And [t]one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.

51 And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him.

52 [u]Then Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and the elders, which were come to him, Be ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the temple, ye stretched forth no hands against me: [x]but this is your hour, and the power of darkness.

54 ¶ [y]Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the high priest's house. [z]And Pe'ter followed afar off.

55 [a]And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were sat down together, Pe'ter sat down among them.

56 But a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and earnestly looked upon him, and said, This man was also with him.

57 And he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 [b]And after a little while another saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. And Pe'ter said, Man, I am not.

59 [c]And about the space of one hour after, another confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this fellow also was with him; for he is a Gal-i-le'an.

60 And Pe'ter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately, while he yet spake, the cock crew.

61 And the Lord turned, and looked upon Pe'ter. [d]And Pe'ter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, [e]Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

62 And Pe'ter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 ¶ [f]And the men that held Jesus mocked him, and smote him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they struck him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy, who is it that smote thee?

35 And he said unto them, When I sent you forth without purse, and wallet, and shoes, lacked ye any 36 thing? And they said, Nothing. And he said unto them, But now, he that hath a purse, let him take it, and likewise a wallet: [1]and he that hath none, let 37 him sell his cloke, and buy a sword. For I say unto you, that this which is written must be fulfilled in me, And he was reckoned with transgressors: for 38 that which concerneth me hath [2]fulfilment. And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said unto them, It is enough.

39 And he came out, and went, as his custom was, unto the mount of Olives; and the disciples also 40 followed him. And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into tempta-
41 tion. And he was parted from them about a stone's
42 cast; and he kneeled down and prayed, saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me:
43 nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done. [3]And there appeared unto him an angel from heaven,
44 strengthening him. And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat became as it were great drops of blood falling down upon the 45 ground. And when he rose up from his prayer, he came unto the disciples, and found them sleeping
46 for sorrow, and said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, that ye enter not into temptation.

47 While he yet spake, behold, a multitude, and he that was called Ju'das, one of the twelve, went before them; and he drew near unto Jesus to kiss him.
48 But Jesus said unto him, Ju'das, betrayest thou the 49 Son of man with a kiss? And when they that were about him saw what would follow, they said, Lord, 50 shall we smite with the sword? And a certain one of them smote the [4]servant of the high priest, and 51 struck off his right ear. But Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, 52 and healed him. And Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and elders, which were come against him, Are ye come out as against 53 a robber, with swords and staves? When I was daily with you in the temple, ye stretched not forth your hands against me: but this is your hour, and the power of darkness.

54 And they seized him, and led him away, and brought him into the high priest's house. But 55 Pe'ter followed afar off. And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the court, and had sat down together, Pe'ter sat in the midst of them.
56 And a certain maid seeing him as he sat in the light of the fire, and looking stedfastly upon him, said,
57 This man also was with him. But he denied, say-
58 ing, Woman, I know him not. And after a little while another saw him, and said, Thou also art one
59 of them. But Pe'ter said, Man, I am not. And after the space of about one hour another confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this man also was with 60 him: for he is a Gal-i-le'an. But Pe'ter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately, 61 while he yet spake, the cock crew. And the Lord turned, and looked upon Pe'ter. And Pe'ter remembered the word of the Lord, how that he said unto him, Before the cock crow this day, thou shalt deny 62 me thrice. And he went out, and wept bitterly.
63 And the men that held [5]Jesus mocked him, and 64 beat him. And they blindfolded him, and asked him, saying, Prophesy: who is he that struck thee?

CHAPTER XXIII.

Herod mocketh Christ.

AND [c]the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pi'late.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We found this fellow [b]perverting the nation, and [c]forbidding to give tribute to Ce'sar, saying, [d]That he himself is Christ a king.

3 [e]And Pi'late asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered him and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pi'late to the chief priests and to the people, [f]I find no fault in this man.

5 And they were the more fierce, saying, He stirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Jew'ry, beginning from Gal'i-lee to this place.

6 When Pi'late heard of Gal'i-lee, he asked whether the man were a Gal-i-le'an.

7 And as soon as he knew that he belonged unto [g]Her'od's jurisdiction, he sent him to Her'od, who himself also was at Je-ru'sa-lem at that time.

8 ¶And when Her'od saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for [h]he was desirous to see him of a long season, because [i]he had heard many things of him; and he hoped to have seen some miracle done by him.

9 Then he questioned with him in many words; but he answered him nothing.

10 And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused him.

11 [k]And Her'od with his men of war set him at nought, and mocked him, and arrayed him in a gorgeous robe, and sent him again to Pi'late.

12 And the same day [l]Pi'late and Her'od were made friends together; for before they were at enmity between themselves.

13 ¶[m]And Pi'late, when he had called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people,

14 Said unto them, [n]Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverteth the people: and, behold, [o]I, having examined him before you, have found no fault in this man touching those things whereof ye accuse him;

15 No, nor yet Her'od: for I sent you to him; and, lo, nothing worthy of death is done unto him.

16 [p]I will therefore chastise him, and release him.

17 [q](For of necessity he must release one unto them at the feast.)

18 And [r]they cried out all at once, saying, Away with this man, and release unto us Ba-rab'bas:

19 (Who, for a certain sedition made in the city, and for murder, was cast into prison.)

20 Pi'late therefore, willing to release Jesus, spake again to them.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucify him, crucify him.

22 And he said unto them the third time, Why, what evil hath he done? I have found no cause of death in him; I will therefore chastise him, and let him go.

65 And many other things spake they against him, reviling him.

66 And as soon as it was day, the assembly of the elders of the people was gathered together, both chief priests and scribes; and they led him away
67 into their council, saying, If thou art the Christ, tell us. But he said unto them, If I tell you, ye 68 will not believe: and if I ask you, ye will not 69 answer. But from henceforth shall the Son of man be seated at the right hand of the power of 70 God. And they all said, Art thou then the Son of God? And he said unto them, [1]Ye say that I 71 am. And they said, What further need have we of witness? for we ourselves have heard from his own mouth.

[1] Or, Ye say it, because I am.

23 And the whole company of them rose up, and
2 brought him before Pi'late. And they began to accuse him, saying, We found this man perverting our nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Cæ'sar,
3 and saying that he himself is [2]Christ a king. And Pi'late asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered him and said, Thou sayest.
4 And Pi'late said unto the chief priests and the mul-
5 titudes, I find no fault in this man. But they were the more urgent, saying, He stirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Ju-dæ'a, and beginning from 6 Gal'i-lee even unto this place. But when Pi'late heard
7 it, he asked whether the man were a Gal-i-læ'an. And when he knew that he was of Her'od's jurisdiction, he sent him unto Her'od, who himself also was at Je-ru'sa-lem in these days.
8 Now when Her'od saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for he was of a long time desirous to see him, because he had heard concerning him; and he hoped 9 to see some [3]miracle done by him. And he questioned him in many words; but he answered him
10 nothing. And the chief priests and the scribes
11 stood, vehemently accusing him. And Her'od with his soldiers set him at nought, and mocked him, and arraying him in gorgeous apparel sent him back to 12 Pi'late. And Her'od and Pi'late became friends with each other that very day: for before they were at enmity between themselves.
13 And Pi'late called together the chief priests and 14 the rulers and the people, and said unto them, Ye brought unto me this man, as one that perverteth the people: and behold, I, having examined him before you, found no fault in this man touching those 15 things whereof ye accuse him: no, nor yet Her'od: for he sent him back unto us; and behold, nothing
16 worthy of death hath been done by him. I will 18 therefore chastise him, and release him.[4] But they cried out all together, saying, Away with this man,
19 and release unto us Ba-rab'bas: one who for a certain insurrection made in the city, and for murder,
20 was cast into prison. And Pi'late spake unto them
21 again, desiring to release Jesus; but they shouted,
22 saying, Crucify, crucify him. And he said unto them the third time, Why, what evil hath this man done? I have found no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him and release him.

[4] Many ancient authorities insert ver. 17. Now he must needs release unto them at the feast one prisoner. Others add the same words after ver. 19.

A. D. 33.

23 And they were instant with loud voices, requiring that he might be crucified: and the voices of them and of the chief priests prevailed.

24 And [s]Pi'late ||gave sentence that it should be as they required.

25 And he released unto them him that for sedition and murder was cast into prison, whom they had desired; but he delivered Jesus to their will.

26 [t]And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Si'mon a Cy-re'ni-an, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus.

27 ¶And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Jesus turning unto them, said, Daughters of Je-ru'-sa-lem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.

29 [u]For, behold, the days are coming, in the which they shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave suck.

30 [x]Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us.

31 [y]For if they do these things in a green tree, what shall be done in the dry?

32 [z]And there were also two others, malefactors, led with him to be put to death.

33 And [a]when they were come to the place which is called ||Cal'va-ry, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left.

34 ¶Then said Jesus, Father, [b]forgive them; for [c]they know not what they do. And [d]they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And [e]the people stood beholding. And the [f]rulers also with them derided him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if he be Christ, the chosen of God.

36 And the soldiers also mocked him, coming to him, and offering him vinegar, 37 And saying, If thou be the King of the Jews, save thyself.

38 [g]And a superscription also was written over him, in letters of Greek, and Latin, and He'brew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

39 ¶[h]And one of the malefactors which were hanged railed on him, saying, If thou be Christ, save thyself and us.

40 But the other answering rebuked him, saying, Dost not thou fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

41 And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiss.

42 And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise.

44 [i]And it was about the sixth hour, and there was a darkness over all the ||earth until the ninth hour.

45 And the sun was darkened, and [k]the veil of the temple was rent in the midst.

46 ¶And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, [l]Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: [m]and having said thus, he gave up the ghost.

47 [n]Now, when the centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Certainly this was a righteous man.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts and returned.

49 [o]And all his acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Gal'i-lee, stood afar off, beholding these things.

50 ¶[p]And, behold, there was a man named Jo'seph, a counsellor; and he was a good man, and a just:

51 (The same had not consented to the counsel and deed of them:) he was of Ar-i-ma-the'a, a city of the Jews; [q]who also himself waited for the kingdom of God.

52 This man went unto Pi'late, and begged the body of Jesus.

Christ's resurrection declared.

NOW [a]upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, [b]bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

2 [c]And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

3 [d]And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, [e]behold, two men stood by them in shining garments:

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye ‖the living among the dead?

6 He is not here, but is risen: [f]remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Gal'i-lee,

7 Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

8 And [g]they remembered his words,

9 [h]And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest.

10 It was Mary Mag-da-le'ne, and [i]Jo-an'na, and Ma'ry the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles.

11 [k]And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.

12 [l]Then arose Pe'ter, and ran unto the sepulchre: and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

13 ¶[m]And, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Em'ma-us, which was from Je-ru'sa-lem about threescore furlongs.

14 And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

15 And it came to pass, that, while they communed together and reasoned, [n]Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.

16 But [o]their eyes were holden that they should not know him.

17 And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are sad?

18 And the one of them, [p]whose name was Cle'o-pas, answering said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Je-ru'sa-lem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass there in these days?

19 And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Concerning Jesus of Naz'a-reth, [q]which was a prophet [r]mighty in deed and word before God and all the people:

20 [s]And how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him?

21 But we trusted [t]that it had been he which should have redeemed Is'ra-el: and besides all this, to-day is the third day since these things were done.

22 Yea, and [u]certain women also of our company made us astonished, which were early at the sepulchre;

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive.

53 And he took it down, and wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid him in a tomb that was hewn in 54 stone, where never man had yet lain. And it was the day of the Preparation, and the sabbath [1]drew 55 on. And the women, which had come with him out of Gal'i-lee, followed after, and beheld the tomb, 56 and how his body was laid. And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments.

24 And on the sabbath they rested according to the commandment. But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they came unto the tomb, bringing
2 the spices which they had prepared. And they
3 found the stone rolled away from the tomb. And they entered in, and found not the body [2]of the 4 Lord Jesus. And it came to pass, while they were perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by 5 them in dazzling apparel: and as they were affrighted, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye [3]the living among 6 the dead? [4]He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Gal'i-lee,
7 saying that the Son of man must be delivered up into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and 8 the third day rise again. And they remembered
9 his words, and returned [5]from the tomb, and told all these things to the eleven, and to all the rest.
10 Now they were Ma'ry Mag-da-le'ne, and Jo-an'na, and Ma'ry the mother of James: and the other women
11 with them told these things unto the apostles. And these words appeared in their sight as idle talk;
12 and they disbelieved them. [6]But Pe'ter arose, and ran unto the tomb; and stooping and looking in he seeth the linen cloths by themselves; and he [7]departed to his home, wondering at that which was come to pass.
13 And behold, two of them were going that very day to a village named Em'ma-us, which was three-14 score furlongs from Je-ru'sa-lem. And they communed with each other of all these things which 15 had happened. And it came to pass, while they communed and questioned together, that Jesus him-
16 self drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know
17 him. And he said unto them, [8]What communications are these that ye have one with another, as 18 ye walk? And they stood still, looking sad. And one of them, named Cle'o-pas, answering said unto him, [9]Dost thou alone sojourn in Je-ru'sa-lem and not know the things which are come to pass there in 19 these days? And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, The things concerning Jesus of Naz'a-reth, which was a prophet mighty in 20 deed and word before God and all the people: and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him up to be condemned to death, and crucified him.
21 But we hoped that it was he which should redeem Is'ra-el. Yea and beside all this, it is now the third 22 day since these things came to pass. Moreover certain women of our company amazed us, having 23 been early at the tomb; and when they found not his body, they came, saying that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive.

A. D. 33.

24 And [z]certain of them which were with us went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the women had said: but him they saw not.

25 Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken:

26 [y]Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 [x]And beginning at [a]Mo'ses and [b]all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

28 And they drew nigh unto the village, whither they went: and [c]he made as though he would have gone further.

29 But [d]they constrained him, saying, Abide with us; for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent. And he went in to tarry with them.

30 And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, [e]he took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them.

31 And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he || vanished out of their sight.

32 And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?

33 And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Je-ru'sa-lem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and [f]hath appeared to Si'mon.

35 And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.

36 ¶ [g]And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

37 But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen [h]a spirit.

38 And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: [i]handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and his feet.

41 And while they yet believed not [k]for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, [l]Have ye here any meat?

42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of a honeycomb.

43 [m]And he took it, and did eat before them.

44 And he said unto them, [n]These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Mo'ses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.

45 Then [o]opened he their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures,

46 And said unto them, [p]Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day:

47 And that repentance and [q]remission of sins should be preached in his name [r]among all nations, beginning at Je-ru'sa-lem.

48 And [s]ye are witnesses of these things.

49 ¶ [t]And, behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Je-ru'sa-lem, until ye be endued with power from on high.

50 ¶ And he led them out as [u]far as to Beth'a-ny, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

51 [x]And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.

52 [y]And they worshipped him, and returned to Je-ru'sa-lem with great joy:

53 And were continually [z]in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

24 And certain of them that were with us went to the tomb, and found it even so as the women had said:
25 but him they saw not. And he said unto them, O foolish men, and slow of heart to believe [1]in all that 26 the prophets have spoken! Behoved it not the Christ to suffer these things, and to enter into his 27 glory? And beginning from Mo'ses and from all the prophets, he interpreted to them in all the scrip-
28 tures the things concerning himself. And they drew nigh unto the village, whither they were going: and 29 he made as though he would go further. And they constrained him, saying, Abide with us: for it is toward evening, and the day is now far spent.
30 And he went in to abide with them. And it came to pass, when he had sat down with them to meat, he took the [2]bread, and blessed it, and brake, and 31 gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight.
32 And they said one to another, Was not our heart burning within us, while he spake to us in the way,
33 while he opened to us the scriptures? And they rose up that very hour, and returned to Je-ru'sa-lem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them
34 that were with them, saying, The Lord is risen in-35 deed, and hath appeared to Si'mon. And they rehearsed the things that happened in the way, and how he was known of them in the breaking of the bread.
36 And as they spake these things, he himself stood in the midst of them, [3]and saith unto them, Peace be 37 unto you. But they were terrified and affrighted, 38 and supposed that they beheld a spirit. And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and where-39 fore do reasonings arise in your heart? See my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as 40 ye behold me having. [4]And when he had said this,
41 he shewed them his hands and his feet. And while they still disbelieved for joy, and wondered, he said
42 unto them, Have ye here anything to eat? And 43 they gave him a piece of a broiled fish[5]. And he took it, and did eat before them.
44 And he said unto them, These are my words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, how that all things must needs be fulfilled, which are written in the law of Mo'ses, and the prophets,
45 and the psalms, concerning me. Then opened he their mind, that they might understand the scrip-
46 tures; and he said unto them, Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer, and rise again from 47 the dead the third day; and that repentance [6]and remission of sins should be preached in his name
48 unto all the [7]nations, beginning from Je-ru'sa-lem. Ye
49 are witnesses of these things. And behold, I send forth the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city, until ye be clothed with power from on high.
50 And he led them out until they were over against Beth'a-ny: and he lifted up his hands, and blessed 51 them. And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he parted from them, [8]and was carried up into 52 heaven. And they [9]worshipped him, and returned 53 to Je-ru'sa-lem with great joy: and were continually in the temple, blessing God.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. JOHN.

CHAPTER I.

The divinity of Christ—John's testimony of him.

IN the beginning [a]was the Word, and the Word was [b]with God, [c]and the Word was God.
2 [d]The same was in the beginning with God.
3 [e]All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.
4 [f]In him was life; and [g]the life was the light of men.
5 And [h]the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.
6 ¶ [i]There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.
7 [k]The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe.
8 He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.
9 [l]That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world.
10 He was in the world, and [m]the world was made by him, and the world knew him not.
11 [n]He came unto his own, and his own received him not.
12 But [o]as many as received him, to them gave he || power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name:
13 [p]Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.
14 [q]And the Word [r]was made [s]flesh, and dwelt among us, (and [t]we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) [u]full of grace and truth.
15 ¶ [w]John bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I spake, [x]He that cometh after me is preferred before me; [y]for he was before me.
16 And of his [z]fulness have all we received, and grace for grace.
17 For [a]the law was given by Mo'ses, but [b]grace and [c]truth came by Jesus Christ.
18 [d]No man hath seen God at any time; [e]the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.
19 ¶ And this is [f]the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Le'vites from Je-ru'salem, to ask him, Who art thou?
20 And [g]he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ.
21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou [h]E-li'as? And he saith, I am not. Art thou [i]|| that prophet? And he answered, No.
22 Then said they unto him, Who art thou? that we may give an answer to them that sent us. What sayest thou of thyself?
23 [k]He said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as [l]said the prophet E-sa'ias.
24 And they which were sent were of the Phar'i-sees.
25 And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, nor E-li'as, neither that prophet?
26 John answered them, saying, [m]I baptize with water: [n]but there standeth one among you, whom ye know not;
27 [o]He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose.
28 These things were done [p]in Beth-ab'a-ra beyond Jor'dan, where John was baptizing.
29 ¶ The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold [q]the Lamb of God, [r]which || taketh away the sin of the world!
30 [s]This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man which is preferred before me; for he was before me.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

S. JOHN.

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word
2 was with God, and the Word was God. The same
3 was in the beginning with God. All things were made [1]by him: and without him [2]was not anything
4 made that hath been made. In him was life; and
5 the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in the darkness; and the darkness [3]apprehended it
6 not. There came a man, sent from God, whose name
7 was John. The same came for witness, that he might bear witness of the light, that all might believe
8 through him. He was not the light, but came that 9 he might bear witness of the light. [4]There was the true light, even the light which lighteth [5]every man,
10 coming into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made [1]by him, and the world knew 11 him not. He came unto [6]his own, and they that 12 were his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he the right to become children of God, even to them that believe on his 13 name: which were [7]born, not of [8]blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.
14 And the Word became flesh, and [9]dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, glory as of [10]the only begotten from the Father), full of grace and truth.
15 John beareth witness of him, and crieth, saying, [11]This was he of whom I said, He that cometh after me is become before me: for he was [12]before me.
16 For of his fulness we all received, and grace for 17 grace. For the law was given [1]by Mo'ses; grace
18 and truth came [1]by Jesus Christ. No man hath seen God at any time; [13]the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.
19 And this is the witness of John, when the Jews sent unto him from Je-ru'sa-lem priests and Le'vites to 20 ask him, Who art thou? And he confessed, and denied not; and he confessed, I am not the Christ.
21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou E-li'jah? And he saith, I am not. Art thou the prophet?
22 And he answered, No. They said therefore unto him, Who art thou? that we may give an answer to them that sent us. What sayest thou of thyself?
23 He said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said
24 I-sa'iah the prophet. [14]And they had been sent from 25 the Phar'i-sees. And they asked him, and said unto him, Why then baptizest thou, if thou art not the 26 Christ, neither E-li'jah, neither the prophet? John answered them, saying, I baptize [15]with water: in the 27 midst of you standeth one whom ye know not, even he that cometh after me, the latchet of whose shoe
28 I am not worthy to unloose. These things were done in [16]Beth'a-ny beyond Jor'dan, where John was baptizing.
29 On the morrow he seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold, the Lamb of God, which 30 [17]taketh away the sin of the world! This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man which is become before me: for he was [12]before me.

[1] Or, through

A. D. 30.

31 And I knew him not: but that he should be made manifest to Is'ra-el, [t]therefore am I come baptizing with water.
32 [u]And John bare record, saying, I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it abode upon him.
33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, the same said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and remaining on him, [x]the same is he which baptizeth with the Holy Ghost.
34 And I saw, and bare record, that this is the Son of God.
35 ¶Again the next day after, John stood, and two of his disciples;
36 And looking upon Jesus as he walked, he saith, [y]Behold the Lamb of God!
37 And the two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus.
38 Then Jesus turned, and saw them following, and saith unto them, What seek ye? They said unto him, Rabbi, (which is to say, being interpreted, Master,) where || dwellest thou?
39 He saith unto them, Come and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was || about the tenth hour.
40 One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was [z]An'drew, Si'mon Pe'ter's brother.
41 He first findeth his own brother Si'mon, and saith unto him, We have found the Mes-si'as; which is, being interpreted, || the Christ.
42 And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Si'mon the son of Jo'na: [a]thou shalt be called Ce'phas, which is by interpretation, || A stone.
43 ¶The day following Jesus would go forth into Gal'i-lee, and findeth Phil'ip, and saith unto him, Follow me.
44 Now [b]Phil'ip was of Beth-sa'i-da, the city of An'drew and Pe'ter.
45 Phil'ip findeth [c]Na-than'a-el, and saith unto him, We have found him of whom [d]Mo'ses in the law, and the [e]prophets, did write, Jesus [f]of Naz'a-reth, the son of Jo'seph.
46 And Na-than'a-el said unto him, [g]Can there any good thing come out of Naz'a-reth? Phil'ip saith unto him, Come and see.
47 Jesus saw Na-than'a-el coming to him, and saith of him, Behold [h]an Is'ra-el-ite indeed, in whom is no guile!
48 Na-than'a-el saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before that Phil'ip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.
49 Na-than'a-el answered and saith unto him, Rabbi, [i]thou art the Son of God; thou art [k]the King of Is'ra-el.
50 Jesus answered and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.
51 And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, [l]Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

CHAPTER II.

Christ turneth water into wine.

AND the third day there was a marriage in [a]Ca'na of Gal'i-lee; and the mother of Jesus was there:
2 And both Jesus was called, and his disciples, to the marriage.
3 And when they wanted wine, the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no wine.
4 Jesus saith unto her, [b]Woman, [c]what have I to do with thee? [d]mine hour is not yet come.
5 His mother saith unto the servants, Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it.
6 And there were set there six waterpots of stone, [e]after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three || firkins apiece.
7 Jesus saith unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. And they filled them up to the brim.

31 And I knew him not; but that he should be made manifest to Is'ra-el, for this cause came I baptizing
32 [1]with water. And John bare witness, saying, I have beheld the Spirit descending as a dove out of heaven;
33 and it abode upon him. And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize [1]with water, he said unto me, Upon whomsoever thou shalt see the Spirit descending, and abiding upon him, the same is he 34 that baptizeth [1]with the Holy Spirit. And I have seen, and have borne witness that this is the Son of God.
35 Again on the morrow John was standing, and two 36 of his disciples; and he looked upon Jesus as he 37 walked, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God! And the two disciples heard him speak, and they followed 38 Jesus. And Jesus turned, and beheld them following, and saith unto them, What seek ye? And they said unto him, Rabbi (which is to say, being inter-39 preted, [2]Master), where abidest thou? He saith unto them, Come, and ye shall see. They came therefore and saw where he abode; and they abode with him that day: it was about the tenth hour.

43 On the morrow he was minded to go forth into Gal'i-lee, and he findeth Phil'ip: and Jesus saith unto 44 him, Follow me. Now Phil'ip was from Beth-sa'i-da,
45 of the city of An'drew and Pe'ter. Phil'ip findeth Na-than'a-el, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Mo'ses in the law, and the prophets, did 46 write, Jesus of Naz'a-reth, the son of Jo'seph. And Na-than'a-el said unto him, Can any good thing come out of Naz'a-reth? Phil'ip saith unto him, Come and 47 see. Jesus saw Na-than'a-el coming to him, and saith of him, Behold, an Is'ra-el-ite indeed, in whom is no
48 guile! Na-than'a-el saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before Phil'ip called thee, when thou wast under the 49 fig tree, I saw thee. Na-than'a-el answered him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God; thou art King of Is'ra-el.
50 Jesus answered and said unto him. Because I said unto thee, I saw thee underneath the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than 51 these. And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye shall see the heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

2 And the third day there was a marriage in Ca'na of Gal'i-lee; and the mother of Jesus was there:
2 and Jesus also was bidden, and his disciples, to
3 the marriage. And when the wine failed, the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no

6 soever he saith unto you, do it. Now there were six waterpots of stone set there after the Jews' manner of purifying, containing two or three firkins

8 And he saith unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governor of the feast. And they bare it.

9 When the ruler of the feast had tasted [f]the water that was made wine, and knew not whence it was, (but the servants which drew the water knew,) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom,

10 And saith unto him, Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept the good wine until now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Ca'na of Gal'i-lee, [g]and manifested forth his glory; and his disciples believed on him.

12 ¶After this he went down to Ca-per'na-um, he, and his mother, and [h]his brethren, and his disciples; and they continued there not many days.

13 ¶[i]And the Jews' passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Je-ru'sa-lem.

14 [k]And found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting:

15 And when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables;

16 And said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not [l]my Father's house a house of merchandise.

17 And [k]his disciples remembered that it was written, [m]The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up.

18 ¶Then answered the Jews and said unto him, [n]What sign shewest thou unto us, seeing that thou doest these things?

19 Jesus answered and said unto them, [o]Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.

20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days?

21 But he spake [p]of the temple of his body.

22 When therefore he was risen from the dead, [q]his disciples remembered that he had said this unto them; and they believed the Scripture, and the word which Jesus had said.

23 ¶Now when he was in Je-ru'sa-lem at the passover, in the feast day, many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did.

24 But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he knew all men,

25 And needed not that any should testify of man: for [r]he knew what was in man.

CHAPTER III.

The necessity of regeneration.

THERE was a man of the Phar'i-sees named Nic-o-de'mus, a ruler of the Jews:

2 [a]The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for [b]no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except [c]God be with him.

3 Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, [d]Except a man be born ‖again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4 Nic-o-de'mus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, [e]Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born ‖again.

8 [f]The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

9 Nic-o-de'mus answered and said unto him, [g]How can these things be?

10 Jesus answered and said unto him, Art thou a master of Is'ra-el, and knowest not these things?

A. D. 30.

8 And he saith unto them, Draw out now, and bear
9 unto the [1]ruler of the feast. And they bare it. And when the ruler of the feast tasted the water [2]now become wine, and knew not whence it was (but the servants which had drawn the water knew), the ruler
10 of the feast calleth the bridegroom, and saith unto him, Every man setteth on first the good wine; and when men have drunk freely, then that which is worse: thou hast kept the good wine until now.
11 This beginning of his signs did Jesus in Ca'na of Gal'i-lee, and manifested his glory; and his disciples believed on him.
12 After this he went down to Ca-per'na-um, he, and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: and there they abode not many days.
13 And the passover of the Jews was at hand, and 14 Jesus went up to Je-ru'sa-len. And he found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves,
15 and the changers of money sitting: and he made a scourge of cords, and cast all out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen; and he poured out the 16 changers' money, and overthrew their tables; and to them that sold the doves he said, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house a house
17 of merchandise. His disciples remembered that it was written, The zeal of thine house shall eat me
18 up. The Jews therefore answered and said unto him, What sign shewest thou unto us, seeing that 19 thou doest these things? Jesus answered and said unto them, Destroy this [3]temple, and in three days
20 I will raise it up. The Jews therefore said, Forty and six years was this [3]temple in building, and wilt 21 thou raise it up in three days? But he spake of the 22 [3]temple of his body. When therefore he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he spake this; and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus had said.
23 Now when he was in Je-ru'sa-lem at the passover, during the feast, many believed on his name, beholding
24 his signs which he did. But Jesus did not trust him-
25 self unto them, for that he knew all men, and because he needed not that any one should bear witness concerning [4]man; for he himself knew what was in man.

3 Now there was a man of the Phar'i-sees, named
2 Nic-o-de'mus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came unto him by night, and said to him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these signs that thou doest, except God be with
3 him. Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born [5]anew,
4 he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nic-o-de'mus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter a second time into his mother's 5 womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that
7 which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not

11 [h]Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and [i]ye receive not our witness.
12 If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly things?
13 And [k]no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven.
14 ¶ [l]And as Mo'ses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so [m]must the Son of man be lifted up:
15 That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but [n]have eternal life.
16 ¶ [o]For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.
17 [p]For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.
18 ¶ [q]He that believeth on him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.
19 And this is the condemnation, [r]that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil.
20 For [s]every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be || reproved.
21 But he that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.
22 ¶ After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Ju-de'a; and there he tarried with them, [t]and baptized.
23 ¶ And John also was baptizing in E'non, near to [u]Sa'lim, because there was much water there: [x]and they came, and were baptized.
24 For [y]John was not yet cast into prison.
25 ¶ Then there arose a question between some of John's disciples and the Jews about purifying.
26 And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jor'dan, [z]to whom thou barest witness, behold, the same baptizeth, and all men come to him.
27 John answered and said, [a]A man can || receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.
28 Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, [b]I am not the Christ, but [c]that I am sent before him.
29 [d]He that hath the bride is the bridegroom; but [e]the friend of the bridegroom, which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly because of the bridegroom's voice: this my joy therefore is fulfilled.
30 He must increase, but I must decrease.
31 [f]He that cometh from above [g]is above all: [h]he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: [i]he that cometh from heaven is above all.
32 And [k]what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth; and no man receiveth his testimony.
33 He that hath received his testimony [l]hath set to his seal that God is true.
34 [m]For he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit [n]by measure unto him.
35 [o]The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand.
36 [p]He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him.

CHAPTER IV.

The woman of Samaria.

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,)
3 He left Ju-de'a, and departed again into Gal'i-lee.
4 And he must needs go through Sa-ma'ri-a.
5 Then cometh he to a city of Sa-ma'ri-a, which is called Sy'char, near to the parcel of ground [b]that Ja'cob gave to his son Jo'seph.

11 Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and bear witness of that we have seen; and ye
12 receive not our witness. If I told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe, if I tell you 13 heavenly things? And no man hath ascended into heaven, but he that descended out of heaven, even 14 the Son of man, [1]which is in heaven. And as Mo'ses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must 15 the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever [2]believeth may in him have eternal life.
16 For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him
17 should not perish, but have eternal life. For God sent not the Son into the world to judge the world; but that the world should be saved through him.
18 He that believeth on him is not judged: he that believeth not hath been judged already, because he hath not believed on the name of the only begotten
19 Son of God. And this is the judgment that the light is come into the world, and men loved the darkness rather than the light; for their works were 20 evil. For every one that [3]doeth ill hateth the light, and cometh not to the light, lest his works should 21 be [4]reproved. But he that doeth the truth cometh to the light, that his works may be made manifest, [5]that they have been wrought in God.

23 them, and baptized. And John also was baptizing in Æ'non near to Sa'lim, because there [6]was much 24 water there: and they came, and were baptized. For 25 John was not yet cast into prison. There arose therefore a questioning on the part of John's disciples
26 with a Jew about purifying. And they came unto John, and said to him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jor'dan, to whom thou hast borne witness, behold, the same baptizeth, and all men come to 27 him. John answered and said, A man can receive nothing, except it have been given him from heaven.
28 Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, I am not 29 the Christ, but, that I am sent before him. He that hath the bride is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom, which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly because of the bridegroom's voice:
30 this my joy therefore is fulfilled. He must increase, but I must decrease.
31 He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is of the earth, and of the earth he speaketh: [7]he that cometh from heaven is above all.
32 What he hath seen and heard, of that he beareth
33 witness; and no man receiveth his witness. He that hath received his witness hath set his seal to 34 this that God is true. For he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for he giveth not the 35 Spirit by measure. The Father loveth the Son, and 36 hath given all things into his hand. He that believeth on the Son hath eternal life; but he that [8]obeyeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

4 When therefore the Lord knew how that the Phar'i-sees had heard that Jesus was making and
2 baptizing more disciples than John (although Jesus
3 himself baptized not, but his disciples), he left Ju-
4 dæ'a, and departed again into Gal'i-lee. And he must 5 needs pass through Sa-ma'ri-a. So he cometh to a city of Sa-ma'ri-a, called Sy'char, near to the parcel of 6 ground that Ja'cob gave to his son Jo'seph: and Ja'cob's [9]well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied

7 There cometh a woman of Sa-ma'ri-a, to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.

8 (For his disciples were gone away unto the city to buy meat.)

9 Then saith the woman of Sa-ma'ri-a unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Sa-ma'ri-a? for [c]the Jews have no dealings with the Sa-mar'i-tans.

10 Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee [d]living water.

11 The woman saith unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast thou that living water?

12 Art thou greater than our father Ja'cob, which gave us the well, and himself drank thereof, and his children, and his cattle?

13 Jesus answered and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst again:

14 But [e]whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him [f]shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.

15 [g]The woman saith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw.

16 Jesus saith unto her, Go, call thy husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus said unto her, Thou hast well said, I have no husband:

18 For thou hast had five husbands; and he whom thou now hast is not thy husband: in that saidst thou truly.

19 The woman saith unto him, Sir, [h]I perceive that thou art a prophet.

20 Our fathers worshiped in [i]this mountain; and ye say, that in [k]Je-ru'sa-lem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, [l]when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Je-ru'sa-lem, worship the Father.

22 Ye worship [m]ye know not what: we know what we worship; for [n]salvation is of the Jews.

23 But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in [o]spirit [p]and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him.

24 [q]God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

25 The woman saith unto him, I know that Mes-si'as cometh, which is called Christ: when he is come, [r]he will tell us all things.

26 Jesus saith unto her, [s]I that speak unto thee am he.

27 ¶And upon this came his disciples, and marvelled that he talked with the woman: yet no man said, What seekest thou? or, Why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the city, and saith to the men,

29 Come, see a man, [t]which told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?

30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.

31 ¶In the mean while his disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.

32 But he said unto them, I have meat to eat that ye know not of.

33 Therefore said the disciples one to another, Hath any man brought him aught to eat?

34 Jesus saith unto them, [u]My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work.

35 Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; [x]for they are white already to harvest.

36 [y]And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together.

For his disciples were gone away into the city to buy food. The Sa-mar'i-tan woman therefore saith unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a Sa-mar'i-tan woman? (for [3]Jews have no dealings with Sa-mar'i-tans.) Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink: thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water. The woman saith unto him, [4]Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come all the way hither to draw. Jesus saith unto her, Go, call thy husband, and come hither. The woman answered and said unto him, I have no husband. Jesus saith unto her, Thou saidst well, I have no husband: for thou hast had five husbands; and he whom thou now hast is not thy husband: this hast thou said truly. 39 ¶And many of the Sa-mar'i-tans of that city believed on him, [z]for the saying of the woman, which testified, He told me all that ever I did.

40 So when the Sa-mar'i-tans were come unto him, they besought him that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days.

41 And many more believed because of his own word;

42 And said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for [a]we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world.

43 ¶Now after two days he departed thence, and went into Gal'i-lee.

44 For [b]Jesus himself testified, that a prophet hath no honour in his own country.

45 Then when he was come into Gal'i-lee, the Gal-i-le'ans received him, [c]having seen all the things that he did at Je-ru'sa-lem at the feast: [d]for they also went unto the feast.

46 So Jesus came again into Ca'na of Gal'i-lee, [e]where he made the water wine. And there was a certain ‖nobleman, whose son was sick at Ca-per'na-um.

47 When he heard that Jesus was come out of Ju-de'a into Gal'i-lee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death.

48 Then said Jesus unto him, [f]Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe.

49 The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die.

50 Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house.

54 This is again the second miracle that Jesus did, when he was come out of Ju-de'a into Gal'i-lee.

CHAPTER V.

The impotent man healed.

A. D. 31.

AFTER [a]this there was a feast of the Jews: and Jesus went up to Je-ru'sa-lem.

2 Now there is at Je-ru'sa-lem, [b]by the sheep ‖market, a pool, which is called in the He'brew tongue, Be-thes'da, having five porches.

3 In these lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

4 For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first after the troubling of the water stepped in was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years.

6 When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The impotent man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

8 Jesus saith unto him, [c]Rise, take up thy bed, and walk.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and [d]on the same day was the sabbath.

10 ¶The Jews therefore said unto him that was cured, It is the sabbath day: [e]it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed.

38 I sent you to reap that whereon ye have not laboured: others have laboured, and ye are entered into their labour.

39 And from that city many of the Sa-mar'i-tans believed on him because of the word of the woman, who testified, He told me all things that ever I did.

40 So when the Sa-mar'i-tans came unto him, they besought him to abide with them: and he abode there

41 two days. And many more believed because of his 42 word; and they said to the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy speaking: for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world.

43 And after the two days he went forth from thence 44 into Gal'i-lee. For Jesus himself testified, that a

45 prophet hath no honour in his own country. So when he came into Gal'i-lee, the Gal-i-læ'ans received him, having seen all the things that he did in Je-ru'sa-lem at the feast: for they also went unto the feast.

46 He came therefore again unto Ca'na of Gal'i-lee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain [1]nobleman, whose son was sick at Ca-per'-

47 na-um. When he heard that Jesus was come out of Ju-dæ'a into Gal'i-lee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his son;

48 for he was at the point of death. Jesus therefore said unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye

49 will in no wise believe. The [1]nobleman saith unto

50 him, [2]Sir, come down ere my child die. Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. The man believed the word that Jesus spake unto him, and he 51 went his way. And as he was now going down, his [3]servants met him, saying, that his son lived.

52 So he inquired of them the hour when he began to amend. They said therefore unto him, Yesterday

53 at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at that hour in which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, 54 and his whole house. This is again the second sign that Jesus did, having come out of Ju-dæ'a into Gal'i-lee.

5 After these things there was [4]a feast of the Jews; and Jesus went up to Je-ru'sa-lem.

2 Now there is in Je-ru'sa-lem by the sheep gate a pool, which is called in He'brew [5]Be-thes'da, having

3 five porches. In these lay a multitude of them that

5 were sick, blind, halt, withered[6]. And a certain man was there, which had been thirty and eight

6 years in his infirmity. When Jesus saw him lying, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wouldest thou be made

7 whole? The sick man answered him, [2]Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth

8 down before me. Jesus saith unto him, Arise,

9 take up thy bed, and walk. And straightway the man was made whole, and took up his bed and walked.

10 Now it was the sabbath on that day. So the Jews said unto him that was cured, It is the sabbath, and it is not lawful for thee to take up thy bed.

A. D. 31.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.
12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walk?
13 And he that was healed wist not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed himself away, ‖ a multitude being in that place.
14 Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: [f]sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee.
15 The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus which had made him whole.
16 And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day.
17 ¶But Jesus answered them, [g]My Father worketh hitherto, and I work.
18 Therefore the Jews [h]sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, [i]making himself equal with God.
19 Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, [k]The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do; for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise.
20 For [l]the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel.
21 For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; [m]even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.
22 For the Father judgeth no man, but [n]hath committed all judgment unto the Son:
23 That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. [o]He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.
24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, [p]He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; [q]but is passed from death unto life.
25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when [r]the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.
26 For as the Father hath life in himself, so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;
27 And [s]hath given him authority to execute judgment also, [t]because he is the Son of man.
28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,
29 [u]And shall come forth; [x]they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.
30 [v]I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because [w]I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.
31 [a]If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.
32 ¶[b]There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.
33 Ye sent unto John, [c]and he bare witness unto the truth.
34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved.
35 He was a burning and [d]a shining light: and [e]ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.
36 ¶But [f]I have greater witness that that of John: for [g]the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.
37 And the Father himself which hath sent me, [h]hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, [i]nor seen his shape.
38 And ye have not his word abiding in you; for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

11 But he answered them, He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.
12 They asked him, Who is the man that said unto 13 thee, Take up thy bed, and walk? But he that was healed wist not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed

23 given all judgement unto the Son; that all may honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the 24 Father which sent him. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth him that sent me, hath eternal life, and cometh not into judgement, but hath passed out of death into life.
25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour cometh, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall 26 live. For as the Father hath life in himself, even so gave he to the Son also to have life in himself:
27 and he gave him authority to execute judge-
28 ment, because he is [1]the Son of man. Marvel not at this: for the hour cometh, in which all that are 29 in the tombs shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have [2]done ill, unto the resurrection of judgement.
30 I can of myself do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgement is righteous; because I seek not 31 mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. If 32 I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true. It is another that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.
33 Ye have sent unto John, and he hath borne witness
34 unto the truth. But the witness which I receive is not from man: howbeit I say these things, that ye
35 may be saved. He was the lamp that burneth and shineth: and ye were willing to rejoice for a season
36 in his light. But the witness which I have is greater than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to accomplish, the very works that I do, bear witness of me that the Father hath 37 sent me. And the Father which sent me, he hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his 38 voice at any time, nor seen his form. And ye have not his word abiding in you; for whom he sent,
39 him ye believe not. [3]Ye search the scriptures, because ye think that in them ye have eternal life, and these are they which bear witness of me;

40 [m]And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.
41 [n]I receive not honour from men.
42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.
43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.
44 [o]How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not [p]the honour that cometh from God only?
45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: [q]there is one that accuseth you, even Mo'ses, in whom ye trust.
46 For had ye believed Mo'ses, ye would have believed me: [r]for he wrote of me.
47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAPTER VI.

Five thousand miraculously fed.

A. D. 32.

AFTER [a]these things Jesus went over the sea of Gal'i-lee, which is the sea of Ti-be'ri-as.
2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.
3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.
4 [b]And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.
5 ¶ [c]When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Phil'ip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?
6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.
7 Phil'ip answered him, [d]Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
8 One of his disciples, An'drew, Si'mon Pe'ter's brother, saith unto him, 9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: [e]but what are they among so many?
10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.
11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 When they were filled, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.
13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten.
14 Then those men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth [f]that Prophet that should come into the world.
15 ¶ When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.
